"The Coin Machines Merry-Go-Round"

By Bill Gersh

EXTRA PROFITS FROM MUSIC

A Newark, N.J. musicop has had a grand idea. He is arranging with one of the leading nite spots as well as one of the better known theatres in his home town to place the records of the noted band leaders they regularly feature on the first four spots in his phonos for a very nominal weekly charge. The idea was originally broached to him by the publicity man for this nite club. The plan is for him to place a sticker or placard on each one of his machines advising the players of the first four feature records and also telling them that they can see and hear this ork pilot in person at either the theatre or nite club depending on which spot takes the ad for that week. Present idea is to obtain $1. or $2. per week per machine. The club or theatre to furnish the signs. This op has about 300 phonos in town. He is therefore also ready to make arrangements with other musicops to do the same and receive the same remuneration. In this way the entire city will be covered with the finest type of point-of-sale advertising that either of these places could ever purchase. The location owners are also to receive passes to the theatre and elimination of "minimum" charge at the nite club on the quiet nites. Here is an idea for earning extra money from music equipment that can be placed into instant effect in any community. This plan is now being developed further by Barnet Sugerman of Runyon Sales Company, Newark, N.J. who certainly deserves "Honorable Mention" for its conception.

WHAT HAS THE ARCADE STARTED?

Do the huge numbers of arcades that have opened thruout the country portend a new type coin machines business? Will this industry concentrate itself into big elaborate spots along the lines of amusement palaces? Is it reasonable to believe that people who like to play coin operated amusements would rather do so at one centrally located spot just as they go to a centrally located bowling alley? Is this more profitable than scattering machines about town? Isn't it less likely to cause trouble because machines are then under constant control? Is the arcade leading the industry to a new plan of operation or is it simply a war trend? What do you think?

NO I.E.C. SAYS ODT

Dozens upon dozens of ballots reached us in the past few weeks since the Indoors Entertainment Conference was suggested and put to a vote. In the midst of all these fine votes and suggestions we received were also a very few against the idea of holding any sort of a conference at this time. Tho these were so far in the minority as not to hurt, yet, we felt their sting. Therefore we decided to take "the bull by the horns" as the expression goes and visit Uncle Sam's ODT (Office of Defense Transportation) to get an opinion. We believe we presented our case rather eloquently. We found the gentleman we spoke to in agreement with us that not only this business but many other industries were in need of meets at this time to discuss the problems brought on by the war. Yet, he pointed out the need for us not to further tax the present clogged transportation facilities. We bow to ODT. We believe that patriotism comes first and foremost, business or no business, as much as we feel that a conference of this industry's leaders is necessary at this time. We therefore sorrowfully report that there will be no Indoors Entertainment Conference at the present time. Possibly there may be one held this Spring of '43 when transportation facilities may prove more adequate.

FIRST EDITION OF THE C.R.R.

With this New Year Special issue we present the first edition of the Confidential Record Report. One reason why we waited for this issue was so that we could start right with the New Year. We believe that this report is the most complete that has ever been published in this industry. By saving each week's report, the musicop will have one of the finest and most complete libraries of each record for every song recorded and its rating as per coin phono take. We also hope that our subscribers will post the Confidential Record Report in some prominent place in their showrooms so that all other ops will benefit from it, too. We believe that by its throness and yet its direct brevity that it has something of the quality of an encyclopedic nature for the automatic music man.

WHAT ABOUT THE RETAILER IN '43?

According to government economists retailers thruout the nation will continue on more or less the same level as they did in '42. That means they will be able to obtain practically as much merchandise (in most categories) as they did in '42. About the end of '43 and early in '44 they will really begin to feel the pinch. Coinmen are most naturally interested in the welfare of the retailer since they are so closely identified with him. As long as he will be able to continue to do business on an even keel in '43 the coinmen are insured of their take. At least they are certain that the take will be as good as in '42 and that they will be just as necessary (if not more so) to the continued good welfare of the retailer. (Coin machines will prove of greatest necessity to the retailer toward the end of '42 and into '43 if these government observations are to be taken literally.)

PARTS & SUPPLIES

As per our prediction - all types of used parts and supplies have grown tremendously in importance. Note the many more ads appearing in The Cash Box on these. If you haven't as yet catalogued the parts and supplies that you have on hand do so immediately. Those that you feel you will not need we suggest you list in your space in The Cash Box for others thruout the country may be seeking them. You will not only be raising some cash for yourself, in this fashion, but also helping other coinmen thruout the nation.

MAY REDUCE LONG DISTANCE RATES

Coinmen are constant users of the long distance phone. The speed with which this industry was nurtured and with which it continues makes long distance one of the veritable business necessities. FCC (Federal Communications Commission) is now studying long distance phone rates with the view of cutting down on them. One meeting was held already. Another will convene on January 20th. FCC contends that present long distance rates are burdensome to business.

LACK TRUCK DRIVERS

One of the most economical and therefore most important means that coinmen have for transporting equipment (especially the large arcade equipment uncrated) is the long distance truck. At the present time, ODT reports, there is a serious shortage of truck drivers in 25 important centers in the country. ODT is seeking means to alleviate this distress. Remember also that there are thousands of smaller communities in this nation served completely by truck. Women are being urged to get behind the wheels of these big buggles and keep 'em rolling.

SAVINGS ARE UPPED AGAIN

The Department of Commerce in Washington estimates that individual savings in '42 were at the unprecedented total of $26 BILLIONS. This is twice as much as in '41 and three times as much as in '40. The government is happy over this fact for this is a definite preventive to inflation. Remember that the workers this past '42 had over $40 BILLIONS more than they could spend. And with the public expected to be earning more in '43 there is all the possibility in the world that coingames will get their share. In fact, many coinmen are preparing to earn even better in '43 than they did in '42 now that they have learned the knack of locating machines to appeal to the players who have less time for relaxation than ever before.

NEW YEAR SPECIAL FEATURES

We hope that our subscribers were pleasantly surprised by the added features in this New Year Special issue. We realize that we put ourselves away out on the very end of the limb with our "Predictions Of Things To Come". The giant-sized sheet on rationing should be posted in every subscriber's showroom. "The 1942 Market Report" will stand re-reading. The "Confidential Record Report" is certainly something to start saving. We believe that our front page slogan can very well be adopted by all - "'43 - The Year For You And Me" - we hope that it will. Our usual "Coin Machines Merry-Go-Round" column and our regular features will probably get their share of attention, too. We know that the ads are exceptionally well read and there are some real ads in this issue. All in all we hope you liked our first New Year Special issue. We hope to print many, many more for you.

"The 1942 Market Report"

Foreword

The equipment market is not only holding firm, but in most cases, has shown a price increase. This is as yet generally tempered by the sales that are being conducted, tho spasmodically, here and there thruout the country. Average market conditions for the previous month (December) showed a definite decline in stocks of better equipment.

Pinball

Biggest surprise was the sudden zoom in sales of pinball games. This began about the last ten days in November and continued right into December with the demand continuing better than in many previous months. Prices are still reasonable in this division of the field. Later models are hard to obtain and prices here are guided by scarcity. Such machines as Sky Chief, Liberty, Monciker, etc. command most attention and prices are up for these. There are as yet many buys in the pinball field and those who capture these at this time will be ahead. The next few months will show a price increase all thruout the pinball field (all things being equal) and by Spring even the secondary rated games will be hard to obtain.

Music

Phonographs were very steady thruout November and December. Prices remained stable. Very few true closeout offers. Later models becoming harder to obtain and prices going up. Even old equipment now commanding respectable prices. Sudden sales of wall and bar boxes began toward the closing days of November. Problem of obtaining cable may have brought this about. Generally, the music field is going to remain stable in both price and general operation. This is one field that has won the respect of the entire trade for its stability. It will give even greater proof of resourcefulness and adaptability during '43.

Consoles

Consoles slumped off somewhat in sales during November but came back stronger in December and from present indications will continue strong in January. Much of the slump was due to sudden rise in prices on all equipment in this field after two hectic selling months (September, October '42). Consoles have once again won their way into greater importance in the field. Such units as Mills Three Bells and Four Bells, Keeney Two-Way and Four-Way Bells, Baker's Pacer Daily Double Model, Buckley Track Odds Daily Double Model and Keeney Super Track Time and a few others are in biggest demand. Prices now being asked for these are in extremely high brackets. The field will reach an anti-climax in sales during the cold (January, February) months.

Arcade

Arcade equipment continues prominent. Demand hasn't slackened one bit. Such units as Defenders, Convoys, Sky Fighters, Ace Bombers, Super Bombers, Drive Mobiles, Etc. are commanding best prices. These will get even higher prices after the cold months have gone by and the Spring season begins to poke its nose around the corner. The arcade equipment field is at present the most active of all. The machines in this division of the industry are considered most precious and fast selling. Tho many old numbers have fallen by the wayside, even these are expected to be revived by the Spring of '43. Phenomenal growth of arcades thruout the country and the continued opening of more arcades, as the weeks go by, will bring about greater demand. Watch this field carefully. It has far from stopped growing. There is a general belief that this field may have the answer for the post-war period.

Slots

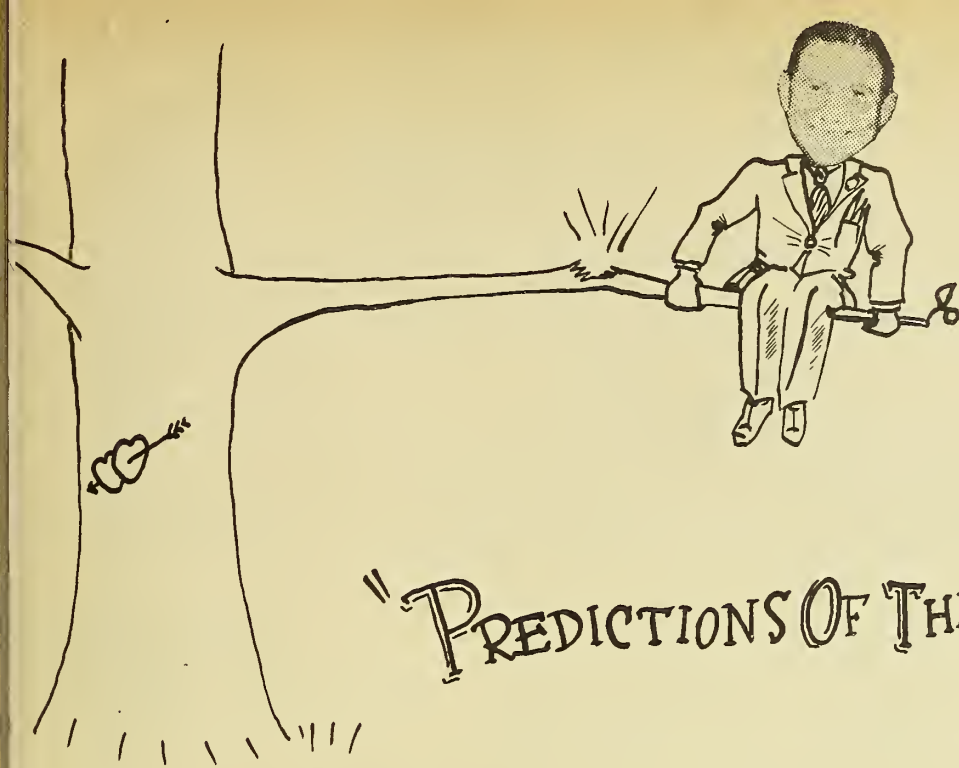

Slots jumped into the No. 1 spot during the Fall of '42. They continue to lead. More and more spots are being opened for them. Tho prices are highest in history they have not yet reached peak. The "profit factor" continues the slot as one of the most important of all machines. Note how many of even the very oldest of these have been brought back to the field of late. The months of November and December (1942) were among the most active in all slot history. January and February will prove just as active. Beginning late in February there will be a slight slump as preparation for the warmer weather creates hesitation. Colder weather always proved best for slots. Warm weather, that keeps people on the outside, has generally not proven such good slot weather. But, regardless of weather conditions this coming year, slots will continue their upswing. Prices will become better stabilized. Also note lack of adverse publicity regarding slots. Government licenses also perked them up in many territories.

One-Balls

One-Balls continue in demand almost everywhere. Demand greatly exceeds supply. Late models are in biggest demand, such as Club Trophy, '41 Derby, Pimlico, etc. The revamps which one factory has turned out have met with general approval. Older models are also being grabbed up. Many coinmen are doing some revamping themselves. One-Balls are among the most salable items in the field and will continue to be so for many months to come with importance and demand growing greater. Prices are still on an even keel. But, they are bound to go higher.

Revamps

Of which we have written a great deal, are growing in importance daily. More good revamping is needed. Someone should also arrange to revamp counter games. And get this type of revamp approved to come within the $10. per year classification. This would help the entire industry and help Uncle Sam to enjoy a lot more revenue. At the same time someone is also needed to do some reasonably priced revamping on the $5. and $10. pinballs. More work in the 1-Ball field would also be welcome. Some clever revamp men on arcade equipment would prove of great help to arcades thruout the country. In short, the revamp field hasn't even caught its first breath.

"PREDICTIONS OF THINGS TO COME"

We predict that within five years after this war is over that the coin machines industry will be among the largest user of freight plane service per capita as an industry.

We predict that because of the speed with which machines will be transported from coast to coast that there will be an entirely different and extremely foreign operating set-up to our present understanding of general operations.

We predict that selling will become highly specialized and more or less centralized.

We predict that there will be operators in one state with routes many hundreds of miles away in another state able to control these routes because of cheap plane transport facilities.

We predict that our present type machines will be looked upon as antiques and that the products which are now beginning to appear as but "germs of ideas" will lead to an entirely different type of coin machines from what we know at present.

We predict that the merchandise vendor field will be entirely revolutionized and that into this field will enter huge manufactories with the most extreme ideas to build up their own national and even international operations.

We predict that among those men now engaged in factories that are creating new methods for all types of manufacturing will arise the inventors of tomorrow for this industry with the most ingenious types of machines ever dreamed of.

We predict that this industry, because of the many changes of equipment that will come about after the war is over, will entice dozens of prominent and influential business men into its fold who will change the entire course of its sales and operations.

We predict that for '43 and '44 we shall see the greatest resourcefulness, the most ingenuity and the finest type of effort that this industry has ever known.

We predict that there will be a complete upheaval of what we now know as the "leaders" in this industry.

We predict that the South American, European and Asiatic markets will prove even more profitable than will the domestic market within five years after the war is over.

We predict that influential banking institutions in Europe and Asia will enter into negotiations for merchandising and financing coin operated machines in their countries and that manufacturers will have salesmen flying to these foreign countries as regularly as they formerly had men traveling in this country.

We predict that if you're still here five years after the war is over that you'll be amazed at the people and capital that will be in coin machines.

The first part of the document discusses the importance of maintaining accurate records of all transactions. It emphasizes that every entry should be clearly documented, including the date, amount, and purpose of the transaction. This ensures transparency and allows for easy reconciliation of accounts.

Furthermore, it is noted that regular audits are essential to identify any discrepancies or errors early on. By conducting these audits frequently, one can prevent small mistakes from escalating into larger financial issues. The document also mentions the need for proper storage and security of these records to protect against loss or theft.

In addition, the text highlights the significance of staying organized. Keeping all receipts, invoices, and other financial documents in a systematic manner makes it much easier to track expenses and income over time. This organization is particularly useful when preparing for tax season or when reviewing the overall financial health of an individual or business.

Finally, the document concludes by stating that consistent record-keeping is a key component of sound financial management. It encourages individuals to adopt these practices from the very beginning to ensure long-term financial stability and success.

The second part of the document provides a detailed overview of the various methods used to collect and analyze data. It begins by describing the different types of data collection techniques, such as surveys, interviews, and observations. Each method is evaluated based on its strengths and weaknesses, helping the reader understand when to use each approach.

Following this, the document delves into the process of data analysis. It explains how raw data is processed, cleaned, and organized into a format suitable for analysis. Various statistical tools and software are mentioned, along with the importance of interpreting the results correctly. The text stresses that data analysis is not just about numbers; it's about understanding the underlying trends and patterns that can inform decision-making.

The document also touches upon the ethical considerations surrounding data collection and analysis. It reminds the reader that data should be handled responsibly, with appropriate safeguards in place to protect privacy and confidentiality. Transparency in how data is used is also highlighted as a crucial aspect of ethical data management.

In conclusion, this section of the document serves as a comprehensive guide for anyone looking to improve their data collection and analysis skills. It provides practical advice and insights that can be applied in a wide range of contexts, from academic research to business operations.

The first part of the document discusses the importance of maintaining accurate records. It highlights the need for consistent data entry and the role of technology in streamlining these processes. The text emphasizes that reliable information is crucial for informed decision-making in various organizational contexts.

Furthermore, the document addresses the challenges associated with data management, such as ensuring data security and maintaining system integrity. It suggests implementing robust protocols to mitigate risks and ensure that all information is protected and accessible when needed.

In addition, the text explores the impact of data on strategic planning and operational efficiency. It notes that comprehensive data analysis allows organizations to identify trends, anticipate market changes, and optimize their internal workflows. This data-driven approach is essential for staying competitive in a rapidly evolving market.

The document also touches upon the ethical considerations of data collection and usage. It stresses the importance of transparency and obtaining proper consent from individuals whose data is being processed. Adhering to these principles is not only a legal requirement but also a key to building trust with stakeholders.

Overall, the document provides a thorough overview of the data landscape, from collection and storage to analysis and ethical application. It serves as a guide for organizations seeking to harness the full potential of their data while maintaining high standards of accuracy and integrity.

The final section of the document offers practical recommendations for implementing effective data management strategies. These include investing in quality hardware and software, training staff on best practices, and regularly reviewing and updating data policies to reflect the latest industry standards and technological advancements.

In conclusion, the document underscores the significance of data as a strategic asset. By adopting a disciplined and ethical approach to data management, organizations can unlock valuable insights and drive sustainable growth. The information provided here is intended to assist readers in navigating the complexities of the data-driven world.

 is devoted to a description of the methods used in the study.
 The second part discusses the results of the experiments and compares them with the theoretical predictions.

The third part of the report contains a discussion of the experimental errors and the sources of uncertainty. The fourth part concludes the report with a summary of the findings and some suggestions for further work.

"ODD COINS"

"Odd Coins" is a new page starting with this issue of The Cash Box. It's your page. We hope that you will make good use of it. It's a homey sort of page. A bit of gossip, some fun, facts, news. A picture or two (if you have them) and would like to mail them to us to help illustrate your item. We realize that getting the average coinman to write is something like the story about the rookie who stuck out his chin at the old sergeant his first day in camp and cracked, "You can't make me shoot at anyone." And the old "Sarge" gave him one of those looks, replying, "Maybe we can't fella, but we're gonna put you where a lotta other guys will be shootin' at you — and you can decide for yourself." So, before the other guy starts shootin' — get your shot in first.
