

Original Cast Derby Off and Running

By REN GREVATT

NEW YORK—The original cast Broadway show derby got under way in earnest last week with Columbia first to record one of the the new season's shows, the Stem adaptation of Edgar Lee Masters' classic, "Spoon River Anthology."

Columbia, which underwent one of its less successful cast album years last season, appears to be on the way to regaining lost ground during this new season, since it also recently acquired the rights to "The Girl Who Came to Supper," with Jose Ferrer and Florence Henderson, which opened to highly favorable reviews Monday (30) in its Boston tryout. The Noel Coward musical, which was produced by Herman Levin, producer of "My Fair Lady," is due for its Broadway bow on December 5.

The same label also has the cast album rights to the new Meredith Willson show, "Here's Love," which opened on Broadway Thursday (3). The show enjoyed a generally favorable reception during its out of town tryout tour. New York critics gave it generally warm notices.

RCA Victor, meanwhile, has at least one potentially successful vehicle on its hands in "110 in the Shade," which opened a few weeks ago in Boston, an adaptation of "The Rainmakers." The cast features, among others, Robert Horton (of "Wagon Train" fame) and Stephen Douglas. Music is by Harvey Schmidt and Tom Jones.

Victor also has the rights to two other current properties, one of which has already hit Broadway, and the other still out of town. "The Student Gypsy," by Rick Besoyan of "Little Mary Sunshine" fame, opened Tuesday (1), starring Allen Swift, Dom de Luise, Eileen Brennan, Don Stewart and Shannon Bolin, remained something of a question mark. Victor's other current property, "Jennie," with Mary Martin, is still on the tryout trail.

Capitol's current interest lies in "Zenda," a new Alfred Drake-Anne Rogers vehicle, with music by Vernon Duke, and lyrics by Leonard Adelson, Sid Kuller and Martin Charnin, which has already had break-in engagements in San Francisco and Los Angeles. The show is scheduled for a Broadway opening November 26.

Capitol is also placing much hope on the new Barbra Streisand show, "Funny Girl," due on Broadway February 13. Another musical for the future is "A Girl to Remember," which will star Carol Burnett. This one. (Continued on page 3)

Luther King Sues 3 Firms

NEW YORK—The Reverend Martin Luther King has filed suit in U. S. District Court here, charging infringement of copyright, against three record companies. Defendants are listed as Mr. Maestro, Inc., New York; 20th Century-Fox, Inc., New York, and Motown Record Corporation, Detroit.

The suit charges each firm with alleged unauthorized use on records of King's now famous "I Have a Dream" speech, delivered during various mass rallies for integration, including the recent march on Washington, staged by combined organizations working toward integration.

King said that prior to September 30, he prepared for oral delivery a lecture titled "I Have a Dream," for which he claims he secured a copyright. Shortly thereafter, the complaint charges, the defendant companies recorded and placed on the market for sale recordings of the speech. King seeks an injunction, damages, and an accounting, and asks that all unsold copies of the various disks be impounded and delivered up to him. Suit was filed by the firm of Lubell and Jones.

At least one of the disks, that put out by Mr. Maestro, has been on the market here for several weeks and has been the subject of a saturation campaign of radio mail-order spot announcements.

PLAYBOY CHAIN SEEKS LABEL AFFILIATION

NEW YORK—Talks are currently under way between Playboy Enterprises and several record labels for the distribution of an album series under the "Playboy Presents" banner. The series, showcasing talent introduced in the expanding international Playboy Clubs chain, is being co-ordinated and produced by Victor Lowmes III. He is the former vice-president and promotion director of both the Playboy magazine and Playboy Clubs, and currently maintains offices here and in Chicago.

Lowmes appointed Bud Prager, former SESAC general manager, to supervise the "Playboy Presents" series. In addition, Prager will develop music publishing and management facets of the operation. Lowmes also named Rosemarie Mendelsohn to the disk production staff. She served formerly as talent co-ordinator for the Playboy Clubs.

According to terms being discussed with the record companies, the firm finally chosen to handle the "Playboy Presents" albums will (Continued on page 3)

BENNETT BIDS FOR LIBERTY LABEL

NEW YORK—Liberty Records President Al Bennett is negotiating to reacquire the label from its parent company, Avnet Electronics Corporation, Billboard learned last week. According to reliable sources, an agreement had been reached at week's end, and final details will be ironed out before it is presented to Avnet stockholders.

Avnet purchased Liberty approximately two years ago with 360,000 shares of its stock on a stock trading basis of five Avnet shares for three shares of Liberty. Deal was hailed at the time as the outstanding label purchase in disk history with Avnet paying more for Liberty than had ever been paid before for a record company.

Negotiations between Bennett and Avnet have been going on for the past three weeks, Billboard learned. First disclosure that Avnet and Liberty were on the verge of breaking up their short-lived marriage came last week when Avnet, in a letter to stockholders, revealed it was negotiating to sell its Liberty Records subsidiary (Billboard, October 5). The prospective purchaser was not identified in the Avnet letter.

Bennett, in reacquiring Liberty, will take over ownership of the Imperial label as well. Imperial had been purchased by Liberty on behalf of Avnet during the past two months, and is being operated as a subsidiary of Liberty.

Bennett entered the Liberty firm six years ago, and became president when the label's founder, Sy Waronker, moved up to board chairman. Under the Bennett-Waronker guidance the firm became, as it is today,

ARMADA Throws Weight Behind Meeting

By NICK BIRO

CHICAGO — An enthusiastic Association of Record Merchants and Distributors Association (ARMADA) board wasted no time meeting here last week to prepare for a record industry practice conference authorized by the Federal Trade Commission.

Such a conference has been sought by ARMADA since 1961 and the tone of the meeting was one of victory and jubilation.

ARMADA immediately appointed a committee of distributors and manufacturers (associate members) to draw up a set of recommended rules to be presented to the FTC.

The distributor group also passed a resolution welcoming the conference and urging "the other trade associations in the industry to extend their wholehearted co-operation to insure the success of the conference."

Sees Great Chance

Earl Kintner, ARMADA counsel and former FTC chairman, said it was all a "great opportunity for this (record) industry to adjust its many violations of law without the government suing large numbers in the industry—a practice that would be expensive both to the taxpayer and industry."

Kintner said the conference supplied "an opportunity for the industry to stabilize itself by complying with the law—and an opportunity to institute fair dealings required by the law."

The ARMADA committee of six distributors and nine manufacturers will meet within 60 days to prepare its recommended rules for the FTC.

After initial informal conferences, the FTC will publish a first draft of industry rules in the Federal Register and will invite additional comments from the industry.

At this point the Commission customarily holds hearings, and accepts oral and written testimony. Following the hearings, the Commission promulgates its final rules.

These have the legal ramification of being the FTC's interpretation of the law. Thus, a violation of the rules is generally treated as a violation of the law.

Counsel Kintner noted, however, that the advantage of the entire proceedings is that the Commission prefers to keep compliance voluntary. He emphasized that the Commission doesn't turn to legal enforcement unless it has exhausted all voluntary avenues.

Kintner and Amos Heilicher,

ARMADA president, both commented on the complete unanimity evidenced throughout the meeting. Without exception every one of the 30 or more members present welcomed the conference as a long-awaited and much-needed step toward bringing order back to the record industry.

Heilicher noted realistically that "everyone is violating the law—majors and indies. The FTC is giving us a chance to wash our hands."

Much of the meeting was devoted to ironing out the details and take on the enforcement of the rules. Director "as issue the series under its existing labels. Playboy is not seeking to have label identity of its own, but will have its product released under the label of the firm handling the line.

The firm getting the Playboy series will enjoy the promotion of the 2 million circulation magazine. In addition, the Playboy Clubs will serve as a farm system for fresh talent. The Playboy Clubs chain is currently operating clubs in six major markets, Chicago, New York, St. Louis, Miami, New Orleans and Phoenix, and is scheduled to open additional clubs within the next six months in Detroit, Baltimore, San Francisco, Kansas City and Manila, Philippine Islands. Clubs also are under construction in Los Angeles, Washington, Boston, Dallas, and Pittsburgh. Plans call for clubs in London, Paris, and other major European cities.

Justice Dept. Won't Say on BMI Rumor

WASHINGTON—A story in a broadcasting trade magazine that the BMI consent decree was the object of accelerated investigation at the Justice Department was not confirmed by the Department here last week. Spokesmen for the Anti-Trust Division said investigation of workings of the BMI consent decree have been more or less continuous for the past 10 years, but no imminent action could be confirmed at any level of inquiry by Billboard's Washington reporter.

Justice spokesmen could not peg any official source for the trade paper story, which claimed that Justice was "on the verge" of some move to bring BMI consent terms more in line with those of the American Society of Composers, Authors & Publishers. ASCAP has continually pressed Justice for action, holding that the small-gauge BMI consent decree gives them a competitive advantage over

ASCAP's far more stringent decree terms. (To which BMI replies that most amendments to the ASCAP decree are based on complaints from within the Society itself and aimed at fairer distribution.)

One Justice Department staffer speculated that talks between Justice people in the New York office and ASCAP complainants may have given rise to the rumors of imminent action. But Washington office of Anti-Trust Division seemed mystified as to source of the rumor, and one staffer said some of the items in the story re the BMI consent decree were not altogether accurate—again indicating lack of official source.

Davidson to Meet Staffers

HOLLYWOOD—Bruce Davidson, recently named Capitol's single record merchandising manager, will meet his team of Western region fieldmen as one of his first assignments.

The former Philadelphia promotion manager will be working with Bob Harris, diskery's local branch promo man; Buck Stapleton, the assistant field singles rep in Hollywood, and Guy Haynes, the San Francisco branch promo manager.

In addition to the normal promotion man's activities, Davidson will develop ideas to promote single sales, prepare information for field personnel concerning new product and visit many of the company's top accounts.

He has been with Capitol eight years and has been in the industry 15 years.

Kapp Names Neil Galligan

NEW YORK — Neil Galligan has been named singles sales manager for Kapp Records, according to national sales manager Al Chan. Galligan also is in charge of Congress Records, now a Kapp subsidiary and prior to its recent purchase by Kapp, an indie firm operated by Galligan.

Reporting to Galligan in his new post, will be promotion chief Moe Preskell, and his staff, Gene Armond (New York); Bill Mulhern (East Coast); Dennis Ganim (Midwest) and Gil Friesen (West Coast).

Sinatra, WB Complete Signing

HOLLYWOOD — Warner Bros. board of directors and Frank Sinatra have signed legal documents firming the acquisition of Reprise Records by Warners. The signing on September 23 came seven weeks after the announcement that Warners was purchasing the Sinatra diskery while its parent was entering into a separate agreement with his Essex Film operation.

In a separate move, Sinatra was named special assistant to Jack L. Warner, president of the film company. The newly created post is for three years, with Sinatra employed in capacities other than as an entertainer. Warner said Sinatra's services would be rendered directly to him and that the actor would be called upon to assist in special assignment at the corporate level.

The time lag between announcement and signing was caused by delays in clarifying legal aspects of the transaction.

Separate Rosters

The two diskeries will maintain separate identities through their own logs, artist rosters, sales and a.&r. departments. Moe Ostin, who continues to manage the Reprise operation, now reports to Mike Maitland, president of Warner Bros. Records.

George Lee will serve as director of Eastern operations for both Warner and Reprise.

Continuing with Ostin are Sonny Burke, a.&r. director; Jimmy Brown, a.&r. producer; Mel Price, sales manager; Jack McGraw, promotion manager, and Merle Shore, art director.

Atco to Handle Coast Line

NEW YORK—Atco Records has taken on the distribution of its first independently produced album line, Vault Records, out of the West Coast. Atco is handling "Hot Rod City" and the entire Vault line of singles and LP's, marking an expansion in the taking on of outside product by the combined resources of Atlantic and Atco.

The deal for the Vault material was worked out between Atlantic Vice-President Jerry Wexler and Jack Lewerke of the West Coast-based Vault firm. Besides the "Hot Rod" LP, which is reported to be cut to tie in with the younger generation's next musical fad, Atco will also distribute the label's surfing albums. "Surfbeat" and "The Challengers on the Move," by the Challengers and the various artist set, "Oldies, Goodies and Woodies" are included.

The singles being handled by Atco from Vault are "Foot Tapper," by the Challengers and "Surfin' Hearse," by the Quads.

The list of outside distributed labels handled by Atlantic and Atco now number nine. In addition to Vault, Atco now distributes all singles product on the Volt, and Colt .45 labels. In addition Atco also distributes specific titles on the Minaret and Moonglow logos. Atlantic is national distributor for all Stax and Shirley product, and distributes specific titles on the Lupine and Instant labels.

Camden Sets Yule Plans

NEW YORK—A large and varied merchandising and promotion program is set for the RCA Camden Christmas and catalog best seller product, according to H. R. Clark, manager of product planning. Clark said that all new and catalog Christmas product will carry a 12 per cent discount to distributors and a 100 per cent return privilege during the campaign.

All Camden tapes, new and catalog, also will have the added 12 per cent discount and 100 per cent return privilege. Advertising, point of sale material, etc., will back the campaign.

ZENDA REVIEW

'Zenda,' Sadly, Just Won't Do

By ELIOT TIEGEL

LOS ANGELES — "Zenda," the romantic musical based on Anthony Hope's whimsical caprice, "The Prisoner of Zenda," has top name headliners, witty situations, cavorting dancing girls and colorful scenery, but musically the play falls apart.

And this is unfortunate because Alfred Drake's robust baritone voice and Anne Rogers' delightful British soprano are wasted on material lacking the emotion and sweep needed to sell the production. In this respect, Capitol may find itself with a weak musical but a coy comedy original cast on its hands.

"Zenda," which opened here last month, makes its bow on Broadway November 26.

The play has many things going for it—which have to be seen to be enjoyed—such as the choreography and settings.

Drake reveals himself as an excellent comedian utilizing one-liners and a range of facial expressions to capture his audience. Chita Rivera, the fiery Latin dancer, emerges as an exciting performer on all counts.

The setting is modern Europe, with Drake adeptly playing the dual roles of an English entertainer and the salacious king of Zenda. (Armen Mathews as the Queen Mother works harmoniously with Miss Rogers playing album of which is already set to appear on ABC-Paramount, will debut here next April 26.

Columbia has already signed for the rights to the upcoming musical adaptation of "What Makes Sammy Run," which will star Steve Lawrence, who is also a Columbia pactee. The show will shortly go into rehearsal with a February 4 target date for Broadway. It's also rumored that Columbia has acquired the cast album rights to "Hamlet," to star Richard Burton on Broadway next winter or spring, following his current filming assignment in Mexico.

her daughter Princess Flavia.)

An unusually large cast of singers and dancers whirl and twirl to twist rhythms, the bossa nova, mambo and waltz time. But "Zenda" lacks the potent musical material with which an audience can walk away humming.

Vernon Duke's music, with lyrics by Leonard Adelson, Sid Kuller and Martin Charnin, ably holds the show together, but one is always wishing the show were more compelling.

Several numbers do stand out, including the romantic "Yesterday's Forgotten," sung by Drake and Miss Rogers, and "Love Is the Worst Possible Thing," teaming Miss Rivera with Drake in an up-tempo comedy routine.

Each of the principals is given sufficient vocal material, but if "Zenda" is to succeed as a musical it needs stronger melodies than were heard in the shake-down performance.

Conservative Ranks Swelling

UA Announces 10% Discount Program

LAS VEGAS—United Artists Records announced a 10 per cent discount program during its national sales meeting held here last week. The move brings the firm into line with a growing number of companies which have recently adopted more conservative discount policies during stocking programs.

During the three-day session, the firm unveiled new product and a new kiddie line under the over-all tag, "The Mad, Mad, Mad, Mad Plan." This takes its name from a key album in the fall promotion, the sound track to the current Stanley Kramer film, "It's a Mad, Mad, Mad, Mad World."

On hand were Art Talmadge, president; Si Mael, vice-president and comptroller; Joe Berger, national sales manager; Lloyd Liepsig, director of creative services; and Jay Jacobs, national director of sales merchandising and promotion. From the parent film company were Vice-President Dave Picker and executive vice-president of United Artist Music, Michael Stewart.

A mass of new product on a variety of lines was introduced to the distributors who arrived from 30 key areas in the United States and Canada.

Besides product on the UA label, new albums on Musicor, Tale Spinners kiddie line and UA jazz were introduced. Special emphasis was also put on product being distributed by United Artists on the Park Avenue, Garex, Arthur Godfrey's Contempo Records line and the Ascot subsid.

Special presentation was also made of a new label called Peter Penguin Childrens Records. This new line will sell at $1.98. There are six albums in the first release. On the Ascot, are a series of what the firm designates as super-albums in which, for the first time, four motion picture sound tracks are combined in one set. These are slated to sell at a suggested list price of $3.98 and $4.98 retail.

Another sound track album being debuted on the UA label, besides the "Mad, Mad, etc." set is "Johnny Cool," scored by Bill May, which includes Sammy Davis Jr., as special guest artist.

ARMADA Names Jones To Executive Sec'y Post

CHICAGO—The Association of Record Merchants and Distributors Association (ARMADA) named Edgar M. Jones, long-time journalist and public relations expert, its executive secretary and simultaneously paid tribute to Paul Ackerman, who recently left the association to return to Billboard as music editor.

Board members passed a resolution of thanks and appreciation to Paul Ackerman for his outstanding, loyal and dedicated services as executive secretary to ARMADA. A plaque will be presented to Ackerman shortly.

Elmer Bernstein, Mercer Teaming

HOLLYWOOD — Composer Elmer Bernstein has teamed with Johnny Mercer in writing the title tune from the Paramount picture, "Love With a Proper Stranger."

Bernstein will record the score and a title single for Ava Records.

Bernstein's collaboration with Mercer is their first assignment together. It is also the first time Bernstein has written simultaneously with any lyricist.

Mercer has been working successfully with Henry Mancini the last several years and traders are wondering whether the new team can achieve the same kind of commercial success.

Mort Hoffman In Glancy Post

NEW YORK — Mort Hoffman has been named to the post of general manager, Columbia Records Sales Corporation, according to Norman Adler, executive vice-president, Columbia Records. Hoffman succeeds Ken Glancy, former vice-president of the sales wing of the company, who was named last week to the post of vice-president of a.&r.

Hoffman will report directly to Bill Gallagher, vice-president of marketing for Columbia, and will be responsible for the management of the New York merchandising staff. His duties will encompass the formation of sales objectives and policies, planning sales and merchandising programs and maintaining channels of distribution for CRSC.

Previously, Hoffman had been associated with Columbia in various sales capacities. He joined the firm in 1948 with its Pittsburgh distributor. He later served as sales promotion manager there, as a district manager for CRSC, as a regional Midwest sales manager, and most recently as national sales manager in New York.

Ferrante and Teicher, Dakota Staton, Garnet Mimms, Al Caiola and the Isley Brothers are also in the line-up. In the UA country end, Pappy Daly's star artists, George Jones and Melba Montgomery, also have new sets in the release.

Billboard's Washington correspondent, has been acting as interim executive secretary. Most recently he was associate director of public relations for the United Service Organization in New York.

He operated his own public relations consulting service and was at one time public information specialist for the federal government in Washington and the United States Army in the Europe.

He also spent many years as a newspaperman and writer in Washington, covering the White House, executive departments, Congress, and the federal courts.

WB to Hold 1-Price, 1-Deal Till Year's End

HOLLYWOOD — Warner Bros. Records will maintain a one-price, one-deal policy through the end of December, Bob Summers, national sales manager, announced last week. Warner's thus becomes the latest in a series of diskeries to resort to a conservative pricing policy with respect to its distributors.

The new Warner's deal calls for 10 per cent discount on all new and catalog product through the end of December. "Our move was prompted by the request of many distributors and dealers," Summers said, "all of whom voiced the opinion that the record industry needs a healthier economy."

"Many distributors and dealers have been sorely overburdened and as a result were not enjoying sufficient inventory turnover," he said. "They had to resort to drastic discount policies which left them too little a margin of profit. Our new policy will enable all of our distributors to more accurately forecast, and to sell product and not necessarily price alone."

Columbia Records has already resorted to an all-year-round, lower price, no deal policy. Several other record firms, including Kapp, ABC-Paramount, RCA Victor, Mercury and Jubilee also adopted more conservative pricing policies.

Hot Rodding New Kick for Hot Rods

HOLLYWOOD—First it was surfing, now it's hot rodding. That's the new kick Capitol Records is planning to launch with the Beach Boys and Dick Dale.

Hot rod music will be another commercial name for what is rock and roll. Diskery will have five hot rod LP's on the market within the next two weeks, including the already released "Shut Down," by various Capitol artists; "Little Deuce Coupe," which is the title of the Beach Boys' current single; "Checkered Flag," by Dick and the Del-Tones; "Hot Rod Rally," featuring three new teen groups, and "The Big Sounds of the Drags," which the label says was recorded at major drag races around the country.

Voyle Gilmore, Capitol's a.&r. veep, believes the label can spring hot rod music into a national trend because he claims drag racing is practically the national pastime of American teen-agers.

Capitol will supply deejays with a sampler LP and a dictionary of hot rod terms, much in the manner it prepared for the surfing craze.

Philips Buys Master

CHICAGO—Philips Records has purchased the master for "Young Boy Blues" from the Kirk label in Houston. The disk, by Steve Tyrell, has reportedly sold over 7,000 in the Houston area. Philips rushed the disk out last week.

IT'S SECOND TIME around for Ernest Ashworth's "Talk Back Trembling Lips." Already the top hit in the country field, the outing is going pop in a big way. 1214 is the number. Hickory is the label. (Advertisement)

Simon Kid LP's Just Right Pie

Record Guild of America has released a new series of "Simon Says" kiddie LP's, to sell in the $1.98 market. The initial group of six packages are neatly conceived to hit this market with a breadth of different types of kiddie entertainment, from nursery rhymes to dramatized story material.

All are done with taste and imagination and even those including nursery rhymes and songs of animal land, an area which can often become plodding and dull, keep up the level. "The Instruments of the Orchestra," though not a new experience, is well handled by orkster Richard Maltby, and the same can be said of Sonny Fox in his "Tubby the Tuba" story. Highlights of the six LP's would be the two story sets, including narration, spots of dialog and excellent musical backgrounds. The new diskings, from Record Guild of America, are numbered from M-14 to M-19.

Kid Science LP's Expertly Done

"Singing Science Records" is the tag covering a series of expertly produced (by pop clefter Hy Zaret) children's learning records, the first six of which have recently hit the market. Seldom, it may be said, has learning for the youngsters, age approximately 5 to 12, been so well sugar-coated.

Titles of the sets, for example, include "Space Songs," with Tom Glazer and Dottie Evans; "Energy and Motion Songs" (same pairing); "Experiment and Activity Songs" with Dorothy Collins and "Nature Songs" with Marais and Miranda. The songs by Zaret pack much learning into them in a form that will make kids think they're tuned in on a wild adventure store. Lou Singer deserves a bow, too, for the music.

Of not a little merchandising value are the covers themselves, which are composed of a series of designs and simple figures of the type that kids would draw in school, and all colored in with crayon, in a most lifelike manner. Series numbers run from MR 0312 to 0314, 0316 and up to 0322.

How Hartstone Wears 7 Hats

NEW YORK—"I'd like to see a law that would protect the independent record retailer against loss leader extinction," said Leon C. Hartstone, in reviewing various facets of his first six months in business for himself. Hartstone left his post of vice-president at London Records earlier this year after a 13-year tenure.

Hartstone, with his brother George and Godfrey Dickey, started Mutual Distributors in Boston in 1946. Later Hart Distributors in Los Angeles and Stone Distributors in San Francisco, were added to the Hartstone fold and have been operated as family entities ever since.

In addition, the same group also operates six record stores under a separate corporate name, Krey Disc, in Boston. Hartstone, thus, feels he knows the dealers' problems and is, in fact, a champion of the indie retailer.

Sees No. 1 Goal

"Legislation against the use of the loss leader should be the No. 1 aim of any and all national dealer organizations," Hartstone asserted. "It's the most serious problem they have today," he added, throwing down a copy of the New York Times Sunday entertainment section. "Look at these ads. This is what I mean. These big stores are simply destroying the value concept of records."

"This is destructive and the U. S. is supposed to protect the small merchant against destructive price competition. Actually, many States have such laws, but few dealers will ever use them. In Massachusetts, we had the problem with our stores and we went to court about it against a prominent discounter there. We won and they were enjoined from selling below cost. If they do it again, they're in contempt of court."

Hartstone feels that the record business is going through much change, with the future not particularly clear. "Our approach today is to simply be in the record business and stop trying to figure out what's right or what's best. We feel that even today, it's still possible to make a reasonable profit—not a big profit you understand—but a reasonable one."

Many Areas

To this end, Hartstone has opened up shop in virtually every area of the disk business. Through his Independent Producers Group (IPG) he's a manufacturer. This includes his own IPG label and the signing of labels of indie producers for distributing deals.

Through Mutual, Hart, Stone and the newest entity, Cleve-Disk in Cleveland, he's in the distributing field, Cleve-Disk, incidentally, now has a branch with full warehousing in Cincinnati, giving the Hartstone operations five separate outlets. A sixth market is reached, too, since some of the Cincinnati lines are also handled for the Indianapolis territory.

Through his Pioneer Record Sales firm, he's also in the leased department business, having just taken over five departments, two each in Los Angeles and San Francisco and one in Phoenix, of the Consumers Mart of America (CMA) chain from Lennie Garmise of Chicago.

Through yet another entity, Cal-Raks, there is the rack-jobbing end. By the end of this month, the firm will have five major installations on the West Coast. At the retail level, there are the six Boston stores with four more in the works within the next two years, again evidencing faith in the full-line retail end of the business.

With respect to racking, Hartstone feels that the field must eventually change into a regional or local character rather than national. "Let's face it," he said, "someone right in St. Louis, who knows that market and its needs and its pricing structure, can do a better job there than somebody from Boston or New York. It just has to be."

Sees Wrongs

"I think some aspects of the racker's approach have been wrong. He has to become more like a real dealer and he can only do that with real merchandising, let us say, honest merchandise and honest merchandising."

"I can give you one good example of how a good merchant can do better than a rack or a lease, if it's not operated like a real store. Sam Goody has a store out on Long Island in a Floyd Bennett shopping center. There are record racks all over the place out there, but Goody still does a better job and in many cases he does it with higher prices."

"In our racks, our leased departments, and our stores, we'll run them all like full-line stores. I think the same idea occurred to the White Front people in Southern California. They finally got rid of their leased departments and put in their own record buyer."

"As far as being in the record producing end of the business is concerned," Hartstone continued, "That's a problem. You have the big fellows with the connections who can offer movie contracts and the like to their artists. Then you have the sheer geniuses like Phil Spector. We sometimes wonder, what is the middle-of-the-road man supposed to do? Sometimes it seems that it's either all genius or all hype in this business. We'll just keep looking around for good records and hope we can keep our hand in."

Billboard Cubs Back on Beat

NEW YORK—As the nation's schools reopened, Billboard last week resumed operation of its College Bureau, an on-the-campus fact-gathering organization devoted to disk and talent coverage.

The Bureau's "Campus Cubs" report to Billboard's readers on audience reception of recording artists playing college dates, and affect of their personal appearances on disk sales in school areas.

Before recording artists appear at campus concerts, Billboard's Campus Cub representatives alert record dealers, radio-TV stations, and juke box operators in the school areas to the time and place the artists will appear.

The Campus Cub program, an industry service inaugurated last year by Billboard, today has representatives at more than 50 colleges and universities in the U. S. It operates under the direction of Frank Luppino at Billboard's New York headquarters.

Cannonball Kicks Off Ill. Season

By JOHN CARLISLE JR.
University of Illinois
(Billboard Correspondent)

Julian (Cannonball) Adderley and the Gateway Trio kicked off the concert season at the University of Illinois in a double-feature registration week program.

Despite competition from all-school dance and numerous fraternity and sorority events, the concert drew an enthusiastic crowd of 2,437.

The Adderley sextet was a model of proficient versatility, wowing the audience with smooth and swinging renditions of a wide variety of jazz and blues material. The highlight of their performance was pianist Victor Feldman's moving conception of Duke Ellington's "Come Sunday."

The audience was slow in warming up to the Gateway Trio, possibly because of a lack of familiarity with the group. The Trio followed Adderley on the program, and their folk sound seemed rather thin after the powerful Adderley sound.

The campus newspaper, the Daily Illini, summed up audience's reaction, saying that Adderley and the Gateway Trio "present a nice entertainment package."

Area record dealers reported a little action on various records in the Adderley catalog following the concert, but the general reaction was that the sales were not unusually high.

No sales of the Gateway Trio's first album, the "Mad, Mad, Mad Gateway Trio," were reported within the week before or the week after the concert.

This concert was the first to be held in the new University of Illinois Assembly Hall, completed last spring. The seating capacity of the circular hall can be varied for between 3,500 and 8,000 persons for an on-stage concert, seating up to 18,000 persons for a concert in-the-round.

BOOK REVIEW

Can't Put Down This Horne

NEW YORK — A new book by Elliot Horne should warm many a status-minded cat with new parlor games. It's called the Hiptionary, It's profusely illustrated by Jack Davis, whose pen and ink is often seen in Mad Magazine, and it is published by Simon & Schuster, (Horne's a.m. to p.m. gig is in the RCA Victor press pen.)

As the subtitle indicates, this is a book which explains "A Hipster's View of the World Scene." Along with such mundane definitions as pro-football, (elephant ball), psychoanalysis (getting the attic cleaned), the city of Washington (Sam City), Horne, with Davis' talented assistance, describes a number of topical personalities and historic events.

The President, for instance, is "The Man." Pierre Salinger is "The Man's Mouth"; Secretary of the Treasury G. Douglas Dillon is "The Baker." Nelson Rockefeller is "Joe Sincere" and "Daddy Warbucks" is Barry Goldwater. The Peace Corps is called "Schrivers Jivers" and the integration issue is called "Blues Behind the Cotton Curtain."

This is no dull definitive work on the peculiar jargon of the jazz musician and his hippy. It's a lively work in which Horne makes up much hipese as he culls from that already in the lexicon.

For relatively small bread, (ace.95) this soft-cover 79-page book is a groove. Jack Maher

Confirmation Seen on Wood Approaches

HOLLYWOOD—The success of "Sugar Shack," by Jimmy Gilmer and the Fireballs on Dot Records, points up the thinking by the firm's president, Randy Wood, of going outside the company to purchase a hot indie master.

The current smash single, which has climbed Billboard's Hot 100 chart in four quick weeks, was purchased by Wood from Norman Petti of Clovis, N. M.

The purchase was the fourth made by Wood of material which has climbed into the Top 10 on the singles charts. These other singles included "Wipe Out" by the Surfari's, purchased locally; "Pipeline" by the Chantays and "Boss" by the Rumbler's, bought from Downey Records, a suburban L. A. company, and "Hot Pastrami" by the Dartells, bought locally from Irwin Zucker.

The significance of these purchases places Wood squarely in the battle to buy action masters from outside sources. In the past, Dot's success has come from its own stable of artists built around Lawrence Welk, Billy Vaughn, Pat Boone, Jimmy Rodgers and Steve Allen.

Oscar Davis Prexy Of New Long Firm

NASHVILLE—Hubert Long, president of Hubert Long Talent Agency here, last week announced the formation of a new company, Sponsored Events, Inc., and completion of arrangements with Oscar Davis, personal manager of Ray Price, for the new firm to handle future bookings for Price.

Davis, who will remain as Price's personal manager, has been named president of the new corporation. Long will serve as secretary-treasurer; Jim Peachy and Richard Blake, of Indianapolis, are vice-presidents. Offices will be at 806 16th Avenue South, Nashville.

Long said Sponsored Events will co-sponsor c.&w. personal-appearance shows, beginning with a tie-in with the Kroger food stores. The shows will tie-in newspaper, radio and TV promotion and advertising in Kroger market areas where shows are booked.

The first Kroger show will be October 20 at Cobo Hall, Detroit, where Davis set a box-office record earlier this year.

Artists set for the show include Roy Acuff and the Smokey Mountain Boys, Marty Robbins, Red Foley, George Jones, Lester Flatt and Earl Scruggs and the Foggy Mountain Boys, Porter Wagoner, Melba Montgomery, Jean Shepard, Bill Monroe and the Blue Grass Boys, the Collins Kids, George Hamilton IV, Hank Williams Jr. and Grant Turner.

Long, in announcing the Ray Price arrangement, said all future talent for Sponsored Events will be booked by the Hubert Long Agency.

Schwartz in New Quarters

PHILADELPHIA — Red Schwartz, former Vee Jay national promotion director, has set up headquarters for his Red Top Records and Carney Music Publishing.

Schwartz, who exited Vee Jay Records recently after a six-year association, helped develop for the label such artists as Jerry Butler, Dee Clark, Gene (Duke of Earl) Chandler and the 4 Seasons.

ARMADA SEEKS CENTRAL SITE

CHICAGO—The Association of Record Merchants and Distributors Association (ARMADA) agreed to hold its next board meeting in December or January at the Flying Carpet here, and its next convention in June "at some centrally located site."

In an informal vote, a return to Miami was voted. The Broadmoor Hotel in Colorado Springs, received favorable consideration, and a committee was named to investigate the hotel as a possibility.

ARMADA also agreed to start a newsletter service to its members. The letter would include business tips and association information.

ARMADA Throws Its Weight Behind Meet important that everybody realize the scheduling of the conference was a fait accompli.

"It's going to be held, and the rules are going to be passed," Jimmy Schwartz, ARMADA treasurer, noted. "Anyone interested in the rules should make his views known now."

Schwartz urged distributors and manufacturers not already ARMADA members, to join with the association in helping draft regulations.

Kintner said the record industry would give the FTC "one of the toughest jobs it's ever tackled—they're (FTC) counting on co-operation from all of us."

Commenting additionally on industry problems, Heilicher said it was "important we realize that the rack jobber, one-stop—and certainly the independent record dealer—are here to stay."

He said the record industry would need a set of rules that would enable everybody to survive.

He noted that Korvette, Sears and Montgomery Ward as well as the large discount stores, would be bound by the same set of rules as the small, independent dealer.

Several distributors expressed fear that the conference could be "sabotaged by people who don't want it."

Kintner said, "no, the conference is on the table—the rules will apply to everyone—manufacturer, distributor, rack jobber, one-stop and dealer."

Another distributor said he heard that a major label had told representatives of the National Association of Record Merchandisers (NARM) that if the conference came to pass, they would appoint the rack jobbers as distributors.

Kintner answered it was important therefore that in drafting industry rules, the difference in function between the various distribution levels be spelled out.

Edgar Jones, executive secretary, noted that the conference would be drawn out—"lawyers for each segment of the industry will be fighting for their respective groups."

Prime Objective

Directors agreed that price stability would be a prime objective of the rules. Commenting on "freebies," Kintner said they couldn't be outlawed, but a rule could say that the freebies must be made available to everybody on an equal basis.

Named to the ARMADA committee to help draft initial rules were the following distributors: Amos Heilicher, chairman; Jimmy Schwartz, Irwin Fink, Milt Salstone, Bob Chatton and Bill Davis.

Also the following manufacturers: John Sippel, chairman; Jerry Wexler, Herb Corsak, Jerry Blaine, Ewart Abner, and invited though not confirmed, Dave Kapp, Bernie Lowe, Mike Maitland and Sam Clark.

The Foreign Office Ball is a swirl of color and moving patterns. All the 1911 dances are done by the company with some fancy variations. The condensed version of "The Coconut Girl" left Miss Henderson somewhat limp with exhaustion, but the audience loved every minute.

Maitland emphasized that all existing contracts between Reprise and its artist roster would be honored, and agreements with international licensees would continue. Maitland added that there were plans to consolidate licensees and that Pye had been extended as the Reprise representative in England, while British Decca was Warner's outlet there.

Domestically, Warners has 30 distribs; Reprise a lesser number. Sixteen were handling both labels prior to the sale. In areas where both companies have outlets, one may be eliminated.

Wherever possible, Maitland explained, the two labels would use joint services.

All forthcoming Reprise product will carry the statement: "A division of Warner Bros." There is a good possibility that when possible, artists from the two rosters will be combined on recording projects.

The sale also allows for future Sinatra Warner Bros. sound tracks being released on either label. Warner Bros. is also reported exploring the coupling of tracks from both catalogs for the premium business.

AT CARNEGIE HALL

Small Riot Marks Bow Of Italian Rock Show

The newly renovated Carnegie Hall, a $50,000 refurbishing job, the first since its opening in 1891, was the scene of Eberto Landi's Italian rock show, "Peppino and His Rockers," a wild, wild affair. The show, a straightforward songfest, was presented in two parts Sunday afternoon (29), and wound up in a riot of screaming fans that had to be quelled by officials.

The first part, an even-paced, sedate presentation of Neapolitan songs featured some local Italo-American artists, such as the Gondoliers, guitar-playing singing duo with a penchant for singing girl-name songs. Claudia Villa was next, a striking redhead with all the natural attributes of feminine loveliness, sang well, but lacked what it takes to enthrall an audience.

Next on stage was Nino Testa, a handsome, personable young man with a fine voice opened his set with "Mala Femmena" and right then and there nailed his audience. As he progressed from one number to another, "Anema E Core," "Guitara Romana," "La Novia," and a couple of encores, singing directly to his audience, he held them until he begged off.

Lovely Didi van Eyck, the international songstress, closed the first half in smooth fashion.

Following the comparative quiet of the first half, all hell broke loose in the second segment. Peppino and His Rockers came on to a shouting, screaming, thunderous reception which continued throughout the performance. Though the group is great in its native Italy, the American debut performance at the Carnegie left much to be desired. The rocking, twisting beat was all there, though extremely fast-paced and extremely loud. Peppino's "pop" singing style, also said to be great, was inaudible over the din from both the audience and wall-shaking music that came from the four men backing him.

For encores, the crowd rose to its feet screaming and hollering, and forced the suspension of activities on stage.

VILLAGE GATE

Fury the Word For Santamaria

Mongo Santamaria unleashed his Afro-Cuban, Latin-pop-jazz fury on the audience at New York's Village Gate Tuesday (1) and proved that you can go to the well more than once, especially if that well contains "Watermelon — Man."

Santamaria's hit single for Battle label has provided the conga-bongo player and group with a style and sound as a basis for their work, something that was not true previously. The band romps through the tune and branches out a bit from the hit sound with the march cadence "Creole," "El Toro" which carries the nostalgia of the bull ring number of moody tunes that provide nice contrast to the funky swinger sound. Most of the tunes are included on his new "Mongo at the Village Gate" LP. If there's a negative side to this group it lies in the area of dynamics. The group too often plays loud, louder, loudest.

Sharing the bill with the Santamaria organization are Brock Peters and Dakota Staton. Keyword for both acts is stylization. Actor Peters, as a folk singer, marked his return to the Gate where he first made his folk song debut. The man sings well enough, but it is often difficult to cut through the veneer of his very precise style.

Miss Staton functions best at a quick tempo where the neon and the chrome of her style

Hong Kong Set on Ear by Davis' Visit

By CARL MYATT

HONG KONG—This has not been quite the same place since Sammy Davis Jr. breezed in and out of it last week. Sammy arrived from Australia and promptly launched himself into a round of activities which left his friends and associates shaking their heads in wonderment.

He gave a brief press conference on his arrival at the airport, then rushed to his hotel, and out again to a television appearance. He said in his TV interview that he wanted to get out and meet the people in order to get to know the real Hong Kong. He met people from all walks of life, went on the wildest of shopping sprees and did more good for America as a good-will ambassador than all the organizations out here whose job it is to promote the image of the U. S. Addressing an audience on the civil rights issue, he said: "Don't judge all Americans on what is happening in Birmingham. All communities have good and bad people. America, being a little bigger, has just that many more people of both types. In the end however, good always conquers evil."

Film Cartoon To Feature Jazz Score

HOLLYWOOD — A quasi-jazz score is being used by Hanna-Barbera in presenting its first full-length cartoon feature, "Whistle Your Way Back Home," due for release next spring.

The million dollar film features six original compositions by Ray Gilbert and Doug Goodwin, with jazzman Marty Paich as musical supervisor.

Thirty-five musicians, including the top Hollywood jazz studiomens and five vocalists, will be heard on the soundtrack performing the title tune and "Like I Like You," "The Ven-e, Ven-a, Ven-o," "St. Looie," and "Ash-Can Parade."

The film company is currently negotiating for disk exposure for this material, which it points out, "is pretty hip stuff for a cartoon."

Zell selected two girls from her J.&S. label, Ethel and Yvonne, who had been single acts prior to that, added her daughter Johnnie Louise (of Johnnie and Jo "Over the Mountain" fame), and for the fourth member, advertised in The New York Post for a "girl singer to do professional record." The 20 applicants were auditioned and Zell selected a girl named Mary Wells (not of Motown fame). Johnnie Louise was used only for the session, and will not be a permanent member of the group. WSM Execs Finalize Plans For Annual D.J. Festival

NASHVILLE—With emphasis on the more serious aspects of broadcasting, WSM officials last week finalized plans for the "Grand Ole Opry's" 38th birthday celebration to be held here November 1-2 in connection with WSM's annual National Country Music Festival.

In addition to the programming and sales roundtable discussion, which met with such success last year, this year's agenda will also include a discussion on license renewal, when WSM personnel will review and summarize the WSM-University of Tennessee License Renewal Conference of October 22-23.

Registration for the two-day event will begin Thursday, October 31, at the Andrew Jackson Hotel, and the "Grand Ole Opry" birthday celebration will officially open Friday morning (1) at WSM's breakfast to be held in Nashville's new Municipal Auditorium. Program will highlight a spectacular, featuring all the members of "Grand Ole Opry." This will be followed by a memorial to the "Grand Ole Opry" stars who lost their lives during the past year, and the presentation of the various trade press awards.

As in the past, Capitol, Columbia, Decca, Dot, RCA Victor and United Artists will again sponsor individual events during the celebration, and will be joined this year by Mercury and Starday.

CMA Preps For Country Music Fest

NASHVILLE—Country Music Association members and officials, presently gearing their activities to WSM's National Country Music Week here (October 27-November 2), announce that highlights of the week will include the CMA board and officers' meeting; annual membership meeting and election of directors; CMA's fifth anniversary banquet, show and dance, and International Country Music Week plans which include network television exposure.

The board and officers meet at Nashville's Capitol Park Inn Tuesday (29), and Executive Director Jo Walker reports that there are several key matters in the works and that additional planning will be done at this meeting.

CMA President Gene Autry will preside at the membership meeting Thursday (31) in the ballroom of the Andrew Jackson Hotel at which time the first annual Connie B. Gay Award will be presented. Membership meeting will be followed by the election of directors.

Line-up of talent for this year's banquet show will include Eddy Arnold, Flatt and Scruggs, the Plainsmen, Hank Thompson and His Brazos Valley Boys, Tex Ritter, Jean Shepard and Leroy Van Dyke.

Jim Reeves Sets Up Booking and Diskery Firms

MADISON, Tenn. — RCA Victor artist Jim Reeves, who for the last several years has been working with the Hal Smith office, of Goodlettsville, Tenn., on personal appearance dates, has established his own office here to handle his future bookings, with Ray Baker in charge.

Reeves and his associates have also recently formed Shannon Records, Inc., with the firm's first release, by Billy Deaton of San Antonio, due out this week. Reeves and his group, the Blue Boys, arrived here Saturday (7), after working dates in South Carolina with Johnny Wright and Kitty Wells.

Because of other commitments, Reeves was unable to attend the premiere of his motion picture, "Kimberly Jim," in Johannesburg, South Africa, September 25.

Guitarist-comedian Roy Clark guested on Jimmy Dean's new hour-long show on ABC-TV September 26. Clark's new Capitol releases are the single, "Application for Love," and the album, "Roy Clark Sings the Tips of My Fingers." . . . Hank Thompson and His Brazos Valley Boys are set at the State Fair of Texas, Dallas, for the 11th consecutive year October 5-20. During last year's running of the fair, Capitol Records recorded Hank's show live direct from the fairgrounds. The album, "Hank Thompson at the State Fair of Texas," has been released to coincide with his appearance at the fair this year. . . . Ferlin Husky is slated to play the Policemen's Ball at Meridian, Miss., in November.

J. Fulwood Hinson, songwriter-deejay (also a licensed mortician and funeral director for Georgia and Louisiana), tried reaching Tim Gayle by long-distance phone from New York to Hollywood the other day and was surprised to find that Gayle, publicist and writer's agent, was located in New York. In fact, Hinson found that he was residing in the same hotel, the Belvedere, at the time the phone call was made. Hinson came forth with a portfolio of some 50 songs, including a ready-to-release waxing of "Cardboard Square." Tim now has two free newsletters going out each week, one for the c.&w. programmers and another for the pop lads, and is doing a column for Li'l Wally's and Sebastian Pantolini's Celebrity & Music News, similar to his syndicated Gone With the Gayle pillar.

Buddy Killen, executive vice-president of Tree Publishing, Nashville, announces that songwriter-artist Joe Tex has been re-linked to long-term pacts with both the Tree firm and Dial Records. Both contracts were renewed before the old ones expired on the strength of Tex's latest release on Dial, "Someone to Take Your Place." He has another new one coming up on Dial soon. . . . Bobby Bond, Tree writer, has just finished an LP and single session for Time Record. Faye Tucker, another Tree discovery, has al-

POP SPOTLIGHT

MAJOR LANCE

HEY LITTLE GIRL

(Curton-Jalynne, BMI) (2:34)—Okeh 7181

The "Monkey" man has a strong follow-up to "Monkey Time" here. The side has that middle tempo swing with a strong ork backing and appropriate shouting. Flip is "Crying in the Rain" (Jalynne, BMI) (2:23).

POP SPOTLIGHT

ELVIS PRESLEY

BOSSA NOVA BABY

(Presley, BMI) (1:58)

POP SPOTLIGHT

WITCHCRAFT

(Commodore-Presley, BMI) (2:21)—RCA Victor 8243

More Presley powerhouse wax. The first is a swinging up-tempo, Lieber-Stroller tune that has humor and comes from the new Elvis flick, "Fun in Acapulco." The second, easily as swinging, is a strong medium tempo blues that has fine shouting and terrific tenor.

POP SPOTLIGHT

GENE PITNEY

TWENTY-FOUR HOURS FROM TULSA

(Arch, ASCAP) (2:52)—Muscor 1034

This is a tragic story ballad that's told with authority by Pitney. Side has production build with big orchestral effects. In it Pitney tells the story of a man on his way to meet his gal and he gets cut down en route. Flip is "Lonely Night Dreams (Of Far Away Arms)" (January, BMI) (2:43).

POP SPOTLIGHT

BYRDIE GREEN

GET A HOLD OF YOURSELF

(Aberbach, BMI) (2:38)—20th Century-Fox 422

Miss Green has her strongest item ever here. It's a slow rock ballad that has strong touches of the current gospel and blues sound. Flip is "Don't Take Your Love From Me" (Witmark, ASCAP) (2:39).

POP SPOTLIGHT

BOBBY VEE

NEVER LOVE A ROBBIN

(Roosevelt, BMI) (2:40)

YESTERDAY AND YOU

(ABC, ASCAP) (2:16)—Liberty 55636

Bobby scores with a fine, sweet, soft ballad on the top side. The Vee sound is evident with reverb and multi-tracking effects and a sharp arrangement. The flip is equally strong. The tune has a haunting "Three-penny Opera" sound and big band gives this Ross Bagdasarian hit of some time ago a swing.

POP SPOTLIGHT

THE ANGELS

I ADORE HIM

(Screen Gems-Columbia, BMI) (2:30)—Smash 1854

The earthy sound this group scored with is as effective on this new one as on "My Boyfriend's Back." The beat is there and some fine guitar effects, too. Flip is "Thank You and Goodnight" (Grand Canyon, BMI) (2:30).

POP SPOTLIGHT

JOEY POWERS

MIDNIGHT MARY

(Jimskip, BMI) (2:18)—Amy 892

A strong side featuring a well-delivered vocal by Joey Powers backed with impressive guitar work. Femme chorus does much to add to the feel. Flip is "Where Do You Want the World Delivered" (Boston Road, BMI) (2:16).

POP SPOTLIGHT

DEMETRIS TAPP

LIPSTICK PAINT A SMILE ON ME

(Painted Desert, BMI) (2:41)—Brunswick 55251

Smokey torch-singing here from the gal on a great piece of material. Slow ballad builds with authority as chorus and strings are most effective. Flip is "If You Find Love" (Barton, BMI) (2:05).

POP SPOTLIGHT

FRANKIE LAINE

I'M GONNA BE STRONG

(Screen Gems-Columbia, BMI) (2:11)—Columbia 42884

Frankie Laine has a strong side here somewhat in the same groove as his last single which saw chart action. It's in the contemporary style with reverb, multi-track and strings, strong beat and chorus. Flip is "Take Her" (Metric, BMI).

SOLOMON BURKE

YOU'RE GOOD FOR ME

(Cotillion-Vogue, BMI) (3:01)—Atlantic 2205

Here's another powerful tune for Burke. The lad emotes in stinging style on a tune that has strong natural feel in the blues-gospel groove. Flip is "Beautiful Brown Eyes" (Mellin-Cotillion, BMI) (2:44).

POP SPOTLIGHT

DORIS TROY

TOMORROW IS ANOTHER DAY

(Premier-Hill & Range, BMI) (2:22)—Atlantic 2206

Here's the Doris Troy follow-up to her last smash "Just One Look." The side has a similar sound with strong dance beat and fine organ and rhythm backing filling out behind Doris and the girls. The flip is "What'cha Gonna Do About It" (Premier, BMI) (1:45).

POP SPOTLIGHT

THE NEW CHRISTY MINSTRELS

SATURDAY NIGHT

(Cherrybell, ASCAP) (2:14)—Columbia 42887

High-stepping revival effort here from the Minstrels. The sound has that 12-string, "Walk Right In" groove and should move right out after "Green, Green." Flip is "The Wheeler Dealers" (Miller, ASCAP) (2:10).

POP SPOTLIGHT

TOOTIE AND THE BOUQUETS

THE CONQUEROR

(Garrawak-Lesi-Lane, BMI) (2:15)—Parkway 887

Femme group sings this exciting side in hard-hitting hormonal style. The side deals with a guy who's boss in the neighborhood and has striking tempo breaks. The flip is "You Done Me Wrong" (Lesi-Lane, BMI) (2:25).

POP SPOTLIGHT

CAROL MONTGOMERY

WISH I DIDN'T LOVE HIM

(Talmont, BMI) (1:50)

WHAT DO THEY KNOW

(Ahab, BMI) (2:05)—Sound Stage 72512

Two top commercial sides for rocker Carol Montgomery. The first tells the tale of a boy friend untrue. Carol sings the blues on this upbeat rocker in true teen appeal style. Flip features reverb multi-tracking and strong vocal work by the thrush on this teen beater.

POP SPOTLIGHT

INEZ FOX

HE'S THE ONE YOU LOVE

(Saturn, BMI) (2:37)

BROKEN HEARTED FOOL

(Saturn, BMI) (2:15)—Symbol 922

Two sides that could go for the "Mocking-bird" gal. The first has that fine rocking beat in a middle groove while the second is a shouting middle tempo opus that tells the story of the pains of love. Either or both here.

POP SPOTLIGHT

JERRY COLE

MIDNIGHT MARY

(Jimskip, BMI) (2:27)—Capitol 5056

Jerry Cole receives some powerful support from massed guitars and chorus on this tender folk tale. Story told with no doubt reach many with its message. A sound that could move. Flip is "Land of Dreams" (American Music, Inc., BMI) (2:03).

POP SPOTLIGHT

DICK KALLMAN

FROM THIS DAY ON

(Regent, BMI) (2:57)—Capitol 5054

A beautiful inspirational ballad sung with meaning by British vocalist Dick Kallman. Strings and chimes plus multi-voiced chorus fills background sung to a Gounod chant by Kallman. Flip is "Say It Isn't So" (Irving Berlin Music Corp., ASCAP) (3:04).

POP SPOTLIGHT

THE VESPERS

MR. CUPID

(Hill & Range-Palmina, BMI) (2:38)—Swan 4156

Here's a side with a real hit sound. Bright up-tempo swinger features chimes and a fine beat. Group's performances maintains the excitement throughout the record. Flip is "When I Walk With My Angel" (Hill & Range-Palmina, BMI) (2:03).

COUNTRY SPOTLIGHT

FREDDY HART

THAT ALMIGHTY DOLLAR

(Combine, BMI) (2:09)—Monument 826

Hart, who's been around for a spell, has his best in a long time here. It's a smart folksy ditty, with a stylish 12-string guitar sound and a good message. It could easily go country or pop. Flip is "For a Second There" (Pacific Coast, BMI) (2:50).

C.W. SPOTLIGHT

CARL PERKINS

HELP ME FIND MY BABY

(Cedarwood, BMI) (1:52)—Decca 31548

Perkins has his first on Decca and it could be a winner. It's an exciting rhythm ditty with a catchy melody and strong arrangement, and the chanting job is tops. Watch it. Flip is "For a Little While" (Cedarwood, BMI) (2:23).

C.W. SPOTLIGHT

RAY GODFREY

TRY IT ON FOR SIZE

(Lowery, BMI) (2:26)—Saber 108

Here's a slick country creation from the Bill Lowery operation in Atlanta. The side features a snappy rhythm ditty, well sung and neatly arranged to a strut beat. It could easily break out. Flip is "How Foolish Can One Heart Be" (Lowery, BMI) (2:18).

C.W. SPOTLIGHT

SONNY JAMES

BAD TIMES A COMIN'

(Marson, BMI) (2:15)

GOING THROUGH THE MOTIONS

(Regent, BMI) (2:26)—Capitol 5057

Sonny James has never been better than here. Two fine efforts, with the first a hard-luck story song with voices and twanging guitar. Has a strong pop chance as well. Flip is more in the country weeper style and it's equally well done.

SPECIAL MERIT SPOTLIGHT

POP DISK JOCKEY PROGRAMMING

ANTONIO CARLOS JOBIM

THE GIRL FROM IPANEMA

(Duchess, BMI) (2:39)—Verve 10303

The current Jobim album is stirring some West Coast interest and this track is taken from the LP. It has strings, fine piano and a nice, simply melody in a bossa nova groove. Worth many spins. Flip is "Corcovado" (Duchess, BMI) (2:22).

ANITA KERR QUARTET

GUITAR COUNTRY

(Summit-Northridge, ASCAP) (2:35)

WAITIN' FOR THE EVENING TRAIN

(Harms, ASCAP) (1:57)—RCA Victor 8246

Somewhat unusual, perhaps, for a Nashville group to handle a new Broadway show tune, but this they do here, with a ditty from "Jennie" in pleasing style. First up, however, is an old Willard Robinson-Johnny Mercer tune that's handled mighty sweetly with a great Chet Atkins guitar assist. Two highly spinnable sides.

It's All Up to the Jazz Trade

There is much optimism in jazz record circles these days and even more trepidation. The optimism is based on growing acceptance of jazz product in pop circles; the trepidation on dwindling sales of what used to be called the jazz market.

This paradox puts the jazz producer in a new position. No longer can he make records for the tight, super-hip fraternity of buyers alone. He must now consider a widening audience that includes post-teen-age collegians, status-conscious suburbanites who are good music oriented and rhythm and blues devotees who like the funky sound of down-home modern jazz.

No longer can the jazz producer throw from three to eight musicians in a studio, turn on the tapes and let the choruses fall where they may. More than ever the jazz a.&r. man must think in general show business terms: shorter tracks, exciting and melodic material, strong rhythmic effects and well-programmed LP's that showcase the artist in a variety of forms.

The individual jazz artist must also think in these terms; 35 monotonous choruses of "I've Got Rhythm" no longer fill the bill.

At least part of the key is to be found in individual invention. Carbon copies of Ahmad Jamal, Jonah Jones, Dave Brubeck and the like will most likely be no more successful than carbon copies of Tony Bennett, Dion or the 4 Seasons. When in doubt the public will most always go for the original unless something unusual happens in terms of material or presentation.

Jazz is at the crossroads. The pop music audience has demonstrated that it will accept jazz on its own terms. It is now up to the jazz industry, its a.&r. men and its musicians to capitalize on that acceptance.

Composers Can Supply The Big New Pop Hits

NEW YORK — Pop record companies digging for bright new hits might look into the vaults of the mass of instrumental music written and recorded by jazz performers.

Publishing companies affiliated with independent jazz labels and owned outright by jazz artists are loaded with strong material that has the swing and the melodic simplicity the public seems more inclined to buy.

A few recent examples in the last year are Herbie Hancock with "Watermelon Man," "Jive Samba," Cannonball Adderley and his brother, Nat, Jimmy Smith with "Hobo Flats," Vince Guaraldi "Cast Your Fate to the Winds," and bassist Ray Brown, who wrote "Gravy Waltz."

The Adderley Sextet's book is filled with prime material, much of it contributed by Nat Adderley and a former member of the group, Bobby Timmons. Nat is responsible for "Work Song," which has fast become something of a standard with a multitude of pop-type performers (lyrics written by Jon Hendricks) and Bobby Timmons has "Dis Here" and a flock of others to his credit.

Sonny Rollins, Oliver Nelson and Miles Davis have written some fine tunes that could easily be geared to the pop market, and Horace Silver is an outstanding example of the jazz writers craft with a flock of titles that could be transposed into the pop idiom. The Jazz Crusaders, on the West Coast, also seem to have an ear tuned to the pop market when one or more of the members of that group sit down to write. Still another is Les McCann.

Jazz Foothold In Hungary

By PAUL GYONGY

BUDAPEST — Until 1962, jazz, as some kind of "forbidden fruit, was somehow the step-child of the Hungarian pop music business. Through the activity of the young musicologist Andras Pernye the Young Communists Association started to sponsor lectures about jazz and jazz sessions.

The popularity of jazz has also been widespread by the TV talent programs. A few amateur jazz combos have been seen and heard which have been happily acclaimed by youngsters.

Jazz is also presented weekly on the Hungarian radio's "Light Music Newsreel," where it gets a 25-minute spot in the form of a short lecture illustrated with recordings of the finest American jazz artists.

The State-owned Qualiton label made a very few recordings

See Disk Chefs Mixing Folk, Rock & Roll Into Jazz Stew

By ELIOT TIEGEL

HOLLYWOOD—Which way is jazz going?

To composer-arranger-leader Gerald Wilson it's heading toward more advanced forms of composition.

To Dick Bock, head of World Pacific Records, it's heading toward a fusion with folk material.

To John Hammond, Columbia's jazz buff extraordinaire, its salvation lies in the rock and roll ranks.

Within each answer may be found an underlying commercialism, which could force an even greater number of jazz LP's onto the pop charts while starting a whole new jazz revolution.

Mixes Folk & Jazz

With folk music currently enjoying its greatest popularity, Bock believes jazzophiles are just awakening to an affinity which the two musical forms possess.

"Both forms of music stem basically from the blues," Bock says, "and both jazz and folk are not sophisticated musics." Bock further points out that "people want to be told a story, but jazz, for the most part, is not a vocal music while folk is."

The West Coast recording executive explains that folk music tells the story of people and by using folk material as the basis for jazz improvisations, the jazz artist is able to capture the ear and the sympathy of the folk fan. "The union of folk music into the jazz field will ring familiar to many people." Bock points to recent LP's by Ramsey Lewis and Harold Land-Carmel Jones as first steps toward this union of folk and jazz.

Need Something Else

By the same token, Bock feels that in an overproduced market, "it doesn't pay to simply put out a good blowing album by a good artist unless it has some unique quality going for it." Bock feels that the groups which sell best are those which stay and play together. "If a leader cannot hold a group together for any length of time, record firms find it hard to get them going."

Breaking out, so to speak, is also the concern of John Hammond, whose long experience in the jazz field is well known to aficionados. "I feel the real excitement yet to come in jazz will come from people graduating from the rock and roll ranks." Hammond revealed he had come from New York to the recent Monterey Jazz Festival expressly to look for something new. "Everything I heard at Monterey I've heard before," he said with marked disappointment. There are some powerful musicians playing rock and roll and I believe that jazz will get a new kick when these guys move up to the challenges of playing jazz."

Counts on Present

While Hammond may be thinking about the future, Gerald Wilson is concerned with the present. He says he doesn't believe jazz can become a commercial commodity. "People want the best of everything and they won't accept a commercial version," he reports. Wilson backs up his assumption by noting that the "public's ears are learning to accept advanced harmonic voicings.

"We're playing things today that years ago I couldn't give away," he says affirmatively. "We get more requests for our theme song, 'Blues for Yna Yna' than any other tune and that's

Hot Singles Take On New Aspect in Jazz

By JACK MAHER

NEW YORK—There are a number of independent jazz labels in the business today who look on singles as a vital part of their business. They attribute their success in the pop market to the power and the acceptance of singles.

A growing number of a.&r. men are devoting as much care to the making of jazz singles as they do albums, realizing that singles are the key to breaking new artists in the pop market.

One of the most definite members of the fraternity on this subject is Creed Taylor. Taylor, the Verve a.&r. chief, feels that the key to the high-pressure record business today is the singles market, not only for the sales of singles disks in themselves, but as much to create excitement and air play for the album that has to follow hard on the heels of the single.

Makes 'Em Special

Taking a track of an LP and issuing it in singles form (either shortened or intact) is not enough he feels. Material and presentation enters into the act. This, according to the Verve a.&r. executive, is the prime way to get a jazz artist across the pop public. He has done this with Stan Getz, Kai Winding, Bill Evans, Lalo Shifrin, Cal Tjader and will shortly do it with Johnny Hodges. The Hodges tour de force is a case in point, for in the forthcoming single, and following LP, the alto sax star will be presented playing a number of pop-oriented tunes.

His solos have been recorded in the reverb multi-track technique so often used with singers in the pop market.

An a.&r. man who believes in singles for the jazzman is Riverside's Orrin Keepnews who has struck gold on the pop market with Cannonball Adderley, Charlie Byrd and Mongo Santamaria. In each case strong singles have sent albums soaring and have established these names in a market where they previously were unknown.

Keepnews made the Santamaria single "Watermelon Man" as a separate entity, and then after it became a hit on the Battle label, filled a pop LP in around it. He has high hopes in the future for guitarist Wes Montgomery who has an album with strings in the works, Junior Mance, pianist, and singer Mark Murphy, whose single of "Fly Me to the Moon" sold big in Chicago but did not break nationally.

Cameo Sets Clark

More than passingly interested in singles as the launching pad for new artists is Elliot Mazer who had good results with first efforts at Cameo-Parkway with Clark Terry. Dave Edelman for the same label is equally convinced of singles importance. He has been instrumental in recording the Maynard Ferguson band in pop things like the "Cleopatra" theme.

Atlantic's Nesuhi Ertegun has recorded any number of singles specifically for the market with the Modern Jazz Quartet and other artists.

Prestige, Blue Note and World Pacific keep a steady stream of singles coming mostly for the jazz disk jockey and juke box trade, but keep a separate file on their artists who have gotten pop exposure and release more singles by these artists than by others in the catalog.

Fantasy Records, following on the success of Vince Guaraldi's "Cast Your Fate to the Wind," has spotted their singles with pop mostly in mind. The label's Galaxy subsid is devoted to r.&b. however and scored with Johnny Taylor.

JAZZMEN

Arrangers Pop Up All Over

A Buck Melts Even A Jazzman's Heart

By JACK MAHER

NEW YORK — Arrangers whoc ut their musical eyeteeth in jazz can be found in just about every segment of the pop music business today. Men who worked almost exclusively in with big or small bands, playing and writing the charts they played, now work in every facet of the pop music world from Nashville to Broadway, in TV and as a.&r. men.

At least part of the wider acceptance of jazz today is due to the myriad of men who have brought their writing talents to the over-all music marketplace. With them, as part of their over-all technical ability, they bring the life and the vitality of jazz.

The New Breed

An outstanding example of this new breed of pop record man is Marion Evans whose fertile imagination tempered in the big and small band world of jazz brought new excitement to Eydie Gorme and Steve Lawrence and other artists on Columbia when he took over arranging and producing chores with the label.

West Coast pianist Johnny Williams has done a fistful of scores for TV and films. On the same coast Marty Paich has done a variety of pop dates for Reprise and other labels, and John Mandel has been most active.

Ralph Burns, whose writing for the Woody Herman orchestra a decade and more ago is still looked upon as classic stuff, has been most successful on Broadway. He orchestrated the Richard Rodgers score for "No Strings" and he has recently gone to London to arrange and orchestrate the same composer's score for a revival of "The Boys From Syracuse," due to open there shortly.

Powerhouse Jones

Quincy Jones, onetime trumpeter and arranger for Diz Gillespie, is a triple-threat man at Mercury. Jones the artist has had a number of big records, one of them a big band bossa nova set. As a.&r. producer and arranger, Jones has worked with a myriad of artists, among them some of the label's biggest, Brook Benton, Dinah Washington.

Oliver Nelson, who was an arranger for Louie Belson's big band, and is a tenor sax soloist in his own right, has had much success. Nelson's charts were the prime driver on two Jimmy Smith Verve hits, "Walk on the Wild Side" and "Hobo Flats."

An outstanding example of jazz arranger gone pop is Klaus Ogerman, who has worked overseas in Germany for some time charting the success of the Kurt Edelbogen big band and numerous other outfits. He has been most successful here in the last year penning any number of hit arrangements, the latest being "More" by Kai Winding on Verve, and the current Connie Francis single hit on MGM.

NEW YORK—There's a new, warming climate among jazz musicians these days; a change of temperature that has nothing whatsoever to do with heat of playing. Rather, it has to do with the rarified atmosphere of personal opinion.

A.&r. men who make their butter and beans in the day-to-day pursuit of jazz recordings have found that more and more of the artists who once frowned on the word "commercialism" are now more than willing to

Puerto Ricans Bring It Home

By ANTONIO CONTRARAS

Until the last few years jazz records were one of the slowest selling segments of the record picture in Puerto Rico. Three basic motives are behind the upsurge in sales: young Puerto Ricans back from Stateside colleges bring back knowledge and desire for jazz; the influx of continental Europeans to Puerto Rico (white collar workers and executives) who work or manage many of our new factories, hotels, etc. and many Puerto Rican-born musicians who were on the mainland for years playing with the big bands as sidemen have now returned home. Humberto Morales (drums), Fernando Arbelo (trombone) and Juan Tizol (trombone) are just a few.

Jazz Jocks Dig Pop Push But Wary of Trend Slavery

By BILL COSS
 NEW YORK — How much pop jazz can a jazz show take? Are you concerned that so many labels seem to be concentrating on a popular approach to jazz? The Billboard asked some representative New York jazz jockeys those questions after learning that Cal Tjader's "Shades of Jade" album was receiving heavy play on pop as well as jazz shows.

 The queried jockeys had all featured the album (they even (Continued on page 31))

Pop Jockeys Find It Easier To Make Swing the Thing

By BILL COSS
 NEW YORK — How much jazz can a pop show take, and how do you decide what records to program? Billboard asked those and related questions of several leading pop jockeys in New York last week and heard a surprisingly similar set of answers.

With only one exception, the jockeys agreed they had more freedom in programming than ever before because the audience has become so much more sophisticated. As a consequence, there's much more jazz played on basically non-jazz shows: there's more variety in general.

NBC's Jim Lowe says, "There is much more acceptance for jazz than ever before, but what we really have is a conglomeration of music. Nowadays, who knows what is jazz, folk, pop or whatever? The lines overlap so much."

"There are two main reasons for the change," suggests WMCA's B. Mitchell Reed, who was a jazz disk jockey sometime back. "People have become more sophisticated in their listening tastes is the first reason, and the evolution of recording sound is the second. It helped to cause the first."

Lowe agrees with that: "The over-all quality of the sound has made a tremendous difference. The performance quality has got to be good. After all, some 100 producers make all the records—jazz, pop, folk, rock—and sound has made all the records more acceptable."

It's the Sound Man

The word sound figured prominently in all the answers, but on closer questioning it appears to translate as something more than pure matter of fidelity. It begins with that, ranges through quality of performance and, apparently ends in some sort of mystique that dictates, "I know what my listeners want," or admits, "I don't know why I like it, but I do."

WNEW's Wally King chooses his jazz sides, "About the same way you would pick an up-tempo pop side—by the sound. Normally, though, there has to be a strong identification. Normally, you'd be wise to choose a jazz name known to the audience, or at least a standard tune, if the jazz artist isn't generally known. Most of the choices are made on that basis. Still, every now and then, something like 'Desifinado' appears and makes it strictly on the basis of sound."

Ted Brown, also of WNEW, says he programs by his "personal taste." On the afternoon he was interviewed he began his program with Oscar Peterson's "C Jam Blues." "That's personal taste," he pointed out. "Dorothy Donegan is another favorite of mine. I most often play my favorites. I know a lot more jazz is being played today, and the audience is getting used to it. I think one of the reasons is because the audience is more sophisticated, and two of the reasons for that are the hip commercials on radio and the excellent television backgrounds, both of them using a lot of jazz. I play about three jazz records per show, just kind of slip them in, and there are no complaints."

Jazzmen as Sidemen

Wally King believes that another factor enters in. "So many pop records," he says, "now feature excellent jazz sidemen. So it's natural enough that the audience has to become more sophisticated. It's even more natural that there is gradually becoming a conglomeration of music, including pop, western, good rock and roll, jazz and gospel."

Aussies Dig That Trad, Dad

By GEORGE HILDER

SYDNEY — There are hopes for a good future in Australia for jazz, but so far progress is slow. The Australian market for jazz records is a small one to begin with, and only famous overseas artists like Dave Brubeck, Miles Davis and George Shearing show much promise saleswise. The local industry has produced a few jazz LP's, but the bulk of sales has been achieved by artists like Graeme Bell and Ray Price, the former specially leaning heavily on trad.

Other leading Australian jazz artists on records include Bryce Rohde and Don Burrows. Rhode is undoubtedly Australia's leading composer as far as jazz is concerned. This music, although derived from the Lydian concept developed by Russell, is very Australian flavored and especially his last LP for local CBS, "Corners," which was greatly acclaimed by reviewers and critics all over the country as being a milestone in the development of modern Australian jazz.

However, it is interesting to note that greater sales were achieved on his earlier CBS LP entitled, "In Concert," on which he mostly performed old standards. Other Australian jazz LP's that have done well are Graeme Bell, "Trad Jazz"; Ray Price, "One Day I Met an African"; Don Burrows, "Jazz for Beachniks," and Bryce Rohde's "Straight Ahead."

It is believed that sale of local jazz albums in Australia will improve. The interest for local jazz is increasing and the local recording companies, CBS in particular, are beginning to go out of their way and spend some money to further the interest for Australian jazz among the public. Clubs are beginning to spring up all over Sydney and Melbourne and although most of the leading talent is working in Sydney, Melbourne has a greater number of jazz clubs. At the present moment, the main complaint from the local jazz musician is that he cannot make a living from playing the music he likes.

Polish Govt. & Cultural Groups Keep Beat Swingin'

By ROMAN WASCHKO

WARSAW — In Poland, there's little money in jazz. If it weren't for financial aid from local authorities and cultural organizations there wouldn't be much in the way of jazz in this country at all. Philharmonic halls—particularly the National in Warsaw—give regular live and recorded jazz concerts, there are plenty of jazz clubs, especially in student centers, and the Polish Radio gives quite a lot of time to jazz on the air. They even give jazz programs announced in English and German.

Each year, in October, the National Philharmonic, the Polish Jazz Federation, Jazz Monthly and the Students Association get together to organize the International Jazz Jamboree in Warsaw. The whole thing is recorded on the spot and a whole series of disks is later put out.

This year's set of recordings is a hot favorite with local jazz fans because it features not only the top Polish groups, but all the visiting jazzmen. For instance, American trumpeter Don Ellis, who appeared at the Jamboree last year, plays on the set.

All recordings are issued on Muza label.

First Soviet Disks

The Muza firm was the first to issue disks cut by Soviet jazzman Vadim Sakun and his Sextet in this country. Sakun is the man Don Ellis praised so highly in a recent issue of the periodical Down Beat when writing about his stay in Warsaw.

Another American jazzman whose disks are continuously popular in Poland is clarinetist Albert Nicholas. He appeared at the Warsaw Jamboree back in 1957. Stan Getz has also made recordings in Poland.

Long-play jazz recordings are rather rare here; the majority of the disks put out by Polish firms are extended play. The three top Polish jazzmen, as far as buyers are concerned, are Andrzej Trzaskowski, Ptaszyn Wroblewski and Andrzej Kurylewicz.

Poland's trad group—the New Orleans Stompers—and another somewhat more commercialized trad group, the Zygmunt Wichary Band, are also very popular.

Up to quite recently, the disks which Voice of America commentator Willis Conover made in Poland when he was here looking for groups for his famous radio program were selling very well.

Rock Cuts In

Since local teen-agers got interested in rock and roll and the other pop trends this sort of music has become the top seller disk-wise; pop vocalists send the sales rocketing and jazz sales drop. Polskie Nagrania—the leading recording firm in this country—puts out less and less jazz.

On the other hand, jazz gets to be featured more and more as background theme music for films. Quite a few jazzmen work exclusively for films of all types—features, experimental, cartoon and puppet films. Polish movies have gained quite a world-wide reputation, and part of that reputation is due to the jazz which is so often featured in them.

Top Polish jazzmen who work in the film industry are Andrzej Trzaskowski, Krzysztof Komeda and Jerzy Matuszkiewicz. Several jazz films have also been made in this country. Quite a few foreign film directors have commissioned Polish jazzmen to write music for their films.

Polish jazz always manages to create quite a stir whenever local jazzmen appear at international festivals or go off on tours abroad—giving concerts and making TV appearances, etc. The Trzaskowski Quintet appeared at the Newport Jazz Festival and in Washington in 1962. (Continued on page 31) had concentrated on some of the same tracks), and they all agreed that a popularization of jazz was relatively welcome, but one felt that danger was inherent in the trend-chasing that seems to determine the pop jazz field.

WNEW's Billy Taylor feels the title pop jazz is "misleading to everyone—the public, the artist and the a.&r. man. There are a lot of a.&r. men who don't know what jazz is, and there are even some who don't know what pop is."

Since FM programming plays such an important part in jazz; over all, a number of jazz deejays from that area were quizzed. WNCN's R. D. Harlan and WTFM's Allen Grant are not concerned about the title, only about the good they feel such records are doing for the field. (Both have leaned on the same three tracks—"Cherry Blossoms," "Fakir" and "Tokyo Blues"—whereas Taylor plays "Tokyo Blues" and "China Nights," the latter because he has telephone requests from Korean War veterans apparently made nostalgic by melody.)

Looks to Youngsters

For Allen Grant the emergence of pop jazz is a boon and he can't imagine why anyone would think otherwise. "We must get to the younger audience," he says, "and to people who wouldn't ordinarily listen to jazz. Actually, this kind of music fits in perfectly with my format. For the first hour of my show I play jazz that's not too difficult to understand, trying to lead in the kids who don't know what jazz is all about."

R. D. Harlan puts it even more rhapsodically: "Anytime you can get a jazz record into the hands of someone in the Kansas City Kiwanis Club, you have accomplished something. Take a record like Wes Montgomery's "Days of Wine and Roses." Someone who's never paid attention to jazz before will hear that and go out and buy more jazz."

"It's a good situation all around. The people like it, and I play what they like in my taste. I'm sure the companies are happy. They've got to be tired of selling only 3,000 records. And, you know there's another part of this. A Stan Getz becomes successful with some pop jazz track and all the companies that have other Getz albums reissue them and join in on the sales. So the other companies gain and so do the musicians. It just keeps getting bigger and bigger until it eventually includes all musicians."

Part of the Trend

But Billy Taylor has other reservations in addition to his concern about the title itself. "What you call pop jazz," he says, "and I guess that really means jazz musicians who play music that is very much part of a trend, has worked to the detriment of many artists. I find myself playing their older records."

"Now obviously I'm not talking about "Shades of Jade." I don't think it fits the category. But it's hard to fit the category with a definition. Everyone has always been aware of sales. There's nothing new in that. And one of the ways to ensure sales is to pick already established material. There's nothing new in that either.

"I'm not really concerned about whether it's pure jazz, only if it's good music. And I don't think you can overemphasize communications. What I am concerned about is that some musicians are being misdirected and that is not good for the music or for their artistry. Those, as I said, are records I do not play."

The major point of agreement between these and other jazz

Pop Jockeys Find It Easier To Make Swing the Thing

"That's happening more and more. Sound helped, but so have so many other factors. I choose on personal taste, of course, but sometimes we'll have a jazz album that's in orbit, then we'll all pick the tracks we want to play. Still there's personal taste even there."

Bill Randle, whose WCBS morning show is a case in point for "conglomeration"—folk, comedy, pop, jazz—also believes the general audience has grown hipper, "especially the folk people," he says. "People are more aware of their listening now, not necessarily informed; but much more aware. And the commercials and television have helped this. Wait until you hear the background for TV's "East Side, West Side." It will be the biggest thing since Mancini.

"But," he continues, "although I've always been for conglomeration, and I once was very close to jazz, my jazz choices are normally part of the format. As you know, we normally begin with an in-person recording, what we call 'On Location.' As it turns out, a tremendous amount of jazz artists have recorded in clubs, especially jazz singers or others that you could consider near jazz. So the format calls for it, jazz or jazz-oriented records are natural for an opener, and the two often get together to begin my program with jazz."

Lacy Dissents

Jack Lacy of WINS, the one dissenter, doesn't believe there's been any major change either in the audience or in the programming. "I've been programming the same way for years, and I play what I think the people want. Sometimes I happen to like it. But I don't think that jazz or gospel music has suddenly become more important. Many things are popular and over the years you'll find that a record representing some kind of music will suddenly jump up. That's not a trend."

The majority opinion is perhaps most neatly summed up in a practical fashion by WNEW's Bob Landers, who, too, looks with pleased favor on the change that has occurred.

"Of course you can play more jazz now," he says. "But the choosing of records is still a jockeys was that the "pop" in "pop jazz" must not mean a lack of quality. That would determine the amount of pop jazz a jazz show could take.

Followers Few But Mighty Loyal

By RICARDO GARCIA

SANTIAGO—In Chile, jazz has few but faithful followers. Although sales are not high, jazz records have an increasing importance in our record market.

The five leading LP's are: "Cole Porter a la Dixie," by Pee Wee Hunt (Capitol); "Ella Sings the Cole Porter Songbook," (Verve); "Los Exitos de Benny Goodman" (Capitol); "King Louis," Louis Armstrong (Decca); "Jazz at the Hollywood Bowl" (Verve).

Favorite names among jazz fans are Ella; Louis Armstrong, Dave Brubeck, Bobby Hackett, Kai Winding, the Cannonball Adderley Sextet, Charlie Byrd, Dizzy Gillespie and the Dutch Collegiate Swing Band.

Local talents (mainly Dixieland groups) have great popularity, but several modern jazz groups appeared last year in the field. Ediciones Ortiz (a local label) recently signed the Nahuel Jazz Quartet, no doubt the best of them all.

They were also in Western Germany last year, and this year they have played in Italy, Switzerland and Yugoslavia.

The Ptaszyn Wroblewski group was in Juan Les Pins, Paris and other European cities earlier this year. Krzysztof Komeda has toured Scandinavia. Polish jazzmen play abroad more and more often.

Students Blow

Apart from the professional jazzmen there are many keen amateur musicians in Poland, particularly among the students. It is estimated that there are about 1,000 amateur jazz groups in this country and these fill the demand for live jazz in all areas.

Recently, more and more recordings by top American jazz groups have appeared in shops in Poland. Recordings on Blue Note are the latest to turn up. There aren't as many of these disks as customers might like, but, as they say, "every little bit helps."

cut disks designed to catch the ear and the buck of what is generally called the pop audience. More and more of these artists, many of whom have been labeled jazz greats by the critics, are burning the midnight oil looking for just the right format to make their individual talents more acceptable to the pop audience.

According to these leading a.&r. people there are a number of factors responsible. Practically all agree that acceptance is the key word.

Audience Matures

Orrin Keepnews, Riverside recording director, spelled this out when he noted that today's record buyers seem ready to accept a jazz-oriented sound. "It's a maturity on the part of the pop audience," he said. "They seem to be ready to buy anything that appeals to them. As a result, jazz performers have to make fewer compensations for the tastes of the public. Record buyers are ready to purchase any kind of recording that has sound that appeals to them. The stigma of jazz on the pop market is disappearing as fast as the stigma of commercialism is disappearing among jazzmen," he said.

Elliot Mazer, who is making jazz recordings for Cameo-Parkway these days, amplified Keepnews' remarks by noting that "the pop audience is familiar with the sound of jazz instrumentation. Tenor sax, organ and guitar have long been the nucleus of rock and roll sound." Mazer also pointed to the familiarity of the blues in its infinite melodic variations as a point of musical accord.

Artists Growing Up

Maturity, too, on the part of jazz artists has also been noted by the jazz producers. Creed Taylor, guiding force behind the Verve Records operation, says that musicians are no longer concerned with commercialism. If a recording project's theme or basic idea catches the musician's imagination he will work with the a.&r. man. "These men, Taylor says, "no longer concern themselves with critical limitations imposed by journalists within the jazz fraternity. More and more of them are looking at the music business as a whole instead of their single segment of it." It is Taylor's opinion that jazzmen are becoming convinced that they have all the equipment necessary for success in the business and that they are more determined than ever to become involved in the pop end of the business.

It is the opinion of all these a.&r. producers and many more that the change of climate among jazz musicians came about through audience acceptance. They have seen other men, players they all respect, make it big in the pop market while retaining the basic qualities of their musicianship.

When Italians See 'Em Live They Buy 'Em

By SAM L STEINMAN

ROME—The firm nucleus of jazz clubs in some 40 Italian cities keeps open a steady market for the sale of jazz disks. But the flow is slow except when an American group makes a series of personal appearances, such as the recent visit of Cannonball Adderley to the San Remo Jazz Festival. This visit gave impetus to the sale of his Riverside records distributed by Phonogram.

One of the big items on this year's jazz market has been the four-disk leather album, "Jazz Sounds of the Twenties," issued by Columbia, featuring big bands, small bands, small groups and piano solos and blues singers. RCA's current big item is "Two of a Kind," featuring Paul Desmond and Gerry Mulligan and "Al Hirt in New Orleans."

Thinking Big Might Change Ireland's Apathy to Swingers

By KEN STEWART

DUBLIN — Ten years ago, 8,000 people attended Stan Kenton concerts at the Theater Royal and thousands more were turned away. Today, the Royal is demolished, leaving no comparable alternative venue. Armstrong, Basie, Herman, and others who have played here drew large crowds. But such visits are pitifully infrequent.

Adrian Cronin, a television producer regarded as "Mr. Jazz" in Ireland, told Billboard: "Jazz doesn't seem to fit the Irish temperament. Not only is it far from being a dominant part of the scene, but it is extremely unlikely that matters will improve."

Think Big

"If things were done on a sufficiently large scale, perhaps the position might change. Concerts by leading figures would undoubtedly do big business," said Cronin.

Cronin runs the Blue Note Club, which has a membership of 300, about 60 of whom turn up for Tuesday sessions by are records available here on eight to 10 different labels covering various periods. CBS, which is still new in the market, is building up its library, but it seems to have a sure winner in the two-volume "The Dave Brubeck Quartet at Carnegie Hall."

Cetra has issued a jazz series featuring various outstanding Italian groups. The set has been among top Italian sellers for several years. Galleria del Corso through Reprise has Duke Ellington who is doing well with "Afra Bosso" and the Chico Hamilton Quintet. The Modern Jazz Quartet, issued here by SAAR on Atlantic, is also usually in Italy's top ranks, currently has "Lonely Woman" and "The Comedy."

In most instances, Italian jazz enjoys only local sales. There is wider distribution, however, when a combo appears on tour. Emphasis is generally on American jazz with some importations from France, Germany, Belgium and Great Britain. Most recent imported addition to libraries is Coral's 10-volume "Jazz Museum."

various Irish personnel. Recently he directed what was the undisputed event of the year, "Jazz in the Round," comprising modern and traditional concerts featuring local stars. It was staged at the Intercontinental Hotel in association with the Dublin Theater Festival.

For the Record

On record, the Dutch Swing College Band, Dave Brubeck, Cannonball Adderley, Ella Fitzgerald, Mel Torme, Kenny Ball, Chris Barber and Acker Bilk are among those in constant demand. Top albums include "Jazz Samba," "The Incredible Jazz Guitar of Wes Montgomery," "My Fair Lady," Shelley Manne "Time Out," by Dave Brubeck, and LP's titled "The Best of Ball," "Barber" and "Bilk."

Lately, and Irish segment including an original composition, "Cuchulainn's Lament," was accepted by the European Broadcasting Union and is expected to be used in a 45-minute program for screening in 40 countries.

Telefeis Eireann is currently "Jazz Scene, U. S. A.," and Radio Eireann uses Ian Henry, the Jazz Heralds, Louis Stewart Quartet, Rory McGuinness, Rock Fox, Jack Daly, the Eblana Jazz Band, Noel Kelehan (now studying in the U. S.) and other local notables whenever possible.

Received Sponsor

One of the biggest breakthroughs in jazz broadcasting was made in 1960, when a commercial concern began sponsoring a weekly program that attracted a large audience.

To most Irish collectors, jazz means "Midnight in Moscow," "Take Five" and similarly commercialized pieces.

The best way to bring about an increased following for in-depth jazz seems to be via well-publicized regular concerts by the biggest British and American names. And the prospects of that happening are very slim indeed.

Puerto Rico Jazz

of professionals and aficionados that meet regularly for concerts and sessions. The Jazz Workshop of Charlie Rodriguez (sax) and Dave Wells (trombone, French horn, etc.) is the biggest of these groups and they give a monthly concert.

In the record sales picture there are four stores that cater to the jazz crowd: Martinez Vela (Sigfrido Gonzalez, salesman), Casa Victor (Ramon Ortiz), Matias Photo (Carmelo Maldonado) and Balseiro Records (Toco Balseiro). I mention these salesmen because each one of them, a jazz buff, has his own following and all of them have been very instrumental in the increased sales of jazz records in this market.

On one thing they agree, record buyers here prefer the soloists and small groups to the big bands. Albums by sax-men and drummers lead the sales by a big margin.

Top sellers in albums are: "Tenor Saxes, and Alto Saxes," by various artists on Verve; Columbia's Dave Brubeck; "Night and Day," by Charlie Parker, Verve, and most of the Pete Fountain albums on Coral.

Jazz night clubs are starting to flourish and if Puerto Rico continues to draw tourists as in the past few years, these small clubs should become very permanent part of the San Juan night life.

Yanks Dominate British Jazz

Slide Into Gateway

By CHRIS HUTCHINS

LONDON—The state of the jazz market in Britain is very much dependent on American material—this applies to artists in person as well as records. As far as concerts are concerned, local talent is rarely featured and with the traditional jazz boom of 1961 and 1962 fading away, records by British jazz artists are figuring less and less in the big selling lists.

Philips Records has the edge on the jazz market with all the big names on the CBS catalog and the great potential that the Riverside label offers to the market here.

Lead the Pack

Biggest selling artists on disk are Dave Brubeck, Erroll Garner, Duke Ellington, Count Basie and our own trad men: Kenny Ball, Acker Bilk and Chris Barber. Local moderns fortunate enough to share in the market are Johnny Dankworth, his wife Cleo Laine and Tubby Hayes.

For five years Brubeck's "Time Out" album has remained in the top sales bracket to make it a platter that will go down in the annals of jazz history. Other top LP's in the field in Britain include Miles Davis' "Porgy and Bess," Stan Getz and Charlie Byrd's "Jazz Samba," Erroll Garner's "Close Up in Swing" and a local one on Pye which is currently up with the top pop albums, "Kenny Ball's Golden Hits."

At least two British bands won international status after coming to the fore in the home trad boom—Bilk and Ball, following Barber who had already achieved world recognition with his hit, "Petite Fleur."

All have toured America and are set for further visits to various parts of the world. At the end of September Ball and his band flew to the U. S. for concerts, then on to New Zealand, Australia and the Far East before returning to Britain in November. Bilk undertakes two tours of Germany next month and is being lined up for a six-week stint in Las Vegas early in the new year.

American Rule

American artists rule the British concert business with sell-out tours that command a $3.50 top price seat—more than twice as much as the top for a pop bill with several big chart names. Sarah Vaughan and Count Basie are touring currently; Erroll Garner returns in October, and Duke Ellington and Dave Brubeck are set for returns.

Jazz clubs are much more limited, with only a handful thriving throughout the country. Ronnie Scott's in London does best business, although it is only excellent when Scott has managed to secure an American attraction such as Roland Kirk—his latest booking.

Jazz record sales here are pretty steady with an increase in the modern market compensating for the decline in the trad boom. It looks as though the market is going back almost entirely to the Americans—quite the opposite of what is currently happening in the pop field.

PITTSBURGH — Gateway Records, headed by Bob Schachner, is determined to give this city an enviable reputation in the jazz field. His label has just added Slide Hampton, former Epic and Atlantic trombone star, to its roster as well as the Charles Bell Quartet, through courtesy of Atlantic. Bell has also waxed for Columbia. They join such other Gateway stars as Harold Betters, Jon Walton, Walt Harper and Norman Charles.

A Latin Touch In Hong Kong

By CARL MYATT

There has been a very slight increase in jazz sales this year though dealers don't seem to be able to pinpoint any particular reason for it. Musicians such as Dave Brubeck, Miles Davis, George Shearing, Chris Barber and Acker Bilk retain their popularity, and their records sell steadily tho not spectacularly.

Top selling jazz LP's include Dave Brubeck's "Time Out," Miles Davis' "Jazz Track" and "Miles Davis at Carnegie Hall," Acker Bilk's "Stranger on the Shore," George Shearing's "Black Velvet," Paul Desmond and Gerry Mulligan's "Two of a Kind" and Sonny Rollins' "The Bridge."

Jazz is played extensively in the night clubs, where Filipino musicians are heavily influenced by what is going on in the States. The night club trend, however, is for Latin jazz and the combos that operate here—there is only one big band in town—have developed fine sounds.

There has been a dearth in jazz concerts ever since the jazz club here faded out of existence. Among the European population of Hong Kong, however, the leanings are toward traditional and New Orleans-style jazz rather than toward the modern sounds. The Chinese fans who dig jazz, however, go for the Latin rhythms, hence the popularity of the Tito Puente orchestra, which gave a concert here last year en route to Japan.

ALBUM REVIEWS

Pop LP Spotlights are those albums with sufficient sales potential, in the opinion of Billboard's Review Panel, to achieve a listing on Billboard's Top LP's charts. Spotlight winners in other categories are selected on the basis of their potential to become top sellers in their respective areas.

POP SPOTLIGHT SURFER GIRL

Beach Boys. Capitol T 1981 (M); ST 1981 (S)

The Beach Boys have maintained their hit pace of late with a slick, two-sided hit, in "Little Deuce Coupe" and "Surfer Girl." Both are included here plus a flock of new sides, many of which have strong hit single potential as well. Titles include "South Bay Surfer," "The Rocking Surfer," "Our Car Club" and "Boogie Woodie." Slick wax that can go.

POP SPOTLIGHT MAKE THE WORLD GO AWAY

Timi Yuro. Liberty LRP 3319 (M); LST 7319 (S)

The young thrush with the big voice has returned to hitdom of late with the power-packed country-based song, "Make the World Go Away," by Hank Cochran. Here she takes good tunes from other country cluffers and gives them her own stamp. These include "Permanently Lonely," by Willie Nelson; "A Legend in My Time," by Don Gibson, and "I Walk the Line," by Johnny Cash. Fine wax.

POP SPOTLIGHT TODAY'S HITS

Various Artists. Phyllis PHLP 4004 (M)

Potent package from Phyllis label has a string of big ones on it, many of them recent smashes. The Crystals are represented in part by "Then He Kissed Me" and "Da Doo Ron Ron"; Bob B. Scxx with "Zip-a-Dee-Doo-Dah" and "Not Too Young to Get Married," and the Ronettes and Darlene Love are also here with their hits. Strong package.

POP SPOTLIGHT SONGS FOR A CAMPUS PARTY

The Four Preps. Capitol 1976 (M); ST 1976 (S)

The Four Preps join the "sing the hits" crowd for a fine album. The arrangements are sharp and bright and capture the feel and some of the sound of the original hits while adding their own individual voicing. Arrangements are by Lincoln Mayorga. Some of the titles are "So Much in Love," "Detroit City," "Sukiyaki," "Losing You," "I Love You Because" and "Abilene."

POP SPOTLIGHT ELIZABETH TAYLOR IN LONDON

Original Television Soundtrack. Colpix CP 459 (M)
More than the usual soundtrack treatment is offered in this exciting album of original music composed for a television special viewed in this country October 6. In addition to the sensual, moody score by John Barry (who wrote the track for "Dr. No" and "The L-Shaped Room") Liz recites on several of the tracks. Should have strong impact on the heels of the airing.

POP SPOTLIGHT GOLDEN HITS—VOL. 1

Various Artists. RCA Victor LPM 2774 (M); LSP 2774 (S)
Here's a great memory lane package from Victor. Such huge hits of the past 25 years as Tommy Dorsey's "Marie" and "Stardust," Arlie Shaw's "Begin the Beguine," "Day-O" by Belafonte and "Prisoner of Love" by Perry Como are included. A standout set that could score.

POP SPOTLIGHT HIT MOTION PICTURE THEMES

Various Artists. Mercury MG 20810 (M); SR 60810 (S)
A variety of Mercury's top recording talent perform some of the more familiar movie themes here. Vocalists Brook Benton ("Walk on the Wild Side"), Shirley Horn ("The Second Time Around") and Billy Eckstine ("The Exodus Song") are pitted against instrumental big shots Cubanoff, Cuget, David Carroll and Dick Contino. Good easy-listening.

POP SPOTLIGHT ROCKIN' THE BOAT

Jimmy Smith. Blue Note 4141 (M)
One of the swiftest organ men around, Jimmy Smith turns on the heat on this fine collection of seven tracks. Some are on the long side, up to seven minutes, and considerably longer than some of his single record hits, but jocks will still find plenty of spinnable segs. Titles include "Trust in Me," "When My Dream Boat Comes Home" and a fine reading of "Just a Closer Walk With Thee." A salable production.

POP SPOTLIGHT FREDDY CANNON STEPS OUT

Swan LPS 511 (M)
Here's the rockin' Freddy Cannon with a fine collection of danceable sides, any of which can get to the teens fast. A recent hit, "Broadway," is included, along with such swinging items as "Everybody's Monkey," "Do What the Hippies Do," "Rock and Roll Record" and "Come On and Love Me." Freddy should do a lot of business with this one.

POP SPOTLIGHT ELLA AND BASIE!

Ella Fitzgerald & Count Basie. Verve V 4061 (M); V6-4061 (S)
The Count has two albums on the "Top LP" chart currently. "The First Lady of Song" is top drawer on or off the chart. The two together, plus such tunes as "Honeysuckle Rose," "Them There Eyes" and "I'm Beginning to See the Light" and other great standards are bound to create much excitement at the retail level to say nothing of the radio stations across the nation.

POP SPOTLIGHT GRAND TOUR

Norman Luboff Choir. RCA Victor LPM 2521 (M); LSP 2521 (S)
The Luboff Choir recorded this newest LP in England, aided smartly by a big, lush ork sound. The "Grand Tour" idea is carried out by tunes identified with different nations—such as "Happy Wanderer" (Germany); "Little Kong Kwela" (South Africa); "The Three Belts" (France), and "Meadowland" (Russia) among others. A package tailored well for spins and sales.

POP SPOTLIGHT BACHELORS' PARADISE

Ann-Margret. RCA Victor LPM 2659 (M); LSP 2659 (S)
Here's the gal's fourth album and it's a gasser for the fans. As Hank Levine says in his brief liner notes, "She's got my pulse rate going," and that figures to be the marked effect on most male listeners. And she's picked her material with this in mind. Included are "Let Me Entertain You," "I Wanna Be a Lover," "Call Me Darling," etc. Slick wax with a great cover shot of the star.

JAZZ SPOTLIGHT CHRIS CONNOR AT THE VILLAGE GATE

Although the FM label is a new one to record buyers, Chris Connor certainly is not. The LP is split into two shows... side 1, the up-tempo "The Early Show" and Side 2, the soulful "The Late Show." No matter what show you listen to first, Miss Connor is there almost as full as life. The entire performance has an intimacy and vibrance that should be highly popular.

JAZZ SPOTLIGHT THE GREATEST NAMES IN JAZZ (3-12")

Various Artists. Verve PIR 2-3 (M); PRS 2-3 (S)
There's name value aplenty in this exciting, three-LP collection from the Verve catalog. The names include Getz, Mulligan, Basie, Gillespie, Parker, Young, Peterson, Hawkins, Tatum, Rollins, Hampton, Shearing, Mamm and many others. Granted the fact that much of the material is of an earlier vintage, it's still bound to generate good excitement among the collector set.

JAZZ SPOTLIGHT SASSY SWINGS THE TIVOLI

Sarah Vaughan. Mercury MG 20831 (M); SR 60831 (S)
Sarah Vaughan is really swinging on this album. As with most improvisers she is at her best in front of a live audience. This album, cut at the famous Tivoli in Copenhagen, is a must for Sassy's fans. There is radiation on both sides of the footlights, as she lays into such standards as "Won't You Come Home Bill Bailey," "Lover Man" and "Misty." Also, she offers a long version of "Sassy's Blues."

CLASSICAL SPOTLIGHT MARIA CALLAS IN PARIS

Angel FS 36147 (M); S 36147 (S)
Callas has a whole cult of fans who await her every release—but this one in particular. It is the follow-up to her highly successful first album of arias from French opera. On this disk Callas is in excellent form, particularly in her interpretation. Her voice is a bit wobbly in the upper reaches, but her middle register is firm. Particularly effective is "Adieu, Notre Petite Table," from Massenet's "Manon."

LOW PRICE CLASSICAL SPOTLIGHT SHOSTAKOVICH: SYMPHONY NO. 5, OP. 47

Czech Philharmonic Orchestra (Ancerl). Parliament PLP (S); 168 (S)
Of the 11 Shostakovich symphonies, the Fifth is undoubtedly the best known and loved. Its sheer romantic nature, spilling over with passion, has tremendous appeal. This low-priced addition to the catalog should be a welcome one.

LATIN AMERICAN SPOTLIGHT VIVA VALDEZ

Alfredo Valdez. Tico LP 1095 (M); SLP 0195 (S)
Fine romping sound of Latin band here that should get a lot of listener attention in normal Spanish-American neighborhoods. Of special interest is an "El Watutu" sounding track, "Paso Comban." Best Track: "Paso Comban" (Ediciones Walkiria, BMI) (2:34).

LATIN AMERICAN SPOTLIGHT TITO PUENTE—BAILABLES

Tito Puente. Tico LP 1093 (M); SLP 1093 (S)
Hard-hitting Latin-American package from the Puente band here. The LP has a variety of rhythms (including something called "Wobble Goes Latin") and the big band side should sell well in Latin-American neighborhoods.

Set Will Tura Contest Oct. 9

By JAN TORFS
Stuivenbergvaart, 37 Mechelen

Palette Records with Doctor Alexander, director of the Sea Preventorium, launched the big "Will Tura contest." The gala premiere will take place at the Kursaal of Ostend on October 9 for the benefit of this sea Preventorium.

Tura received a silver record for "Je liegt" of which he has sold more than 25,000 copies. That other star Palette group, the Cousins, received new guitars, especially made for their style and interpretation. . . . Gert Timmerman is back with another strong one for the RCA label, entitled: "Nimm deine weisse Gitarre," the German version of that Spanish evergreen: "Quiero mucho." . . . Big demand at Siemens for Buddy Holly's "Buddy Holly Story."

Adamo, one of the biggest singing stars at moment, had his first LP released through Gramophone on the Pathe label. It is a 10-inch record composed of 10 brand-new songs. Many in the trade wonder why Gramophone has released on a 10-inch size record instead of a 12-inch. The 12-inch LP's are selling much better than the 10-inch. Many believe in the next three years all 10-inch records will have disappeared from every catalog.

The Jokers, just returned from Spain, have signed with Intervox. Their first record under the pact will be released on the Discostar label. Titles are "Ronny Boy" and "Moscow Guitars." The Jokers left the Philips label. . . . L. J. Van Rijmenant is planning to record first German platters with Belgian stars Jacques Raymond and Bebe Mong Suong. Producer Hans Hammerschmid will fly in from Munich to supervise the session.

Polydor hopes it has found a new Adamo with 16-year-old singer John Larry, who just cut his first record called "Alleen." . . . Philips continues a series of original recordings of Congolese music. They obtain lots of success with their "Missa Luba" sung by the Troubadours Du Roi Baudouin and now they released the "Missa Bantu," sung by the Choir of the Congolese White Sisters of Katana, Kivu, under the direction of Sister Lucretia. This is a recording done in the Cathedral of Bukavu by Baron Van Eyll, mayor of this town. The Mass is song in Gregorian but also inspired by ancient African melodies collected and arranged by Sister Lucretia, who has shown a profound respect for the spirit of the Bantu art. . . . The Spotnicks, the successful instrumental group from Sweden, are expected in Belgium for TV appearances on October 13 and 19.

A most happy song.

International NEWS REPORTS

CLIFF RICHARD is visibly moved by the unprecedented welcome shown him at the Tel Aviv airport. The young British singer is surrounded by fans and police during the display.

Avert Richard Riot In Israeli Airport

By AZARIA RAPAPORT

TEL AVIV — A tumultuous greeting hit Cliff Richard as he stepped off his plane at the airport here last week. A huge crowd pushed and pulled at the young singer who was in the country to give four concerts in the city's huge moving picture house.

Richard is popular in the country not only through his records but through his films as well. It is said that the movies, "Summer Place" and "The Young Ones" have been more successful than Elvis Presley's.

Some 150 motorcyclists roamed the streets searching for the young singer when he was spirited away from the airport by car. Large squads of police were needed to keep the crowd in line at both the airport and around the Accadia Hotel where the young singer stayed. So great was the crush that Richard, his group the Shadows and the impresario Giora Godik decided to cancel a radio interview and other festivities slated to take place at the airport.

At the hotel the young singer posed for pictures and signed autographs. His shows at the theater were huge successes and drew capacity houses for all performances.

Garnet Carroll is due to leave for New York to talk with Richard Rodgers on the final choice of a woman star for his Australian production of the new Rodgers' musical "No Strings." . . . Bryan Davies has a new single on HMV, "Rich Boy," composed by Johnny Devlin. The song is controlled by Castle Music. . . . RCA of Australia will introduce their first Dynagroove disks on the market October 3. The blockbuster campaign will feature albums by Chet Atkins, Floyd Cramer, Marty Gold, Clifton, and "Madame Butterfly." MGM released a version of "Maria Elena" by Billy Mure to counteract the RCA single by Los Indios Tabajaras which has taken off in Sydney like a rocket. . . . The

Mediterranean Test to Spain

BARCELONA—At the Palacio de las Naciones the Mediterranean Song Festival was won by Spain for the first time in its history. The public paid more money than to see Maria Callas at the Liceo or Wagnerian festivals in Beyruth. Winners were Leon Borrel and Jose Maria Andreu authors of "Sen va anar" written in catalunian and sung by Salome and Raimon show here. This is the result of a new songwriting group which is trying to improve and modernize the song from Catalonia (one of the richest provinces of Spain). Second place also went to Spain for "Paz" (Peace) and third to Monaco with "Je suis la," by Ivon Pastor and Alex Marco.

long-awaited release of the flick "Gypsy" opens throughout Australia in October. ARC is preparing the Warner Bros. soundtrack album.

Australian release date is set for September 23. The Delltones, Sydney vocal group, joined the current surfing craze with a single composed by Sydney detective and surf board expert, Ben Acton. The disk is titled "Hangin' Five" coupled with "Surf City." The Delltones are all active members of the Sydney Bronte Surf Club which lends complete authenticity to the waxing.

D-Day for the release of four 20th Century-Fox albums, the first by Festival under the new contractual agreement hit the retail stores on Monday, September 16. A special E. P. sampler, titled "A Sneak Preview," featuring a track from each of the albums "Cleopatra," "The Longest Day," "Marilyn" and a Glenn Miller's original film soundtrack. The latter, a two disk set, has been distributed to all radio stations in all States and is also on sale to the public.

"Hawaiian Eye" star Poncie Ponce has joined a Melbourne television station HSV 7's promotion staff. . . . EMI will be the first on the scene with eefin craze with the single release by Joe Perkins from the Sound 7 Stage recording on London.

Big Loot Backs 'Camelot' Show

By GEORGE HILDER,
19 Todman Ave., Kensington
Sydney, N.S.W.

The Australian premiere of the musical "Camelot" will be given in Her Majesty's Theater, Adelaide, November 30. The managing director of J. C. Williamson Theaters, Ltd., Sir Frank Tait, said that "Camelot" would have cost 100,000 pounds by its opening night compared with 75,000 pounds for "My Fair Lady." CBS already released the Broadway cast version.

The next local disk issued by CBS is by Kenny Shane, regular vocalist on personal appearances with the Atlantics. . . . "It's Like Your Kind of Love" by Sue Thompson and Bob Luman is receiving tremendous airplay in Sydney. . . . Castle Music acquired from Ardmore & Beech-

When In Argentina, Do as the Romans Do

By RUBEN MACHADO

BUENOS AIRES — Italian pop music is trying to reach the importance which titles like "Volare" gained in Argentina years ago. New ones like "La Terza Luna," "La Partita di Pallone," "No hay nadie como tu," "A mi edad," "El baile del ladrillo," "Guarda come dondola," are getting strong play.

Among these successful titles originating in Italy, the biggest names are Rita Pavone, of whom Victor issued a long play and several singles; Eduardo Vianello, Perino di Capri (Odeon), and Adriano Celentano now distributed by Fermata Productions.

An interesting case is that of Neil Sedaka. Victor first issued the English version of "La terza luna" but the public insisted on the Italian version, which has sold more than the first. The same has happened with "Il tuoi Capricci," also by Sedaka.

Quite a few of these Italian songs have been recorded in Spanish. For example, "La terza luna," by Marty Cosens (Victor); Juan Ramon (Disc Jockey), Monica Lander (Odeon), Donald (Music Hall) and Carlos Guillermo (Philips). "Guarda come dondolo" recordings in Spanish wood the Australian rights to America's No. 1 record "My Boyfriend's Back" by the Angels. . . . Ivan Mogull Music catalogs continue with the acquisition of the Major Lance disk "The Monkey Time" on CBS, also "A Man's Temptation" by Gene Chandler, and "A Woman With Soul" by Jerry Butler on the Vee Jay label.

RCA's Johnny Devlin has signed another instrumental group The Midnighters and vocalist Rod Dunbar for the local RCA roster. . . . H.M.V. Records released the Arlen single "Bust Out" by The Busters. . . . London Records arranged a single deal with Teardrop Records for the release in this country of "Talk to Me" by Sunny and the Sunglows. Two well-known recording musicians passed away this week. Les Black, pianist and dance band leader, died at the age of 55. Marie Ormston, formerly station pianist for radio Station 2SM, the Australian Amateur Hour and Regal Lonophone Records, died August 31.

Folk singing has caught the speculative eye of the Australian entrepreneurs. Three of them have submitted bids for Joan Baez to make an Australian tour within the next four months.

Pete Seeger's successful tour which has just concluded, undoubtedly has fanned enthusiasm for folk singing here. . . . Johnny O'Keefe has a new single on the Leedon label of the old number "Shake Baby Shake" with new lyrics written by O'Keefe, and the music is controlled by Leeds Music. . . . Barry Gibb, of the Bee Gees vocal group, has signed a contract with Belinda Music to write exclusively for that company.

Slim Dusty has a new album released on local Columbia featuring medleys of "Aussie" songs of the past and present in song along form. . . . Frank Ifield's "Born Free," an LP recorded in England, features 14 c.&w. tunes. The record will be on sale early November to coincide with his visit to Sydney during December.

are by Los Azurros (Music Hall), Tony Villar (CBS), Jolly Land (Victor), Juan Ramon (Disc Jockey), Dany Martin (Philips) and Pocky Evans (Odeon). There are even more titles becoming favorites from the same source, such as "Cuore," "Gracias de nada disculpe."

Among the tropical rhythms, first place has been taken by the music of Columbia. La cumbia was introduced by Los Wawanco (Odeon) and superceded la pachanga, the cha cha cha, the merengue, etc. The three long-play records issued by Los Wawanco are big sellers at the moment.

Local Smash Cuts Into Elvis' Swag

By KEN STEWART
Irish Times Ltd., Dublin

Two Sunday-night jazz presentations of modern and traditional music will be staged by the Blue Note Club at the Intercontinental Hotel, Dublin, in association with the current Theater Festival. Among those featured are the Ian Henry Trio, Jazz Heralds and the Louis Stewart Quartet. Both concerts will be directed by Adrian Cronin.

Quite surprisingly, sales of Elvis Presley's original version of "Kiss Me Quick" have suffered because of formidable opposition from the local Brendan Bowyer disk, which attained its current top chart position just a few days after being released. . . . Two Gael-Linn disks, "An Poc Ar Buile" and "Reacairacht an Riadaigh," have been chosen to represent Irish music at an international record exhibition opening in Barcelona, November 14. . . . Telefis Eireann announced a national talent contest with a first prize of approximately $280 and two round-trip tickets to New York for the World's Fair. . . . One of the leading Irish showbands, the Clipper Carlton, flew to the U. S. for their fourth tour, which may include a Las Vegas date.

Ferencsik Will Tour U.S. West

By PAUL GYONGY
Dere Kutca 6, Budapest

Budapest State Opera director Janos Ferencsik left Edinburgh for the United States where he will conduct opera performances and concerts in Los Angeles and San Francisco. Ferencsik will spend two months in the States.

Jeno Horvath, one of Hungary's top pop cleffers, is in Montreal, Can., where he will fulfill a three-month contract in a Hungarian restaurant as guest pianist. Horvath has some 50 hits to his credit and created a special style of sound with a tinge of gypsy. This might have much appeal for Canadian and Americans of Hungarian origin.

TRIPLE PLAY: 16-year-old Norwegian songstress Wenche Myhre is the first artist ever to enter the Top 10 charts with three titles simultaneously. After being represented with both sides of one record, "Ei snerten snelle" c/w "Bli med ut og fisk," on Triola, she now also enters with her local rendition of the German hit "Gi meg en cowboy til mann." The singing ace, who was discovered at an amateur test staged by newspaper Verdens Gang in co-operation with the Chat Noir theatre three years ago, also makes her debut in films this year with parts in two different productions.

TAMLA / MOTOWN / GORDY RECORDS

2648 WEST GRAND BLVD., DETROIT, MICH.

... but Billboard's been hip since 1914

Our version of it looks like this:

... and to us it means much more than an academic starting point.

To Billboard, membership in the Audit Bureau of Circulations means the very highest form of integrity and ethical standards of business practice.

It means Billboard does not expect anyone to accept unverified claims of circulation—penetration—or occupation of its subscribers in the music-record field . . . but is more than pleased to submit to the rigid annual audit of ABC to offer the entire industry the accurate and impartial proof of readership.

In fact, we're downright giddy about the whole thing . . . since each minutely detailed ABC report continues year after year to reiterate Billboard's circulation leadership—nearly twice that of the next publication in the field (which, by the way, is unaudited).

For Billboard readers, that leadership in quantity of paid subscribers is substantial proof of Billboard's superiority in quality of editorial content . . . because people just don't lay out money for a business paper that does not fill their needs. An ABC statement is a barometer of editorial excellence. Let the quality of content slip, down goes readership, and . . . well, to be honest, ABC is not known for its soft voice . . . the miserable truth will quickly become a matter of printed public knowledge. That added check, combined with Billboard's own 70-year history of unimpeachable reporting, is what provides you this week and every week with the very best business paper in the industry.

And for advertisers . . . an ABC statement puts solid value behind every advertising dollar by letting the advertiser know in advance precisely how many people his message will reach, who they are, and where they are. ABC further protects the advertiser's investment with its rigid rulings as to just how those subscribers can be obtained. Padding circulation with wild offers and fancy premiums is strictly tabu . . . no mink coats, no acre on the moon and no 4-year subscription for 34c. The amount paid by a subscriber must be sufficient to indicate that his interest lies in the publication itself . . . not in the "deal" or premium.

In short, Billboard is thoroughly delighted with every aspect of ABC control . . . it makes us "legit" . . . and in our wild and woolly world of show business, that's the word that separates the men from the boys!

Billboard

The only ABC audited publication for the music-record industry.

The artist is one of the few hit composers holding a composer's diploma of the Budapest Music Academy. Horvath intends to visit the United States after his performance in Canada.

At the end of September the Hungarian Post Office will issue a stamp with the portrait of the late composer Leo Weiner. Only two other Hungarian composers have been honored likewise in the past: Ferenc Erkel and Bela Bartok.

There has been a steady increase in TV and radio listeners in this country. In the first six months of the year some 80,000 TV and 40,000 radio sets have been sold. On June 30 TV subscribers numbered 404,000, paying monthly fees of more than 20 million forints (around $860,000 dollars). Radio subscribers number 2,430,000, paying monthly fees of more than 23 million forints (around $1 million).

The Hungarian retail record business will get a strong uplift through an EP which has been recorded by Vico Torriani for the State-owned Qualiton label. Torriani, who is a Decca artist, recorded four hits with special permission of his recording company.

The record will be sold exclusively in Hungary, and the recording company hopes for a sale of more than one-quarter million copies. It is also the first time that royalties will be paid to a recording artist, amounting to more than 5 cents per record, it is said.

City Folks Dig Charles Aznavour

By AZARIA RAPOPORT
73, Ahad Haam St., Tel Aviv

Charles Aznavour, French actor-singer-composer, played to capacity audiences in Tel Aviv's huge Tel Aviv Cinema three nights in a row. Popular through his records and pictures (having been seen most recently as the tiny Jewish soldier, Samuel Goldman in "Taxi to Tobruk"), the sale of Aznavour records (pressed locally by Hed Arzi) soared in all major stores, while in smaller towns the magic of his French charm and sad love songs failed to fill even medium-sized auditoriums.

Two more performances have been scheduled for British singer Cliff Richard after four of his spectaculars in Tel Aviv had been sold out within two days. The enthusiastic reaction to Richard's visit have caused certain worries to the agents who are planning a visit of another French singer. The visit by Jean Claude Pascal has been postponed a number of times and is therefore likely to take place this time no matter what happens. He is to appear in night clubs and in concerts.

Pop Acts Light Up New Casino

By SAM'L STEINMAN
Piazza S. Anselmo 1, Rome

Popular songs have managed to put the new Casino at Taormina, where single admission charge for one time is $13 per evening, over the top. The week-long song festival, which featured Chubby Checker, Petula Clark, Abbe Lane and Xavier Cugat, among others, was one of Italy's most successful pop music shows.

Alida Ferrarini, who won the Clan Celentano New Voices competition in which more than 4,000 singers were entered, is out with her first disk, "From 40 Years and Older" and "It is Only You," but the label is Pathe which she preferred to that of the contest sponsor. . . . Voce del Padrone, which has had considerable success with recordings of recitals on French variety stages, has now brought out Edith Piaf and Theo Sarapo in their "Recital 1963 at the Bobino." . . . Emanuele Daniele of Sidet, song publishers, is off for New York and Hollywood to confer with Widmark on U. S. rights to "My Mandolin" by Giampero Boneschi, and to arrange with Buddy Kaye to do English lyrics for "Our Age," current Italian teen-age hit.

In her new TV show for RIA, Anna Moffo will act as well as sing opera, pop songs and spirituals. . . . Decca Dischi Italia now is distributing Angelicum. . . . Summer recordings at RCA's studios included complete editions of "Falstaff" and "Rigoletto" and recitals by Licia Albanese (music of Rene Leibowitz) and selections from Puccini's and Massenet's "Mannon" by Anna Moffo, Giuseppe de Stefano and Flaviano Labo. . . . Coincident with the reopening of the Ecumenical Council, RCA has issued "The Sounds of the Churches of Rome."

Only Italian artist in the top selling 30 disks in Italy who was known five years ago is Domenico Modugno. . . . Unending phenomenon in sales is the recordings of Mario Lanza, who is the subject of RCA's second volume in "Arias From Italian Opera."

Several Korean versions of "Sukiyaki" are being issued in Seoul. However since Korea is not a signatory to the international copyright convention, the Japanese composer cannot make a cent on those disks. One of the records, which was issued by the New World label, contains the remark that, because of the copyright law, an unauthorized recording was made.

Asahi Sonorama is releasing two regular singles (not vinyl records) pressed from Barclay masters: Sound tracks from the pictures "Melodie en Sous-Sol" and "Scheherazade." Barclay's contract with Asahi Sonorama expires at the end of September, with the pressing right moving to King Records, but Asahi succeeded in obtaining King's consent to sell those two singles for six months to come. . . . Toshiba Records is merchandising a complete album of "Cosi Fan Tutti" directed by Karl Boehm who is coming to Japan shortly.

Snerten Snelle." The Triola disk will probably be issued in Sweden on the Karusell or Metronome label.

The Norsemen, a local vocal quartet (who has had three records while with Norsk A/S Philips), now moves to Egil Monn Iversen A/S and will be recording on the Triola label, the diskery's label for domestic issues. . . . Also this autumn auditions will be held to pick a series of Norwegian pop singers to sing in the Swedish Folks' Parks next summer. The day will be September 26, and all the directors of the gigantic Swedish Folks' Parks organization will come to Oslo to view the talent.

Four new recording companies have been founded in Norway during the last few years and three of the indie directors have launched their wives on wax. Egil Monn-Iversen's wife Solvi Wang is on the Tiola label; Per Gunnar Jensen presents his wife Bjorg on Manu and Sigurd Jansen's wife Marie Odegaard is on the Cue label. Of these, Solvi Wang is the better known, a star on the stage and a member of the vocal quartet the Monn-Keys. . . . Nor-Disc A/S is issuing the first Nora Brockstedt recording in almost a year when the thrush this week is out on the Karusell label with "Danke Schoen" c/w "Nora's Bossa Nova."

She's as Good As Presley

By ESPEN ERIKSEN
C/o Verdens Gang, Oslo

A new recording by one of Norway's more popular songstresses, Wenche Myhre, was issued by Egil Monn Iversen this week on Triola. The melodies are "Gi meg en cowboy til mann" (Give Me a Cowboy for a Husband) c/w "Mitsou." Miss Myhre this week managed what only Elvis Presley had done before her. She entered the charts with both sides of one platter. After a number of weeks represented by "Ei snerten snelle" on Triola, the flip side, "Bli med ut og fisk," this week entered the Top 10 as compiled by newspaper Verdens Gang.

Ray Adams' rendition of "De tusen sjoears land" passed the 22,000 copies sales and it is expected that the Manu record will pass the 25,000 sales within a few weeks and qualify for a silver disk. Last time any Norwegian artist received a silver disk was when the Monn Keys (a little more than a year ago) received the prize for "Ah Maria jeg vil hjem til deg" on Triola.

RCA's best selling songstress in Norway, Grynet Molvig, has a new record sung in Swedish. The platter will be issued both in Norway and Sweden. Later on the thrush will be introduced on the Telefunken label in Germany with the tunes "Sing die sentimentale Melodie" and "Und die Musik spielt dazu," accompanied by Rudi Bohn and his orchestra.

MUSICAL NOTE ANNIVERSARY

POMPOSA—Musical institutions have taken little note of an anniversary being celebrated by a Benedictine Abbey in this seashore village of less than 5,000 inhabitants in the Province of Ferrara along the Adriatic. It is the Ninth Centenary of the raising of the Campanile where the monk Guido d'Arezzo composed his music and reduced them to musical notes for the first time—the origin of the Guidonian scale. The exhibit includes some of Guido's original manuscripts.

Correction

A recent issue of Billboard stated that diskery Iversen & Frogh in Oslo had issued a series of new domestic recordings on the Triola label, among the artists Arvid Johansen and the Sisters Bjorklund. It should, of course, be the Egil Monn Iversen firm.

The Philippine Tourist and Travel Association donated tapes of Philippine musical airs to the American President Lines to be played on board APL liners for the benefit of passengers.

Rosendo E. Santos Jr., young Filipino composer, has two new masses scheduled for separate autumn performances in the U. S. this October. The Franciscan Fathers of Philadelphia will perform a male chorus arrangement of Santos' Mass of Saint Francis in a concert on October 19. The other Mass is the modern Missa Academica for mixed chorus with a brass ensemble and organ for accompaniment, which was commissioned by the Catholic University of America for performance during the Mass of the Holy Ghost and solemn opening of the academic year Sunday, October 6.

Ars Polona Ties With SESAC

By ROMAN WASCHKO
Warsaw 22, Glogera 4

Ars Polona has concluded an agreement with the SESAC firm, according to which will protect copyrights of music by Polish composers abroad as well as in cases of American or Canadian orchestras playing music by Polish composers. The SESAC firm has been protecting Polish copyrights in the United States for 30 years now.

SESAC will also popularize contemporary Polish music in the United States and Canada, and Ars Polona will maintain a constant supply of advertising material, such as record catalogs, tapes, recordings and the like. This is the ninth agreement of this kind to be drawn up by Ars Polona over the past 12 months.

According to latest figures, Poland, with a population of 31 million, has 1 million phonographs, 5 million radio sets, and 1.1 million TV sets. Disk music is put out on three labels:

1. Muza — for classical and folk music, the spoken word and sometimes pops.
2. Pronit—for pop music.
3. Veriton—for religious music.

Muza, however, is fast becoming the most popular label.

Ars Polona has also signed an agreement with Deutsche Grammophon which will provide for areas of co-operation, such as exchange of tapes, mutual pressing of disks cut by Polish and West German recording firms, mutual record promotion and in certain cases even co-production.

looking for new talent before going to U. S. to perform on the Danny Kaye show. Brun witnessed the debut of Tito Mora, the young, new singing sensation at Florida Park. Bill Caram, from RCA, introduced the star. Mora is the brother of Ana Maria Olaria, the Spanish star who recently had a stormy welcome as "The Merry Widow" in La Zarzuela Theater here.

Black Magic is the name of a small Indonesian group who has scored with fans and critics in Madrid in its first engagement on clubs, radio and TV. . . . RCA releases "Rhythm of the Rain" by Silvie Vartan and Rita

Pavone's big hit "The Football Game." Same company has signed poet Manolo Alcantara (literature and poetry prize winner) as a lyric songwriter. . . . N. Y. Radio-Shift Rumors Sizzling at Fever Pitch

By GIL FAGGEN

NEW YORK — Rumors and speculations reached fever pitch in the trade last week on the ramifications of announced (and unannounced) personnel and programming changes in the nation's largest radio market.

WNBC's abandonment of the "modern pop" music format (cautiously inaugurated less than a year ago) for "adult music—directed toward the grown-up and mature individual," has carried with it the replacement of Jerry Marshall in the 7:05 to 10:30 slot by WNBC stalwart Wayne Howell.

"The base of music selectivity has been widened to include semi-classical, standards, show tunes, new selections and many other types," said George Dietrich, station manager. "Just so long as it is a good performance, vocal or instrumental of an adult, melodic tune," he said, "we'll play it."

"We will not play anything in the hard music category," Dietrich emphasized.

The NBC flagship's forsaking of larger audience prospects for perpetuation of a highly elusive and fuzzy image has reportedly raised serious doubts as to the futures (with NBC) of station manager George Dietrich, program manager Bill Schwarz, and associated air talent Big Wilson, Steve Woodman and Keith Rich.

The dismal rating and profit and loss picture of the NBC owned and operated station dating back well before the Dietrich-Schwarz regime triggered the format reversion by order of Messrs. Kintner and Sarnoff.

Robert Kintner, president of NBC, was quoted several months ago as saying he would rather close down the station than allow it to play rock and roll.

WINS Changes

Art Ford's departure last week from the WINS all-night show in order to enter into films and radio production has re-ignited reports echoing throughout the industry for months of the imminent departure of WINS morning man Dick Clayton. Clayton, who is currently engaged in end-of-contract negotiations with WINS, has been reported making the rounds of Gotham stations. It appears to be only a matter of time.

Dom Quinn, WINS program manager, has also been grist for the rumor mills. WINS general manager Mark Olds labeled the reports as completely without foundation.

"Any rumors, reports or conjectures about Quinn leaving the station are absolutely baseless," Olds declared.

Also blowing in the wind are reports that Sam Holman, recently removed as WABC program director and deejay Scott Muni will exit the station. Top WABC execs said this week that no personnel changes are being contemplated at this time. Both men are under contract.

WHN Switch

Near the bottom of the rating heap, along with WNBC is Storer's WHN which has been steadfastly holding on to an easy listening, soft music format in the wake of sagging ratings.

Storer program vice-president, Grady Edney, visited here two weeks ago for a series of discussions with station brass. Strong conjecture in broadcasting circles is that the 50,000 watter may soon take a path leading to a format based on the highly successful Storer Philadelphia station, WIBG.

SOUND OFF: Here's an opportunity for all deejays to have a crack at the Lafayette, La. market. Skip Broussard of KXXW there is inviting deejays to tape congratulatory messages to the rocker which is preparing to blast forth with 10,000 watts. Staffers are Larry Dickson, Bruce Matthews, Sammy Shaeffer, Sandy (Bald Eagle) Kaplan and Broussard. P.D. Bob Mehaffey will return all tapes.

October 19. Next is "School for Scandal."

HOOTIN' ALONG: Paul Christy is featuring folk music nightly on his WKMI (Kalamazoo) show appropriately called "Kazootenanny." Show has large following from three area colleges and Christy is misty for disks. . . . WSB Radio (Atlanta) staged a "Hootenannie" (notice Southern spelling) at the Southeastern Fair recently. The station's Bob Van Camp, Jimmy Dunaway and Bob McFarland presented engraved trophies to the winners of a songfest. . . . WWDC (Washington, D. C.) has begun a nightly "1260 Hootenanny Show" giving the best in area amateur folk singing talent a chance to earn a professional night club engagement. Earl (Big Hoot) Robbin is emcee.

WMCA's B. Mitchell Reed greets the Callicoats during the gals' recent promo visit here on behalf of their Spiral waxing "The Bitter End." The gals are (l. to r.) Sally, Sherry, Naomi and Mary.

SO WHERE'S the records? John Shannon, new music director at KPET (Lamesa, Tex.) needs disks for his top 40 and country format. . . . WETT (Ocean City, Md.) has switched to top 40 and p.d. Among the more gutsy approaches to programming has been taken by WJRZ (Newark) which featured the unedited original cast LP of "Who's Afraid of Virginia Wolf?" The response was so favorable that the outlet will repeat same on BUDDY'S BACK: Buddy Dean, host of the top-rated WJZ-TV (Baltimore) afternoon teen dance show for the past six years, returns this week to WITH Radio for the 6 to 9 show. Dean, who will retain his show on WJZ-TV, has been hired to help win the rating battle with rock-rival, WCAO. Dean will be paid on the basis of rating points earned. Buddy's show on WITH was a winner before he left in 1957. Another WITH old-timer is included in the segue. Hot Rod Hulbert moves from Philadelphia to Baltimore for a p.m. show.

James R. Gallant, former WJJD staffer, appointed assistant program director at KYW (Cleveland).

Chet Collier, program manager of KYW-TV (Cleveland) has been named general manager of WBC Productions, Inc., Calif., and executive producer of "The Steve Allen Show" replacing Joel Chaseman appointed to a top executive post with Group W in New York effective in December. Collier helped develop the highly successful "Mike Douglas Show" now aired on all Group W TV outlets. Chaseman was program manager of the company's Baltimore outlet, WJZ-TV before going West.

WAKE (Atlanta) is reported now pursuing a subdued "middle-of-the-road musical course." Shades of Paul Drew!

Schenkel Touches All the Bases

By GIL FAGGEN

NEW YORK — Across-the-board sports programs on radio these days are as scarce as hen's teeth. Many radio stations have relegated the world of sports to all-too-brief mentions tacked on to newscasts.

Sports fans the nation over may find solace in one of the most comprehensive sports programs on the air today, "World Wide Sports," aired daily on the CBS Radio Network.

The program is distinctive in several areas. Firstly, it's fifteen minutes (hits net at 7:15 p.m.) allowing for significant coverage. Secondly, it is excitingly produced; and last, but certainly not least, it is piloted by Chris Schenkel.

"World Wide Sports," written and produced by John Chanin and is handled much the same as a top local or net news show. Six or seven direct reports are aired each night during the 15-minute segment. The show also features several cut-ins from overseas which truly makes it a world-wide sports show.

WINS Tackles Pair of Hot Ones

NEW YORK — A power-packed hour of thought and emotion-stimulating radio was presented by WINS last week (1).

"Program PM," the late night talker, led off with a comprehensive but succinct roundup of the Valachi hearing, spotlighting only the most important of the mobster's statements. The special report was neatly packaged by Jerry Landay's WINS newsmen.

Jim Gordon, "Program PM's" host then segued to a 45-minute discussion of homosexuality and lesbianism which resulted in one of the most courageous and educational radio segments I've ever heard.

Under the guidance of producer Murray Burnett, Group W reporter, John Reavis traveled to another city to attend a regularly scheduled meeting of the Mattichene Society (homosexuals) and Daughters of Bilitif (lesbians). Comments were recorded from members of both groups that were penetratingly revealing.

Calling Turn on Promotion Men

By BILL GAVIN
Contributing Editor

Record promoters are the personal points of contact between broadcasting and the record business. As is well known, the relationship between the two is not the smoothest. Some of the rough spots are created by inept promotion people.

In daily contacts with radio people throughout the country, I hear a large number of complaints about members of the promotion fraternity. Some of the annoyances are petty, some are serious. I have tried to sum up DJ views on promotional irritants in the form of the various types below, following where possible verbatim quotes from my friends in radio.

The liar: Examples: "I brought you that record last week." "I don't know how the other station got that exclusive. The publisher must have sent it to 'em." "It's already sold 20,000 in Chicago, and we're back-ordered up here." "Their manager and I are just like that. Make it a pick and I'll get 'em for your hop." This man will say almost anything to get his record played.

The big shot: He thinks he's doing somebody a favor by dropping in. He calls the record librarian and asks her to arrange lunch or dinner dates with the DJ's. He's from the big town—works for the big company. He talks about how important he is in the organization—how the a.&r. men ask his advice—how chummy he is with the big name artists. He's doing you a favor to let you play his records.

The griper: Business is terrible, he says. Nothing is selling. Those short play lists are crazy. It's a conspiracy by the radio stations to kill the record business. How can a manager be so stupid? Retailers won't order new records—just the top 40. The other promoters are all liars. The boss expects him to get all his records played, but how can he do that on such a miserably small expense account. He got up at 5 a.m. to take that visiting artist for a TV appearance, but the guy slept in. You can't win.

The know-it-all: He's the one who tells you that all the other stations are playing the record. It jumps 30 places in the Billboard chart this week. This is the side we're working on, he says. If you like the flip, well—lots of luck. His idea of promotion is to tell you which side he likes. All the top DJ's in the country are his personal friends and they're all wailing on his records.

The Gossip: He knows all the dirt about everybody. He spreads enough rumors to fill a newspaper. So-and-so is breaking up with his wife. So-and-so is getting fired. And so on. You'd never guess that he is being paid for promoting records. His chief delight is in promoting suspicion.

The snoop: He tries to read all the letters and memos on every desk in every office he enters. He's a master at reading upside down printing. He picks up odds and ends of papers on the desk. It's hard to tell what he's looking for or what he finds out, but whenever he comes in the door, any confidential papers on the desk had better be put out of sight.

The loud mouth: He tries to dominate every conversation with his voice. He talks too much—he interrupts—he shouts. He may not have anything important to say, but he makes sure that nobody else gets a chance. He can't even keep still while his record is being auditioned—snaps his fingers, jumps around, and keeps talking about it. He barges in on other people's conversation. He pushes in anywhere. It's practically impossible to insult him.

The jelly fish: This man is running over with flattering remarks. The person he is talking to is always the greatest in the business—the greatest ear, the finest voice, the best ad libber. Name it and you can have it. He laughs at your unfunniest jokes. This kind of promoter is often very successful at his job. A surprisingly large number of DJ's are only too ready to believe every flattering word he says.

And so it goes. The cast of characters outlined above represents some of the more irritating personality traits encountered by radio people in their dealings with record promoters. Fortunately, these objectionable attributes are comparatively rare in their pure form. The majority of promotion people are pleasant companions and a credit to the record business.

Musical UN Fable Gets Unveiling

NEW YORK—WQXR, one of the pioneers in stereo transmission, premiered Sunday (29) an original musical fable based on the problems facing the United Nations entitled "Three Billion Millionaires." The stereophonic musical comedy record features Jack Benny, Carol Burnett, Wally Cox, Bing Crosby, Sammy Davis Jr., Judy Garland, Danny Kaye, George Maharis, Terry-Thomas and Ambassador to the UN—Adlai Stevenson.

The record album—the first original musical created expressly for records—was introduced to key UN delegates and personnel several weeks ago. Later this fall it will be released to the public.

READY-TO-GO PROGRAMMING

Program directors and disk jockeys will find this material a ready source from which to build weekly programming periods. All that's needed are the disks from the station's record library.

Schenkel Touches All the Bases

amateur sports and even the World Softball Championships. The man behind the mike on "World Wide Sports" is one of America's most successful and versatile sportscasters. A product of local radio, Schenkel worked his way to the top via stints at WKBV, Richmond, Indiana (the station where, I hear, Polly Bergen was a deejay); WLB C, Muncie, Indiana; KDKA, Pittsburgh, and WPRO, Providence, Rhode Island. Last month Chris began his 11th year as the TV play-by-play announcer for the New York Giants.

One of the most important factors in Chris Schenkel's success as a sportscaster is his thorough preparation. Chris spends as much as a full day gathering facts about players, coaches, etc., before going on the air. He is eager for coaches and players to drop by to "brainwash" him before a game. "I try to absorb as many facts as possible and hope that they come to me during the heat of a contest," said Schenkel.

Schenkel's ability to bone up on facts makes his sportscasting accurate, as well as illuminating. Chris' over-all knowledge of many sports has also earned him the reputation as being among the most versatile sportscasters on the air today. Boxing, horse racing, golf or steer roping are all fair game for Schenkel's vivid description and tireless research.

A top sportscaster is as much in demand on as off the air and Chris, the father of two children, Christiana, 7, and Ted, 4, named after the late sportscaster Ted Husing, travels the length and breadth of the country regularly making speeches, emceeding sports shows or preparing for major football or golf games.

"In this highly competitive field—as in most others—unless you're busy and constantly on the go, they (sponsors, networks, etc.) don't want you," observed Schenkel.

At this point Schenkel excused himself to run over to a nearby studio to complete narration on a half-hour documentary about tennis in which he appears on camera with Australian titleholder Roy Emerson.

GAC Wants To Go Public

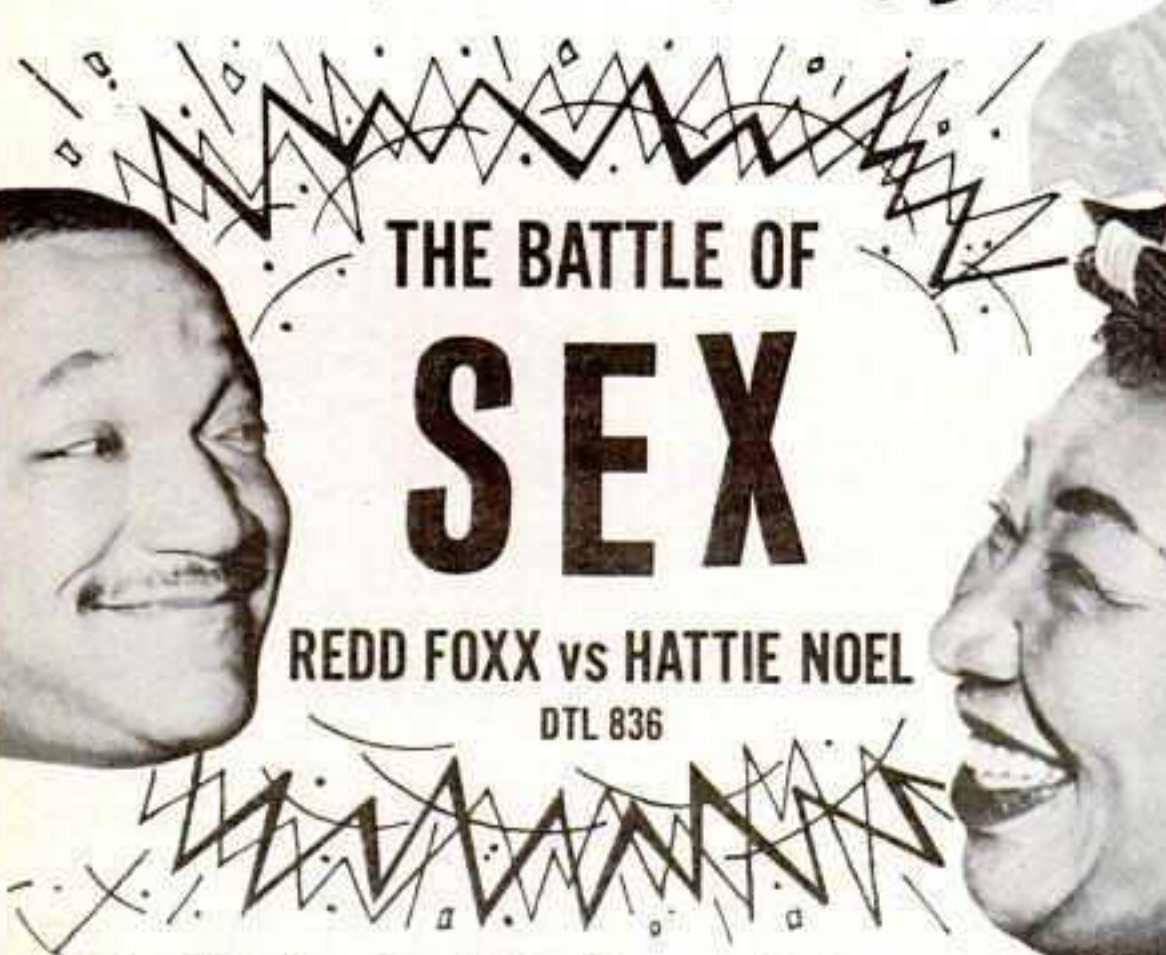

WASHINGTON — General Artists Corporation, representing talent, directors, producers and also acting as sales representatives for TV programs, has filed with Securities & Exchange Commission, seeking to register 150,000 shares of common stock for public offering, maximum price $7 per share.

Company prospectus shows a net loss of $887,605 in 1962, and a loss of $283,583 for the 28 weeks ended July 14, 1963. Proceeds from the stock sale will be used in part ($300,000) to pay short-term bank debt, remainder to go into working capital.

The company's parent firm, Baldwin-Montrose Chemical Company, owns 450,000 shares of common stock. In May 1963, Baldwin-Montrose contributed $794,329 to General Artists by cancellation of part of the indebtedness of General Artists to the parent firm. Prospectus shows balance of the indebtedness in a 6 per cent note due 1970 on an amount of $500,179. General Artists will use net proceeds of sale of $500,000 of 6 per cent convertible subordinated debentures due to be offered to certain officers of the company in 1970, to redeem the note.

General Artists has sustained losses over the past three years. Prospectus indicates that Baldwin-Montrose's investment in the company, including capital it contributed at a later date, is $6.95 per share.

Giants Off & Running; Lots of Spending Seen

NEW YORK — Two of the giants in the home entertainment business, RCA Victor and Zenith, officially kicked off their major fall selling drives last week with the biggest advertising, promotion and merchandising campaigns in each firm's history. Two other firms, meanwhile, Admiral and 3-M's, announced their own heavy fall drives.

With companies like these leading the way, the grand total of promotion planned between now and the end of the Christmas selling season is expected to give dealers the biggest merchandising helping hand they've ever received from the industry as a whole.

Admiral, for instance, is spending over $5 million on its push. The saturation drive will include full-color pages on its color TV, in national magazines between now and the end of the year. Also to be promoted: the new Admiral lightweight portable TV receiver, transistorized stereo phonos, FM-AM radios and portable phonos. The firm also plans a 5 million-piece mailing campaign of a 24-page consumer piece early in November. Each of these shopping guide brochures will contain a premium gift offer, redeemable at the Admiral dealer's.

A record tape recorder advertising campaign is being launched by 3-M's in behalf of its Revere - Wollensack tape equipment lines. Sales promotion manager R. E. Culligan expects the campaign to complete "half a billion sales calls" for his firm.

The drive started with a back-page ad in the September issue of Fortune, included a 10-day radio spot campaign on the Mutual network; ads in 47 editions of the This Week Sunday newspaper supplement; a series of 19 spot announcements spread over seven weeks on NBC-TV's "Tonight" show; a newspaper and national magazine ad drive and TV sponsorship next January of Bing Crosby's National Pro-Amateur Golf tournament.

RCA got its message off with an eight-page ad insert in color featured in more than 200 Sunday papers last week (30). The buying guide type brochure pictures much of the product the firm is featuring this fall. Victor's campaign includes most major media—national magazines, network TV, radio and point of sale—and includes part sponsorship of the Walt Disney "Wonderful World of Color" TV show.

The Zenith drive also got off the ground last week in daily papers. Starting Monday (30), Zenith plans to run multiple insertions of two-color and black and white ads in 20 newspapers. National magazines will carry four-color and black and white insertions. The firm will feature its "Micro-touch" tone arm and its "free-floating" car-

Channel Master in Diversity Actions

NEW YORK—The home entertainment industry is going through great changes, and Channel Master Corporation, of Ellenville, N. Y., is going to be ready whatever way the wind blows. That's the substance of remarks and a presentation by Channel Master marketing Vice-President Harold Harris at a meeting held in the Americana Hotel here Wednesday (2).

Harris described his firm, which established itself in the business primarily as an antenna manufacturer, as one of the most "vertical" of all the companies in the industry. He said consumer preferences were constantly becoming more specific in terms of product types and that a company to be successful today must have diversity of product in all its lines.

Though it may appear that product demand, by types, levels off from time to time,

Harris said that in any given year since the war, a study of the product situation five years before would show a wide variation in product needs over the course of the five-year period. With this in mind, Channel Masters has entered virtually the whole range of currently existing fields of home entertainment.

Starting with its basic product—the antenna—the firm displayed for the first time a series of newly developed combined HF-VHF antennas, to cash in on the expected vast increase in HF transmissions. Pointing to the fact that all TV sets manufactured after April 1964 will be capable of receiving both HF and VHF signals, Harris said this will ultimately be translated into great growth

By DAVID LACHENBRUCH • Billboard Contributing Editor • Editorial Director, Television Digest

FM STEREO, during 1963, has become a nationwide medium—and a nationwide selling opportunity. There are now 250 North American FM stations broadcasting at least part of their schedules in stereo. (This includes 12 in Canada.)

In the U. S., FM stations are broadcasting in stereo in 42 of the 50 States, plus the District of Columbia and Puerto Rico. As of this writing, 48 of the top 50 markets (in terms of population) are served with clear, local multiplex stereo signals—as well as many, many smaller markets.

Many of the larger cities have a wide choice of FM stereo signals. In Chicago, for example, seven stations are broadcasting in stereo now, with the recent addition of WXRT-FM. Detroit has six. San Francisco and Seattle have five each.

We've been watching FM stereo closely in this column—and particularly its emergence as a nationwide medium—because we believe it provides the greatest home music instrument selling opportunity since the introduction of the stereo disk.

Now that perhaps more than 80 per cent of the nation's population is within the range of FM stereo broadcasting, awareness of this new medium should increase rapidly. From the standpoint of the manufacturer, it's now worthwhile to advertise FM stereo on a national basis. It's no longer a regional market. Dealers, of course, can be in a position to capitalize on this promotion—even those in areas without FM stereo service now.

EARLIER THIS YEAR, we predicted that a million FM stereo receivers of various kinds would be sold this year. We believe this forecast is still valid; in fact, it may be somewhat on the low side as the result of introduction of large variety of new FM stereo receiving equipment.

The component high fidelity field often fore-shadows trends in the packaged audio equipment market. Monophonic FM tuners in the component field have virtually been replaced by stereo tuners. In packaged goods, this trend will spread first to stereo phonographs. By the end of this year it's a good bet that nearly all radio-phonograph combinations and radio-TV-stereo combinations, except for the low-end models, will have FM stereo.

But right now FM stereo is something you must sell up to in the console field—since many console phonographs are available in three flavors; that is, without radio, with AM-FM and with AM-FM-stereo.

In the portable and table model phonograph field, an increasing number of high-end units are appearing now with FM stereo, extending the versatility of compact stereo instruments. Presently GE, Fisher, Emerson, Pilot, Symphonic, Phonola and others are offering various types of compact stereo phonos with FM stereo.

The biggest growth this year has been in the field of AM-FM stereo table model radios. Nearly all domestic manufacturers, and many importers, now have FM stereo table models.

BUT FM STEREO IS NEW. It doesn't sell itself. Many prospective customers haven't even heard of it, or are only vaguely aware of what it is. Helping to create an awareness of this new medium is where real salesmanship comes in

FM stereo can be both an impulse item and a step-up item. In the packaged equipment field it's been largely a step-up so far. We have yet to see a store with a window streamer inviting the public to "Come in and Hear the New FM Stereo." If color television can be successfully merchandised this way—and it is—why not FM stereo?

Like color television, FM stereo usually has to be demonstrated to be sold. This means a good outdoor antenna, and knowledge of which local stereo station puts out the best signal—and the most easily demonstrable programming—in your area.

It seems inconceivable that any prospective customer should enter a store in search of a stereo phono or FM radio without being treated to a demonstration of FM stereo—and yet, in our own experience, this seems to happen more often than not. Just one question by the salesman—"Have you heard the new FM stereo?"—is enough to arouse interest in this latest radio development.

Salesmen should be thoroughly indoctrinated on FM stereo—what it is and how it works. Several radio-phono manufacturers have good booklets that will introduce them to it and give them the proper answers. Electronic Industries Association (1721 De Sales St., N. W., Washington) has an excellent pamphlet on FM stereo which should be must reading for salesmen.

ONE OF THE BEST WAYS to promote the sale of FM stereo equipment is through a tie-in with one or more of the local stereocasting stations. Some stations are aggressive and go out of their way to contact dealers and try to help them sell receivers. Unfortunately many stations aren't self-starters in this respect. But every FM stereo station wants to increase its stereo audience as rapidly as possible, and most of them will be anxious to help promote FM stereo.

In many cities one of the most persuasive arguments for buying a stereo receiver is the amount of programming available in stereo. Some stations will give you quantities of their program logs for free distribution — so that prospective customers can see what they're missing by not having stereo. Others have complete promotion kits, with window streamers, leaflets, etc. Most new FM stereo stations will be willing to give you advice on the best type of antenna installation for your store—some will even send a technician around to look it over if you're having trouble.

If you wait for people to walk in off the street and ask you about FM stereo, you're not taking maximum advantage of this new entertainment medium. On the other hand, if your store becomes "FM Stereo Headquarters," if every salesman is well informed about FM stereo and instructed to demonstrate it to every customer, if you are equipped to give a good demonstration, and to give sensible advice on installation — then FM stereo can be the most profitable part of your music equipment sales this fall and winter.

for this field. The company also showed, in addition to the antennas, a series of HF adapter units for present VHF TV sets. Also shown were a number of antennas designed for more sensitive fringe area reception and a host of indoor antennas for both TV and FM indoor reception.

Harris noted that his firm is now entering the "Play as you go" entertainment field in a big way. As an example he noted the success of the company's "swing-along" portable radio-phonograph, introduced earlier this year, which, he said, "led us into bringing out a line of mono and stereo portable phonos." These were shown at the meeting, along with two new portable TV models, a 16-inch unit and a miniature, an auto radio to sell at $39.95, a battery-operated portable tape recorder to list at $129.95, a walkie-talkie unit with a claimed coverage distance of up to five miles, a series of portable transistor AM radios and an FM transistor model.

Harris explained what some of his audience felt were higher-than-usual list prices by saying: "We're out to protect the dealer and give him a decent mark-up opportunity." He added that the company is also heavily in the TV picture tube replacement market and now ranks second in this business. The company has also recently noted the development of a replacement market for color TV tubes and has now also entered this field, he said.

In a related development, Pilot Radio last week announced a special "free floor plan" for dealers designed to make capital available for promotion and merchandising rather than tying it up in product. Pilot dealers for the current four-month period are required to pay for only that product actually sold.

On another merchandising level, meanwhile, Bell Sound is promoting its RT 360 tape recorder by including a five-pack of Christmas tapes free with each unit shipped to dealers. Tapes are for giveaway to customers with each purchase of the unit.

PHONOGRAPHS, RADIOS & TAPE RECORDERS

These are the nation's best sellers by manufacturers based on results of a month-long study using personal interviews with a representative national cross-section of record-selling outlets (only) that also sell phonographs, radios and/or tape recorders. A different price group is published in the space each week. Each category appears approximately every 14 weeks.

The percentage figure shown for each brand is its share of the total number of weighted points derived from all dealer responses. Point tabulations are based on the rank order of manufacturers' sales at each dealer, and weighted by size of outlet. Only manufacturers earning 3 per cent or more of the total dealer points are listed below.

Bally Back in Bingo Line

CHICAGO—Bally Manufacturing Company is returning to the bingo business after an absence of 10 months and will ship machines overseas and to certain areas in the U. S.

Bill O'Donnell, Bally president, said a part of Bally's production will immediately be shipped into Louisiana. O'Donnell said he was acting on opinions of legal counsel in Chicago, Washington and New Orleans, that the firm's new game would be lawful in Louisiana.

Bally is also investigating the possibility of shipping the games into certain other areas where bingos are "specifically enumerated as lawful by State statute." He did not specify which areas were involved.

O'Donnell said Bally is seeking a clarification of the "vague definition of machines covered in the federal interstate shipment law and also of the States included in the so-called 'specifically enumerated' amendment which was added to the Eastland bill in the final Senate-House conference committee.

He noted, however, that "Our backlog of orders for Europe and other parts of the world will keep us too busy to think of U. S. markets for quite a while."

Bally has been out of the bingo or in-line business since enactment of the Eastland bill earlier this year.

O'Donnell said, however, that the "world-wide demand for Bally bingo games has increased so tremendously since last December that we would be failing our customers, our management and our employees if we did not enter the market with the best 'line-or-section' scoring game Bally engineers know how to build."

Bally is kicking off production with Bounty, a game that combines traditional bingo features with a "first-ball-skill-shot" innovation that is optional to the player.

If the player elects to play Skil-Shot he shoots to land the ball in the Skil-Selection hole, one of nine holes located in the top two rows of the playfield.

Missing the first Skil-Selection shot, the player can still go on to play the traditional bingo game.

Bounty advertising carries a statement that the game is "sold only in foreign commerce or, pending clarification of the law, a State of the U. S. where 'specifically enumerated as lawful in a statute of that State.'"

Rowe-AMI Unveils New Model

CHICAGO — The location was not Broadway, but that's about all that was missing. The color, excitement, staging and music that otherwise make up a Broadway musical were all there:

The event was the gala showing of the 1964 Rowe-AMI juke box at the Sherman House here last week. Several hundred distributors representing Rowe AC Services' 46 offices were on hand.

So were representatives from the parent company, from Patrick O'Malley, Automatic Canteen Company of America (parent company of Rowe AC Services) president, on down.

Rowe AC Services put its unveiling in the form of a Broadway production, complete with professional actors, music, stage, lighting, chorus girls and what have you.

The speeches were broken with musical production numbers, all tastefully keyed to the subject matter. The result was a wholly interesting and palatable fare of what otherwise could have been pretty heady stuff.

The unveiling was keyed to the slogan of "The Sound of Money," which is to be followed in the firm's advertising and merchandising for the coming year.

Visited Las Vegas

Actual planning goes back to last summer when Rowe AC Services executives together with the firm's advertising and public relations people journeyed to Las Vegas to take advertising photos where, as Fred Pollak, Rowe AC vice-president says, "the sound of money is loudest."

So impressive was the firm's merchandising presentation that a two-column story about the whole unveiling and program appeared in the morning edition of The Chicago Daily News, bylined by George Lazarus, the paper's marketing expert.

Milw'kee Nixes Dipping of Age

MILWAUKEE — The Milwaukee Common Council has refused to lower the 18-year-old age limit for persons playing coin-operated amusement devices.

The action came in response to an effort by Joseph E. Beck, Mitchell Novelty Company, to get the reduction. Beck operates an arcade here.

Beck told the Common Council's license-rules committee that it didn't make sense to allow a boy under 18 to enter a bowling alley but forbid him to play a coin bowling machine. He added that without patrons under 18 "there's no sense in having an amusement arcade."

Herbert Schmidt, first deputy inspector of police, opposed the age limit change. He cited several incidents of arrests and juvenile loitering at the arcades.

Details of the models are being kept secret, but distributors will begin sneak previews within a week, and formal operator showings are scheduled for the week of October 14.

Spirit High at W. Va. Meet

By NICK BIRO

CHARLESTON, W. Va.—If spirit is any criterion, the West Virginia Music and Vending Association has to be one of the most successful in the country.

Nearly 100 operators and guests gathered here last weekend (27-29) for the association's ninth annual State convention, and the spirit and tempo of the conclave couldn't be topped.

Lou Casola, Music Operators of America president and Bob Blundred, MOA managing director, spoke at the regular Friday evening business session, and before the convention was over, the pair had some $500 in donations and new memberships.

Exhibitions

Exhibits were held throughout the two-day meeting. Virtually every major juke box and game manufacturer and a surprising number of vending firms were represented.

Richard Funk, legal counsel of the National Automatic Merchandising Association flew in to give the group a report on his association's efforts in the current tobacco-health controversy.

Nick Biro, Billboard's Midwest Editor, spoke on the new Music Operators Stereo Service (MOSS) program designed to provide operators with stereo singles from current best selling albums. The program was launched recently by RSI, a division of Billboard, and Rock-Ola, Rowe-AC Services and Wurlitzer.

High point of the conclave was the big wind-up banquet and floor show Saturday evening. At least a dozen State and local officials were guests of the association.

Mitnick Plea

Featured speaker was Jack Mitnick, Sun-Ray Associates, who gave an impassioned plea for operators to support MOA and the national group's fight against copyright legislation.

MOA's Opportunity

For the last dozen years, the prime function of the Music Operators of America was to thwart any attempt to remove the performance royalty exemption on juke boxes. During this period, MOA has saved operators millions of dollars. There is no question that any operator who joined the organization got his money's worth—as did the freeloaders who didn't join.

Any rational analysis of the performance royalty situation today leads to one conclusion—that the exemption will be removed in the current session of Congress. Any operator who feels otherwise is engaged in wishful thinking.

What does this mean to MOA and to the juke box operators? If the experience of West German operators is any criterion (see separate story by Omer Anderson), it's not the end of the world.

West German operators have always paid performance royalties, and they have one of the strongest national associations in the world. ZOA, the German trade group, bargains on behalf of operators with the national performance rights society. It also fights against discriminatory and confiscatory taxes in the courts and has done an outstanding public relations job on behalf of the coin machine industry.

The example of ZOA could well be followed by MOA. An encouraging note was struck during the recent MOA convention in Chicago, where the agenda was devoted to a wide diversity of industry problems.

Any operator who wants to pay performance rights royalties is out of his mind. But we don't always get what we want, and we must make the best of what we get.

Operators would do well to face reality: The performance royalty exemption will probably be removed. And with this removal, MOA is offered a challenge and an opportunity. We hope it meets the former and takes full advantage of the latter.

EDITORIAL

Evil Never Inherent

This week's issue carries a story about the refusal of the Milwaukee Common Council to lower the minimum age for playing coin amusement devices.

As a news story, it rates only four paragraphs, and its effect on the coin machine industry is not great. However, it is symptomatic of what's wrong with the industry.

The Milwaukee officials have ruled that no person under 18 years of age may play coin amusement devices. A Milwaukee 17-year-old may bowl in regulation (non-coin) alley, go to the movies or attend a dance. But he may not test his skill on a shuffle alley.

Inherent in the ruling is the concept that coin amusement devices somehow are capable of corrupting youth. The Milwaukee Common Council, mind you, is not talking about gambling devices. It is talking about coin bowlers, shuffle alleys and arcade-type novelty games.

This theory, of course, is utter nonsense. The late Jimmy Walker once said, "No girl was ever ruined by a book." And no boy was ever ruined by a shuffle alley.

What is happening in Milwaukee is also happening in varying degrees in many other municipalities. Restrictive ordinances against coin amusement devices are usually based on the theory—sometimes stated and other times implied—that the games are evil in themselves.

That this condition exists is due in great measure to the laxity of the coin machine industry itself. Aside from the ill-starred Coin Machine Council of three years ago, no major industry attempt has been made to convince the nation's public officials and the news media that coin amusement devices are simple games of skill which provide low-cost entertainment for both juvenile and adult.

The industry will take the Milwaukee decision laying down, because the industry lacks the machinery to do otherwise. The Music Operators of America, the only operator group which has a nationwide membership, does not have the resources to carry the fight to Milwaukee this week, to New Orleans next week, and perhaps to Seattle the following week.

Until MOA gets the membership and the war chest to launch a national public education campaign, and a legal staff to fight important local threats, many more Milwaukees are in the offing.

German Trade Assn. Guards Operators' Rights, Interests

By OMER ANDERSON

COLOGNE — If American music machine operators are forced to pay performance royalties, the need for a strong national operator association will be as urgent as it ever was. That's the attitude here with regard to the Music Operators of America and the Celler Bill (which would remove the performance royalty exemption for juke box operators).

Exhibit A is the flourishing West German Zentralverband der Organisationen des Deutschen Automaten-Aufstellgewerbes (ZOA), the Central Organization of the German Coin Machine Operating Trade.

German operators have never enjoyed exemption from performing rights royalties. On the contrary, negotiating with GEMA, the German ASCAP organization, is a prime responsibility of ZOA. It is, however, only one of a large number of services the ZOA performs for the German coin machine operator.

Stands Guard

ZOA stands guard across the spectrum of the operator's rights and interests. It has been fighting in the courts for years against discriminatory and confiscatory taxation, especially in the matter of the so-called "amusement tax."

It is vigorous, too, in its defense of the operator's good name against irresponsible daily press reporting. Because of the ZOA's vigilance, the German press has adopted a steadily improving attitude of factual and even sympathetic treatment of operator problems.

The ZOA, in this connection, has had substantial success in upgrading the operator image in this country. By and large, the German operator is now regarded as a serious businessman, an asset to his community.

3,000 Members

ZOA encompasses around 3,000 operators, and it has been the prime factor in promoting unity and solidarity among the German trade. It operates on a federal basis, through organizations in each of the West German States.

It is not coincidence that West Germany has the strongest operator organization on the Continent—and also the strongest operator-owned trade.

Experts credit the ZOA with having firmly established operator ownership of equipment in West Germany, although there is strong bias in Europe toward location ownership, examples being Belgium and Austria.

The ZOA has proved to be an effective channel for finding and developing trade leadership. The

Agenda Set for New York Meet

ALBANY, N. Y.—Millie McCarthy, president of the New York State Coin Machine Association, has announced the formal agenda of the group's annual meeting, to be held 2 p.m., Monday (14), at the DeWitt Clinton Hotel here.

The agenda includes election of officers, problems of the recent State Liquor Authority rulings, area problems with the new pool table law, ASCAP legislation, participation in Music Operators of America activities, prices and the used equipment market and a dues structure revision.

German operator organization abounds in capable leaders, who come up through the ZOA ranks. ZOA's present chairman, Hasso Loeffler, the son of a pioneer operator, is widely regarded as one of the outstanding "Statesman" of the Continental trade, an effective force for unity and progress within the operator ranks.

Summarizing the achievements of the ZOA, a German trade source observed, "It is our opinion that royalties, like them or not, are unavoidable, and that the question is, rather, to negotiate effectively enough that they are kept within reasonable limits. The problem is not that royalties must be paid; it is that they tend to expand out of all proportion to collections and current operating economics.

"It is inconceivable to me that American operators can cope with the royalty situation without a tightly knit organization representing them at the bargaining table."

Experience in Germany suggests that U. S. operators will need the MOA more if the Celler bill becomes law; in fact, that it will become indispensable to their continued existence.

DeHaven Warns Against Discriminatory Taxation

CHARLESTON, W. Va. — Dilman R. DeHaven newly elected president of the West Virginia Music and Vending Association, said that discriminatory taxation was the most acute problem facing the State's operators today.

He vowed his administration would continue to fight for more equitable measures.

West Virginia operators pay a substantially higher levy than do retail merchants handling the same items, DeHaven said.

Vending Tax

Vending operators have to pay a 1-cent tax on any sale

MORE GUESTS OF HONOR at the West Virginia association banquet: Lou Casola, Music Operators of America president; Mr. and Mrs. Bill Anderson, outgoing president of the West Virginia association; Dallas Bias, Charleston, W. Va., chief of police; Mitch Oliver, second vice-president; Reverend and Mrs. R. C. Thornberry.

JACK BESS, Roanoke Vending Exchange, got so many questions about the new Rowe AC Services juke box (due out later this month) that he had a special box made up with what he called an "artist's rendering of the new model."

GUESTS OF HONOR at the big wind-up banquet for the West Virginia Music & Vending Association's ninth annual convention included Mr. and Mrs. C. H. (Red) Flannery; Jack Mitnick, featured speaker; Nick Biro, Billboard's Midwest editor; Bill Cannon, president of the New Jersey association; John Wallace, WVMVA's board chairman; Robert Blundred, Music Operators of America managing director, and Joe Hunt, toastmaster.

EUROPEAN NEWS BRIEFS

Dial 'M' Hit

VIENNA—Dial "M" for music. The dial-a-tune selector has been the hit of the Vienna autumn trade fair.

It is featured on the Musikbar phonograph manufactured here by the firm Automatic, and it is standard equipment with the Teleramic, the phonograph produced in West Germany by Automatic Canteen.

Musikbar is designed for luxury establishments catering to "a sense of intimacy and romance," as Musikbar promotion puts it. Couples seated in the alcoves favored by European restaurants can select and dial "our song."

Musikbar is selling big in Austria, and the producer, the Automatic Company of Vienna, says export prospects are excellent.

Blue Book Prices

PARIS — France's phonograph trade reports "success beyond all expectations" for its used car "blue book" system of pricing used phonographs.

France has probably the biggest replacement machine problem in Europe. It was not until 1959 that the replacement of vintage boxes began on a big scale.

The French trade is clogged with ancient equipment, the legacy of the war and the post-war economic austerity caused by the fighting, first, in Indo China and later in Algeria.

Now, with prosperity in full flower, French operators are rushing to replace equipment and there is a glut of collector's items on the market. The "blue book" system helps speed up the replacement of equipment while stimulating French phonograph manufacturing.

The rule of thumb on valuation is that a two-year-old French product commands roughly the same trade-in allowance of a five-year-old U. S. prestige machine.

Seek Lower Fees

ROME—SAPAR, the Italian operator organization, plans action on a European wide scale to force a general reduction in performing rights royalty fees.

Oak Charges King Koin Unit Infringes on Acorn Patent

By SAM ABBOTT
LOS ANGELES—Oak Manufacturing Company has filed suit in United States District Court charging that King Koin machine infringes on the Acorn patent. Oak also charges Harold T. Probasco and his Harby Industries with unfair competition.

The suit seeks to prevent Probasco from manufacturing his bulk venders, asks damages, accounting of all gains and profits, payment of cost of action, and treble damages for the alleged infringement.

Oak claims that on January 9, 1951, United States Letters of Patent No. 2,537,317 were "duly and legally issued to the plaintiff as assignee of Harold T. Probasco for a 'vending machine' and since that date plaintiff has been and still is owner of the patent.

Other Patents

Probasco, said the complaint was engaged in "inventing, designing, improving, manufacturing and selling vending machines" from 1947 to October 20, 1962.

At the time, he was an Oak vice-president, stockholder, director and production manager and worked with Sam Weitzman, president; Sidney Bloom, secretary-treasurer, and Norman Weitzman in jointly inventing and designing and improving certain machines, and parts. These are claimed to have been incorporated in the King Koin by Probasco, who invented a vending machine prior to his Oak affiliation.

According to the complaint, Probasco held a position of "great confidence and trust" but left October 20, 1962, for purposes "then unknown" to plaintiff. It is charged that information obtained during his employment was used for the King Koin vender, an alleged violation of patent in breach of trust and unfair competition.

Probasco, contracted at his plant in Van Nuys, refused comment "at this time."

Probasco Charge

Probasco, however, had previously filed suit for the dissolutions of Oak Manufacturing Company, Inc.; Imperial Die Casting Corporation; S-H-S Purchasing, Acorn Sales, Trade-Wins Corporation, all California corporations and Operators Vending Machine Supply, a division of Oak Manufacturing Company, Inc. Also named as defendants are Samuel Weitzman and Sidney H. Bloom, Doe companies 1 through 10 inclusive, John Doe 1 through 20, and Jane Doe 1 through 10.

This suit charges that Weitzman and Bloom "to the exclusion of the plaintiff" operated the defendant corporations for their sole benefit. It also alleges that Doe companies, John Does and Jane Does have in possession assets which are owned by the other defendant corporations and that assets should be ordered returned to said defendant companies and made subject of any dissolution order. Rings Enjoying Best Sales Ever

NEW YORK—Rings, long a staple in charm vending, are enjoying their best sales in history, according to local operators. The reason, according to Roger Folz, president of Folz Vending, Oceanside, N. Y., is the wide assortment currently available from charm manufacturers.

Folz added that better pointing ring sales. He cited the use of the styrofoam display panel, currently popular with operators. Folz has been using this panel for two years with outstanding success.

Only the better items, selling for 10 cents, are placed on the panels.

Eppy Steps Up N. Y. Production

JAMAICA, N. Y. — Eppy Charms, Inc., has stepped up production at its main plant here to compensate for the loss of production facilities at the Ponakin Plastic factory in Lancaster, Mass.

The Bay State firm, which provided nearly 25 per cent of the charms sold by Eppy, was recently destroyed by fire. Lost were 11 molding presses and nearly 40,000 pounds of powder. However, the molds were all saved.

George Eppy, president of Eppy Charms, said that existing production facilities are now ample to fill all orders, with no delays.

Ex-Beaver Distrib To Handle Acorn

CULVER CITY, Calif. — Tarletz & Grodin of Dallas, formerly distributors for Beaver and defendants in a recent infringement suit brought against that company by Oak Manufacturing Company, have been named sub-distributors for the Acorn line under Jackson Vending Machine Company.

An Oak official said that out-of-court settlements in the Beaver case had been made with Buy-More Vending Corporation, Baldwin, N. Y., and Hermitage Music Company, Nashville. Several other settlements are pending.

MIAMI BEACH—Oak Sales Florida is offering a free trip to the Bahamas as a sales bonus for operators attending the National Vendors Association convention in Miami Beach next April. Details of the program as announced by Meyer Abelson, president, were sent out to operators in letters earlier this week.

Oak is offering the trip to any operator who buys $2,000 worth of charms or capsuled items from October 5 through the close of the convention in April, 1964.

Those operators qualifying for the trip must be in Miami. They will receive limousine service to and from the Deauville Hotel in Miami to the Miami Airport, will be flown to the Bahamas and will spend three days at one of the foremost hotels there.

Further details on the arrangements will be announced as they are completed.

MOA Weighs Shift in Hotels

CHICAGO—Music Operators of America directors are mulling the pros and cons of moving their 1964 convention from the Morrison to the Sherman Hotel here.

The convention would be held just prior to the National Automatic Merchandising Association conclave, as was the practice this year.

Both hotels are currently holding convention dates open for MOA. The association's executive committee will vote on the two sites within 30 days, but meantime is soliciting opinions from members.

MOA members have been increasingly vociferous about moving the conclave to a new site. Criticisms boil down into a lack of exhibit space, the common knowledge that the Morrison is going out of business in December 1964, and a general complaint about limited facilities.

During the last MOA convention, only a limited number of people stayed at the Morrison. Others stayed in nearby hotels.

Critics point out that the exhibit space was virtually filled last year, and MOA is almost sure to need more room following what was one of the most successful conventions in the last few years.

They also feel that since the out of business, the hotel will be less than fully concerned about pleasing the convention-goers.

Advantages cited for the Sherman are:

(1) More exhibit space. The entire mezzanine exhibit area would be available.

(2) Better loading and unloading facilities for exhibitors. The Sherman has an open-end alley as opposed to a dead-end entrance to the Morrison.

(3) Newer hotel with better room and exhibit facilities.

In defense of the Morrison, MOA directors point out that the hotel has one of the top banquet rooms in the Terrace Casino room, a facility that couldn't be equaled anywhere in the city.

Another Morrison advantage is lower cost to exhibitors.

Members of the executive committee to make a decision on the convention site will include J. Harry Snodgrass, board chairman; Lou Casola, president, plus all the officers.

Wash. Court Won't Rule on Legality of Gambling Act

SEATTLE — Washington State Supreme Court Chief Justice Richard B. Ott said a September 26 suit testing the constitutionality of the gambling-tolerance act will have to await Supreme Court determination of a suit challenging a referendum on the act.

He denied a motion to dismiss the tolerance-act challenge, brought by Reps. Joel M. Pritchard, R—Seattle, and Harry B. Lewis, R—Olympia, it was reported.

Chief Assistant Attorney General Robert J. Doran requested the dismissal. He said Attorney General John O'Connell had not refused to test the law, as charged by the legislators. He said simply the time "was not ripe" for a determination until the court decides whether the referendum would be valid.

E. Robert Fristoe, Olympia attorney, representing the legislators, argued if the law is unconstitutional "it would be meaningless to wait for action on the referendum."

The court is scheduled to hear oral arguments October 18 on the referendum challenge, brought by a Seattle attorney, Louis Rouso.

Rouso asserted Secretary of State Victor A. Meyers illegally certified the referendum because the supporting signatures were not checked for authenticity. The referendum petitions had been stolen.

If the court rules Meyers acted illegally, the act will go into effect immediately. If the court upholds Meyers and the tolerance act also is declared constitutional, the act will remain suspended until a referendum in November, 1964.

Rowe-AMI Unveils New Model

pletely redesigned record mechanism, magazine, selector and playmeter. The exterior of the machine has also been revamped.

A number of other extras, including new speakers, wall boxes and unique point-of-purchase tools were also shown.

Highlight of the meeting was the concluding address by Patrick O'Malley, Canteen's dynamic and forceful president.

Predicts Foreign Competition

O'Malley predicted that in the next five to 10 years the music industry would be marked by increasingly strong competition, both from the U.S. and abroad.

"I see higher profit, greater volume, more risk; the inefficient operators will fall by the wayside," O'Malley said. He predicted an even greater trend toward diversification.

"The music industry is reaching its maturity and is at a crucial juncture," O'Malley said. He urged a concentration in areas of aggressive merchandising.

Sees Upswing

In a dramatic pep talk on his own company, O'Malley said this was the first time in the year and a half he has been with Canteen that he could sincerely point to a dramatic upswing.

"Our company is no longer run by the banks," he noted. "A year ago we owed some $15,000,000 to the banks—that figure has been cut back to less than $5,000,000."

Rowe AC Services also had good news on its Customusic background music system. Don Lunday noted he had probably "introduced, reintroduced and again introduced the system more than anything else."

Can Deliver

He added, however, that the delay in getting the system into full production was due to the careful field-testing of the novel tape mechanism.

He said the firm's background music unit was now in full production, tapes were available, he was asking for orders, and could deliver.

Lunday likened background music to insurance, which brought stability to an operator's business and helped guard against economic dips.

Little Red Schoolhouse Back

Richard Mueller, Rowe AC service chief, announced the firm was reinstating its "Little Red School House" service school program. Sessions would start at the AMI factory in Grand Rapids, Mich., in mid-October.

Rowe AC is also starting a vending training school to be held at its technical center in Chicago, with the first session slated for November.

Other servicing innovations listed by Mueller included: (1) New vacuum-skin plastic packaging for parts, cardboard mounted for ease of hanging on pegboard. (2) Up-to-date parts parts price list. (3) Reorganization of Rowe AC Services' parts organization for greater efficiency. (4) Series of week-long regional schools by factory servicemen for distributor personnel. (5) New training manuals available immediately on the new model "M." (6) New field bulletin and telephone system and bill changer and detection service.

Executive Parade

Fred Pollak kicked off the meeting and was followed in order by Dean McMurdie, executive vice-president; Jack Harper, president; Harold Brogden and Richard Mueller from the factory; Jerry Marcus, financing; Lunday and finally O'Malley.

Marcus noted that a series of distributor financing plans had been approved, including some that would permit operators to finance machines at new low interest rates at up to three years.

Discussing an elaborate merchandising program to accompany the introduction of the phonographs next week, Pollak listed: a four-color gatefold brochure; four-page, four-color operator brochure; 30 by 40-inch location wall-piece; window streamers; duplex, four-color calling cards with reproductions of the phonograph and a new cigaret vender (not shown) co-operating advertising mats, and a booklet on how to stage a showing.

Oak Files Infringement Charge

The suit points out that each defendant corporation is not subject to the Bank Act, the Public Utilities Act or the Building and Loan Act.

Probasco Claim

Probasco's claim is that for more than a year he has been and is still a shareholder of not less than 25 per cent of the number of outstanding shares of each defendant corporations and believes and alleges that Weitzman and Bloom owned all stock not owned by him. This, he charged, permitted Weitzman and Bloom, the only other two directors as a majority to control elections and selection of corporate officers and control corporate activities.

Probasco also charges that Weitzman and Bloom "intentionally and willfully and maliciously excluded plaintiff from further employment with defendant corporations" and discharged him, terminated all benefits and assumed sole control. This, it is alleged, makes Probasco's stock investment of no value.

The value of the said corporations is set forth in the complaint as not less than $750,000. But Probasco claims he was denied access to the books and records and a "true and correct financial report including balance sheets."

Seeks Accounting

Probasco asks for a full and complete accounting, dissolution, distribution and winding up of corporate affairs necessary for his protection; appointment of a receiver, accounting, and that all defendants be required to deposit with the court all assets which it finds should be distributed to the stockholders. The suit further seeks for a sum the court finds due the plaintiff but not less than $250,000, attorney fees of not less than $50,000; interest at 7½ per cent per annum from October 20, 1962, for all sums found to be due and equitably owing to plaintiff, punitive and exemplary damages of $100,000 orders placing liens on defendants' properties to insure satisfaction of all court orders, and any other relief the court deems just and equitable.

Weitzman and Bloom said that the suit was without foundation and would not affect business in the least.

"But it won't be a secret for long!"

DeHaven Warns Against Discriminatory Taxation

over 5 cents, while retail merchants pay a flat 2 per cent on any sale up to $1 and 3 per cent thereafter.

Thus, a dollar's worth of 10-cent candy bars is taxed 10 cents when sold through vending machines and only 2 cents when sold over the counter.

Juke box operators pay a flat 5 per cent tax on gross receipts.

Repeal Possible

DeHaven said there was a possibility of repealing the vending tax and getting a more equitable assessment.

He termed business in the State good—"about on an even keel with last year."

Commenting on the future of the West Virginia association, DeHaven said simply that he hoped to continue to do as good a job as has been done in the past.

Cites Leadership

"We've had some excellent leadership, and it's largely responsible for the good reputation enjoyed by operators in the State today," DeHaven said.

The new West Virginia association president is an easy-going, genial, slightly greying businessman who's been an operator since 1943.

DeHaven is in partnership with Jimmy Hutzler, who is a director of the West Virginia group, as well as a director of Music Operators of America. The pair operate out of Martinsburg, W. Va. and together have some 800 pieces of juke box, game and vending equipment.

DeHaven is a life member of MOA and one of the founders of the West Virginia association. He's been a member of the board of directors since it was founded.

Deceptively mild-mannered, DeHaven is nevertheless one of the staunchest members of the West Virginia group.

"Dil has a quiet way about him, but I don't know anyone who can get a job done better," a long-time association man said admiringly after DeHaven's election. The comment seemed to sum up much of the sentiment of those at the convention.

In addition to his business interests, DeHaven is active in numerous civic and philanthropic organizations. He's a member of the Moose and Elks and (no pun intended) mentions fishing and hunting as his hobbies. DeHaven is married and lives with his wife and five children in Martinsburg.

and most recently was program director for Magne-Tronics.

Hards is credited for introducing the first library of recorded magnetic tapes and was a principal in the establishment of the Magnetic Recording Industry Association.

Born in Yonkers, N. Y., Hards has lived most of his business life in the East. He'll reside in suburban Barrington with his wife and six children.

EUROPEAN NEWS BRIEF

organization, SIAE, and the issue in this dispute is one which the Italian operators will take before the European trade.

SIAE is basing its performing rights fees on collections at machines sited on the busiest locations. These collections are then projected on a national basis, and fees fixed accordingly. SAPAR claims this gives a misleading picture of operator economics.

The operator organization demands the constitution of a commission or board which would conduct an impartial, expert survey of Italy's coin machine economy and then recommend royalties scaled to what the trade can afford in relation to the benefits it receives from the performing rights.

Royal Box

ROTTERDAM — She shall have music wherever she cruises. Princess Grace of Monaco, that is.

The motor yacht Albecaro II being built for Prince Rainier and Princess Grace at a shipyard (Kerstholt) here will have a juke box as standard seagoing equipment.

The Albecaro (the name is an amalgam of Prince Albert and Princess Carolina—the two Rainier children) is being fitted as a seagoing salon for Monegasque court functions. The phonograph, with the coin mechanism intact, is located in the yacht's game room.
