MASTER SYSTEM GAME ROUND-UP...

FX's mega Sega man, Steve Bramble, takes a look at three of the latest Master System releases:

First up is SEGA CHESS (£34.99), which is billed as a "family game". This is indeed for anyone from a grandmaster to a complete beginner.

On offer are traditionb1ly-shaped pieces on either a 3-D effect board or one seen from a bird's eye point of view...

SEGA CHESS is set over several levels, there's a replay function (so you can go back and try a different tactic) and if you're in real trouble, you can even swap sides! Play the computer or a friend. OVERALL SCORE 82%

On the other hand, LINE OF FIRE (£32.99) is a vertically scrolling shoot 'em up out of the RAMBO mould - but not as good. Armed with a machine gun and rocket launcher, you have to fight through five levels of action to an enemy fortress which you must trash.

On the way to the fortress in LINE OF FIRE you can nick a jeep, boat and attack chopper to take out infantry, helicopters, submarines etc - plus the usual end-of-level guardian.

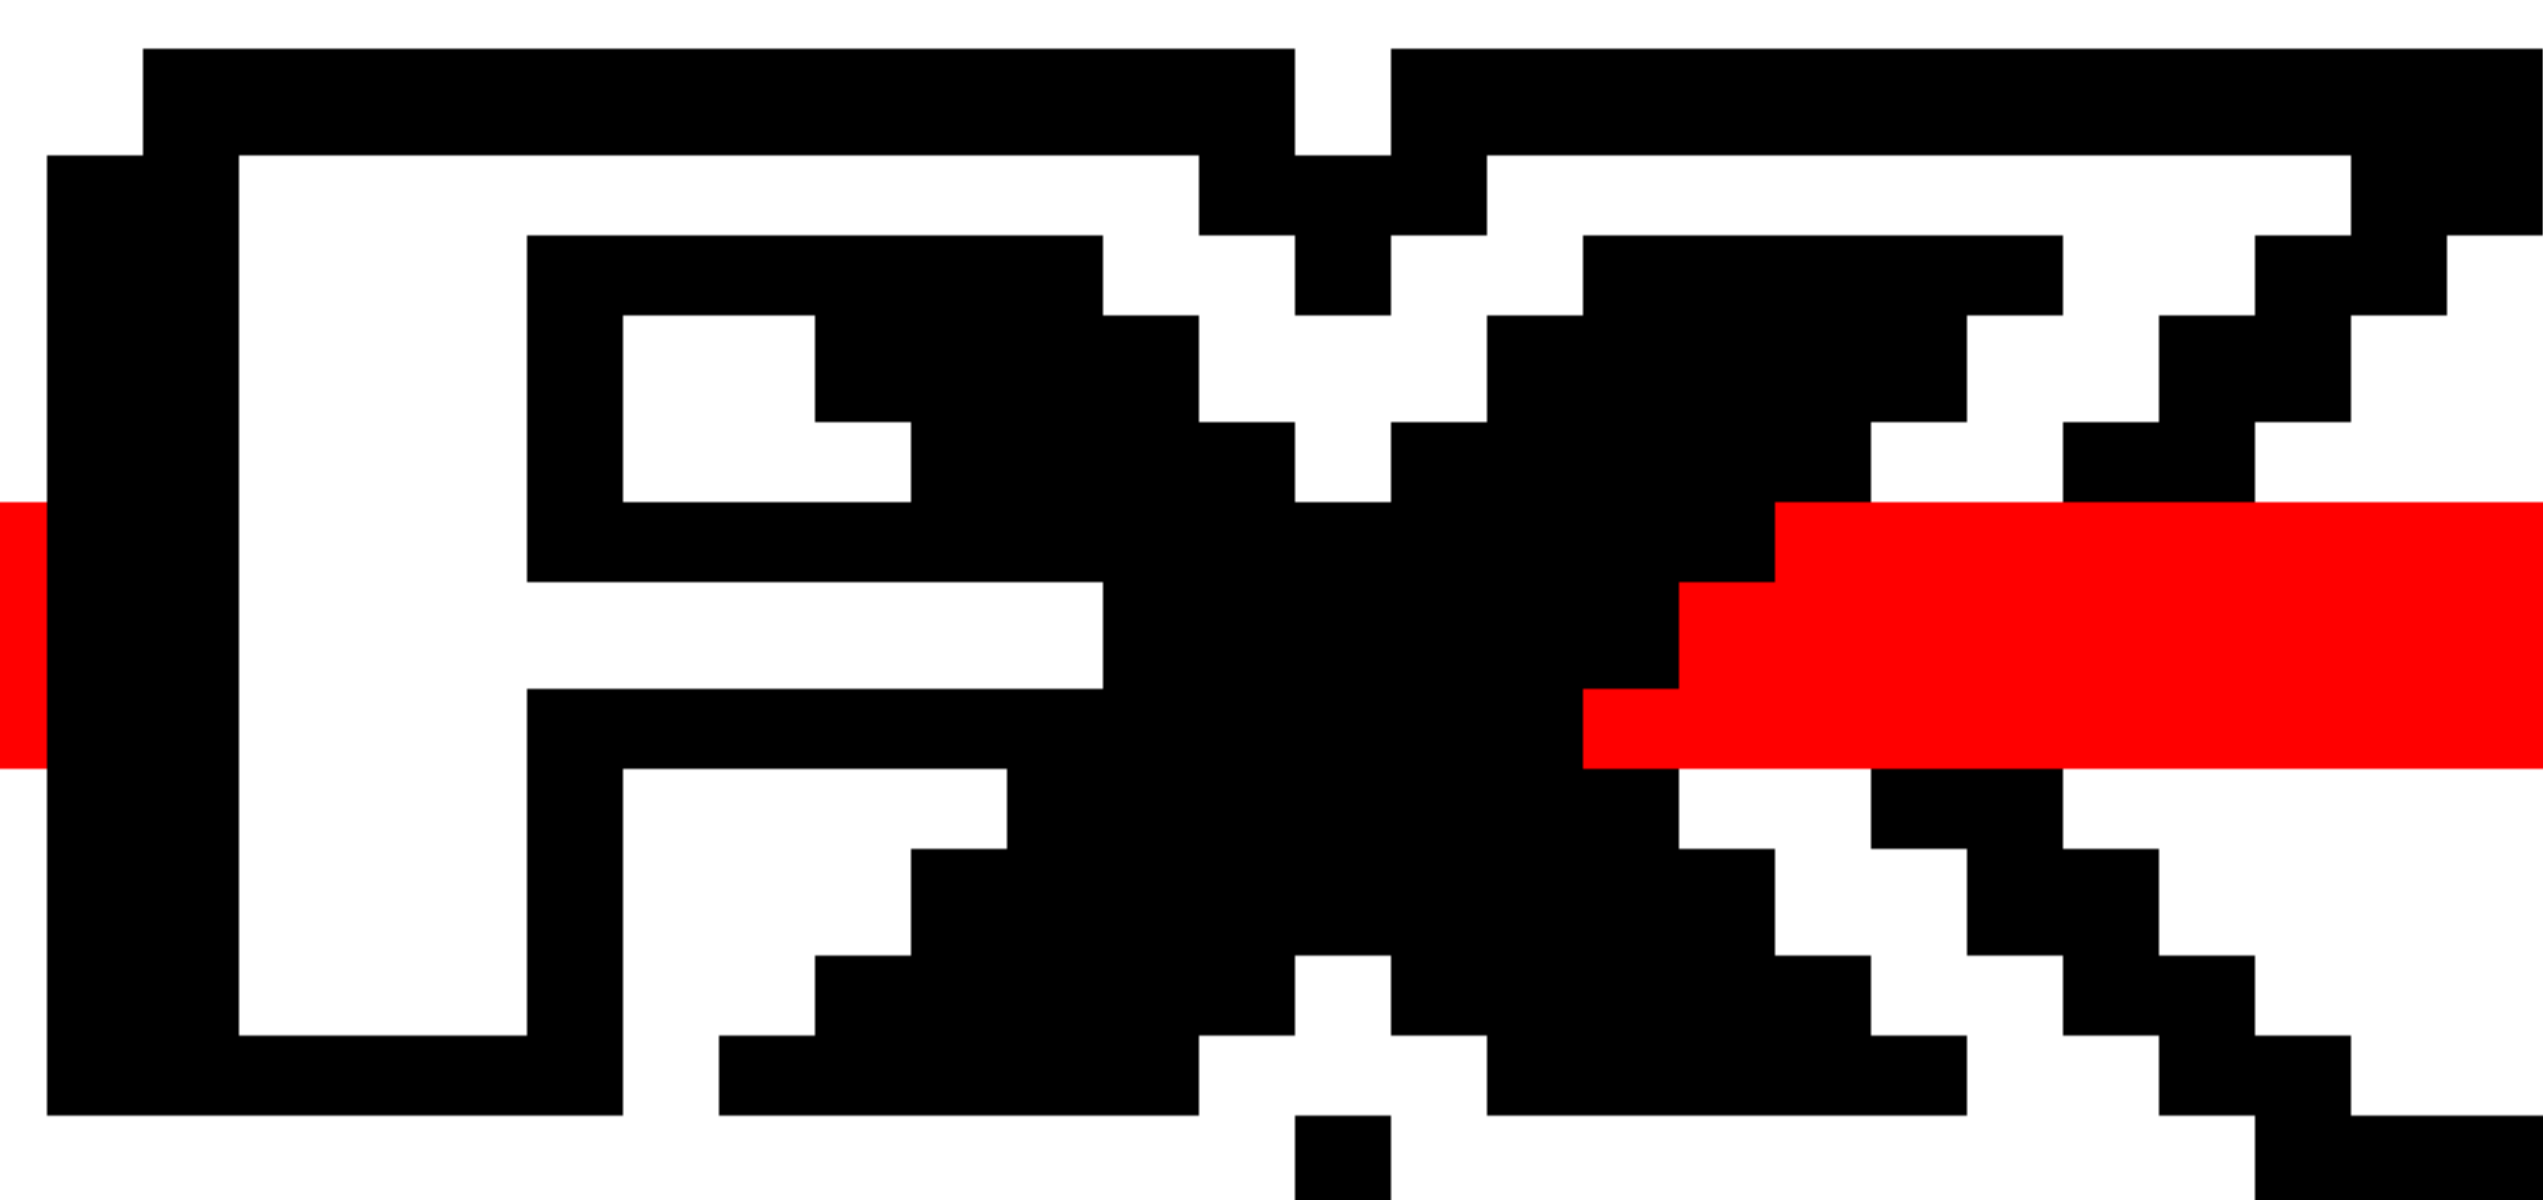

The gameplay is good, though a tad easy, but the scenario's nicely varied. It does allow for the rare use of 3-D glasses, but it's unremarkable apart from that. OVERALL SCORE 80%

Finally, LASER GHOST, is the real turkey of the three games today...

The title LASER GHOST virtually says it all. All the action takes place on Ghost City, where a 10-year-old girl is being held hostage. You must save her by zapping everything in sight, picking up bonuses, lives, etc., along the way.

It's six levels of horizontally scrolling action, all in ghostly houses and streets. Too difficult to be very addictive, this hasn't a ghost of a chance of winning many fans! It only gets the following score 'cos you can use the light phaser! OVERALL SCORE 60%

■ For extra lives on STORMLORD - pause game, press A four times, B three, B once and A once. That Mega Drive cheat's from J Skelton, Brighton.
