Misleading The Record Buyer

The Oct. 17 airing of "Consumer Buyline" with David Horowitz on KNBC-TV in Los Angeles, featured a segment on purchasing records and some of the quality problems that consumers may find with today's records. This weekly consumer protection program gave a fair accounting of inherent problems in the manufacturing of records and the decreasing quality of the physical product over the past few years.

Cash Box is well aware of pressing quality problems and utilized this space on June 11, 1977 to explain our feelings on the subject.

But, the "Consumer Buyline" program ended on a less than objective note, and in fact, misled the public concerning the profitability of records. Utilizing interviews with a pressing plant chief and a retail store manager, the show unfairly edited two answers together. They asked the pressing plant official the cost of manufacturing an album, to which he responded "about 35¢." Immediately following, they queried the retailer as to the average retail cost of an album, to which he responded, "about $4.50."

Both of these answers are correct, but in the context of the editing, they unfortunately sought to correlate the two figures. What happened, we asked Horowitz, to the expenses of promotion, sales, artist royalties, publishing, marketing, merchandising, freight and the many other cost factors that add up to the overall price of a record?

When contacted by Cash Box on the issue of misleading the public, both Horowitz and producer Lloyd Thaxton admitted to the biased editing and described the segment as a "teaser." They added that a second show about buying records was planned, but no date was set. In addition, they noted that the second show would possibly begin with the misleading editing, but would be clarified within the context of the show by explaining the in-between costs.

We at Cash Box do not object to programs examining the problems of buying records. "Consumer Buyline" was objective enough to point out that the return policies of retailers rarely cost the consumer money when they purchase a defective record.

But we at Cash Box do object to anyone knowingly misleading the public, especially on a program which prides itself on protecting the consumer from frauds. A clarification of record industry costs is definitely in order to rectify a glaring inaccuracy.

Indie Manufacturers Switch To N.Y. Distributors In Boston

by Charles Paikert and Mark Mehler

NEW YORK — London Records has just shifted its Boston/New England distribution from Music Suppliers to the New York-based Alpha Distributors. The move underscores the accelerating trend toward transshipping, and the decline of Boston's local independent distributors.

Gordon Dinerstein, president of Music Suppliers, which lost its last major line when London switched, characterized the future of Boston's indie distributors as "precarious."

"There is extreme pressure being exerted by the New York distributors on all manufacturers to consider Boston part of New York territory. They're telling them that effective distribution in this market comes solely out of New York," Dinerstein commented. These New York suppliers, however, have had a foothold in New England for years.

"It's become the day of the super-independents covering more than two or three markets out of one base, using one warehouse and sales offices in other markets," said George Mull, Boston branch manager for the New York-based Malverne Distributors. Malverne and Alpha currently control a major part of the indie distribution in the Boston/New England area.

According to the owner of a Boston one-stop, the fact that Alpha and Malverne Distributors in New York have "carved up the Boston market," combined with the shift of several major labels to branch distribution

Bar Coding For Record Industry Given OK By UPC; RIAA/NARM Proposals Accepted

by Randy Lewis

LOS ANGELES — The final barrier to the implementation of bar coding within the record industry has been eliminated, as the Universal Product Code (UPC) Council Board has approved the industry's proposed use of the system.

As a result, the first products with a bar code could feasibly be on the market by the end of the year.

The action by the UPC Council caps more than a year of effort to develop some kind of universal coding system for the record industry.

In September 1976, representatives of record manufacturers, wholesalers and retailers began consideration of a uniform product code during NARM's midyear conference in Chicago.

Following meetings of national and regional committees of RIAA/NARM members, an industry consensus regarding bar coding was reached at a joint RIAA/NARM meeting in Los Angeles last June 7.

At that meeting, members of the industry agreed on an outline of some aspects of their proposed system which, in turn, was submitted to the UPC Council for its approval.

That group, which must approve any application for use of the universal product code, then told Stanley Gortikov, president of the RIAA, that certain elements of that proposed system should be refined.

But in a letter to Gortikov dated Oct. 11, Tom Wilson, a spokesman for McKinsey & Co. which represents the UPC Council, announced, "The Code Council Board approved at its September 20 meeting the proposed use of the UPC by the record industry.

"It is their understanding that such usage will conform to published UPC Specifications and Guidelines, with one exception . . .," Wilson's letter stated.

That exception is in regard to the format of the symbol. In other industries, such as food and drugs, bar codes are represented numerically by a 10-digit code, which is broken down into two five-digit segments, i.e., 12345-67890. The variation requested by the record industry and approved by the UPC Council, is that the 10 digits be broken down into 4-5-1 configuration, i.e., 1234-56789-0.

In the usual configuration, the first five

'Scab' Sessions Become Issue In AF Of M Talks

NEW YORK — The American Federation of Musicians (AF of M) this week kicked off negotiations on a new two-year contract with the recording industry, amid reports of major differences between the parties.

The key issue is reported to be the AF of M's long-standing displeasure over "scab" recording sessions, in which masters are produced and sold to record companies without the knowledge of, or payments made to, the union. Most of these sessions involve rock bands.

The union is also agitated by music publishers allegedly selling their demonstration tapes to record companies for conversion to masters, again without payment to union musicians.

In addition, the union is reported to be seeking to replace fixed royalty payments to the union's health and welfare plan with payments based on the musician's earnings. Higher wages are also being sought for arrangers.

However, noted one source familiar with negotiations, the union's insistence on higher wages is simply a way of recouping the money it is losing on scab sessions.

"I think that's an issue that is not going to be resolved in a short time," the source said of the non-union recordings. "But the union seems to be serious about stopping it."

Brothers' "Livin' On The Fault Line," on Warner Bros.

The Rolling Stones' "Love You Live" on Rolling Stones Records (Atlantic) is in the number 8 position this week, giving WEA a total of six albums in the top 10.

With "Foghat Live" on Bearsville/Warner Bros. at number 18 and Rose Royce's "In Full Bloom" on Warner Bros. at number 20, WEA's top 20 total comes to eight.

The company also has four other albums in the top 50 and an additional 11 albums on the 51 to 100 positions, giving them a total of 24 albums on the Cash Box Top 100 Albums chart.

"Rumours" recently passed the six million mark for the number of copies sold, while Foreigner's debut album has achieved double platinum status.

Fleetwood Mac's last album, "Fleetwood Mac," is still in the top 50 this week, at number 48, after 118 weeks on the chart. In its fifth week on the chart, Steve Martin's first album on Warner Bros. is bulleted at number 35, making it the only comedy album in the top 100 and one of the most successful comedy albums ever.

Debby Boone's debut album, "You Light Up My Life," on Warner/Curb Records, debuts this week at number 71 bullet, making it the highest debuting album of the week.

Musical strength and career development continue to be the key factors in the success of Far Out Productions, a management and production corporation formed in 1969.

Steve Gold, a former CPA, and Jerry Goldstein, a rock and roll producer, combined their talents to form Far Out and have scored well from the beginning. Their initial project, Eric Burdon And War, turned into a gold single, "Spill The Wine," and gold LP, "Eric Burdon And War." They went on to mastermind an amazing seven platinum albums in a row for War.

Now that the group is established and successful, Far Out has taken the time to develop the talents of its members on solo projects. Soon to be released are solo albums by harmonica player Lee Oskar, Lonnie Jordan, Papa Dee Allen and Howard Scott.

Gold and Goldstein pride themselves on the ability to match their artists with the right record labels. War is now on MCA, Ronnie Laws on Blue Note/United Artists, Eloise Laws on ABC, Aalon on Arista, Redbone Featuring Pat And Lolly Vegas on RCA, Tanya Tucker on MCA and such artists as Jimmy Witherspoon, Ike White and Robben Ford are on Far Out's own LAX label. Label affiliations for artist-writers Linda Creed, Jimmy Ford and Greg Errico will be announced in the near future.

Columbia Signs Elvis Costello In Single Deal

LOS ANGELES — Columbia Records has signed British recording artist Elvis Costello and will release his "My Aim Is True," one of the fastest rising albums in England, in the United States October 31, according to Costello's American representative.

The representative, Allen Frey, of A.R.S.E. Management Inc., said Costello will embark on a concert tour of the United States Nov. 15 and will play in approximately 20 major markets on the tour, which he said will last slightly more than one month.

A spokesman for CBS confirmed that Costello has been signed, but said, "I have no other details of the contract."

Bing Crosby, Whose Career Spanned 50 Years, Dies At 73

LOS ANGELES — Harry Lillis "Bing" Crosby was buried last week at Holy Cross Cemetery in Culver City, California following graveside rites which were attended by his family and a few close friends, including Bob Hope, Phil Harris and Rosemary Clooney.

Crosby, who died of a heart attack at the age of 73 Friday, Oct. 14 at a golf course outside Madrid, Spain, was buried next to his first wife, Dixie Lee, and his parents. His six sons, Gary, Philip, Dennis, Lindsay, Harry and Nathaniel served as pallbearers.

His singing and acting career spanned 50 years. His recording of Irving Berlin's "White Christmas" is considered the biggest selling record of all time.

He was equally, if not more, successful in films, having made 58 movies between the "King of Jazz," his first film, made in 1930, and "Stagecoach," his last film, made in 1966. Plans had been under way, however, for a new "Road" picture this year which would have re-united Crosby, Hope and Dorothy Lamour on the screen for the first time since "The Road to Hong Kong" in 1962.

Although Crosby won an Oscar in 1944 for his performance in "Going My Way," he said his favorite picture was "High Society," which he made in 1956 with Grace Kelly, Frank Sinatra and Louis Armstrong. The seven "Road" pictures, however, are considered his most popular films.

Record Demand

Record pressing plants have been operating on 24-hour schedules since Crosby's death, according to the New York Post, to meet the demand for his music. The Post quoted Sam Passamano, vice president in charge of distribution for MCA Records, as saying, "It's been extremely heavy. We've had a million orders for the nine Crosby albums in our catalog."

Copyright Office To Hold Jukebox Licensing Hearings

by Joanne Ostrow

WASHINGTON, C.C. — The section of the copyright revision dealing with conditions for jukeboxers to obtain compulsory licenses is up for implementation, pending the outcome of hearings scheduled by the Copyright Office for October 25.

Testimony is expected from representatives of ASCAP, BMI, SESAC, AMOA and representatives of the jukebox manufacturers.

Comments At Odds

Comment letters these groups sent to the Copyright Office were "pretty far apart" on a number of points, according to general counsel John Baumgarten. For instance, the performing rights societies favor requiring location information for each box, while the operators oppose requiring such additional information because, they say, each box is moved so frequently as to make that an unnecessary burden. In its proposed regulation, the office has come down on the side of the operator, saying the address of the manufacturer will be readily available and will suffice.

Rather than requiring that the application be sworn to in compliance with federal law, the office plans to reproduce Section 116(d) of the Act on the application: prescribing criminal penalties for false representation.

Additionally, rather than go along with the urgings of the licensing organizations to require action upon the sale or transfer of a jukebox during the licensing period, the office agrees with the owners and operators

Presley LP Cut Issued As Single

NEW YORK — Elvis Presley's cover version of "My Way" from the late singer's recently released RCA album, "Elvis In Concert," is being issued as a single (b/w "America"). An RCA Records spokesman said that the record's release is "due to the incredible demand generated by consumers and by major market airplay."

According to the spokesman, the album cut of "My Way" debuted at #9 at CKLW in Detroit and at #29 at Y100 in Miami. He added that it is already in "heavy rotation" at 96X in Miami, WPGC in Washington, D.C., WFIL in Philadelphia, KILT in Houston, WNOE in New Orleans, WQXI in Atlanta and KBEQ-FM in Kansas City.

This week, "Elvis In Concert" jumped from #91 bullet to #41 bullet on the Cash Box Top 100 Album Chart.

Operating income for the recorded music and music publishing division rose from $15.19 million in the third quarter of 1976 to $17.16 million this year. Operating revenues for the third quarter were $119.95 million, up from $90.98 million last year.

For the nine-month period ended September 30, the record group posted operating income of $53.81 million, up from $45.20 million in 1976. Operating revenues rose to $347.01 million from $272.17 million during the comparable period of 1976.

The parent company, Warner Communications Inc., likewise posted record sales and earnings for the third quarter.

New Faces To Watch:

Leif Garrett

The massive exposure that television brings can be a natural entry into the music field for actors with musical talents. For motion picture and television actor Leif Garrett, the move into music is a priority in his overall career.

Soon to be 16, Garrett has been acting since age five. Born and raised in Hollywood, he has maintained an active acting career for the past 11 years with major roles in the three "Walking Tall" films and "Macon County Line" and a variety of other films. He has also starred in the TV series "Three For The Road" and had guest shots on other shows like "Gunsmoke," "Apples Way," "Cannon," and "Family Affair."

Recently signed as the youngest recording artist on Atlantic Records, Garrett achieved success with his first single, "Surfin' U.S.A." The album, due in early November, is a mixture of oldies and original material.

"My producer, Michael Lloyd, picked the songs for the album. I don't feel that I'm ready to pick my own material right now because I'm not experienced enough yet," explained Garrett. He commented further that Lloyd, who produces for Mike Curb Productions, has scored well with the Osmonds and other teen singers.

To expand his musical talents, Garrett is currently learning how to play the guitar and working on some original songs for future albums. He said that he would like to gain more creative control by writing some of his own material.

While the teen star is making a concerted effort in music, he has not forgotten his acting side. On Nov. 6, he will star on a TV pilot, "Peter Lundy and the Medicine Hat Stallion," that most probably will be picked up in January as a series.

Since the release of the single, Garrett has made the promotion circuit throughout the U.S. at radio stations and other related appearances. He will be leaving for Europe in the near future to continue in this promotional effort.

Commenting on comparisons with another teen actor-turned singer, Shaun Cassidy, Garrett pointed out, "We may be doing the same kind of music and to the same audience, but we're two separate people with our own separate styles."

Garrett, from financially poor beginnings, has already graduated from high school, and is proud of the accomplishments that he has achieved. He quickly points out the importance of his mother in his success. But, not quite satisfied, he continues to perfect his acting ability and to learn as much as he can about his new-found love, music.

Foghat Gets Gold Award

LOS ANGELES — Foghat's current album on Bearsville Records, "Foghat Live," has been certified gold by the RIAA.

Heatwave 45 Is Gold

NEW YORK — "Boogie Nights," the single by Heatwave on Epic, has been certified gold by the RIAA. The single is on Heatwave's debut LP, which was also certified gold earlier this month.

Robert Gordon

Was this man born in the wrong decade? What he calls "my type of music" was out of style by 1957, and he never got to see one of his favorites perform in his prime, not a one. The closest he's come, visually, is a 1956 film called "The Girl Can't Help It," which features a few performances by Eddie Cochran and Gene Vincent.

With his ears (prominent in a slicked-back pompadour) and an imagination, Robert Gordon is able to live the experiences he never had through records. He owns a sizeable collection, many very old and quite rare. To children of the sixties who are anxious to see into the period a bit better, Gordon recommends any of the early Sun recordings, especially Carl Perkins. In later periods, he suggests Gene Vincent, Jack Scott, and, of course, the early recordings of Elvis Presley.

He warns, however, that Gordon the aficionado should not be confused with Gordon the artist. He feels that the critics who branded him an imitator of the past on the basis of his first Private Stock album were making unfair judgments. "I've been influenced, no doubt about it, by the period and by the people that were there, but I'm not imitating anybody. I think that when people see the show, it should become apparent."

Critics and fans alike will be able to decide for themselves as Gordon's current major tour makes its way around the nation. The major instrumental focus of the band continues to be guitarist Link Wray, who took cover billing with Gordon on the first album, produced by Richard Gottehrer. Rob Stoner and Billy Gross have left the group, leaving Jerry Matthews to move into the second guitar slot, and opening a space for a bassist who goes by the name of Bufalo. The slimmed-down lineup, according to Gordon, is capable of tighter performances.

Gordon will go into the studio with Gottehrer to begin recording his new album about December, between American and European concert tours. The album will be composed half and half of new and old tunes, many of which have been picked already. Jack Scott, who is still writing, may contribute a song; and Link Wray will pitch in with a tune that he wrote for Elvis Presley in 1957, which was rejected by one of a mysterious pair of Presley advisors at the time. Gordon, reluctant to reveal further details, did mention that Bruce Springsteen has given him a new song for the album.

Artist Development Series:

All Key Polydor Executives Share In Artist Development

by Charles Paikert & Ken Terry

NEW YORK — While Polydor, Inc. doesn't have an artist development department per se, the label executives strongly feel that a developing artist is well-served within the existing structure of the company.

"At the moment," said Lou Simon, executive vice president and general manager of Polydor, "we prefer an operation style that has a total involvement of all our key marketing people. We can do that now because we have a tight overall artist roster, and we start with the premise that we only deal with the amount of product that we think we can effectively handle."

Harry Anger, vice president of marketing for the label, cited such notable Polydor successes as the Atlanta Rhythm Section and Roy Ayers as proof of the existing system's effectiveness. "ARS and Roy Ayers are self-sustaining today," Anger said. "We've broadened the sales base of these artists by staying with their product for a long period of time. Also, we were committed to them, and we insist that the artists are able to communicate directly with us."

Communication also was cited as a major factor in Polydor's initial experience with a newly-signed act. "As soon as an act is signed with the label," said Harry Zerler, artist tour administrator for Polydor, "we establish regular communication on a day-to-day basis with their management and the booking representative. I will take information on tour activity and distribute it through our national office, field reps and branch managers."

"When major tour activity is coming up related to the release of an album," Zerler continued, "we will look at the cities and the costs involved in our own marketing plan. Then we sit down, have a conference with the manager, go through the plan together, and reach an agreement on what is the best strategy to pursue."

Simon gave a specific example of Polydor's attention to a developing artist on the label by illustrating the program created for Jean Michel Jarre's album, "Oxygene," currently bulleting at #144 on the

Grammy Screening Committee Meets

LOS ANGELES — The screening committee for the Grammy Awards will meet October 28-29 in the offices of the Recording Academy to screen entries for the 20th annual awards presentation in February. During the two-day session, members of the academy and record companies along with members of the trade press and radio will determine which recordings belong in which category — R&B, country, jazz or pop/rock.

GOLD IN THE OZARKS — A&M recording group the Ozark Mountain Daredevils recently received a gold LP for their "Ozark Mountain Daredevils" album while on tour in support of their current disc "Don't Look Down." Pictured (l-r) are: Stan Plesser, Ozark Mountain Daredevil manager; Ruel Chappell, band member; Jerry Moss, A&M chairman; Steve Cash, band member; David Anderle, producer; Michael Grandia, band member; Paul Peterson, manager; band members Larry Lee, John Dillon, Steve Canaday, Jerry Mills and Rune Walle; Gil Friesen, A&M president, and Tom Pitts, Good Karma operations manager.

"First," Simon related, "we took a major approach on all levels — trade and consumer magazines and all available media. We combined that with a massive promotional campaign which included material for discos, as well as broadsides and flyers. A film of the artist was shown to the trade and used for in-store viewing where possible, and we undertook a massive merchandising campaign. Now the key is to keep it moving."

Layer Of Interference

In effect, Simon had described an artist development program which was handled without a special department for that purpose. "I'm not knocking the artist development department concept," Simon explained. "Eventually everybody may be forced to have one. But I know of examples in the industry of such departments which do not have as good an access to the people they must have access to in order to make it work. What happens is you create a layer."

That "layer," Simon felt, hinders intra-company communication, a cornerstone of the Polydor philosophy. However, he added, "we're in a position to still handle our artist development within the total complex of our company, but we'll change it when we no longer can do it. Our system works now, but it may not work in two or three years; in that case we may have to add a department to digest all the accumulating information."

No Changes Planned

Polydor has no changes planned, however, in the near future. Besides Ayers and the Atlanta Rhythm Section, the company points to the relative success of ECM jazz artists Keith Jarrett, Ralph Towner and Chick Corea as a justification for its current artist development system. And the prime reason why it works so well, Simon noted, is that "everybody (all departments) is a part of everything."

Warner Named At Entertainment Co.

LOS ANGELES — Jay Warner has been named to head operations of the new west coast offices of The Entertainment Company Music Group here as vice president of west coast activities. Warner, formerly vice president of publishing for the Wes Farrell Organization, where he worked with Tony Orlando And Dawn, Bobby Vinton and Johnny Winter, began his career with the Sidney A. Seidenberg management firm.

The new offices, located at 6430 Sunset Blvd, Suite 803 in Hollywood, will also serve as the west coast headquarters of Manhattan Records, the UA distributed custom label which is run by The Entertainment Company Music Group.

Kipps Bridges Gap Between Creative And Business Roles

by Ken Terry & Charles Paikert

NEW YORK — In an age of specialization, versatility has proven to be the key to Charles Kipps' success in the music business.

So far, Kipps' career has bridged the roles of personal manager, hit songwriter, producer, and administrator of his own music publishing company, Charles Kipps Music.

In addition, Kipps is the co-owner, along with Van McCoy, of McCoy-Kipps Productions, a production company which has been utilized by such artists as Melba Moore, Gladys Knight And The Pips, and The Stylistics.

But only seven years ago, Kipps was still outside the business, and had to resort to an innovative method of establishing himself. He rented an office in Washington, D.C., put a sign on the door that said "personal management," and took an ad in a local paper to audition talent.

As a result, Kipps began to manage The Presidents, a local R&B group. While looking for a producer for The Presidents, Kipps met Van McCoy. Soon The Presidents had a popular single hit, "5-10-15-20-25-30 Years Of Love," and McCoy and Kipps formed a partnership, originally called Whitehouse Productions.

Kipps continued to manage The Presidents, but became increasingly interested in production. He began to learn the tricks of the trade from McCoy, and now, Kipps commented, "I'm almost 100% involved with production. It just has much too large a scope to be dabbled in, so it has to be a full-time thing. I've been interested all along, so it was just a matter of time."

Most of Kipps' production work has been concentrated in the disco and R&B fields, and he has strong opinions about both musical genres. Discos, Kipps exclaimed, "have done more to help new artists get into the business than anything in years."

One of those new artists, in fact, was his business partner, Van McCoy, whose single, "The Hustle," proved to be an enormous — and unexpected — success. "It caught everybody by surprise," Kipps said, "so Van had to catch up with himself and be an artist instead of just a producer."

While McCoy made an unprecedented impact on the disco market, and later on the pop market, Kipps similarly crossed over to the pop market from an R&B base with a song he wrote for David Ruffin in 1975, "Walk Away From Love."

Kipps said he was baffled by the non-R&B stations that wait until a song has become a hit on black stations before adding the song to their playlists. "Maybe it's because it's labeled," he stated. "Once you label something, it's not easy to play it. Or maybe it's because playlists have gotten tighter and tighter. It seems that program and music directors almost look for reasons not to play records."

Debby Boone Gets Gold

LOS ANGELES — Debby Boone's debut single on Warner-Curb Records, "You Light Up My Life," has been certified gold by the RIAA.

The criteria for obtaining gigs at entertainment centers like Las Vegas, Lake Tahoe, and Reno have also baffled Kipps on occasion. "Those places are so cliquish," he mused, "that you have to have a great entertainment record to work there. You can have 10 gold records, but they look at your act, and say, 'He's not slick enough, you can't work here!'" One consolation, Kipps mentioned, is that "very few people going to a show in Vegas are going to go out and buy an act's album, as opposed to a typical college audience."

In fact, an ever wider audience should be purchasing records produced by the Kipps-McCoy team, as the production company has expanded into country and jazz-rock markets after signing a non-exclusive production agreement with MCA Records.

The deal doesn't require that a specific number of acts be delivered to MCA, and that's the way Kipps likes it. "It takes time to find acts," he said, adding that "a good artist can also be a victim of poor material."

True enough, but unlikely if the artist is working with Charles Kipps or Van McCoy.

A&M Aims Promotional Effort At Regional And Local Levels

LOS ANGELES — Harold Childs, A&M Records' vice president of promotion, dictates a telegram to his secretary — "Cat Stevens single 'Was Dog A Doughnut?' — extra to 15 at WCHB in Detroit — 3600 reordered — imperative that record be worked at all R&B stations immediately — we're looking at a monster record." The following morning the message will be found on the desk of every A&M promotion man across the country.

Childs feels it is imperative that the A&M promotion staff be aware of the single because, as he puts it, "The record is happening in Detroit" — and that information, he says, can provide invaluable incentive for programmers in other cities to add the record to their playlists.

"Wherever a record is happening, that's where we are," Childs says. "We try to break acts according to regions and according to wherever we are getting the best results."

Childs, who directs the label's staff of 34 local and regional promotion men from his office at A&M's Los Angeles headquarters, explains that the label does not coordinate record priorities on a national basis but instead allows each regional promotion representative to determine his own priorities based on each record's success on the local level.

No Priorities

"We don't set up priorities," he says. "We don't say this is going to be the record we work on the act we work. We try to work them all. Of course some may jump ahead of others simply by getting more airplay and more interest. But if another guy in Cleveland is breaking another act then that becomes his priority, and hopefully all of those priorities will come together. For example Pablo Cruise started out in San Francisco and Piper is now starting to happen in Boston. Rita Coolidge got her support out of the south. So like I said there are certain areas for each act and that is where we concentrate."

Cat Stevens

Childs points to Cat Stevens' new single as an example of a record that A&M hopes to break by building on the success that the disc has had in one city. "Was Dog A Doughnut?" an instrumental tune from Steven's latest album, began to get airplay

Artists On The Air

Barry Manilow, Johnny Cash and June Carter are set to guest on NBC's two-hour special, "100th Anniversary of Recorded Sound." The Pierre Cossette Production is scheduled for Dec. 15.

"Whole Lotta Shakin' Goin' On . . . Still!" is the tentative title of a Jerry Lee Lewis special which is slated for mid-January production.

Ray Charles will be the guest host for NBC's "Saturday Night Live" on Nov. 12.

The Oct. 29 edition of "Rock Concert" will feature Bob Marley & The Wailers, Little River Band, George Millier and the Village Idlots.

David Soul will host "Midnight Special" on Oct. 28 and other guests include Debbi Boone, Electric Light Orchestra, Styx, Conway Twitty and the Little River Band.

December 7 is the air date for Mac Davis' TV special which will also offer Engelbert Humperdinck, David Soul and Shields And Yarnell. Davis will also guest on "Dinah!" on Dec. 5.

Anthony Newley will serve as a "Hollywood Squares" panelist for the week of Oct. 31. Shaun Cassidy will guest on "American Bandstand" on Oct. 29 on ABC-TV.

Stephen Bishop has recently completed tapings of "Rock Concert" "Dinah!" "The Chuck Barris Variety Hour" and will appear on "Midnight Special" later this month.

SISTER KATE JOINS JAMES — Kate Taylor has signed a recording contract with Columbia Records, joining her brother James on the label. Her first release, "It's In His Kiss (The Shoop Shoop Song)," will be followed by an album and tour. Pictured at the signing are (from left): Mickey Eichner, vice president of east coast A&R for Columbia; Bruce Lundvall, president of the CBS Records Division; Kate Taylor; Charles Witham, her manager; Nat Weiss, her attorney; and Bill Freston, associate director of east coast product management for the label.

EAST COASTINGS — WHAT HAPPENED? — Two recently announced concert cancellations at Radio City Music Hall warrant some explanation. James Taylor's scheduled two-night engagement, set for October 29 and 30, was part of an eastern tour of major markets that was called off in its entirety. It seems that Taylor's wife, Carly Simon, had finally gotten into the studio to begin her new album just at the point that the tour was to begin, and for him, the former commitment was more pressing than the latter. Taylor's manager, Peter Asher, was able to reach an agreement with promoter Sid Bernstein whereby another of Asher's clients, Linda Ronstadt, was able to fill the bill for those dates of the New York Pop Arts Festival. In the case of Helen Reddy, who was to play the Music Hall November 1 and 2, management decided that the opening of the Disney film starring Ms. Reddy, "Pete's Dragon," was just a bit too close, debuting at the Music Hall November 3. According to Bernstein, Ms. Reddy will return to the Music Hall later in the winter, and he hopes that the film's impact will enable her to play several more shows at that time. Meanwhile, Bernstein is not complaining. He's ready to add another Linda Ronstadt show, based on sellout demand, and he's hoping to book Taylor back into the venue this winter as well . . . At presstime, concerts at Radio City faced another roadblock, as the American Federation of Musicians' Local 802 struck against the Music Hall for higher pay. Although the strikers are members of the theater's regular orchestra only, their picket lines were threatening the O'Jays' appearance, scheduled for Friday, October 21.

FRANKIE AND JANEY — Frankie Valli and Jane Olivor have an intimate chat at a reception held at Radio City Music Hall following Valli's farewell performance with the Four Seasons. The party was a "Sock Hop" which took place in the Rockettes' rehearsal room.

JAMMING IN THE APPLE — CBGB's on the Bowery was on its best behavior for the first New York appearance of The Jam, after the Fire Department had threatened to end all shows if patrons were not afforded the possibility of emergency exit. For the Sunday performance, it was proven that the aisles could be kept clear, and many normally blind seats offered a clear view of the stage. Still, one regular client remarked with disdain, "This place is getting awfully regimented." . . . Unwarranted regimentation nearly smothered The Jam's official meeting with the New York press, held the Monday following a weekend of successful shows. All hyping aside, someone must have been expecting a crush of several hundred reporters judging by the size of the ballroom at the Hotel Americana that was reserved for the occasion. The trio was seated at a dais, from which they were expected to address the intimate gathering through a PA system. Attendees, likewise, were provided mikes through which to pose their questions. Luckily, human nature took over, and the forty-odd guests present gathered up front, where they were able to talk with the three lads in a normal tone of voice. But what were all those photographers trying to prove by flashing throughout the question-and-answer period?

IN SEARCH OF A BETTER ROCK 'N' ROLL TALK SHOW — Can television ever deal intelligently with the subject of rock and roll? According to George Frans (a/k/a Commander Cody), better informed moderators might be the answer. A recently-aired segment of the David Suskind Show, featuring an open discussion among artists Cody and Johnny Winter, critics Dave Marsh (Rolling Stone) and John Rockwell (New York Times), and manager Dee Anthony, was a case in point. In a frank after-the-fact discussion, Cody suggested that an all-musicians' panel might have been better able to focus on the important issues. "There are people in rock who can talk," he stated firmly, "although too many people still feel that they're a bunch of Neanderthals who are too blown-out on drugs to say anything." Cody also feels that the Suskind Show, which was originally focused around the death of Elvis Presley, was a bit too delicate in the treatment of controversial matters. "Someone familiar with the business could have conducted an intelligent discussion without uncovering any personal skeletons," he said.

MORE TUBE ROCK — The Ramones made their television debut on Don Kirshner's Rock Concert for the early morning following Saturday, October 22, in an unusual double billing that paired them with the Ohio Players. Ironically, "disco" and "punk rock" are normally considered to be rival youth trends, so some unconscious poetic justice was dealt to each faction by this quirky programming. Anyway, it was good to see that The Ramones didn't change their act a bit for TV. . . . Screamin' Jay Hawkins will appear on WNBC with Cousin Bruce Morrow (5:15 p.m.) in a film segment recorded at Star Sound Studios in New York. Hawkins will perform his classic, "I Wanna Put A Spell On You," complete with his entrance from a coffin, which jarred so many nerves back in the 1950s.

THE SHORT END — Available by mail order only: "The Instant Punk Kit." You get Punk Button, Punk Jewelry, Punk Handbook, Punk Bonus . . . and much, much more! (This ad really appeared in the Village Voice) . . . After reading that he had an avid fan in Robert Violante, one of the victims of New York's notorious mass murderer "Son Of Sam," George Benson invited the young man and his family up to the Westbury Music Fair for a recent performance. It was the first Saturday night out for the young man since the July 31 attack in which he lost one eye and was left virtually blind in the other . . . Little David artist Franklyn Ajaye will be touring around the New York/New Jersey area through November 2, with a November 3 date in Richmond, Va. to wrap up the tour . . . Barrie Wilson, drummer with Procol Harum, and his wife Sarah have become proud parents of a second daughter, Nicola Celeste Wilson. Barrie has been drumming with the new Bonzo Dog Doo Dah Band, as well as with Leo Kottke, and may work with Frankie Miller later this month. Gary Brooker, lead vocalist and keyboardist for Procol Harum, is reportedly working on some solo projects. . . . From here on in, Joe Ferry, who records for Dawnsongs Records, will be working under the official band name The Ferry Brothers . . . It looks like John Denver's next album will feature performances by the Beach Boys.

SIGNED IN BLOOD — H&L Records has signed Monsters, a rock group that features many of the famed creepy creatures of filmland. At the signing ceremony pictured, H&L co-principals Hugo & Luigi administer the official greeting to Dracula while Wolfman tries to get into the act.

Electric Lady Inc. Sold for $1.5 M To Nautiloid Corp.

NEW YORK — The Nautiloid Corp. of New Jersey has acquired Electric Lady Inc., operator of the Electric Lady Studio, for a reported $1.5 million cash.

Harold Selby, president of Nautiloid, said the recording studio, which is presently undergoing an $850,000 renovation, will be operated as a division of Nautiloid.

The new owners, whose principal business is the manufacture of plastic display items, reported sales of $1.4 million in fiscal 1977, and earnings of about $200,000. Electric Lady reported revenues of about $1.1 million and unaudited pre-tax profits of about $300,000 for fiscal 1977.

Selby asserted that the purchase of the recording facility would be an important step in Nautiloid's future growth through diversification.

Art Rothman, general manager of Electric Lady (he will remain in that capacity under the new ownership), said contracts have already been signed for the installation of consoles in the existing studios and construction of a new mixing room.

The Studio was founded by the late guitarist, Jimi Hendrix. Upon his death six years ago, his partner, Michael Jeffries, took over the operation. Since Jeffries' death two years ago, the studio has been under the control of a court-appointed surrogate acting for Jeffries' British estate.

Over 90 hours of educational sessions have been scheduled along with talent showcases, film screenings and a trade show, all aimed at giving the buyer and seller a complete understanding of the college market. Over 70 acts will be showcased in the areas of stage presentations, coffeehouse, showcase cabaret, a newly developed showcase for performers in the fine arts field and novelty artist, a showcase designed for specialty acts.

Ronstadt Top Singer In The Daily News Poll

NEW YORK — Linda Ronstadt holds a slight lead over Barbra Streisand in the early balloting for "top female star" sponsored by the New York Daily News. Other contenders in the "Front Page Music Awards Poll and Superstar Sweepstakes" are Olivia Newton-John, Natalie Cole, and Donna Summer. There are 43 female stars on the Daily News reader ballot.

Other early leaders in the female sweepstakes are Diana Ross in the R&B category; Ella Fitzgerald in jazz; and Olivia Newton-John in country.

The standings are based on a tally of New York reader ballots through October 18.

POINTS WEST — BIG SCREEN BANTERINGS — Executive producer Irving Azoff seems bent on making his first film venture a class project. The title tune for "FM" will be composed and performed by Steely Dan and starring roles have already been given to Eileen Brennan, Cleavon Little and Michael Brandon. The screenplay has been written by local media master Ezra Sacks and Ned Doheny's manager, Richard Kimball has landed a role as a general manager at a competing radio station. E/A Board chairman Joe Smith has been asked to play a record company executive (Smith already has three film credits) and E/A vice-president of promotion Kenny Buttice has been signed to play Izzy Segal, and exuberant local promotion man . . . Since Gary Busey has been signed to play the title role in the upcoming Buddy Holly movie, a nationwide search is now underway to find a Latin-looking female to play Holly's wife, Maria . . . Dianne Steinberg has been signed to sing three songs and play Lucy (in the sky with diamonds) in the film version of Sgt. Pepper . . . "The Last Waltz," a movie documentary of The Band's farewell concert in San Francisco's Winterland last Thanksgiving, is now being readied for February release. A three-record album set is due prior to the movie's opening, and should reach the stores by January featuring concert appearances by Joni Mitchell, Bob Dylan, Van Morrison, Neil Diamond and others . . . EMI is finally ready to begin work on the long-delayed movie of the Jan and Dean story, "Dead Man's Curve." The project was started some eight years ago, three years after the car wreck that critically injured Jan Berry, whose singing version of a car wreck became a national hit two years before his tragic accident in 1966. The title roles had been originally offered to Warren Beatty and Ryan O'Neal, then to Jeff and Beau Bridges, but delays kept either pair from being able to play the parts. The parts have now been offered to Bruce Davison (of "Short Eyes" fame) and Richard Hatch (from "The Streets of San Francisco"). Shooting will begin soon . . . Alan Meyer, who performs his Tribute to Elvis to packed crowds in Las Vegas, has been given a script of "The Day The Beatles Came To

MAKING THE MOST OF MISFORTUNE — Though Aerosmith had to cancel the remainder of their October dates due to the unfortunate incident that sidelined members Joe Perry and Stephen Tyler at a recent concert, the band is using the extra time to add the finishing touches to their forthcoming album, due in November . . . Since Jackson Browne's upcoming album is about life on the road, it's entirely fitting that he is co-writing a song with Howard Burke — his road manager who also plays guitar . . . Now that the Sex Pistols have packed with Warner Bros. things are happening very quickly. Ready or not, we can expect to see an album from them Nov. 10

but, save your singles, fans, because the 12 incher won't contain the B sides of the chart-topping singles they've released so far . . . Comic relief? It's coming from several quarters. Besides the two volume set of Marx Bros. material just released by American Album & Tape, E/A will release Mel Brooks' double album in November with one record as a soundtrack to his new movie "High Anxiety" and the other a greatest hits disc, including "Blazing Saddles" as sung by Frankie Laine and "Springtime For Hitler" from "The Producers." E/A will also release an album from Stan Freberg sometime next year. Warner Bros. will release a three-record album Nov. 1 that will encompass 25 years of comedy including such wits as Shelly Berman, Cheech & Chong, Bill Cosby, Lenny Bruce, Richard Pryor, et al. It will probably be the first "Greatest Hits" of comedy . . . Poet Allen Ginsberg has finished his first record entitled "First Blues," a collection of original blues ballads produced by John Hammond, and is now looking for someone to sell it for him after CBS passed . . . REO Speedwagon has just gone into Sound City Studios to record a disc due out in January . . . Country Joe McDonald finishing out the year readying his next one, due in January, and doing several concerts as a solo acoustic act. Earth, Wind & Fire LP due in two weeks with a massive 76 city tour to follow, on which they will be supported on most dates by Deniece Williams and Pockets . . . A shift in direction can be inferred from the news that Burton Cummings is looking for a new producer for his third Portrait album. His last was produced by Richard Perry . . . Brewer & Shipley are back at it, recording at Filmways/Heider in SF . . . Chaka Khan at Dawnbreaker with Rufus after adding some background vocals to Joni Mitchell's next album.

BEATING THE BOMB — We don't wish to set any teen hearts a-flutter unnecessarily but the Bay City Rollers had a brush with catastrophe when the California-bound BOAC jet they were riding had to return to London to check out an anonymous tip that a bomb had been placed aboard the craft. The delay caused them to arrive here a day late for their portion of a show being taped at the Forum last week. The Chuck Barris Special was taped Wednesday for airing in January, and will feature, along with an Ed Sullivan-style format, guests Stephen Bishop, Michelle Phillips, the Temptations, Redd Foxx and Chet Atkins. Show is a pilot and may be the first in a series . . . Devout parishioners of a southern Baptist church in North Olmstead, Ohio were restrained by local officials from starting a huge bonfire to rid themselves of such worldly temptations as bikinis, television sets, liberal publications and hard rock records recently, but solved their dilemma by summoning a garbage truck to their services where the offending items were crunched into landfill . . . Drummer Greg Thomas staying in L.A. and looking for session or road work . . . Stuck for a gift for that hard-to-buy-for friend? The Image Factory will have their life-size Elvis Presley doll ready in time for Christmas . . . Speaking of Christmas, the 42nd annual Bing Crosby Christmas Special carries a special significance this year. The show, which airs Nov. 30 on CBS, will feature the beloved crooner and David Bowle singing "Little Drummer Boy." Congratulations to Natalie Cole and husband Marvin Yancey on the birth of their son, Robert (Robbie) Adam . . . Likewise to local promotion man Bob Smith and his wife Michele on the birth of their daughter, Carly, weighing in at 7 lbs., 1 oz at Cedars Sinai . . . It must be a strong bug that bit Artie Mogull, who, for the first time in 30 years had to miss several days of work due to his bronchial pneumonia . . . Meanwhile, Artie's art director at UA, Ria Lewerke, was in such a hurry to get backstage at the recent Boarding House appearance in San Francisco of Crystal Gayle, that she tried a shortcut entrance to the stage — via a table. But the table fell, and so did Ria, sustaining two broken ribs and a flush of embarrassment . . . Congratulations to Jimmy Buffett for winning this year's Golden Ampex

Rick Nelson, Now Signed To Epic Records, Discusses New LP And His 20 Years In Rock

by Randy Lewis

LOS ANGELES — He started out in music as a teenage idol, and then a disgruntled "Garden Party" guest. But 20 years since his first hit, with a new record label, a new album and the recent sellouts of all his shows at Nashville's Exit/In under his belt, Rick Nelson stands today as one of the most successful survivors of all the 1950s rock and rollers.

Seen weekly in that decade by millions of television viewers on "The Adventures of Ozzie and Harriet," Nelson said there was an initial negative reaction by some elements of the public when "the irrepressible Ricky" first sang a rock and roll song on TV.

"When I first started," Nelson said, "we got all of these letters saying, 'How could you let your son sing this evil kind of music.' I was very fortunate that both my folks were totally behind me and really did understand what I was doing."

He sang his first single, "I'm Walkin'," during a party sequence on one episode and the following week, the record sold a million copies.

Power Of TV

"It was really the first time that had been done," he said, "where somebody utilized the TV medium. It was an afterthought to do it that way, but it worked very well from the start. Nobody realized the power television had."

Because of that early television and constant television exposure, Nelson was perhaps the most visible of all 1950s rock stars.

Since then, he has recorded 25 albums and 26 singles, of which 10 have been certified gold. He also was awarded a gold record last week for the album "Travelin' Man," which was released approximately 14 years ago.

He signed with with Epic Records about one year ago and said of the new label, "Coming over to Epic has been a refreshing change because the people over here are very much involved and very musically-oriented. A lot of companies are run by attorneys. Epic is run by people who are involved with music."

His first album for Epic, "Intakes," was released a few weeks ago and of it, the 37-year-old singer said, "I feel real, real good about it. I have a very positive feeling about it. I feel it's really the first complete album I have recorded; it's not just built around one single record. I'm very pleased the way it came together."

More Rock And Roll

After having been involved with country music and country-rock for the past several years, Nelson admits the new album has more of a rock and roll base than most of his recent work.

But rather than describing it as a change in direction, he said, "If anything, it's kind of like going back to what I started doing a long, long time ago."

"When I listened to some of the early albums, I was a little surprised because there were a lot of straight-ahead rock and roll things on them. It gave me the idea to do more rock and roll on this album. I really enjoy playing them."

Although he is credited as producer for half the songs on the new album, he said, "It's funny, because I always was."

"Even before they had the word 'producer' I produced all of those early songs without even knowing it. We just went in at that time and tried to get the best version of whatever song we were recording."

Part of the sound he tried to capture on the "Intakes" was that of Sam Phillips' highly influential Sun Records studio which hosted Elvis Presley, Jerry Lee Lewis, Carl Perkins as well as Nelson himself.

Carl Perkins

"I always related to Carl Perkins and people like that and I have always been a huge fan of his and the sound he got back in those Sun Records days. I was a big fan of those recordings. In my mind, I equate that with rock and roll."

With the new album, he said, "what I tried to do was go back and try to utilize some of that. I have a slap stand-up bass on some of those things that is used more as just a feel, rather than for the actual tone of it."

Besides his work in the studio, Nelson has constantly been active on the concert

ALBUM REVIEWS

LOVE SONGS — The Beatles — Capitol SKBL-11711 — Producer: George Martin — List: 11.98

It's early for Valentine's Day but just in time for Christmas, this 26-song, two-record set of songs on a timeless subject of universal appeal. For all those who've long since added scratches to these selections or just want to have a lot of romance all in one place, plus the words to the songs in an attractive enclosed libretto, this album is an excellent choice. Of all the Beatles' packages, this one is unquestionably the most affecting of the lot.

STREET SURVIVORS — Lynyrd Skynyrd — MCA-3029 — Producer: Rodney Mills — List: 7.98

Ironically titled in light of the tragic deaths of lead singer Ronnie Van Zant and guitarist Steve Gaines, this album may unfortunately be the last album of the group as we know it. As usual, it is high quality stuff, even though conflicts between the band and producer Tom Dowd caused Dowd to withdraw his name from the project. Overall, the significant differences are more in the softer stance and slower tempo than in the technical fidelity which makes this a significant album for them regardless of the Mississippi tragedy.

SPECTRES — Blue Oyster Cult — Columbia JC 35019 — Producer: Murray Krugman, Sandy Pearlman, David Lucas, and BOC — List: 7.98

If you thought the commercial success that visited Blue Oyster Cult after "Don't Fear The Reaper" would alter this band's mysterious and hypnotically occult approach, look again. They haven't yet bowed completely to the altar of success even though their harmonies are better than ever on this album and the total effect is more subtle. BOC has taken care this time to layer their musical message so it operates on several levels at once in a very satisfying work.

BRASS CONSTRUCTION III — United Artists UA-LA755-H — Producer: Jeff Lane — List: 7.98

May as well dust off your dancing shoes, folks, because Brass Construction is back with volume III, a no-nonsense collection of six sizzlingly unmistakable disco tracks and two slower-tempo tunes that should tempt your partner to sway with you. Most practitioners of the disco genre may be as polished but there certainly isn't as much going on as in a BC record. These nine gents lay it on so thick, and so tastefully, you almost forget it's disco at all.

PAUL NICHOLAS — RSO RS-1-3028 — Producer: Paul Nicholas & Christopher Neil — List: 7.98

The single that launched this album, "Heaven On The Seventh Floor," rose even higher on the charts than the mood of the character in the song Nicholas sings. But, a single success can sometimes be a fluke in an album which has to survive on stronger merits and depth. But Nicholas does not let us down in this debut LP. Though strongest on dance numbers, Nicholas is an impressive stylist on ballads as well but this album fairly bristles with energy and instrumental fullness.

CITADEL — Starcastle — Epic PE34935 — Producer: Roy Thomas Baker — List: 6.98

The eight men of Starcastle once again offer their listeners a progressive rock album that still looks kindly upon melody. Unlike some bands, whose progressivism interferes with a sense of traditional melody, Starcastle's elegantly ascending arrangements, much like Yes, come to satisfying crescendos after steadily building tension offset by clear-toned harmonies. It's a sound that is futuristic, yet accessible to the mainstream.

HOLD ON TO IT — Law — MCA-2306 — Producer: Roy Thomas Baker — List: 6.98

The title track of Law's second effort for MCA is quite representative and expressive of the group members' individual backgrounds. The combination is potent indeed, fusing elements of R&B, jazz, and standard rock with some tasty elements of emphasis that point to particularly careful production, e.g., thunder and rain on "Sun Won't Shine," and an alarm clock opening for "Wake Up." A quality product that shows a good deal of growth for them as an entity.

AMERICAN HEARTBEAT — Martha Velez — Sire/Warner Bros. SR 6040 — Producer: Stephen Galfas — List: 6.98

Her previous album, "Escape From Babylon," was produced by Bob Marley but there's not a trace of reggae here which gives only a slight indication of the broad interests and depth of musical talent that Ms. Velez possesses. On this one, there is country rock, big band jazz, R&B and easy-going pop which makes Martha hard to categorize but a joy to listen to. Her full voice handles all styles adequately and this one should introduce her talents to a wider audience.

THE VERY BEST OF THE MARX BROTHERS — VOLUMES 1 & 2 — American Album & Tape AAT 201/2 & 202/2 — List: 7.98 each

The fuzzy sound quality of these classic recordings is almost an asset, bringing back strongly a sense of what it must have been like when these madcap comedians ruled the airwaves and the silver screen with their special brand of brilliance. Each volume contains two records, each of which is nearly an hour of zany humor that captivated millions earlier in this century. In these times, that much comedy at these prices is truly a bargain.

ONJ — Olivia Newton-John's Greatest Hits — MCA-3028 — Producer: John Farrar — List: 7.98

Livvy's eighth MCA album is also her first greatest hits package but it's got twelve of her best-loved numbers and some breathtaking photographs of one of contemporary music's most photogenic personalities all in one package. An excellent and well-rounded introduction to Olivia's work for those who have yet to be captivated by her wholesome charm and sweet-sounding vocal style. For those who have already succumbed to her winning ways, this is one to convince your friends.

HEROES — David Bowie — RCA AFL1-2522 — Producer: David Bowie & Tony Visconti — List: 7.98

The Bowie army is not yet as large as the one that follows Kiss, but his supporters are among the most loyal, and more seem to join the adulations with each new release. Four of the 10 selections here are space-age instrumentals, all of them on side two which is mostly a free-form flight into fantasy which leaves time and space behind. This is another Bowie album intended to baffle the mind of critics as it soars off into barely-explored areas of sound.

FINALE — Loggins & Messina — Columbia JG 34167 — Producer: Jim Messina — List: 7.98

This, in all probability, is the very last Loggins & Messina album you'll see since this two-record set is taken from their last (1975-76) tour together. Even though they had always intended to be solo artists, their relationship endured for five years, during which they enjoyed critical and commercial success with their country-rock troubadour style. This is a legacy that any L&M fan would want to purchase especially since there are some selections unavailable on any previous albums.

DON'T LOOK DOWN — The Ozark Mountain Daredevils — A&M SP-4662 — Producer: David Kershbaum — List: 7.98

Country rock never had it so good. TOMD come out kickin' to open their fourth A&M disc but just when the dust is flyin', they bring it down and make you listen long enough to understand a bit more about where their sentiments lie. Though the harmonies are sweet and the melodies bright, that eerie undercurrent that is all pervasive in the Ozarks adds just a touch of musical mystique to this new album.

NONA HENDRYX — Epic PE 34863 — Producer: Michael Sherman — List: 6.98

As part of Labelle, Nona Hendryx learned a lot but she clearly needed room to move. She's got it here and uses it to her best advantage. Her range of vocal treatments is particularly impressive on this debut LP where she has a chance to show off both her songwriting and singing talents in center-stage, where she deserves the spotlight. Don't let the hard look fool you, though, there's a pussycat under there if you listen close enough.

ROAD TO TOMORROW — Chi Coltrane — Clouds/T.K. — Producer: Peter Bernstein — List: 6.98

Multi-dimensional Chi Coltrane wrote, composed, sang and played keyboards on this crisp album of musical variety. Along with some outstanding session players and several guest artists, Chi went into an L.A. recording studio where she delivered this glittering jewel of an album. Chi has an impressive range of styles here, from Helen Reddy to Carole King, but in the final analysis she remains her own woman in an individual effort of some merit.

BRIGHT LIGHTS AND BACK ALLEYS — Smokie — RSO RS-1-3029 — Producer: Mike Chapman — List: 7.98

Though this quartet has been together for some nine years, it's like starting all over with a new contract from RSO. They've recorded under various names on several labels with some moderate hits over the years but now seems a perfect time for their crisp, clean English pop sound that is mellow but never lazy. The haunting melodic strains of the Mersey beat and the Liverpool sound are like a breath of fresh air in these somewhat stagnant times.

DARCUS — Darcus — RCA APL1-2454 — Producer: Richie Rome — List: 6.98

Things happened pretty fast for this stylish songstress who so knocked out Leon Haywood after one night of singing with him that he recommended she go it alone. Almost overnight, she had a contract and studio time and now all it takes is a listen to convince the rest of the world. This lady is a powerfully evocative vocalist and a developing songwriter who covers disco, R&B and romantic ballads with equal élan.

A DIFFERENT DRUMMER — Rahni Harris & Family Love — Emprise DC 1001 — Producer: Rahni Harris — List: 6.98

Like the Edwin Hawkins singers there is a rich buoyant quality about this album that makes it a prime pick for pop acceptance regardless of its lyrical content. A strong backbeat and a full-blown rhythm section add the punch and the chorus of singers provide the harmonic depth that gives this album its strong accessibility.

picks of the week

B.J. THOMAS (MCA 40812)

Still The Lovin' Is Fun (3:31) (Home Sweet Home — BMI) (Christian)

Thomas made an impressive return on a new label with his last single, and this second selection from the new album seems to be a broader-based record. His facile vocal performance of this familiar tune will demand the attention of top 40 and easy-listening programmers.

SAMMY HAGAR (Capitol 4502)

You Make Me Crazy (2:25) (Big Bang — BMI) (Hagar)

Hagar makes a full statement in a short time with this single from his second album for the label, "Musical Chairs." His soulful vocal and a very sticky little hook are the building blocks, but he takes them through subtle turns that will keep the listener's ears glued from start to finish. A strong record for any pop station.

TERENCE BOYLAN (Asylum 45442)

Where Are You Hiding? (3:12) (Steamed Clam — BMI) (Boylan)

This song has garnered the best response of the many cuts on Terence Boylan's self-produced debut solo album. The elegantly harmonized chorus constitutes a hook that Fleetwood Mac would gladly use. A worthwhile addition to any playlist.

ROSE ROYCE (MCA 40814)

Put Your Money Where Your Mouth Is (3:25) (Duchess — BMI) (Whitfield)

A funky record with a sense of humor from the popular soundtrack album of "Car Wash." Catchy bass and horn work, combined with some zany commentary from the vocalists, make this record as much fun to listen to as it probably was to make. Initially directed at R&B stations.

TOM PETTY AND THE HEARTBREAKERS

(Shelter/ABC 62008)

Breakdown (2:39) (Skyhill — BMI) (Petty)

This is not a new record, but it is finding a new life since this band has been winning audiences in a big way abroad and now at home. This single begins in a sultry mood of seduction, heating up through each chorus. Should attract top 40 listeners to the album.

FREDDIE HUBBARD (Columbia 10638)

From Now On (3:38) (Mighty Three — BMI) (Sigler)

Master trumpet player Hubbard introduces the melody of this Bunny Sigler composition, then takes off on a variety of solos that are exciting in their buildup and release of tension. Just enough Philadelphia production effects here to make this his best shot at expanding his pop audience to date.

PETE TOWNSHEND & RONNIE LANE (MCA 40818)

My Baby Gives It Away (3:57) (Reswot — BMI) (Townshend)

Rock and roll from the Who's lead guitarist and the former bassist of the Faces is as energetic and tasteful as it promised to be in this FM-favored selection from their album, "Rough Mix." In this semi-acoustical context, Townshend proves to be a more expressive singer than many people realized.

RINGO STARR (Atlantic 3412)

Drowning In The Sea Of Love (5:08) (Assorted — BMI) (Gamble, Huff)

Ringo has long been respected for the strength of his cover versions, and this selection from "Ringo The 4th" continues the tradition. The Gamble & Huff song, previously recorded by Joe Simon, is perfectly complemented by the production talents of Arif Mardin.

JAY FERGUSON (Elektra/Asylum 45444)

Thunder Island (3:19) (Painless — ASCAP) (Ferguson)

The title cut from his first solo album reveals a refinement of the influence Ferguson had on Spirit and JoJo Gunne: very catchy riffs, well-developed with layers of guitar and slick lead and backing vocals. Stirring bass lines and nice slide guitar solos should also help convert programmers.

PARLIAMENT (Casablanca 900)

Bob Gun (Endangered Species) (4:00) (Rick's/Malbiz — BMI) (Clinton, Shider, Collins)

According to Dr. Funkenstein (a/k/a George Clinton), the only way "to get over the hump" is to find the true funk. For those endangered species who haven't found it, a quick dose from the bob gun will do the trick. He should be zapping infidels over the airwaves in short order.

DIANA ROSS (Motown 1427)

Gettin' Ready For Love (2:45) (Braintree/Snow/Golde's Gold — BMI) (Snow, Golde)

There's a strong jazz feeling in this first single from Ms. Ross' new album, "Baby, It's Me," from the shuffling rhythm to the way she phrases the verses over the basic rhythm. The chorus has one of the most appealing hooks heard in some time, and this record already looks like a high-charting hit.

THE BROTHERS JOHNSON (A&M 1982)

Runnin' For Your Lovin' (3:44) (Kidada/Goulgris — BMI) (Johnson, Johnson)

Johnson & Johnson's music with its combination of R&B and progressive rock influences, has a tremendously broad appeal. This selection from the album, "Right On Time," is headed for success down a variety of airplay avenues. Impeccable production by Quincy Jones.

STEVIE WONDER (Tamla/Motown 54291)

As (3:27) (Jobete/Black Bull — ASCAP) (Wonder)

The fifth single and one of the best selections from "Songs In The Key Of Life," this record represents a sizeable editing job on the original. All of the song's irresistible melodic sections are preserved in part, however, and this version should garner airplay at singles-oriented radio stations.

KANSAS (Kirshner/CBS 4273)

Point Of Know Return (3:11) (Don Kirshner — BMI) (Walsh, Ehart, Steinhardt)

The title cut from Kansas' newest album represents an ideal balance of pop and progressive elements, highlighted by the depth of vocal harmony that characterized their first hit. Tasteful use of rhythmic accents and Yes-inspired organ licks are the other catchy features that should make this cut, already heavily programmed on FM stations, attractive to top 40 stations.

MAC McANALLY (Ariola America 7671)

Let Him Go (3:19) (I've Got The Music — ASCAP) (McAnally)

A clever lyricist, McAnally uses an analogy to describe the uneasiness of a love affair gone stale. His relaxed vocal performance and several melodic motifs could make this his next pop success.

JOAN BAEZ (Portrait/CBS 70009)

Time Rag (4:24) (Chandos — ASCAP) (Baez)

An edited, censored version of the "Blowin' Away" LP cut in which Ms. Baez lambasts the press in strong terms. A few of the colloquialisms in this talking blues might offend some programmers, but we think her most controversial statement is "I don't give a damn where I stand on the charts."

RANDY PIE (Polydor 14424)

Back Street Boy (3:46) (Unichappell — BMI) (Peterson, French)

Although the use of keyboards and guitar in this single is very slick, the record as a whole never loses its rock and roll energy. Most of the credit goes to a strong lead vocal and tight rhythm section. Could garner some top 40 following for the album, "Fast/Forward."

FOUR TOPS (ABC 12315)

The Show Must Go On (4:01) (ABC/Dunhill, Inc./Rall — BMI) (Payton, Bridges, Payton)

The frustrations of the nomadic life of an entertainer are the subject of this fast-paced title cut from the group's latest album. Besides a cogent group vocal performance, the track has a bass line and a drumbeat that will boost this record at discos and at pop and R&B stations.

NILSSON (RCA 11144)

All I Think About Is You (4:04) (Golden Syrup — BMI) (Nilsson)

Dejected and lovelorn, Nilsson sounds like he's really drained of energy in this accessible ballad. With its incredibly lush string and choral orchestrations, this single could go the FM progressive top 40 or easy listening routes.

JESSE WINCHESTER (Bearsville/WB 0320)

Rhumba Man (3:30) (Fourth Floor — ASCAP) (Winchester)

A wild blend of slide blues guitar and West Indian rhythms in this selection from Winchester's "Nothing But A Breeze," often calling Little Feat to mind. This delightful cut should pick up added FM play, and will appeal to many top 40 stations as well.

DENNIS WILSON (Caribou/CBS 9023)

You And I (3:21) (Dennis Wilson) (Wilson, Wilson, Jakobson)

The first Beach Boy to go solo proves that he was more than up to the task in this single from "Pacific Ocean Blues." The gentle melody is carefully set in an environment of quiet guitars, keyboards and percussion, while the full harmonies of the chorus are mysteriously alluring. Appropriate to pop and progressive playlists.

MICHAEL KATAKIS (A&M 1983)

Rainbow Song (3:14) (Hammer & Nails/Almo — ASCAP) (Katakis)

Though a first listen to Katakis' album, "A Simpler Time," might leave certain listeners remembering his sadder side, this selection, a dreamy love song, is indicative of his true breadth of talent. This ballad is programmable on album or single-oriented stations.

TOM JONES (Epic/MAM 50468)

What A Night (3:24) (Al Gallico/Algee — BMI) (Wilson, Taylor)

Jones' is one of those voices that's tough to miss: he rattles most stereo speakers when the volume is up. Here you can almost hear him grinding his teeth as he summons up the passions of a chance meeting with an old flame that leads to ecstasy.

P.R. BATTLE (A&M 1987)

Radio Loves You (2:40) (Irving/Maui — BMI) (Battle)

A nostalgic song of automotive love affairs that many stations will pick up simply on the basis of its title/chorus hook. An innocent pop melody produced by Barry Beckett and Peter Yarrow, it could be played on just about any station.

WILLIAM BELL (Mercury 73961)

Easy Comin' Out (Hard Goin' In) (3:17) (Bell-Kat/Belinda — BMI) (Bell, Mitchell)

Bell takes another look at the problems of a love triangle: How will he face the old lady after being out all night? A convincing vocal performance, and the right rhythmic feeling for disco or R&B playlists.

STARBUCK (Private Stock 173)

One Of These Mornings (3:23) (Brother Bill's — ASCAP) (Blackman)

A pop tune from the group's newest album, vocally harmonized through each verse and chorus. Through various smooth and funky sections, the single continues to offer vocal and instrumental surprises to a variety of pop formats.

THE VENTURES (UA 19174)

Walk — Don't Run, '77 (2:42) (Forshay — BMI) (Smith)

This legendary group of instrumentalists wasn't going to wait for some pack of rip-off artists to disco-fy their classic hit — so they did it themselves. That guitar melody is still there, while the bass, drums and backing vocals add that dose of funk.

DAN HILL (20th Century 2355)

Sometimes When We Touch (4:03) (Welbeck — ASCAP, ATV/Mann-Weil — BMI) (Hill, Mann)

Hill and Barry Mann are co-writers on this ballad from "Longer Fuse." The main thrust here seems to be the lyric, performed by Hill with a great sense of drama. For varied pop and easy listening formats.

SYMBOL 8 (Shock/Janus 7)

Prisoner (3:32) (Duchess/Old Sparta/Miles — BMI) (Grimes)

The "prisoner of love" theme is hardly new, but the appeal here seems to a strong hook in the chorus, as well as a tight band sound. Crystal clear blues guitar solos and backing lines round out the sound in this record, aimed at R&B stations.

Rave reviews for an untypical debut.

Bar Coding For Record Industry Approved By UPC Council

UPC Code for Warner Bros. LP might be 3215-67890-1.

The final digit is used for product configuration. Those assignments agreed upon at the joint June's RIAA/NARM meeting and approved by the Code Council include: the number "1" will represent a 12-inch stereo disc (does not include quad LPs); "4" identifies cassettes; "8" represents eight-track stereo cartridges; and "0" stands for other configurations and can be used in any way a particular manufacturer sees fit.

Provides For Future

Wilson also said that as a way of providing for future catalog needs, only every other consecutive number would be assigned to companies at this time, and each manufacturer would then have the next highest number put into an unassigned reserve status for possible future use.

As an example, RCA might receive number 00001 as its assigned manufacturer identification number, while 00002 is reserved in case RCA needs another number at some future time. If Motown were the next company in line, it would receive 00003 as its active identification number and 00004 as its reserve, and so on.

As the third condition of administrative procedure for bar coding, Wilson said the Code Council has agreed in cases where need is demonstrated, a second manufacturer number ending in a specific number will be issued simultaneously with the first number.

"Except for the above," Wilson's letter stated, "no other manufacturer numbers will be assigned to recording industry companies for new releases. In cases where existing catalog is involved, the Code Council Board may allow temporary uses of one or two additional manufacturer numbers."

May Apply Now

Now that the record industry's proposed system has been approved, record companies may apply for UPC membership which will entitle them to manufacturer code number assignments.

The fee for entrance into the UPC is a one-time fee, based on the company's U. S. domestic sales and not subject to any annual membership charges. There also is no additional fee for more than one manufacturer number, but the manufacturer must demonstrate the need and receive UPC Council approval.

Application forms can be obtained from the RIAA in Los Angeles or New York, or from Distribution Codes, Inc. (DCI), the arm of the UPC Council which distributes manufacturer identification numbers. The DCI's offices are located at 401 Wythe St., Alexandria, Virginia 22314.

Fees

For companies whose annual U.S. domestic sales are less than $10 million, the membership fee is $200 per million dollars of sales, with a minimum joining fee of $250. The fee is a flat $2,000 for companies with sales between $10 million and $99 million; a flat $6,000 for companies with sales between $100 million and $499 million; and for companies with U. S. domestic sales of $500 million and above, a flat $10,000 one-time membership fee.

Three elements which caused the UPC Council to deny approval to the industry's proposed system at a meeting last June 28 (Cash Box, July 16), have now been resolved in the Code Council's recent action.

At that time, the council asked that the human readable version of the code, which will appear below the machine readable series of dark and white bars, be printed in 5-5 breakdown, not as 4-5-1 manner in which the code is interpreted by a scanning device.

The way in which the human readable numbers appear has no effect on how the code is read by a machine or interpreted when entered by hand, so the Council asked that the numbers appear in a standardized form as it is in the grocery, drug and other industries in which the UPC system is used.

But in the guidelines approved Sept. 20 by the Code Council, the body agreed to go along with the industry's requested 4-5-1 format for the human-readable portion of the code. Font 'B' Approved

The second element about which Gortikov was asked to provide amplification was which typeface would be used for an optical character recognition (OCR) code, for the benefit of those companies which already use OCR scanners instead of bar code scanners.

In this case, the UPC Council's request of using a more standard "font B" typeface met with the approval of the industry, which originally requested the "font A" typeface.

All other facets of bar coding for the record industry that were proposed out of the June 7 RIAA/NARM meeting were approved by the Council.

Major Elements

Some of the major aspects of bar coding include:

— Symbol Placement — For LPs, the symbol will be placed on the back side, not the front, in the upper right quadrant as close as possible to the top jacket edge and

On Jazz

Some heavyweights from the Columbia stable are combining talents for a tour. Billy Cobham, Steve Kahn, Alphonso Johnson and Tom Scott will begin a tour next month under the banner of the CBS All-Stars. All four have (or will have shortly) current, hot LPs.

Five new Xanadu albums have arrived. Leading the field is "Silver Blue," a companion to the earlier "True Blue," which features Dexter Gordon, Al Cohn, Blue Mitchell and company. Others feature Jimmy Raney ("Solo"), Sam Most (Flute Flight), Mickey Tucker ("Sojourn" with Bill Hardman and Ronnie Cuber) and an anthology titled "Bebop Revisited Volume 2," which features Dizzy Gillespie, Kai Winding, JJ Johnson and Terry Gibbs.

A second batch of Bethlehem LPs have appeared in less than a month. Apart from the Booker Ervin (see Jazz Picks), there are sets from Zoot Sims, Jimmy Knepper, Herbie Mann-Sam Most, and Betty Roche.

Inner City's record of the week is an album by The Jeff Lorber group titled "The Jeff Lorber Fusion."

The second Polydor album by Teruo Nakamura is "Manhattan Special" and features Art Webb, Herbie Hancock and Carter Jefferson.

The loss of Bing Crosby to the jazz world may be more deeply felt than is immediately obvious. Crosby got his first major break with the Paul Whiteman band in the 20s, and, although Whiteman was hardly the King of Jazz his monicker implied, young Crosby was always an admirer and frequent employer of great jazzmen, including Eddie Lang, Joe Venuti and Bix.

The last band Crosby toured with featured Joe Bushkin, Johnny Smith, Milt Hinton and Jake Hanna. His last recording session, for Concord, features him with a number of other great singers and jazzmen in a special album for the Duke Ellington Cancer Fund. Jazz fans will likely remember his appearances with Louis Armstrong best. Whether it be "Pennies From Heaven" or the immortal "Gone With A Wind," or the immortal "Gone Fishin'," or "High Society," surely one of the great film musicals, there was a natural chemistry between the two performers that spelled greatness.

Woody Herman has signed an exclusive three year recording contract with the Great American Gramophone Co. Herman will record direct discs and regularly recorded albums for the label.

Producer Larry Fallon is set to record himself under his own name, Renzo Friso on an album for AVI. While it is his first solo LP, jazz fans may know of him from his piano work on Van Morrison's "Astral Weeks."

A new book and a new album Rosie Clooney is being released simultaneously by Playboy Press and Concord Jazz. The new book is her autobiography and the new album will feature Jake Hanna, Scott Hamilton, Bill Berry, Monty Budwig, and Nat Pierce. Rosemary will also be on an October special release by Concord entitled, "A Tribute To Duke Ellington" which also features Bing Crosby, Tony Bennett and Woody Herman.

Airto Moreira dropped by the west coast office and gave us the rundown about his latest from Warner Bros. entitled "I'm Fine How Are You." Airto told us that this album represents a new beginning of sorts in that the music represents authentic Brazilian rhythms, what Airto refers to as Brazilian street music. The album provides him with an opportunity to sing in English, something he has not done.

Pausa Records, an active label with product from Italy, is releasing four albums for October. They include albums by Sam Rivers, Randy Weston, Red Mitchell and Lee Konitz.

JAZZMEN AT CARNEGIE HALL — Elektra/Asylum recording artists Lenny White and Sergio Mendes got together backstage after Sergio's 15th anniversary performance at New York's Carnegie Hall. Mendes first performed at that site in 1962 as part of a bossa nova jazz concert. White, newly signed to E/A's jazz/fusion label, has just completed his debut album, co-produced with Al Kooper. THE DUKE ELLINGTON CARNEGIE HALL CONCERTS, Jan. 1943, Dec. 1944, Jan. 1946, Dec. 1947 (3 two record sets, 1 three record set) — Prestige P 34004, P 24073, P 24074, P 24075 — Assembled by Orrin Keepnews — List: 8.98 and 11.98

This huge release features nine albums of Ellingtonia. The historical value of the collection cannot be overemphasized as lovers of the Duke will surely want these priceless recordings, many from original 78 rpm acetate recordings. The band swings through dozens of classics and preserves the aura of the musical time period better than any latter-day tribute.

MONTREUX 77 — The Pablo All-Stars — Pablo 2308210 — Producer: Norman Granz — List: 7.98

This jam combines several Pablo regulars (Joe Pass, Milt Jackson, Oscar Peterson, Clark Terry) with guests (Ronnie Scott, Niels Pederson, Bobby Durham) in a spirited set from this summer's Pablo show at Montreux. Everyone performs up to capabilities, and Scott's robust tenor is a nice surprise. The material is familiar but, it is the blowing that matters. If the remaining LPs from this source are up to the standard of this one, there is a lot of solid jazz coming from Pablo.

COMIN' FROM A GOOD PLACE — Harry James And His Big Band — Sheffield Lab LAB-6 — Producer: Lincoln Mayorga and Doug Sax — List: 12.00

This follow-up to Harry's first project for Sheffield, "The King James Version," continues in the same vein, with some big band classics, such as "Two O'Clock Jump," "Tuxedo Junction," and "Opus One," as well as some lesser known but equally as exciting tunes. Besides the accessible energy of the upbeat tunes, the lazy swing arrangement of "You'll Never Know," a 34-year-old number, stands out. The recording, which utilized a single stereo mike and the no-tape, direct-to-disc method, puts Harry's band right in the listener's living room.

HEAVY JAZZ — VOL. 2 — Paul Smith — Outstanding Records 011 — Producers: Earl Beecher Ph.D. and Robert Simpson — List: 6.98

Pianist Paul Smith is ever so smooth. On this excellent LP, Smith engages the services of Louis Bellson and Ray Brown and together, the trio is a fantastic testimony to unity of spirit and technique. Cole Porter, Billy Strayhorn and Rodgers and Hart would be honored at the treatment their songs are given. Of extreme interest is the version of the standard "A Train" which is by no means standard here. An exceptional recording from all facets.

THE BOOK COOKS — Booker Ervin — Bethlehem 6025 — List: 6.98

Ervin has been dead for seven years, but in many ways he is still the finest post-Coltrane tenor player. He had a fire and a drive that were always enjoyable. Here in a sextet including Tommy Flanagan and Zoot Sims, he boils and burns throughout. The title track is nearly 11 minutes of prolonged inspiration.

UP — Jim Mullen and Dick Morrissey — Embryo SD 536 — Producer: Average White Band — List: 6.98

M&M, as they are called, share close to 50 years in the music biz mostly as veterans of the British music scene. This album, their first together, is a potpourri of expanding musical progressions. Morrissey's sax is hearty and spirited while Mullen's guitar work is full of expressive energy. An interesting note: The Average White Band, close friends of the duo, provide the entire instrumental backup on a refreshing debut LP.

Promotion In Motion

FREEBIE AND THE SINGLE — Providing small numbers of free singles to retail outlets in certain tertiary and secondary markets has turned into a significant research tool for most record companies, as well as a way of tying local airplay patterns to retail action.

Kurt Nurlinger, New England regional promotion rep for Elektra/Asylum, explained how this strategy helped break Andrew Gold's "Lonely Boy" in the Bangor, Maine market.

"You've got a chain of a few small stores buying through a distributor who's buying off the trades. Top 15 or 20, that's it. The radio station is likely to be right out front with a record, but the distributor is probably slow in reacting. We have to do something if we want to make it happen."

By providing each of the stores with four or five singles to back up the airplay, the label is able to gauge the potential of the record. The fact that the stores sold their four or five Andrew Gold singles in a week told E/A they had a hit in that market.

"At that point," said Nurlinger, "I go to my salesman and we go back to the distributor and give him the sales figures. Then he gets on it."

John Shomby, program director of WKXX in Birmingham, Alabama, stressed the importance of dealing with retailers who know how to merchandise singles. Many retailers, he said, see little profit in 45s, are too lazy to follow airplay patterns, or are simply reluctant, after receiving a handful of complimentary copies, to turn around and make the full dollar on them. Therefore, they keep the records under the counter, giving them only to customers who come in and ask specifically for that song they heard on the radio.

"The problem with that," Shomby says, "is many customers are afraid to go up and ask for a record that they don't see displayed. If they hear the record on the radio, they'll buy it if they see it when they walk in the store. If not, the idea loses its purpose."

Often the singles are shipped to the radio stations for distribution to selected "reliable stores" which will be committed to move the product. The singles come with full instructions for reordering, if that is desired.

"All in all," said Mark Lawrence, program director of WGUY in Bangor, Maine, "the free copies give the retailer the incentive he needs to make it happen. He is not willing to take a gamble just because a station goes on a record early. You can't expect him to."

From a research angle, Lawrence noted, these freebies might be the only way for the station to determine the strength of the record. On Anna's "Money, Money, Money," for example, Lawrence noted that, with no fast phone response and a two to three week delay before passive research results could be collated, store sales reports were the only way to spot an initial response.

"It (freebies) makes for better cooperation between the record stores and radio stations," he asserted. "It's been a constant complaint of small market radio that there is no stock out there. This is a way around it."

Without these initial four or five copies in each store, whatever momentum has been generated by the airplay will soon dissipate, Lawrence concluded.

While the practice of providing free singles has existed for some time, Kerry Jackson, program director of WGSU in Guntersville, Alabama, reported that it has doubled or tripled in the past three years. "Before, it was difficult to get record companies to ship the records, but now there isn't one company that won't send free records if requested."

Jackson said that, in addition to establishing contact between radio and retail to assure that the singles are merchandised properly, it is important to keep numbers in perspective. "If you get five records in and sell three, it doesn't sound like much...but in a market like this, it could be a major breakthrough."

Taking the message to heart, Leeds took an apartment with New York branch coordinator Larry Herman... New WNBC PD Bob Pittman said at a press-promo brunch that in the first two months under new management, the flagship station has captured a segment of the 18-35 market equal to that of WABC. Pittman now looking to catch ABC in the 35-49 market and begin tapping the teenage demographics which are not currently there. The big news at 20th Century remains Barry White, says national promotion's Barry Goldberg. Peter McCann's "Save Me Your Love" and Kenny Nolan's "My Eyes Get Blurry" likewise going strong... H&L Records plans to give away some 10,000 Ingram albums at retail via radio. The massive promotion is coordinated by Mike Abbott... Capitol, meanwhile, plans to give away waterbeds in connection with Dr. Hook's "Makin' Love And Music."

HATS OFF TO COOPER — Atlantic's Perry Cooper sat down last Sunday to watch the fifth game of the 1977 World Series. His hat rested on top of the television set as his Yankees were blasted 10-4 by the Dodgers. Believing superstitiously that the hat jinxed his team, Mr. Cooper insisted that everyone sitting anywhere near him at Yankee Stadium for the climactic sixth game remove his hat and keep it out of sight during the entire game. The hat theory paid off as the Yankees breezed 8-4 on Reggie Jackson's three home runs. "We did it!" Cooper declared later. "Was I right about the hat, or what!"

MORE ON THE SERIES — Mitch Kanner, New York local rep for E/A, has promised to buy a Yankee jacket for Linda Ronstadt. Linda, if you recall, sang the national anthem for the third series game in L.A. and added a plug for the Dodgers. Kanner felt equal time was called for, and will present Ronstadt with the jacket when she is next in town.

Young People's Radio Festival Is Planned

WASHINGTON, D.C. — The fourth annual Young People's Radio Festival, an annual event in which young people from the ages of six to 18 are invited to write, direct and produce their own radio programs for broadcast over the National Public Radio system, is being conducted again by the National Public Radio.

The festival is conducted locally by individual NPR member stations and on the national level the event is coordinated by NPR headquarters here.

Slick Named Host Of Rock Awards Program

NEW YORK — Grace Slick has been named host of the first annual North American Rock Radio Awards Show. Slick's co-host will be Mike Harrison, managing editor of Radio and Records.

The program, presented by DIR Broadcasting Corporation, is scheduled to be aired on 258 FM stations November 24.

Vornado Reverts To Earlier Pact In Fed-Mart Sale

NEW YORK — Vornado Inc., parent firm of the Two Guys discount store chain, has agreed in principle to sell its 22 west coast Two Guys outlets (all of which carry records) to Fed-Mart Inc. This is reversion to the agreement reached last July (Cash Box, July 23). A later announced agreement under which Fed-Mart would have been merged into the Vornado operation has now been terminated. The newly-announced transaction, plus the sale of Vornado's 58 Builder's Emporium stores on the west coast to W.R. Grace and Co., will make Vornado strictly an east coast retailer. The company will continue to own 59 Two Guys stores in New York, New Jersey, Pennsylvania, Connecticut, Massachusetts and Maryland. All of these unitgeneral merchandise stores in California and the southwest currently feature LPs.

Awards, Concerts & Dinners Highlight Annual CMA Week

by Lola Scobey

NASHVILLE — Boasting a nearly 100% increase in disc jockey registration over last year, the 52nd annual Grand Ole Opry Birthday celebration and CMA Convention Week came to an end Saturday evening, October 16 with a special performance of the Grand Ole Opry at the Opry house.

Highlight of the week for the disc jockeys in attendance was Friday night's presentation of the "DJ of the Year" awards at the CMA Banquet and Anniversary Show held at the Municipal Auditorium. The three winners were: small markets — Shannon Reed of KWMT in Fort Dodge; medium markets — Tiny Hughes of WROZ in Evansville, Indiana; major markets — Bill Robinson of WIRE in Indianapolis.

The 10-day event, which began Friday, October 7 with the opening of the CMA Talent Buyers Seminar, featured a steady succession of shows, parties, receptions, dinners, hospitality suites, and awards presentations.

Expanded

Although originally founded as a modest get-together strictly for disc jockeys, (hence the commonly used name, the "DJ Convention"), the event has expanded to become somewhat of a total country music industry convention. In fact, of this year's 3,200 registered delegates, less than half were dj's.

It is basically a convention for the purpose of meeting people, socializing, and establishing contacts to be followed up on later; and the atmosphere is one of showgoing and partygoing. However, the growth of the work-oriented Talent Buyers Seminar, which this year had its largest registration ever, and includes speakers, rap sessions, and seminars, could indicate more of a working orientation for future conventions.

Like Fan Fair held in June (and originally established to divert fans from attending the DJ Convention), the birthday celebration took on a more international flavor this year, with disc jockeys from England, New Zealand, Ireland, and Sweden attending. This partially reflects the CMA's push this year for the international growth of country music.

The week's social/awards functions

Top RCA Artists Get 'Golden Boots'

NASHVILLE — RCA executives presented 30 "Golden Boot" Awards here last week to the company's deserving country artists. "Golden Boots" Awards are given to artists whose albums have received outstanding sales, or whose single records have attained a No. 1 position in two or more of the trade publications' chart listings.

RCA president Louis Couttolenc presented Porter Wagoner with a 25-year plaque representing his years as an RCA artist. RCA country-music division vice president Chet Atkins and Nashville operations division vice president Jerry Bradley hosted the ceremony at Jerry Reed's Country Palace Club.

The Golden Boot recipients included: Jim Ed Brown (2) for his single with Helen Cornelius, "Saying Hello, Saying I Love, You, Saying Goodbye," and for his album with Helen, "I Don't Want To Have Marry You." Helen Cornelius (2) received her own individual awards for the same single and album as Jim Ed Brown. Dave & Sugar received (2) awards each for their single began with the Nashville Songwriters Association dinner Sunday (9th), the 11th Annual Country Music Awards Show Monday, the BMI Awards Dinner Tuesday, and the ASCAP Awards Dinner Wednesday, (Cash Box, Oct. 22).

Riverboat Party

Also held Wednesday evening was the Ovation Records Riverboat Party which touted Ovation's first country record and the number one country record in the nation the week of the convention, "Heaven's Just A Sin Away," by The Kendalls. New to the convention schedule this year was Wednesday night's black-tie dinner held by FICAP, an organization dedicated to

Nashville Radio WJRB Featuring Country Format

by Bob Campbell

NASHVILLE — Radio Station WJRB (formerly WENO) signed on the air here Oct. 17 at 1 p.m. Owned by Mack Sanders, WJRB was granted FCC approval Oct. 1 and will feature a 24-hour, all-country format.

General manager Jim Ragan said Sanders has brought in a complete new staff for the 5,000-watt station and hopes to increase the power from 1,000 watts at night to 5,000.

"We have a complete new lineup of people here now who have never worked in Nashville," Ragan said. "The dj's are all top-rated in the market . . . good personality people. We will feature strictly music and news and will broadcast a more pop-country sound rather than the real hard country. We have also filed with the FCC for 5,000 watts at night but we won't know about that for a while."

Staff

Music Director Tom Anthony will have six full-time dj's working under him and four dj's operating part time. Anthony will serve as dj on the 2-6 p.m. shift. Working the 6-10 morning shift will be Chuck Hussey, who had previously worked at station KBIL in Liberty, Mississippi. News Director Bill Brewer has worked with station WHO in Des Moines, Iowa and will head a five-person news staff.

The new station will begin its signal in mono, but Sanders has applied to the FCC for stereo broadcasting. Sanders, who is husband of singer Sherry Bryce and has worked with the Jim Halsey Agency in Tulsa, Okla., will have a new 12,000 square-foot building completed in early spring.

The new structure will also house Jaco, Inc., which is the parent company for this and other broadcasting outlets located throughout the midwest.

FREDDIE HART AND THE HEARTBEATS (Capitol P-4498)

The Search (3:05) (Channel Music Co. — ASCAP) (Sheb Wooley)

It's only right that Freddie Hart should do this song. Written by Sheb Wooley, this somber story must come straight from the Heart. The ending has a strong and touching recitation.

DAVE & SUGAR (RCA JH-11141)

I'm Knee Deep In Loving You (2:34) (Tree Pub. Co. — BMI) (Sonny Throckmorton)

Dave & Sugar captured many awards this past year, including the Cash Box New Duo of the Year. This up-tempo swinger is sure to garnish more fans across the country and add another tune to their Best Of series.

TOMMY CASH (Monument 45-229)

There's More To Her Than Meets The Eye (2:47) (Chappell Music Co. — ASCAP) (Rory Bourke/Gene Dobbins/Johnny Wilson)

Tommy's clear and present vocal is predominant and this material and production show that he is not to be classified as pure country. This single is a good sample of the wide spectrum of music which Tommy Cash can adhere to.

JIMMIE RODGERS (Scrimshaw S-1313-JBMM)

A Good Woman Likes To Drink With The Boys (2:37) (Chappell/Brown Shoes Music — BMI) (Dave Ellingson)

A change of pace for Jimmie, but if listened to a couple of times it will catch you. Should ring phones at radio.

SUSIE ALLANSON (Warner Bros. WBS 8473)

Baby, Last Night Made My Day (2:40) (House of Gold Music — BMI) (Bobby Springfield)

Susie's last single reached the top 20 of Cash Box country charts and was on for 15 weeks. Now established as a chart artist, this bouncy tune should follow suit.

Country Artists Participate In Series Of FEC Public Service Radio Spots

WASHINGTON, D. C. — The Federal Energy Commission turned to well known country music recording talent for a series of radio spots to be ready for airing by Thanksgiving as part of an on-going effort to make the public aware of the energy crunch.

Twelve artists recorded two public service spots each for the national campaign encouraging energy conservation, all using the slogan "Save Energy. The difference we make, makes all the difference" — with suitable music behind each artist's voice-over donated by the record companies. All the artists contributed their time free and support from the record companies was "excellent," according to an FEC spokesman.

The participating artists are: Don

Williams, Narvel Felts, Roy Head, Freddy Fender, Barbara Mandrell, Dwayne Allen (Oak Ridge Boys.) R.W. Blackwood (Blackwood Singers), Larry Ballard, Diana Williams, LaCosta and Marsha Ball.

TV Spots Next Month

The FEC campaign includes TV spots also, to be mailed to stations within three weeks. The budget for the radio campaign was about $5,000 and about $45,000 for TV. Three television artists' spots will be sent to all stations — featuring Gloria DeHaven, June Allyson and Harry Guardino. Five others will air on the artists' respective network and network affiliates — featuring Henry Winkler (ABC), Penny Marshall and Cindy Williams (ABC), Jack Albertson (NBC), Will Geer (CBS), and Carol Burnett (CBS).

DONNA FARGO — Shame On Me — Warner Bros. BS-3099 — Producer: Stan Slulver — List: 6.98

Since she burst on the country-music scene a few years back, Donna Fargo has sifted her music through subtle, experimental changes. Her efforts have resulted in this intelligent, polished gem of an album. Produced with taste and obvious care, Fargo glides through a gamut of material by such writers as Paul Anka and Paul Simon. She recites a moving, self-penned tribute to the late Elvis Presley in the middle of his old hit song, "Loving You." Included in the album are a beautiful version of "Do I Love You" and her current hit which is the title track.

BUCK OWENS — Our Old Mansion — Warner Bros. BS-3087 — Producer: Norro Wilson — List: 6.98

Buck Owens is a veteran country performer with a truckload of hits to his credit and he makes no pretense of going pop. Buck keeps a healthy tab on his country roots though, and with superb cuts like "Our Old Mansion" and "Feel Good Again" his new album stands as a primer for solid, no-frills country music. Penned by Owens, "Texas Tornado" should find a spot in every Texas jukebox from Houston to Abilene.

OLIVIA NEWTON-JOHN — Greatest Hits — MCA-3028 — Producer: John Farrar — List: 7.98

Fans of petite Olivia Newton-John who like the "greatest hits" type of album will want to add this record to their collection. All of her hits from Bob Dylan's "If Not For You" right up to "Don't Stop Believin'" and "Sam" are included in this attractive, double-cover package. Her style is as sweet and slick as she is pretty, but Olivia is produced with a balanced blend of country and pop flavor. As a result her appeal is universal.

LA COSTA — La Costa — Capitol ST-11713 — Producer: Doug Gilmore — List: 6.98

La Costa takes a bold step and asserts her own identity with the release of this well-produced, well-conceived album. Instead of relying on a stock of bland love songs, La Costa kicks off her record with "Jesse And The Light," an incredible story-song full of mystery and imagery. She also delivers a brilliant, understated version of The Rolling Stones' "Honky Tonk Woman" and paints a smoky mood of forlorn love in "Take Your Love Away." She can handle any musical style with her imagination and vocal maturity.

furthering the interests of disc jockeys. (See story this issue.)

Thursday, the heaviest day of convention activities, began with the annual RCA Records Brunch, held at Jerry Reed's Nashville Palace club, and featured awards presented by the company to its artists. Following was the RCA lunch and show at the Opry House.

'Unofficial Events'

This, the heaviest day, provided an excellent example of the plethora of "unofficial" events which surround and co-exist with official convention activities. In addition to the MCA Records show at the Opry House, the invitation-only DJ/Programmers/Artists cocktail buffet, and the United Artists show — all on the official schedule; the day included these ad hoc events: a luncheon for Conway Twitty and Loretta Lynn hosted by Aladdin Hotel in Las Vegas at the offices of United Talent, producer Billy Sherrill's annual party at his home, the Playboy Records dinner (formerly known as one of the most swinging, open-invitation bashes at the convention, this year transformed into an invitation-only gourmet dinner), a CBS showcase at the Ole Time Picking Parlor, an elegant Warner Bros. reception at the downtown City Club, the annual party at the home of Jim Fogelsong, president of ABC/Dot Records, co-hosted by Mr. and Mrs. Fogelsong, Mr. and Mrs. Larry Baunach, and Ron Chancey.

SESAC Awards

Also held Thursday evening was the Roaring Twenties-themed SESAC Awards dinner at the Woodmont Country Club. (See story this issue.) Jerry Lee Lewis performed to two sold-out houses that night at the George Jones Possum Holler Club and drew hefty contingents of conventioners.

Friday offered a less frantically paced schedule, but included one of the convention's major events: the CMA Banquet and Anniversary Show (members of the CMA must purchase tickets to this dinner in order to receive tickets to Monday night's telecast of the CMA Awards Show). In addition to the "DJ of the Year" awards, the President's Award was presented by CMA president Dan McKinnon to Ed Shea, director of ASCAP in Nashville.

Special Award

A special award was made by the CMA board of directors to Irving Waugh, who retires at the end of this year as the president of WSM, Inc., which owns the Grand Ole Opry, WSM Radio and TV, Opryland and Opryland Productions.

Events earlier in the day on Friday included the ABC/Dot lunch and show, the Nationwide Sound Distributors Chili Party, the MCA Luncheon at the Hyatt Regency, and the Polydor Records buffet at the Sheraton. Friday morning began with the first of two artist/DJ taping sessions at which artists made themselves available to dj's to do interviews and station ID's.

'Steady Pace'

Despite being the final day with a scheduled agenda, Saturday was not one of those waning days with everyone packing for home, but maintained a steady pace right up to the midnight hour. The second artist/DJ taping session started the morning, and was followed by the Capitol Records lunch and show at the Municipal Auditorium, and the Capitol Reception at the Hyatt Regency. CBS staged the week's final showcase that evening and followed with a reception in the Gaslight Theatre at Opryland.

The Opry birthday show, which began at 9:30 p.m. Saturday night, featured most of the Opry regulars on stage as well as the traditional cutting of the Opry's birthday cake.

Sunday, as many drifted out of town or slept, the stout-hearted used their free passes to Opryland or took tours of the soon to be open Opryland Hotel.

Twitty And Lynn Sign Vegas Pacts

NASHVILLE — MCA artists Conway Twitty and Loretta Lynn signed contracts here last week for a series of four weekly appearances by each artist in Las Vegas' Aladdin Hotel in 1978. Ms. Lynn will begin her stint slightly earlier on Dec. 27 with a holiday performance.

The pair will play separate engagements in the Aladdin's expanded Bagdad Showroom, one of the hotel's three entertainment facilities. Although Twitty and Ms. Lynn have recorded several albums together and in the past have performed joint concerts, they will not appear together in the Aladdin Hotel. However, earlier this year the two artists broke all Las Vegas records for a single, country concert when they played a two-night date in the Aladdin's 7500-seat Theatre for the Performing Arts.

Aladdin executive show director James Tamer said, "Loretta Lynn and Conway Twitty fall right into the great succession of live attractions at the Aladdin."

The Aladdin Hotel has added several new attractions to its complex in the past year, including a 17 story luxury tower. Artists such as Kris Kristofferson, Neil Diamond, the late Bing Crosby and Peter Frampton have performed in the hotel in the last 12 months.

In addition, Charley received a platinum record for his album "The Best Of Charley Pride." Elvis (4), which were presented to Felton Jarvis, for his single, "Way Down" and "Moody Blue" and for his albums "Welcome To My World" and "Moody Blue."

Polydor artist Bob Luman came around the office last week and he had high hopes for "The Pay Phone," his second single release on his new label. The song has been on the charts for three weeks and is picking up momentum in airplay across the country. A member of the Grand Ole Opry, Luman has had many hits through the years including the million-selling "Lets Think About Living," which was recorded back in the early sixties. He played the Wheeling Jamboree (Wheeling, W. Va.) Oct. 22 and performed in Parkersburg, W. Va. Oct. 23. Luman is also getting set for a west coast tour beginning in California and winding up in Texas. Bob played a lot of baseball growing up in east Texas (he chose music over a contract with the Pittsburgh Pirates organization) and he complained he didn't have the time to watch the world series because of road dates.

Bob Luman

RCA artist Gary Stewart is in town working on a new album with Roy Dea doing the production work. Dea also produces RCA's Steve Young.

Jerry Reed, another RCA artist, seems to excel in every field. Along with his recording work, songwriting and instrumental prowess on guitar, Reed has made a name for himself as an actor in several movies with his friend Burt Reynolds. Lately Reed has been working on a role in an upcoming segment of the television show "Daniel."

MCA's Mel Tillis will guest star on NBC's "Just For Laughs," a comedy series of six specials which will air in this season. This is his first television appearance in a non-musical role.

Multi-talented John Hartford, who wrote "Gentle On My Mind" a few years back, has been included in the current edition of Who's Who In America. Among his many interests, Hartford is a licensed riverboat captain.

Ronnie Prophet's Canadian television show, "Grand Old Country," won the Top Canadian Country Television Award for this year. The RCA artist was also one of the five finalists for the Top Country Male Singer Award.

New artist Con Hunley has recently signed a Warner Bros. contract. He recorded here Oct. 9 and hopes to have a single released soon. Norro Wilson is producing Hunley's sessions. Hunley has had four charted records on the Prairie Dust label, an independent company out of Knoxville, Tenn.

LS Records' Lee Stoller called and said his artist Cristy Lane received a publicity boost when her current hit single "Let Me Down Easy" was played in part on every national news show, Oct. 14. All the major networks covered a recent hot-air balloon convention in Albuquerque, New Mex. and they filmed a segment showing balloons floating down to earth. As the balloons descended in the taped news spot, "Let Me Down Easy" was one of three songs used as musical accompaniment.

Patty Parker of Comstock Records has recorded and released Ernest Tubb's "Walking The Floor Over You," and she is the first female who has ever recorded the song since its initial release 36 years ago.

Songwriters Jerry Foster and Bill Rice won more ASCAP songwriting awards than anyone this year. The prolific duo garnered ten writer's awards and that brings the total to 50 since 1970. In 1974, the Foster-Rice team won eleven ASCAP Writer's Awards and four production awards. A record must chart for 10 consecutive weeks in at least one of the three national trade magazines to qualify for an ASCAP Writer's Award. Rice has recorded a duet with Lois Johnson titled "All The Love We Threw Away" and it was released last week on Polydor Records.

Tom T. Hall

A few years ago RCA's Tom T. Hall wrote "Spokane Motel Blues," one of his biographical tunes in which Hall wrote he would rather be in Kentucky or almost anywhere other than a drab Spokane motel room. At the time some folks in Spokane got a little upset at the song. But Hall made a recent appearance there, and to his surprise, the Tremendous Truckers Association of Spokane made him an honorary citizen of the city. Evidently, all is forgiven.

ABC/Dot's new female artist Randy Gurley is on the road this month opening concerts for several major artists in a promotion tour of her initial single release, "Heartbreaker." She opened for Don Williams at The Roxy in Los Angeles on Oct. 20. Gurley played three Texas dates (Oct. 26-28) with The Oak Ridge Boys, and she will open for Roy Clark at The Summit in Houston, Tex. Oct. 30. She also completed her first taping for "Hee Haw" this month.

Glaser Sound Studios Backed By 20 Years Of Experience

NASHVILLE — If Nashville's music business was a football team, Chuck Glaser's 20 years of experience would make him a triple-threat quarterback.

First, there's Glaser's in-studio production and engineering experience with artists such as John Hartford, Kinky Friedman, Hank Snow, Jeannie Seely, Jack Green, Slim Whitman, Kenny Rogers & The First Edition and Leon McAuliffe, among others.

Second, Glaser has discovered talent that includes writers and performers like John Hartford, who wrote "Gentle On My Mind." Glaser also discovered Dick Feller, Jimmy Payne, Paul Craft, Hoover, James Talley and Kinky Friedman.

Talented Singer

Third is Glaser's own talent as a singer. He was a member of Tompall & The Glaser Brothers who, until the group broke up a few years ago, ranked as the "most awarded group in country music," 1971 CMA award winner, and Wembley Festival's No. 1 country group in the world in 1973.

Glaser is a co-owner of Glaser Sound

Studios and, at earlier points in his career, was involved in artist management and booking.

Production Duties

These days Glaser's work as a producer fills most of his days and nights. A recent effort, for example, is Chuck's production of Hank Snow's "No. 104 And Still Movin' On" album for RCA, so titled because it is Snow's 104th consecutive LP for the label since he began recording for RCA in October 1936.

His new music publishing company, Ptarmigan Publications, has six cuts on Gamble Rogers' new album on the Mountain Railroad label, distributed by Flying Fish. Among the many songs Chuck has written are "Where Has All The Love Gone," used in the "Tick . . . Tick . . . Tick" movie soundtrack, and "That's You And Me," a Hank Snow hit single.

Chuck Glaser Productions and Ptarmigan Publications are located in the Glaser Sound Studio building at 916 19th Ave. S., in Nashville.

Rick Nelson, Now With Epic, Reflects On 20 Years In Rock

circuit. He averages about 100 days out of the year touring and said, "In the last six months, we have spent five of them on the road."

He said he and the Stone Canyon Band play the usual clubs and halls, such as Los Angeles' Palomino Club and New York's Bottom Line. But Nelson said he enjoys playing at some out-of-the-way ordinary venues as well, such as Knott's Berry Farm and county fairs.

Different Audience

"With the fairs, you reach a whole different kind of audience; you reach a lot of kids. Maybe three generations of people go to fairs and in that respect, they are very good to do."

Although his feelings about playing old songs was popularized in his number one record "Garden Party" of a few years back, he commented, "There are certain songs which we go back and do in the show, but I've always done them."

"We still do songs like 'Travelin' Man' and 'Hello Mary Lou' because I feel there are a certain amount of people that know me for those songs and I think a certain segment would feel cheated if I didn't do them."

"It's not something that I'm ashamed of. A couple of those songs, I think, hang in there pretty well. Some of them had a real distinct sound to them."

Younger People

He also said some people come to the shows who "are younger people that maybe don't even know where they have heard those, so they don't necessarily equate them with me. That's not the reason they are there. A lot of people who are familiar with the songs since 'Garden Party' came out, or maybe since 'She Belongs to Me.'"

"That's a whole different group of people that would be interested in seeing me. It's a real nice feeling to be able to play to that large of an age group. If anything, we've gotten a broader acceptance with people of all ages."

Importance Of Live

He said constant live performances are helpful to his studio work, since there is more of an opportunity to try different things with a song in concert than in the studio. "I really need that live feedback you get from audiences," Nelson said.

Having the vantage point of 20 years in rock music from which to judge, he said he thinks the biggest change in the music scene has been in the area of musicianship.

"When I started, there was just a handful of people who fit into that category, who are really great musicians. Those guys back during that time were really innovators; now there are an awful lot of good guitar players."

He does think, though, that too much concentration on technical ability can result in music which is less spirited than what he and others produced in the '50s.

Better Musicians Today

"There are a lot of really excellent players who gear themselves to recording. It's a trap anybody can fall into, where they know exactly what they have to play to do the job, and it is like a job for them."

"That is why it's always important to have that live exposure and go out and be able to make mistakes. That's what I like about having your own band and actually recording with them. We've been through all of that and it gives us a chance to try each song in all kinds of ways live."

"Then when you go in to record them, you try to recapture that same kind of live feeling. I think that's where all the really good things happen."

The future for Rick Nelson the actor, he said, is nebulous. Despite guest appearances in recent years on dramatic shows such as "Owen Marshall" and, more recently, "The Hardy Boys," Nelson said because the people at Epic "were so involved and interested in what I wanted to do, I got behind what I was doing more than ever."

That doesn't mean, though, that he might not be seen on television in the near future.

"We were recently in Monroe, Louisiana and did a big fair down there. It was filmed with a special in mind and the things I have seen from it have been real good. It's almost like a documentary — they shot about 10 hours of film all around the fair, backstage scenes and then the concert. I was really happy with what I saw, so hopefully that will be on early next fall."

'You Get Tired'

After 20 years of playing music, is Nelson getting bored?

"You get tired," he said. "But I'm sure not getting tired of playing. If anything, it just keeps getting more and more interesting for me. There is so much to learn, for me anyway, that I just hope I get better at what I do."

Besides, he said, "Now is not the time to take off. We are just really starting to get everything in motion. That part of it feels great. It's always nice to go out and want to show people what you are playing and what you are into."

Touring Office Opens

LOS ANGELES — Artist's Touring Company, Ltd., a new booking agency headed by Richard Halem, has opened offices at 8380 Melrose Avenue, Suite 310 here.

Van Zant Killed In Air Crash

tarist Steve Gaines and his sister, Cassie Gaines, died in the wreck of the Convair 240 twin-engine plane.

Other fatalities included Dean Kilpatrick, the band's assistant road manager; Walter McCreary, pilot of the plane and co-pilot Jim Grey.

At presstime, Leon Wilkeson, bassist, was in critical condition while lead guitarists Gary Rossington and Alan Collins, drummer Artimus Pyle and keyboardist Billy Powell were reported to be in "stable" condition in various southwest Mississippi city hospitals. Backup vocalist Leslie Hawkins was scheduled for surgery on Oct. 21. There was also a report of another death in the group at presstime, but no name was confirmed.

Starting Tour

The group was in the beginning of a three-month tour and en route from Greenville, South Carolina to Baton Rouge, La. for an Oct. 21 concert date at Louisiana State University when the plane reportedly ran out of fuel. There were also reports that the chartered flight was overloaded. In an attempt to make an emergency landing, officials said that the aircraft hit some trees and landed in a pasture. Some of the passengers were reportedly able to make their way to locate emergency help.

Commenting on the tragedy, J.K. Maitland, president of MCA Records, said, "Our deepest sympathy to the families of Ronnie Van Zant, Dean Kilpatrick, Steve Gaines and his sister Cassie. We at MCA Records are experiencing a great loss of very close friends. I know that fans and friends are also experiencing a great personal and musical loss.

"This is certainly a great tragedy in the musical industry and we wish the speediest recovery to Gary Rossington, Artimus Pyle, Allen Collins, Billy Powell, Leon Wilkeson, Leslie Hawkins and all those on the ill-fated flight."

"We have been advised that a trust fund has been set up for the children of Ronnie Van Zant and Steve Gaines. In lieu of flowers, donations can be made to the Ronnie Van Zant Memorial Trust Fund and the Steve Gaines Memorial Trust Fund in care of Sir Productions, 130 W. 57th St., New York, New York 10019."

Formed in the early 1970s, Lynyrd Skynyrd recently released their sixth album ironically entitled, "Street Survivors." The LP is the top most added on the Cash Box FM Album Chart this week.

Van Zant leaves his wife, Judy, and two children, Tammy, 10, and Melody, infant. Gaines' survivors include his wife and a three-year-old daughter, Teresa. No funeral arrangements were set at presstime.

Neil Young LP Is Gold

LOS ANGELES — "American Stars 'N Bars," Neil Young's latest LP on the Warner/Reprise label, recently was certified gold by the RIAA.

Girard On Good News

LOS ANGELES — A new album by Chuck Girard titled "Written On The Wind" has been released by Good News Records.

A&M Promotion Department

in Detroit shortly after the album was first released.

"When we released Cat Stevens' "Sweet Jamaica" single two weeks ago with "Was Dog A Doughnut?" as the B side, the Detroit promotion man worked the R&B station with that side because the record was already getting black calls at the stations. Now all of a sudden the record is big at CHB, going from extra to 15 in one week. So now with R&B stations playing it we're looking for some airplay on top 40 stations in Detroit."

But while the label is waiting for airplay to spread to differently formatted stations, it is important to inform regional promotion representatives across the country about the success that the single has picked up on Detroit's R&B stations, Childs says. And although, in the case of Stevens' single, Childs decided to telegram the news to his staff the usual method used to relay information is a conference call, coordinated twice each week with the label's promotion staffers across the country.

"We have conference calls each week with all our people so we can maintain a flow of information. We exchange ideas and then we are able to spread the information across the country as fast as possible. If a record is happening in Detroit then Atlanta and Seattle are aware of it right away."

Sales information goes hand in hand with news regarding airplay Childs says, explaining that A&M's promotion staff works most closely with the label's marketing department.

"You can't separate the sales and promotion departments," he says. "In addition to September promotions, these strong performances were attributed to extensive pricecutting. Sears began trimming prices earlier this year, forcing other chains to do the same to remain competitive. The September results were seen by retail analysts as a positive sign for the coming Christmas season."

Polydor's Artist Development

Another ECM artist, Pat Metheny, is similarly considered by the label to have a bright sales future. As a result, Anger said, "we're completely committed to staying with him as long as it takes to achieve a sales breakthrough." This commitment has already resulted in better concert venues for the young artist, Anger says, as well as financial support for concert appearances in key markets.

Falling Through A Crack

Zerler contrasted Polydor's current approach with "the old system of artist relations." Under that system, Zerler stated, "an act would frequently fall through a crack in a company's structure. Under our present system, we're involved with every act on a factual basis and concern ourselves with all tour activity, scheduling, and market co-ordination."

As far as dollars are concerned, Simon added, "if dollars are needed for shortfall (of projected tour receipts), we make that judgment internally based on our feeling for that artist, their potential, the credibility of the tour, and product relationships at the moment. If approved, we go with it."

After the approval, Simon said, "There's no magic formula. There is a total creative involvement of all our key people, a cohesive marketing concept, internal coordination, and sound, basic mechanics on the street level."

And, hopefully, an album like Roy Ayers' "Ubiquity" or the Atlanta Rhythm Section's "A Rock And Roll Alternative."

the jacket spine, but not closer than 3/4" to either. No placement specifications for eight-track cartridges or cassettes have yet been made.

— Size — The normal size of the series of lines making up the bar code is 1 1/2 inches wide by 1-inch high, referred to as the 100% size. In such cases where a smaller size is necessary, the symbol may be reduced proportionally. The industry optimum guideline adopted by the Industry Code Committee is the 100% size, which offers maximum scanability.

— OCR And Human Readability — The OCR font "B" type face will be used on the OCR digits and are to be placed immediately below the UPC symbol, not imbedded in the lower portion of the code, as is done in some other industries. Positioning of the digits will be in a 4-5-1 configuration, i.e., 1234-56789-0.

— Supplemental Code — The UPC system also embraces a supplemental or suffix code and symbol, usually lesser in height than the main symbol. The industry has rejected any uniform industry utilization of this suffix code and symbol, since it usually is not machine-readable with the same equipment that can scan the basic symbol. Any use of the suffix code would be at the sole discretion of individual companies for uses of their own determination, subject to meeting UPC technical requirements.

Cost To Participants

Besides the cost of UPC membership, manufacturers and retailers also face other expenses to make the UPC system operational in the record industry, although most believe the high initial costs will be offset in the long run by the potential savings in labor, inventory costs and money lost due to errors at the check-out counter.

Film masters which contain the symbol and number must be obtained to be included with the LP's artwork, and cost an average of $15. Such a film master is necessary for each separate code number, therefore for each separate product, a manufacturer has.

An electronic device used in-house to verify quality control and readability will cost between $3,000 and $8,000. Equipment, portable or fixed, to acquire data via scanning will cost between $4,000 and $8,000.

For wholesalers and retailers, major expenses may be farther away than those for the manufacturers, if only because it would be uneconomic for merchants to install scanning equipment until enough recorded product carries the UPC symbol.

Some scanning devices with keyboards cost between $3,000 and $6,000, while supermarket-type checkout scanning stations cost between $7,500 and $15,000, including registers and in-store mini-computers for data translation.

European Compatibility

It is also expected that the UPC system will be compatible with European code systems with a minimum of adjustment. European scanners can read the UPC symbols, although UPC scanning cannot at this time read European codes, which carry an extra digit. Although the European recording industry itself is only beginning to use the code system, it is believed the problem can be remedied, since many products originating in Europe for importation and sale in the U.S. are first marked with the UPC symbol, not the European code.

Five areas remain in which action has not yet been taken by the industry and are still being reviewed. They are: cartridge and cassette symbol placement; quad disc and tape configuration designation; case and carton symbol use; evaluation of symbol size reduction test results by printing suppliers; and application to other configurations, such as seven-inch single records, 12-inch singles, etc.

According to Gorikov, the joint RIAA/NARM Recording Industry Code Committee "will continue as an ongoing national committee, meeting when needed" and its first priority should be those open matters, as listed above.

Although earlier in the year, Gortikov's projections stated the first product with bar codes might be on the market by fall 1978, Tom Wilson indicated that following UPC Council approval of the suggested system, manufacturers could receive their numbers from DCI in a relatively short time.

At the June 7 bar coding meeting, some manufacturers said they could implement bar coding within a matter of two to three months after being granted manufacturer identification numbers.

"As of now," Gortikov's statement to the industry said, "any company, on a voluntary basis, may apply for membership and for assignment of a manufacturer code number. This would authorize use on product of the numeric code and the related machine-readable bar symbol."

Capitol 3rd Qtr. Profits Down

The corporation's net sales for the three months ending Sept. 30, 1977 were $51.09 million. For the same quarter last year, sales were $50.01 million, $80,000 less than in 1977.

Net income, however, was $2.04 million for the first quarter of fiscal 1978, down $1.12 million, or 35%, from first quarter income in 1977 of $3.16 million. Net income amounted to $.62 per share.

According to Bhaskar Menon, president and chief executive officer of the company, "Higher recording and manufacturing expenses and increased provisions for obsolescence adversely impacted profits in this quarter as compared to the same period last year.

Gold Records

"During the quarter, gold awards were achieved on albums by Carole King, Maze and Glen Campbell. The Beatles' 'Hollywood Bowl' album and the latest Natalie Cole album were certified platinum, with Steve Miller's 'Book Of Dreams' album attaining double platinum status."

The financial statement reported that there were 3,298,951 average shares outstanding this year versus 3,303,805 last year. It also said the board of directors declared a quarterly cash dividend of eight cents per share payable December 15, 1977 on shareholders of record Nov. 25, 1977.

Jukebox Hearings

that the compulsory license attaches to the players themselves and not their ownership.

Wall Boxes, Other Items

Other areas of contention include fees to be charged for replacement certificates (it was generally agreed in comment letters that they should be supplied, but the cost remains in question), and assignment of license numbers instead of the manufacturer and serial number. But "where else the witnesses will do battle is uncertain," said Baumgarten.

One point on which the office has specifically invited testimony is what provisions should be made in the regulations covering systems of multiple "wall boxes" operating from a remote master unit.

'The Kat': A New Direction, New Image for Black Radio

by Carita Spencer

LOS ANGELES — Three extensive months of research in the Los Angeles Black community has resulted in an entirely new direction for Black radio — totally committed to community involvement, helping find solutions to community problems. On October 10, 1977, a new life form came into existence on Los Angeles AM radio. The new life form is "The Kat," located at 1230 on the AM radio dial.

"The concept of "The Kat"/KKT (formerly KGFJ) arose initially out of the need to change the call letters of the station because of the passive listener response in the past," explained Don Mac, program director at the station.

"KKT was selected from a computer printout of available call letters and from there, the idea of 'The Kat' developed as sort of an acronym."

New Approach

The new approach to programming which will be a part of the station's complete image change will entail a broader spectrum of music allowing exposure of more product with potential to expose new talent but not distracting from the main objective to entertain.

"Some radio stations have a tendency to just play records," Mac said. "We want to make people aware, let them know that 'The Kat' is here to help them and to get them to take part in what we are doing here."

The image of "The Kat," as advertised on billboards throughout the Black community, is not meant to have a negative connotation. The advertisement, consisting of a black cat closely resembling a panther and a woman holding the animal on a leash, depicts the cat as being very contained, not wild or dangerous.

"It displays the beauty, strength and pride of the Black community," Mac explained.

"This is a very ambitious project. People have been reluctant to believe after years of shuck and jive. We intend to restore credibility to the Black radio image in Los Angeles. There is more to it than just playing the hits."

Current Issues

The area of public affairs will be directed towards contemporary and current issues emphasizing the concerns of the 18-34 age group. Carol Carper, (formerly of KKSS in St. Louis) director of community affairs, will be in the community daily, talking with people and coordinating projects.

The news department, under the direction of Ron Dungee, will also reflect a new approach to serving the Black community.

"Black people are tired of hearing the negative part of the news," said Mac. "There is more to the Black community than shootings, stabbings and robberies. We will present the news as information, not as happy talk, accentuating the positive aspects of Black community life."

Mac pointed out that the information staff of "The Kat" will be highly visible in the community "like neighbors," covering areas of interest such as city council meetings and school board meetings. The staff will utilize a mobile unit, complete with a microwave connection which will enable them to immediately relay information to the station. National and international news will be relayed by way of the Mutual Black Network.

Equipped Mobile Home

In addition, the Music Machine which is a mobile home equipped with a full range of studio equipment will be used in conjunction with remote or live broadcasts, block parties and various other community oriented projects.

The staff of "The Kat" consists of professional communicators from Dallas, Memphis, Los Angeles, Ontario and Florida working together with consolidated goals in an effort to affluently serve the Black community.

"The Kat' asked the people what they wanted..." stated Mac, "This is the result... 'The Kat' is takin' it to the street!"

Increased Prices Affect Sales At VIP

by Carita Spencer

LOS ANGELES — The move to $7.98 from $6.98 list price by most record manufacturers has, according to Cletus Anderson, president of VIP record stores, decreased his stores' sales by 12 percent but at the same time increased profits by 10 percent, based on figures for August.

The fact that there is a one dollar difference in the shelf price of some albums sometimes prompts consumers to ask questions concerning the prices. Anderson stated that he would like to see manufacturers print the list price on albums because, in his opinion, this would cut down on the questions buyers have. As a temporary solution to the problem, VIP has had to make their own labels which list the manufacturers' suggested retail price.

All eight VIP stores in California sell $7.98 and $6.98 albums for $5.98 and $4.98, respectively, in addition to a weekend special featuring current LPs for $3.59. VIP advertises the special on radio which encourages consumers to come into the store even just to browse around. Chances are they will hear something they like and subsequently make a purchase, Anderson explained.

Advertising

A major source of advertising for VIP is radio spots which average about 300 a week. Advertising is paid for on a cooperative basis in conjunction with the manufacturers whereby VIP is reimbursed for money put into advertising. The store also advertises in "Scoop" and "What's Going On," two weekly publications, which are free to the public. In store merchandising displays, produced by manufacturers, can sometimes present a problem because of limited space. This necessitates changing the displays more often, usually every two weeks in order to exhibit them all.

It's no secret that it pays to advertise, but there are times, Anderson pointed out, when this is not applicable.

"We like to spend when people are spending," he said, "When sales are down, we advertise less. When people have less money, generally they aren't in the mood for spending and advertising dollars can easily be wasted."

Profitable Sales

Advertising for this past weekend's "VIP's Going Crazy" sale, however, proved to be quite profitable. The store featured a special low price on 10 12 inch disco LPs including Barry White's "Ecstasy . . ." "Do You Want To Get Funky" by Peter Brown, "Brick House" by the Commodores and the Brothers Johnson's "Strawberry Letter 23."

"A lot of people weren't actually familiar with the 12 inch disco LPs, but the ad apparently aroused their curiosity and they came to the store to check it out. The response was overwhelming.

"We specialize in how to sell," explained Anderson. "We cater to our customers' needs; with virtually every LP on hand for their listening pleasure, they know what they are buying."

In addition to the eight stores in California, VIP also has two stores in Jackson and Prentiss, Mississippi where albums retail for one dollar off the list price, because the demand is not as great.

PIPS — Casablanca recording artists The Pips take time out from recording sessions to perform "Bridge Over Troubled Water" with Art Gartunkel at the taping of Rolling Stone Magazine's 10th Anniversary Show. Shown (l-r) are Edward Patten, William Guest, Gartunkel and Bubba Knight. The Pips' new album, "At Last . . . The Pips," will be released this month.

Pickwick Branch Buyers, Dealers Work To Eliminate Bottlenecks

by Mark Mehler

MINNEAPOLIS, MINN. — In an effort to increase communication between store managers in the Pickwick Retailing Division and branch buyers in the Rack Services Division, a meeting was held here three weeks ago at which a number of new programs were initiated.

At the recent Pickwick Retail Convention in Wisconsin, several store managers complained that they were occasionally forced to buy direct for their individual outlets in order to remain fully competitive (Cash Box, September 10). Pickwick officials have generally discouraged direct buying by store personnel and one manager noted that "you either buy from Minneapolis or Stick your neck out."

Jan Jordan, the buyer for the distribution division in Minneapolis, as well as the tape buyer for the racks, described the recent session with branch buyers from both the distribution and rack units.

"It was a problem that had to be alleviated, this lack of communication between the grass-roots level and wholesale buyers. In some cases, the managers have found it necessary to buy certain product themselves. We don't encourage that. The answer is for the buyers to have a feel for each store and what it needs." Jordan noted that examples of this direct buying were Discount Records store managers purchasing certain hot, classical albums, or esoteric "off the wall" items, like bluegrass, in stores that cater to this business.

"We've started an open-line communication program with a regular newsletter going out to the stores," she said. "Plus we've made changes in systems allocations (that will allow more flexibility in buying)."

"I think we've resolved much of the problem," she concluded.

At the Wisconsin convention, store managers were informed of a new policy by which, in rare instances, Discount and Musicland managers could obtain product by calling national headquarters instead of their local branches. Headquarters personnel would purchase the product and arrange for it to be drop shipped to the individual stores.

The following items will insure continued trouble-free operation of Atari games:

- The audio amplifier in use is the TDA-1004. During normal operation this device generates considerable heat. It is therefore important that the TDA-1004 has adequate heat sinking. The correct heat sink is a "U" shaped piece of copper approximately 1 inch tall. Atari P/N 009470-01. The heat sink is bonded to the IC with a compound called BIPAC TRA-Bond. Atari P/N 78-13016. The incorrect heat sink could result in damage to the PCB due to excessive heat.

- To insure that the potentiometers are wired correctly and are working correctly on the Starship I controls, perform the following procedure:

1. Use a VOM (volt ohm meter) and set the dial to R X 100. (OHMs scale).
2. Zero the meter by touching the probes together and adjusting the "zero ohms" dial so the meter reads zero ohms resistance.

3. Place black probe on pin # 9 g control panel harness connector. Place red probe on Pin # 1 of connector.

4. Simulate a dive by moving flight control completely forward. When mounted in the game, this means pushing control wheel up. The VOM reading should be approximately 2.7k ohms.

5. Simulate a climb by moving control all the back (down). VOM should read approximately 2.1k ohms.

6. Place black probe on pin # 7 and red probe on pin # 2. Turn controls to the left (counter-clockwise). VOM should read approximately 2.1 K ohms.

7. Turn to right (controls fully clockwise). VOM should read approximately zero ohms.

- On Starship I, to keep the linkage arm (P/N A009525-01) from binding and consequently from breaking, perform the following check and adjustment if necessary. (see Fig. 1)

1. The two planes indicated must be parallel to prevent binding.

2. If these two planes are not parallel, loosen the two screws and the bracket will move. Adjust it as required and tighten the screws.

3. If possible, insure that the screws are torqued to 20 inch pounds \pm 1/2 inch pounds. This will insure that they do not loosen and cause misalignment problems.

AMOA 1977

From October 28-30, representatives from all levels of the coin operated amusement machine industry will gather at the Conrad Hilton Hotel in Chicago to take part in the annual Amusement and Music Operators Association convention. It will be the first held under the sponsoring association's new name, which was changed in 1976 to more accurately define its function.

The nucleus of AMOA was a 14-member committee elected in January of 1948, by a then fledgling group of concerned operators, for the purpose of combating adverse legislation which was presenting a threat to the coin operated music industry. Music Operators of America prevailed as a committee until 1951 when it was incorporated as a national association.

Over the subsequent 26 year period, the association grew and prospered, as did the industry it represented. Music, the jukebox, continued to remain a vital factor in the industry's growth pattern but coin operated games took on added significance with the emergence of the sophisticated technology which gave birth to a whole new generation of machines and a glossary of technical terms like "video," "micro-processor," "solid-state."

The display of exhibits at the 1977 AMOA exposition, dramatically reflecting this tenure of progress, is expected to be the largest, and most diversified, in the association's history. Three halls at the Conrad Hilton Hotel will be utilized to house a most outstanding product array. All three American phonograph manufacturers — Rock-Ola, Rowe and Seeburg — will be showing their new equipment lines; and German manufacturers, Lowen Automaten (NSM) and Deutsche Wurlitzer, will also exhibit their current models.

Games product, both traditional and new, will abound in the numerous exhibits being hosted by the various games manufacturers. With the recent advent of the electronic pinball machine, there will be a great deal of emphasis on solid-state — and some new electronic pins being premiered expressly for the AMOA audience.

In 1951, the first official MOA convention was held in Chicago's Palmer House and the three-day event attracted less than 500. In 1974, during former president Russ Mawdsley's term of office, the association's membership passed the 1000 mark. A record 5,279 attended the 1976 convention, to shatter all previous records. You've come a long way, baby! See you at the show.

A Statement From G. Garrett

This year, our 29th, has been one of activity and change for the AMOA. We began the year with a new name. We moved the association's offices to larger quarters. We launched new training schools for mechanics. We continued to promote the development of state associations, and we worked on implementation of the new Copyright Law affecting jukeboxes.

The AMOA Mechanics Schools on Schematics and Flippers, developed in response to membership surveys, have been praised by operators, and the schools are still in demand. The new Copyright Law is a fact of life and will go into effect January 1, 1978. Our recommendations to the Copyright Office on a simplified method of compliance with the new $8 jukebox royalty were mailed to all members last June. Our Washington legal counsel, Nicholas E. Allen, will give us a detailed report at the membership meeting.

This year's Exposition Seminar will bring back a distinguished Notre Dame professor who became very knowledgeable about our industry. Dr. John R. Malone will conduct a seminar on "Salesmanship: The Road to New Business Development" and this will be followed by a premier showing of the new AMOA audio visual public relations program on the industry. There will also be a regional seminar next March, conducted by the University of Notre Dame. This will be held at the airport in Chicago, and I urge you to register during this Exposition.

During this very active year, it has been my pleasure to visit many of our state associations. I have also seen the formation of two new associations during the year — Tennessee and Georgia. Our goal is one day to have an association in every state, and AMOA is always ready to help in that endeavor. I thank all state associations for their support of AMOA. We would not be so strong without that support.

I wish to express my deep appreciation to the members, the board of directors, the Expo '77 committees and the staff of AMOA for making this one of our most successful years.

Garland B. Garrett, Sr.
National President

AMOA Banquet Show Stars

CHICAGO — Hirsh de La Viez, producer of the annual AMOA banquet show, has booked an array of talented artists to perform during the entertainment portion of this year's event, being held on Sunday, October 30 in the Grand Ballroom of the Conrad Hilton Hotel.

As in previous years, the presentation of the annual AMOA Jukebox Awards will be a highlight of the show. This year's winners are: "Lucille" by Kenny Rogers on United Artists Records, which has the distinction of being selected for three awards in the categories of: "Country Record of the Year," "Record of the Year" and "Artist of the Year." Other winners are: "Car Wash" by Rose Royce (Warner Bros.), for "Soul Record of the Year" and "Southern Nights" by Glen Campbell (Capitol) for "Pop Record of the Year." Music & Games Execs Discuss Importance Of AMOA Expo

LOS ANGELES — The 1977 AMOA Exposition should establish new records in both attendance and exhibitor space — certainly a noteworthy distinction for the first convention to be held under the association's new name. Indeed, this year's annual meeting and trade show will include many events of special interest to all operators: exhibits, seminars, guest speakers and a definitive talk on the new copyright law and how it affects music operators by AMOA counsel Nick Allen.

But operators aren't the only segment of the industry with a vested interest in the convention.

A recent Cash Box survey of music and games executives indicated that manufacturers view the AMOA show as an indispensable showcase for new products and, of equal importance, as a forum for one-on-one discussions with operators and distributors.

Ross Scheer, director of marketing for Bally Manufacturing Corp., stressed the international scope of the AMOA event. "The convention is significant because we are able to get together with all the important people in the industry — not just from the United States but from many parts of the world," he said, adding that "an awful lot of information is garnered at this time."

While noting that electronic pinball games would receive a lot of attention at this year's show, Scheer said Bally will hold a service school on solid-state equipment in conjunction with the AMOA meet.

Paul Jacobs, vice president of marketing for Exidy, emphasized the importance of direct contact between manufacturer and operator during the AMOA convention. "This is really our one opportunity in the 12 months to sit down and chat and show our products directly to the ultimate consumer, as far as retention of title," he said. "And it's that one opportunity in the year to talk with him and get some feedback."

Jacobs believes that operators will be a lot more selective in shopping for new equipment this year.

"We're not coming off the greatest summer, and we're not coming off the greatest year in the coin machine business. So I think what we're going to be catering to now is a very discerning buyer, and we're going to have to inject some enthusiasm this year.

Generate Enthusiasm

"Whereas in the past people came with enthusiasm already in their hearts, now I think it's the other way around. As a manufacturer, through the distributors that handle our products, we will have to try to inject some renewed enthusiasm in the operator. I think that will be a primary purpose of this convention."

Bob Sherwood, director of marketing for Cinematronics, agreed that "from a manufacturer's standpoint, it's (AMOA convention) the one time of the year when a good portion of the operators are in attendance and it gives you a chance to present new equipment, new technologies to them without going through a lot of traveling and so forth."

On the subject of new technology, Sherwood explained that the firm will be introducing a device called a vector generator on its new "Space War" video game. "It has to do with the way the picture is projected on the screen," he said. "Instead of having squares for pictures, now you can draw a circle and do many other different things."

Don Osborne, western regional sales manager for Atari, called the AMOA event "one of our major trade shows. The opportunity to meet with our distributors and their operators in an environment such as they have in Chicago is very important for us."

"We really look forward to it; and, of course, Atari comes en masse. It's a major event on our calendar."

Sega of America has built its entire AMOA exhibit around a single theme, according to marketing manager Jack Gordon.

"While everybody will be showing solid-state equipment, we'll be showing four new electromechanical games," he said. "So we're using that as a theme this year — 'the alternative in games'."

Gordon hopes that Sega's large screen TV and related equipment will create a lot of attention for the firm's booths.

"I think the large screen Segavision, which a lot of people haven't seen, and the Fights of the Century films that we will be showing will be very exciting for people to look at. That will be an attraction in itself — plus, the noises of the electromechanical games will be helpful," he said.

Important Business

Lila Zinter, marketing director for Meadows Games, feels there is some important business to be accomplished at this year's convention. "Usually I don't attend the seminars. But this year I plan to attend because I think there are a lot of things on people's minds with regard to this business overall that should be discussed as long as we have a captive audience of manufacturers, distributors and operators.

BRUNSWICK® DAILY

Late Breaking News from BRUNSWICK. The No. 1 Name in Billiards.®

BRUNSWICK® DEBUTS NEW COIN-OP TABLE!

Professional Model With New Features, It's a Natural!

SKOKIE, IL—BRUNSWICK® took their best coin-op billiard table, and made it even better! It's professional, it's dependable, and it's BRUNSWICK!

New features have been added for player and operator convenience. Features that both players and operators have asked for.

The ball receiver box has been moved from the side to the foot of the table. This permits easier ball racking and easier access to the ball box.

Both rails and aprons are now covered with MELAMINE for a burn, stain and mar-resistant finish. Smudges and fingerprints wipe clean with a damp cloth.

Tough extruded aluminum trim surrounds the table at the bottom edge of the apron. This will help prevent damage to the table when in storage and when moving the table on location. It also prevents nicks and scrapes from cues.

Some Things Just Never Change

After much careful listening, BRUNSWICK has made the changes you asked for.

However, some of the features stayed the same simply because there is no better way to build them into a billiard table.

One-piece, 3/4" slate is machined smooth to within 10/1000 of an inch at their factory. Brunswick's the only U.S. manufacturer that does this.

Die-cast metal corner castings and anodized aluminum rail trim keep the table in shape by protecting those highly susceptible areas. Corner castings have a wipe-clean, pebble-grained finish.

Brunswick's Professional Coin-op Billiard Table is durable and practical. And in 7 and 8-foot sizes, it's quite a collector.

Kenny Rogers

Artist of the Year
Record of the Year
Country & Western Record of the Year

No one told Kenny Rogers the ascent to superstardom would be an easy one — and no one knows better than he. 10 years elapsed between Kenny's first smash single "Crazy Feeling" in 1957 and The First Edition's hit "Ruby." It was, ironically, another 10 years before "Lucille" had become a number one hit. Having matured and developed, Kenny Rogers has achieved the superstardom he deserves and now both he and those who listen are ready for it.

Kenny's career began in 1957 when at age 18, he had his first million seller called "Crazy Feeling." From the top of the charts Rogers plunged deep into obscurity. Joining the Bobby Doyle Trio, he toured the country before becoming an integral part of the New Christy Minstrels in 1966.

Then in 1967, a decade after his first gold single, Rogers formed The First Edition and was soon back on top of the national charts. Reprise Records signed The First Edition,

Glen Campbell

Pop Record of the Year

Glen Campbell's success and popularity are due not only to his top-quality and well-loved recordings, but because he has a universal musical appeal. He's one of the few artists of our time who transcends strict categories and reaches straight to the soul of each listener.

Even so, Campbell has never lost his downhome, country boy, easygoing ways which he developed while he was growing up six miles outside of Delight, Arkansas (population about 280 when he left, now about 440).

Because of his roots, his singing and playing style has helped bridge the gap between country and pop music, but when labelers try to limit him with definitions, he is quick to retort, "I'm not a country singer, I'm a country boy who sings."

This country boy was the seventh son in a farm family of eight boys and four girls. His parents and older brothers and sisters all played the guitar and sang. He learned to

Rose Royce

Soul Record of the Year

What's it all about for a group to have a platinum album, one platinum single, two others gold and rapidly approaching that even rarer plateau? Oh, you say, it's not all that much — Fleetwood Mac and the Eagles do it all the time. But now, what if I told you the group in question is not only new, they haven't even yet recorded their own album? Mindboggling, to be sure, especially that last part, which seems more than a little enigmatic. It's no mystery: quite clearly and obviously the group is Rose Royce, riding the crest of an incredible, almost unheard of wave of success.

"Right now, we are the fastest growing act in the country," states conga player Terry Santiel unequivocally (and, he's right!), "and, on the strength of our new album, we hope to be the hottest act by the end of the year!" One might dismiss these sentiments directly out of hand, except that so far their track record demands that such statements be taken very seriously.

Bally Four-Player 'Eight Ball' Includes A Memory System

CHICAGO — "The vast new horizons of play appeal, possible only with electronic technology, are perfectly illustrated in the Bally 'Eight Ball' pinball," commented Paul Calamari, sales manager at Bally Manufacturing Corporation, in announcing volume delivery of the new solid-state four player flipper game. The name of the new model, and the graphics and design, characterize the game of pool.

In defining the various features of the machine Calamari placed special emphasis on the "amazing memory and recall system" built into the new model. "Regardless of the numbers of players — one, two, three or four — as each ball of each player exits via the out hole and the playfield is reset to start position for the next player, the status of the player whose ball went in the out hole is 'remembered' by the machine and 'recalled' when the player is 'up' again; actually set to the exact status when the player's previous ball entered the out hole. Thus, rather than starting over with each ball, the player can continue from where he left off and build his score on scoring advantages remaining 'live' from previous balls. This also means that no player can ever 'cash in' on another player's achievement.

"Another electronic triumph in Eight Ball is the solid or striped ball competition between players," Calamari continued. "First and third players shoot to light solid pool balls, 1 through 7, in the triangular 'rack' depicted on the playfield. Second and fourth players shoot to light striped balls 9 through 15. The black 8-ball is 'neutral' and is lit by a skill shot, after a player's 1-7 or 9-15 sequence is lit. Distinctive skill objectives for successive players adds tremendously to appeal, particularly in competi-

Atari Features New Flipper And Video Games At AMOA

SUNNYVALE, CA — Atari will be exhibiting seven current and new products at the AMOA show this year. Highlighting the exhibit will be "Airborne Avenger," a new electronic flipper, and "Destroyer," a new one-player video game.

Atari will also be showing two recently introduced models: "Starship 1," a cosmic battle game, and "Super Bug," a road rally racing game. Other current production models on display include "Breakout," "Time 2000" and "Sprint 2."

Airborne Avenger is a solid-state, four-player pinball game with dramatic target action, supersonic sound effects and eye-catching visuals. The enlarged playfield offers a multitude of scoring opportunities, while players will marvel at the game's high speed ball velocity and futuristic design.

Options

The options available to operators include 32 score levels, adjustable maximum credit levels, four different "specials," add-a-ball conversion, a unique "Tilt" sound and more.

The exclusive Atari built-in self-test system instantly checks solid-state circuitry, switches, displays, and options without removing the playfield glass. This system enables complete location service diagnosis and adjustments to minimize down time.

A wide variety of skill shots maximize the overall appeal: The Spinner-kicker entices players with its high audio sound and point reward; the Bonus Kicker Lane catapults the ball in play to the top of the playfield; Airborne Avenger spellout targets achieve "Same Player Shoots Again" and added sound and point rewards; the eye-catching Captive Ball awards players with Bonus Advances and points; the Double Bonus feature is another high scoring attraction on the game.

In Destroyer, players try to hit enemy submarines with depth charges while controlling their destroyer which cruises across the top of the video screen. They control the speed of their ship, set the depth for explosions and drop one to four depth charges.

Frantz Shows Antique Game

CHICAGO — "Big Top" is a pinball game which does not look like a contemporary machine and is actually patterned after the models of early 1900s vintage, according to John Frantz, president of J.F. Frantz Mfg. Co., who designed the piece. The machine is purely mechanical and is contained in an antique cabinet of solid oak, with red and blue cast aluminum sign and various other circus type colors complementing the design.

The play concept is also reminiscent of an earlier era: shoot the ball and keep it in action by moving the clown to avert the ball's exit. The player scores when the clown catches the ball.

Big Top has been extensively tested in such locations as bowling alleys, drug stores, dime stores, ma and pa establishments, and even gift shops, as pointed out by Frantz's sales rep Mike Donley, and the results have been excellent. "The machine's uniqueness and antique appearance automatically attract people to it," Donley said. "We've had one on location at the Seven Acres Museum in Union, Ill. and it's been one of the biggest earners in the place!"

Big Top will be prominently displayed in the J.F. Frantz exhibit at AMOA, along with other machines. The factory's current product line includes: U.S. Marshall, Challenger, New Frontier and Kicker and Catcher in stand-up and variation counter top models.

New Seeburg Phonograph: Cascading Lights And Colors

CHICAGO — An enthusiastic audience of domestic and international distributors recently viewed the new Seeburg-160 phonograph, introduced by The Seeburg Products Division during the firm's sales and presentation meeting in Chicago. Subsequent showings were hosted by distributors on an individual basis, with similar response expressed by operators.

Visually, the Seeburg-160 is adaptable to the decor of any type of location. The model is designed with colorful backlighted panels in shades of blue, orange, red and magenta, trimmed in chrome and, as an added enhancement, a cascading light fountain flickers dramatically down the front center panel, from top to bottom.

"Our designers and engineering team have generated super product marketability into the new Seeburg-160 phonograph," stated William F. Adair, president. "A fascinating new visual approach to design, superb engineering and quick servicing capability combine with our great accessory line and inclusive warranty program . . . all elements specifically geared to operators' needs.

"I want to stress the fact that the new Seeburg-160 at the location means more entertainment, more play, more music, and importantly, more income. To back-up these points," Adair continued, "I want to remind operators of the selection of Seeburg accessories that is available in keeping with today's market needs: outstanding speaker components designed to satisfy any location size, Seeburg Dollar Bill Validator, Remote Volume Control, our Paging Kit, Auto Speed Kit, to mention only a few.

"There is also Seeburg's Warranty Policy, which is one of the most comprehensive available anywhere. Through it, the operator is provided with extended protection of our Microlog circuitry and is able to reduce duplication of component inventory.

"We're justly proud of our built-in 'interchangeability' factor," he said, stressing the fact that the Microlog packs are interchangeable with both the new Seeburg-160 console and Consolettes, as well as 10 past and present Seeburg model phonographs. The "interchangeability" factor also applies to the Seeburg Electronic Digital Selector, the 200 watt stereo amplifier and the Digital Control Center.

In appearance, the model reflects an outstanding new look but the basic stereo sound system, proven very successful in previous Seeburg phonographs, has been retained. To achieve a quad sound, a Quad Conversion Package has been designed for the new machine. The package consists of four lighted speakers, exclusive Quadraphonic Decoder and Quadraphonic Lower Assembly Panels.

Music Selection Play Center: This unique concept brings all of the "play" features on the Seeburg-160 into one centralized area, so that customer play is easier and more convenient. The Music Selection Play Center features the 10-button digital selector, coin slot, provisions for Dollar Bill Acceptor and All Coin Accumulator panel.

Universe Introduces 8-Track Remote Control Robot 'Robocon'

HILLSIDE, N.J. — "Robocon" is a unique, radio-wave controlled robot currently being imported by Universe Affiliated International for marketing in the U.S. and Canada.

The model walks, talks, nods, shakes hands, has flashing eyes, is very humanlike and is a natural for amusement parks, theme parks, mall arcades and similar locations, according to Universe's president Barry Feinblatt. It can be operated by a small hand held remote control unit, from a distance of 75 yards. The sound system is an 8-track which can be re-recorded.

Robocon was originally developed in Japan, as Feinblatt noted, and has been successfully marketed throughout the Far East. "To our knowledge," he said, "it is the only remote control robot of its kind available in the marketplace today." Other companies have shown prototypes of similar looking robots, he explained, but have been unable to provide delivery for "at least a two or three year period." Robocon is available for immediate delivery from Universe.

The model is shipped with a complete set of spare parts. Further information may be obtained by contacting Universe Affiliated International at 609 N. Union Ave. in Hillside, New Jersey 07205.

Dynamo's AMOA Exhibit To Focus On 'Matching Pairs'

GRAND PRAIRIE, TX. — The popular "Matching Pair" pool and soccer tables will dominate the Dynamo Corporation exhibit at AMOA, with particular emphasis on the mirrored tables, premiered by the firm at the 1976 exposition and rated as "star attractions" this year by company president Bill Rickett and marketing vice president John Lewis. Also on display will be the Rosewood and Black on Black "matching pairs."

"The mirrored tables have been enthusiastically accepted by the industry," Lewis said, "and although Rosewood has always been a favorite of the operator, more and more requests are being taken for the mirrored matching pair." Lewis added that the factory's current line gives operators three distinctive finishes to choose from: Rosewood, Black on Black and Mirrored and Black.

"Our Dynamo tables continue to offer unique features not available on any other tables currently on the market," he continued. "Players have been especially pleased with the regulation size 2 1/4" cueball, which is homogeneously cast and perfectly balanced to eliminate any imbalancing weights.

Built To Last

"We build our tables to endure a lot of intense play, without sacrificing good looks so that operators can be proud of their handsome appearance and pleased with their performance. Another feature operators appreciate is the special leg levelers designed for the Dynamo tables. These do not have to be removed during installation which means it takes less time to set up the table, and it's a lot easier, as well."

Dynamo Pool Table

Dramatic Design Idea Marks Rowe's New Phonograph Line

WHIPPANY, N.J. — Rowe International, Inc. recently premiered its new phonograph line before a full assemblage of distributors, gathered at the Sheraton National Hotel in historic Arlington, Virginia for the factory's 1977 national meeting. The line, consisting of the models "Woodhue" and "Black Magic," reflects a dramatic new concept in design to create a unique, and completely new physical appearance.

A further enhancement to the visual as well as functional aspects of the machines is the exclusive "Playmaker" merchandising feature, or "automatic merchandising of number of times each record has been played and displays, through a digital readout, the "most popular" as well as the "least popular" records, plus the total number of selections made. This feature is an excellent tool for assisting operators in programming their phonographs.

Each of the new models is contained in a distinctly designed cabinet. The Woodhue is of warm woodgrains accented with sparkle. Its subdued color tones and sculptured graphics give it an elegant, sophisticated look. The Black Magic is very much now in design. Concentric circles of music," as Rowe refers to it. The Playmaker is geared to bring attention to the machine and stimulate play by automatically making a selection and playing a complete tune, after a "selected period of no-play." The idea being to provide patrons with a sampling of what the phonograph has to offer and, thus, encourage play.

The "Memorec," or popularity meter, is another exclusive feature, which is standard on the new models. Via the microprocessor, the Memorec serves as a memory system which retains the exact brilliant color provide a stark contrast to the disco-black background of the cabinet.

Features

The new phonographs offer 200-selections, are of 100% solid-state, and contain all of the proven features synonymous with the Rowe product line.

The machines can be easily converted, in the field, to either 160, 120 or 100 selections. The record title rack flips down for fast record changes.

Front door servicing permits full access to all components.

Wurlitzer Spotlight Shines On 'Niagara,' 'X-7,' 'Lyric'

CHICAGO — Among the current Wurlitzer phonograph models being featured at the AMOA convention is the "Niagara" 160-selection, which has undergone considerable cosmetic and technical changes since it was shown at the 1976 exposition. Additional artwork enhances the appearance of the machine and the frontal area has been redesigned around a completely changed program holder. The model has a microprocessor selection and credit system.

'X-7'

Another in the new Wurlitzer series is the "X-7." Also a 160-selection phonograph, the X-7 has 6 speakers and an outstanding cabinet design dominated by a galaxy of color and contemporary art. It is considered to be a top model in the current collection.

The "Lyric" is also being spotlighted at the AMOA convention, with emphasis on the subdued but colorful cabinet design and the various modifications in the top lid and speaker board. Lyric is equipped with four speakers for outstanding sound reproduction.

The full line of Wurlitzer phonographs was presented to the international trade when Deutsche Wurlitzer of Hullhorst, Germany sponsored its annual distributors meeting October 3-4 in Malaga-Torremolinos, Spain. Included in the factory's present lineup are: "Niagara," "X-7," "Lyric," "Baltic (160)," "Baltic (100)," "Cabaret" and the new full view wall box.

1977 Jukebox/Games Route Survey

This survey was compiled from questionnaires that were sent to operating companies coast to coast. It is indicative of operating trends throughout the country but is in no way an absolute method of measuring these trends. This Cash Box feature cannot be reproduced in any way without the expressed permission of the editors of Cash Box.

Average number of coin-operated phonographs purchased annually by individual operating companies 20 (This figure compares exactly with the 1976 figure. 85% of the responding operators reported that they purchased the same amount of new models this year as last; 10% said they bought more and 5% less, than last year.)

Average weekly music gross $39 (An increase over last year. Our survey also revealed taverns to be the most profitable locations for phonographs.)

When asked how long a phonograph is kept on the route, the number of years reported spanned from a minimum of five to as many as 10, but averaged out to seven.

A high 98% of the operators polled said they own furniture style phonographs, and this reflects an increase over the 1976 figure of 95%, and the previous year's 90%. We went a step further and asked how many units were on location and the figure averaged out to 10 per company.

The predominant pricing on phonographs continues to be 2-25¢, as indicated by the majority of responding operators.

Average number of records purchased weekly 400 (According to the survey, this averages out to about three records per machine per week. However, two operators noted that they buy five new records a week for each machine in order to maintain a proper programming balance.)

Programming Singles

In programming their jukeboxes, operators rely heavily on an employee-programmer to select the singles for their machines, according to 60% of those polled. 30% said the responsibility is handled by a routeman and 10% reported that they make the selections themselves. These results are in line with last year's poll. We asked operators to list in order of importance the five most useful sources as guidelines in selecting new records. Here are the findings:

1. Trade magazines
2. Location requests
3. Personal selection by route personnel
4. One Stops
5. Local radio station charts

The poll revealed an increased emphasis on location requests and a diminishing influence of radio station charts. Trade magazines recaptured the top position after dropping to second place in last year's survey.

Operators were asked if phonograph collections this past year were more than last year, the same or less. 50% reported collections to be lower this year, 40% said earnings were the same as last year and 10% reported increased collections.

Promoting Phonograph Play

"Provide a good sound system and be certain the jukebox is programmed properly" was one response to the question "What do you do to promote more play on phonographs?" Other suggestions were: "colored title strips," "periodic highlighting of particular recording artists, accompanied by display signs on the machines," "encourage location requests," "leave request sheets in every location and be sure to provide the right kind of music for that specific location," "marked money" for location personnel to use to stimulate increased play.

Location Commissions

50/50 continues to be the most widely used commission split, with 80% of the operators reporting it. However, 20% indicated that 60/40 (operator's advantage) is being applied on a percentage of the route and one operator reported 60/40 all the way.

Games

Estimated weekly gross on the following games was reported as:

Pool Tables	$43.
Pingames	$41.
Video Games	$40.
Shuffle Alleys	$28.
Soccer Tables	$22.
Shuffleboard Tables	$15.

Popularity chart

The most popular tavern games mentioned were:

1. Pool Tables
2. Pingames
3. Video Games
4. Shuffle Alleys
5. Soccer Tables

The most popular games in locations that are mainly in business to serve food are pinball machines and video games.

Scoring in arcades, or other off street locations, are pinball machines (with 2% of the operators reporting, specifying electronic models), video games, soccer tables and multi-player machines which accommodate four or more persons.

Wallgames

40% of the operators surveyed stated that they do operate wallgames, predominantly in tavern locations, priced at straight quarter play.

Play Pricing

The majority of the responding operators reported 2/25¢ pricing on flippers; however, a good 60% said they also use straight quarter play on flippers. The predominant pricing on video games is straight quarter play, according to 95% of the responding operators. Shuffle alleys, on the other hand, reflected a departure from last year's results with 55% of the operators pricing them at 2/25¢ and 45% at straight quarter.

The Machine Purchase Graph

When asked about new purchases for the past year, 70% of the ops surveyed reported their new game purchases to be the same as last year; 30% said they bought more. No operator reported a decrease in purchases. In our 1976 survey, 90% reported buying "more games" than the previous year.

Earning Power

The present earning power of games is "superior to last year," according to 65% of the operators polled. 25% feel it is the "same as last year"; 10% said it's "inferior" to last year.

Electronic Pinball Machines

Surprisingly, 80% of the operators polled said they operate electronic pinball machines. When asked how many are currently installed on the route, the answers ranged from one "being evaluated" to a total of 21 spread over an individual route. Ops agreed, by a margin of two to one, that the earning power of the electronic pin exceeded that of the electromechanical unit. But, on the question of service and maintenance, a small percentage said the electronic machines are easier to service with most responding operators expressing an opposing view attributable, admittedly, to a "lack of knowledge" on their part.

General Trade Information

When asked to report on new locations added to the route this year, 85% of the operators responded that new additions were "satisfactory"; 15% reported they were "good" (as opposed to 75% last year).

Our survey revealed that only 10% of the operators bought more used equipment this year than last. 40% said their used equipment purchases were the "same" as the previous year and 42% reported buying "fewer" used machines.

The question "how do you feel about tournaments?" generated a rather lukewarm response. A couple of ops admitted to having had no personal experience with tournaments and conveyed a "remains to be seen" attitude. One operator said they'd be worthwhile if "you can find the time to do it." However, 30% said they had participated in tournaments, mainly pool, and felt them to be an excellent means of bolstering collections.

"Surprisingly, 80% of the operators polled said they operate electronic pinball machines. By a margin of two to one, they agreed that the earning power of the solid-state pin exceeded that of the electromechanical unit."

Attesting to the merit of national and state associations, 90% of the operators polled said they are members of both AMOA and their local state association.

When posed the hypothetical question, "If you could operate only one type of machine, which would it be?" the jukebox ranked number one this year with pinball machines dropping to second place and pool tables as a third choice.

We asked operators to list by model name their three highest earning machines, but the response was inconclusive because many misunderstood the question and specified the type of machine rather than the specific name.

The following comments were made in response to the question, "What can factories do to improve equipment and service to operators?" 1. Sponsor more territorial service schools. 2. Cut prices so that operators can buy more new equipment. 3. Help improve pricing per play. 4. Produce more solid-state games. 5. Improve quality control. 6. Provide a faster turnaround on parts by expediting the shipment of parts from manufacturer to distributor, so that the operator doesn't have to wait so long for a needed part. Elaborating further on point number six, the operator who submitted that comment noted that "so many different games are produced in a short period of time that it becomes difficult for the factory to keep in stock the parts that are needed for these games. The operator, in turn, sometimes must wait 9 or 10 working days for a much needed part, and that's entirely too long a wait."

Here's a sampling of what operators feel distributors can do to improve their service: 1. Post service bulletins more prominently. 2. Hold more service schools. 3. Encourage operators to convert to straight quarter play. 4. Lower prices. 5. Check out equipment more thoroughly, before selling it. And then there's the operator who plainly stated, "I really believe they try to do a good job."

In forecasting what lies ahead for the music and games industry, some operators submitted rather dramatic comments, like "inflation," "if operators don't wake up they'll price themselves out of business with the 50/50 split," "more electronic games, which means doom for me unless I find the time to go to school." But, on the other hand, some very astute observations were also submitted: "Operators should educate themselves to increasing costs and act accordingly in conducting their own businesses to maintain a profitable level of operation," "We must learn to increase our price per play and reduce excess costs of doing business, and make each machine pay its own way," "With games being accepted as a major form of entertainment, we are entering a period of prosperity."

The final question in our survey asked, "If there is room for improvement (in the industry) what improvements would you suggest?" Here are some of the responses: "Operators should concentrate on profitably running their own businesses and not be hesitant about eliminating non-profit locations," "Let's follow the lead of Bally and do more public relations work," "Operators should learn to communicate with each other, help each other and thus benefit from the experience of others," "State and national association membership is a must if we want to gain better insight into our industry."

"Of special significance," he added, "is the bonus function of the 'rack.' A ball entering the out hold scores 3,000 bonus for each pool ball lit in the 'rack'; and 'rack' balls lit, while adding to bonus are 'remembered' and 'recalled' for continued bonus building later on.

"Probably the most startling solid-state novelty in Eight Ball is the new 24,000 Super Bonus, which is collected when 'Super Bonus' is lit, as the ball dives in the out hole. Surprisingly enough, this is accomplished by the player's skill in previous ball play and, once again, the memory and recall system is at work.

Music & Games Execs Discuss Importance Of AMOA Expo

"For instance, I had lunch recently with an operator and he mentioned that they are kind of in a losing situation right now. Because we're caught in this inflationary spiral right now, the manufacturer thinks he can raise his prices to keep up with things in general. By the same token, the distributor raises his prices since he's got to buy the equipment from the manufacturers. But when it gets down to the operator, he is having a heck of a time making more money on the equipment he has.

"So it was this operator's idea that we'll have to go to a higher price per play — but it will have to be a universal thing. And that means there is going to have to be a lot of cooperation among operators, street operators. Universally they'll have to say 'Let's raise our prices on jukeboxes, pinballs, video games, whatever.' "

Zinter concluded by saying that from a manufacturer's standpoint, "You have to try and capture some of these large operators with their distributors and let them know where you're at. If you get on the phone day after day, or you're making frequent trips, you're really not accomplishing that much. Although you're talking to the person who's going to represent you, the question is whether your words ever get out to that end user."

Mel McEwan, director of sales for Ramtek, commented: "If you have something that you think is a hot new product, it's going to have a lot of impact if you show it there (at AMOA). Otherwise, it's important to attend from the standpoint of PR.

"You get to see all the people you only run into once a year," he continued. "In our case, it's primarily distributors whom we talk to all the time on the phone but we don't see too often." Sore Spot

If there is one sore spot among manufacturers about this year's AMOA convention, McEwan pointed out, it is that it follows the annual NAMA show by only two weeks — with both events taking place in Chicago.

"Why don't they run these things concurrently?" he asked. "Then it would be more feasible for manufacturers to show at both."

Similarly, Bill Currier, sales manager for Irving Kaye Co., said: "We weren't happy about NAMA holding its convention when it was where it was. It doubles our work, but I don't think it doubles our exposure. Because they are holding two conventions in the same city two weeks apart, are a lot of potential customers who would have come to AMOA not going to come because the bulk of their business is in vending?"

'Disseminate Information'

"It more or less forces us to display at both shows," he continued "which is a tremendous cash outlay compared to the results that will be achieved."

However, Currier was quick not to downplay the importance of exhibiting at the AMOA show.

"Actually, this is the only opportunity to get all the amusement people together at one time so that they can view any new key developments. In the case of pool table manufacturers, it's extremely important to be able to disseminate information about innovations within the table. So without a doubt, this is the most important show."

which over the next few years provided eight gold singles, including "Ruby," "Just Dropped In To See What Condition My Condition Was In," "Tell It All Brother," "Ruben James," "Somethin's Burnin'" and four gold albums. A television series called "Rollin'" soon followed, but the success of The First Edition began in decline. "We'd gotten to a point where we weren't going anywhere," explained Rogers. "We had reached a plateau that was comfortable; we were making a good living, but nothing was exciting anymore." Kenny Rogers and The First Edition finally split up in February of 1976.

In 1976, two decades after his first gold single and one decade after the formation of The First Edition, Kenny Rogers embarked in what was to be his most successful change in his musical career. Rogers signed as a solo performer on United Artists Records.

After the release of his first album entitled "Love Lifted Me," some critics labeled him country, some labeled him folk and some labeled him pop. "I'll tell you what I am," the singer stated. "I'm an entertainer." He is an entertainer.

Kenny Rogers will not have to wait another ten years for musical success... It is here now.

LOWEN LAND — An aerial view of the massive NSM factory complex, which encompasses production and administrative facilities as well as a swimming pool, the company's tennis club, a sports club and a housing estate. The conversion to solid-state might have necessitated a reduction in the work force, since the microprocessors are imported from America, Peer von Oertzen stated, but such was not the case. "We have increased our production and maintained all of our personnel," he said, "only now, a seasoned toolmaker is assembling amplifiers."

NSM To Show Solid State Phonograph Line At AMOA

CHICAGO — NSM of Bingen, Germany, made quite an impact at the MOA '76 convention with its unique display featuring the firm's notable phonograph mechanism, completely submerged in water.

At the 1977 exposition, the company will concentrate its major promotional thrust on the new line of NSM solid-state phonographs, with the renowned mechanism contained therein and still playing a major role in the exhibit. Individual models to be featured will include the "Century 21," "E-160," "The Prestige E-160," plus two 120-selection economy models and a new NSM 160 wallbox console. The firm's U.S. representative Bert Davidson noted that the new machines will be available in various color combinations.

On October 2 of this year, the company celebrated its 25th year of existence. It was founded in 1952 by Messrs. Herbert Nack, Ulrich Schulze and Wilhelm Menke and registered for operation in Brunswick, a town in Northern Germany, under the name NSM which is derived from the first letters of the founders' last names. For 11 consecutive years NSM product has been exhibited at AMOA.

Initially, the company manufactured slot machines but by 1956, after relocating to larger facilities in Bingen, its present site, and expanding operations considerably, NSM commenced production of phonographs.

"The last two years have brought tremendous changes," according to Peer von Oertzen, manager of international sales. During this period the company "put aside the traditional electromechanical games and jukeboxes to start mass producing microprocessor controlled equipment." The line has been very successfully marketed throughout the firm's international sales sphere, he pointed out, and has become exceedingly popular in the U.S.

Glen Campbell

play on the family guitar and was given a $5 Sears and Roebuck guitar when he was four-years-old.

He left Arkansas in the early 1950s as a teenager and lived in New Mexico and Houston, Texas. His first musical jobs were with his uncle, Dick Bills, and they toured the southwest playing at what Campbell describes as "dancin' and fightin' clubs." Soon he formed his own band.

At the age of 22, Campbell moved to Los Angeles with $300 cash and a small trailer filled with his belongings. He soon cut some tunes such as the hit "Tequila" with a studio group called The Champs which included Jimmy Seals and Dash Crofts. He also began working studio sessions with recording stars such as Frank Sinatra, Dean Martin, Bobby Darin, Rick Nelson, Elvis Presley, Nat King Cole, The Mamas And The Papas, The Association, Merle Haggard and others. In 1965, he toured with The Beach Boys for six months.

After achieving a modest hit, "Turn Around, Look At Me," on a small label, Campbell signed with Capitol. His first Capitol album was "Big Bluegrass Special by The Green River Boys featuring Glen Campbell" (released Nov. 12, 1962). After several albums and singles as a solo artist (including a Top 50 hit in 1965 with "The Universal Soldier"), Campbell finally broke into the national consciousness in 1967 with "Gentle On My Mind," penned by his friend John Hartford. Campbell followed it up four months later with another smash hit, "By The Time I Get To Phoenix," which kept him high on both the pop and country charts. In 1968, he had four hits beginning the year with "Hey Little One" and ending it with the top-of-the-charts "Wichita Lineman." The next year he had four more chart hits including "Galveston." At about the same time he had three hit singles and a gold album with Bobbie Gentry. In 1970, Campbell again scored with four hits including the Top 10 "It's Only Make Believe." During the early seventies his chart action and strong sales continued.

Terry, who seems to be the unofficial spokesman, says, "It's less than three years since we first used the name Rose Royce. The success of "Car Wash" has been a dream come true, and quite honestly, it's been much faster than we expected. This new one though, "In Full Bloom," is the best album I've ever heard. It's much stronger than "Car Wash." Lequeint chimes in: "It should be double platinum."

The absolute heaviest tune of this album is "Do Your Dance," a nine minute and 15 second piece of pure R&B dynamite. The way it's put together everybody gets a shot at soloing and strutting their stuff. Mike Moore's deep bass, like nothing since the Coasters' "Charlie Brown"; newest member Mike Nash's work on ARP and Yamaha (he's replaced Victor Nix); the dual guitar leads between Kenji Brown and guest artist "Wa Wa" Watson; the drums of Henry Garner; the horn parts, the bass line around which it all revolves, Rose's singing, just everything. Merely perfect and definitive.

That's not even the half of this album. Gwen Dickey has two really superb moments on "Ooo Boy," a song currently slated to be the single, and "Wishing on a Star," written by Billy Calvin. "Wishing" is even smoother yet and it looks like it could break Easy Listening as well. Both of these seem to be the kind of songs that become instant standards.

Flipping the platter over, "You're My World Girl" features Kenny Copeland singing lead. If the name itself means little, then note this: It's Kenny who's singing lead on "I Wanna Get Next To You." This is right in that vein and will certainly be a follow-up, most likely pulled off the album by listener response and disc jockey demand.

Terry said something very profound and deep in light of the phenomenal success Rose Royce has enjoyed and the very optimistic future that beckons, one the eve of their latest effort. He said, "If we ever get the chance to be a legend like Sly Stone, we won't blow it!" You know something? I think he's right.

Cal's Coin College: One Of The Industry's Best Schools

by Frank Manners

CHICAGO — No one would seriously dispute the premier importance of repair service in the coin machine business. But where are the new mechanics coming from? Schools and educational programs are popping up all over the country, attempting to fulfill this need. Probably the most publicly recognized, most representative, and one of the best is Cal's Coin College in Nicoma Park, Oklahoma, a suburb of Oklahoma City.

Cal's, a private, vocational school, a two person operation, was established in 1971. Cal Clifford, owner, instructor and janitor, started as a pinball mechanic 40 years ago, and says that he's still learning. Bea, his wife, runs the office, and Cal.

'Step-By-Step'

Cal got the idea for the school by watching new mechanics trying to learn by the floundering, groping, trial and error technique. "There were no schools and very little good printed material on the subject," he says. He decided "to teach people systematic methods in isolating problems via the schematic, to develop a step by step, concise, and condensed course, from electricity through games and music, that fills the gap we've always had with newly hired or untrained apprentices."

His philosophy is to build up the student's confidence. Give him specific manuals. Let him train directly and pragmatically on the phonographs and games themselves and not be confounded with abstract concepts or confusing mathematics. Classes are intimate, no more than six at a time, so the student does not get lost in the impersonal shuffle of an overpopulated classroom.

The crash courses are two or three weeks, 40 hours a week. "The first two weeks consist of functional electricity, components used in coin machines, schematics and trouble shooting techniques," Cal notes. In this basic class, pinball is used to demonstrate schematics because "no other coin machine offers the convenience for observing circuits at work," he says.

"After the student completes this two weeks basic course, he then proceeds to apply his knowledge of schematics to the specific machines he has chosen (i.e. jukebox, bingo, arcade machines including video). Each is one week," Cal explains. So convinced of the effectiveness of his methods, Cal offers a warranty: "a student who feels he has not mastered the subjects covered, may within sixty days, take these subjects again at no extra charge, provided he has not missed more than one hour total on subjects covered."

Entrance Requirements

What kind of students does Cal's Coin College attract? How does one get in? Cal's entrance requirements are simple: "a desire to learn," a desire to better yourself, a willingness to work, and with a $325 weekly tuition, the student better be serious. No prior electrical or mathematical knowledge needed. Cal doesn't actively recruit students. He relies on word of mouth. "I send notices to people who are in the business and let them tell each other about it," Cal says. "A man in the business will tell a person everything about it, the bad as well as the good. Not everyone can do this business, and not everyone likes it."

The response to the school has been all that Cal could hope for. Several hundred have already attended. Sometimes classes are booked six months in advance, and many companies have sent 10 or more men. They come from all over the world: Hawaii, France, Germany, Canada, the Bahamas; and they come from all backgrounds, according to Cal. "I've had lawyers and teachers take the course," he says. "They wanted something more challenging. Besides, the opportunities are unlimited." Even a few women have ventured into the service business, but only a few. Although the money is good and women are just as capable as men in learning the trade, Cal believes that women face more problems in some of the less desirable business locations which house coin operated machines.

After his crash course, if a person is still interested in the profession, Cal will introduce him to companies with jobs.

The future of service schools and repair men looks rosy and robust. The industry desperately needs capable mechanics. According to Cal, "It's one of the most depression proof jobs I've ever known. In 40 years I don't recall any qualified mechanic in this business being out of work, unless he wanted to be. I suppose I should qualify that statement. If he is a good quality man he will have a job whenever he wants it."

Bally Electronic Flippers

by Bernie Powers

(Ed. note: Bally Mfg. Corp.'s field service manager Bernie Powers is notably one of the industry's most knowledgeable experts in the field of electronics. He, colleague Jack O'Donnell, and various members of Bally's marketing and engineering staffs have conducted schools on the subject since Bally's initial efforts into solid-state technology began to materialize. Cash Box asked Powers to convey to our readers some of the differences between the electronic and electromechanical pinball machines and outline a few of the points most frequently covered in instruction classes. His statement follows.)

The questions posed to me by Cash Box encompass the entire program of electronic pinballs; their advantages, and instruction on them. I will attempt to first discuss the never ending argument of "Why electronic pinballs?" Then, discuss the specifics of instructing service people on how to handle them.

The best way to begin is to draw on my own experience in the operating end of this business, when there were nothing but electromechanical pinballs on the street. I worked in many facets of operating games, including some time as a street mechanic. It is very frustrating to be working a route and to have the responsibility for maintaining "X" amount of machines and to have little time to do the job perfectly. This is one dilemma that mechanics have lived with for years.

'Two Hats'

To explain a little further: the typical route mechanic wears two hats; one is the standard golf style hat that he uses in his normal daily routine of checking his stops. The second is his fire hat, which is used for putting out fires — that is, every time his "best" customer calls complaining about a machine that's out of order.

It has always been my aim to try to eliminate the "fire hat" as often as possible and allow the mechanic enough time per stop to do the thorough job that is required. However, with an electromechanical pinball, there is too much time expended in defining the problem. Most good mechanics can repair and properly troubleshoot a game to make a repair; but, because of the extreme amount of complexity in the features of each individual game, I find that the process of properly defining the problem, or each of the problems, on a machine can be very time consuming. The isolation to an individual circuit is relatively easy, after the initial problem is defined.

The other aspect of the electromechanical game is to properly check it out to determine if there are any problems. The procedure is to coin the game and activate each switch and correlate the switch's function to insure assembly activation, proper scoring, and that the lights are illuminated. This little routine sounds simple as written but can take up to 30 minutes per machine to just simply check out the machine. That time, however, does not include the time it takes to troubleshoot or repair any problems found.

Down Time

The bottom line to this is that down time — waiting for the fireman — causes loss of revenue and, with not all of the features working properly, the machine, more often than not, won't get a player's second quarter.

This is where one of the main advantages of electronic pinballs over electromechanical comes in. Bally's game has been designed and manufactured with "serviceability" built in. In short, serviceability means ease of servicing for less non-productive hours on the machine.

The simplest way to put serviceability into perspective is to point out that the machine has five test cycles from which a problem can be defined. These are automatic test cycles which encompass each one of the major areas of the machine: micro-processor module, lights, score displays, solenoid and switches.

This would take a maximum of five minutes as compared to approximately 30 minutes on an electromechanical game, just to look for problems. This leaves most mechanics the time needed to do a thorough check of a machine on location.

Serviceability

The above only looks at one aspect of electronic vs. electromechanical games but, perhaps, one of the most important — serviceability.

The other aspect of serviceability which is still cause for question and discussion with a great number of mechanics is that most mechanical adjustments and assemblies have been removed and replaced by much more reliable electronic components. This lessens the likelihood of failure.

What all this brings us around to are the many Bally schools we have conducted on the solid-state devices. We, meaning Jack O'Donnell any myself, started entering a few hours of classroom work on the electronic game into our schools back in January of this year. Until May 1977, we only devoted a portion of time to electronic games in our normal pinball schools. May of 1977 marked the breakoff point for Bally, between having electromechanical pinball schools and electronic pinball schools.

We had three separate, three-day Bally pinball schools during May, conducted by Chuck Wellestat from our engineering department, and Jack O'Donnell and myself from marketing. Since then, we have conducted over 25 schools for our distributors throughout the country.

We plan on continuing this effort, to familiarize and train mechanics on the solid-state game. This is exemplified by the fact that we've added another member to our teaching staff: Darrell Blendowski, who is not unfamiliar with teaching a coin-operated school.

As a follow-up to our May program of service schools, we scheduled a two-day school in Chicago just prior to the AMOA convention. We will also conduct 20 more schools for distributors before the year is up.

The regular eight hour schools we hold are broken down in the following fashion. The first hour is used to loosen up the class and talk about basic differences between the electromechanical and electronic games. The next portion of the morning session deals with familiarization of the system and how to set up and approach the game on location. The morning session basically focuses on the easy way to look at the machine and is designed to generate interest on the part of the solid-state skeptic.

The afternoon classes are devoted to actual electronic problems and the diagnostic and repair procedures required to solve those problems on location. This is conveyed by placing defective modules in the game and selecting class members, at random, to come to the machine and troubleshoot the game.

This usually gives even the biggest skeptic the confidence that he can actually work on the machine, and find and make the necessary repairs.

Portale Automatic Sales' recent week-long open house celebration at its new San Francisco showroom was an unqualified success, according to executive vice president Tom Portale. "We were quite enthusiastic with the operator response," he said. "They had nothing but compliments for our showroom, which reaffirmed our optimism." The games which seemed to attract the most operator attention, as Tom noted, were Ramtek's "M-79 Ambush" and Atari's "Starship 1."

DATLINE SUNNYVALE — Home of Atari, where the spotlight is on two new games that will be featured at the AMOA show: "Destroyer," a one-player video sea action piece, and "Airborne Avenger," a four-player solid-state flipper. In addition, Atari's surprise master magician will be at the firm's booths on Saturday, October 29 to draw attention to the new games as well as currently popular attractions such as "Starship 1," "Super Bug," "Breakout," "Sprint 2" and "Time 2000." The Atari booths are located in the West Room of the Conrad Hilton, numbers 16-23 and 26-33.

ON THE EVE OF THE AMOA convention and trade show, Chris Loumakis of Pico Indoor Sports in Los Angeles was predicting an upsurge in phonograph and pool table sales. He said his prediction is based on the fact that many operators have neglected to update their equipment in this area for the past two or three years while gobbling up the "glamor products" — video and pinball games. While noting that "new and used" phonos and pool tables have been "the most active part of our business lately," he said there could be a "boom in the coming year as operators catch up on their (phono and pool table) buying."

C. A. ROBINSON'S Sandy Bettelman reports that distrib's staff will be out in full force at AMOA. See you there.

CHICAGO CHATTER

At the end of this week, coin machine people from throughout the world will be in Chicago for the 1977 AMOA exposition, being held in the Conrad Hilton Hotel. The show will officially open on Friday morning, October 28; but, as a special service, AMOA has arranged for early arrivals to register on Thursday, October 27 from noon to 6 pm. This accommodation, instituted a few years back, helps immeasurably in easing the heavy traffic at the registration desk on Friday morning. . . . Among association sponsored events highlighting the three-day convention will be a Ladies Luncheon at noon on the 28th, with noted psychic Irene Hughes as featured guest; the AMOA Industry Seminar, at 3:30 that afternoon, featuring University of Notre Dame's Dr. John Malone conducting an in-depth presentation on salesmanship; and the annual AMOA Membership Brunch on Saturday morning (29). Expo's climaxing event will be the annual banquet and floor show on Sunday evening — with an all star cast of entertainers.

VISITORS TO THE BALLY exhibit can look forward to a lot of surprises this year. For openers, hockey great Bobby Orr will be at the booth on Friday, in behalf of the new Bally "Power Play" electronic pin, which is being revealed at Expo. The game's theme, of course, is hockey and Orr, himself, figures prominently in the machine's graphics. "Eight Ball" will also be featured, and the gigantic "Big Foot" pinball machine — of television fame. The entire decor of the booth will be different this year — and don't be surprised if another national celebrity makes an appearance during the course of the convention.

THE RECENTLY DEBUTED "Laguna Racer" will be in the spotlight in the Midway exhibit — along with three, or possibly four, brand-new releases. Mums the word, however, as to further specifics — but Stan Jarocki extends an invitation to stop by and see for yourself.

LARRY BERKE, director of sales for Midway Mfg. Co., and Steve Heckmyer, marketing services manager for Brunswick's Briarwood Division, found themselves in a rather unique position a couple of weeks back. Would you believe, roommates at Skokie Valley Hospital? Who says competitors can't live together in harmony — and how can you avoid it within the confines of a hospital room. At any rate, both were doing nicely when we spoke with them on October 17 and, by this time, should be back at their respective posts making ready for AMOA. Hope you didn't talk in your sleep, fellas.

BALLY MFG. CORP.'s national "Super Shooter — Battle of the Pinball Wizards" contest got underway this month at more than 85 Aladdin's Castle game rooms. The finals are slated for the Playboy Towers hotel next February. Among the other participants are Faded Glory sportswear, AMF Voit, MCA Records, Pioneer Electronics and Datsun.

Bing Crosby, Whose Career Spanned 50 Years, Is Dead

Crosby's "White Christmas" album alone. Passamano was quoted as saying, "has generated orders for half a million since last Friday (Oct. 14, the day Crosby died)."

A greatest hits album, which was originally scheduled for release by MCA early in 1978, is being rush-released to stores next week, according to the Post's article. MCA Records, when it was known as Decca, is where Crosby recorded during the time of his biggest hits in the 1930s and '40s.

The paper said a spokesman for London Records, which brought out Crosby's latest recordings earlier this year, said within five days of singer's death, "We were wiped out of on-hand inventory and are re-ordering in six figures."

Most New York-area record stores have reported increased demands for Crosby's albums, but several have said that demand is not as great as that which followed the death of Elvis Presley last Aug. 16.

He was born May 2, 1904 in Tacoma, Washington, as the fourth in a family of seven children of Harry Lowe Crosby and Kate Harrigan Crosby. The other children were Larry, Everett and Ted, who were older than Bing, and Catherine, Mary Rose and Bob, who later became a famous big band leader.

The family moved to Spokane in 1910, and about the same time, Harry Lillis became "Bing." He said he got the name from a comic strip character he liked named "Bingo" and the name stayed with him from the time when he started to school at Webster Elementary School until he graduated from high school.

Bing was active in sports in high school, but never studied music formally. He took part in elocution contests in high school and studied law later for three years at Gonzaga University.

First Drum Set

He got a set of drums in his first year of college and joined a friend, Al Rinker, in a band called the Musicaladers. In 1924, he and Rinker bought a car and moved to Los Angeles.

They played vaudeville dates around the country for nearly two years, then joined another singer, Harry Barris, to form the Rhythm Boys. They were hired by bandleader Paul Whiteman and toured with him for three years.

When Whiteman's band moved back east, The Rhythm Boys stayed in California and joined bandleader Gus Arnheim at the Cocoanut Grove. Mack Sennet first saw Crosby there and signed him for a series of short subjects to be distributed by Paramount.

It was in these short films that Crosby was first heard by the masses, singing "I Surrender Dear," "Just One More Chance" and "The Blue Of The Night," which became his theme.

This led to his first record contract with Brunswick, which later became Decca Records, now under MCA.

Bing married Dixie Lee in 1929, when she was a rising star at Fox Studios, then began singing on CBS radio where he performed for 29 weeks at the Paramount Theater in New York doing five or six shows a day.

Illness

Crosby said this heavy schedule was responsible for the "one and only real illness" of his life. He developed nodes on his vocal chords and took a break from singing for two or three weeks. When he returned, his voice was somewhat lower.

Because of the change it made in his voice, the nodes later became famous as "the million dollar wart."

He appeared in his first feature-length movie, which he said his brother Everett was responsible for "edging" him into, in "The Big Broadcast of 1932."

From there, he went on to star in more than 50 other pictures. In 1948, he was selected, for the fifth consecutive year, as the top money-making star of motion pictures in the annual poll of exhibitors conducted by the Motion Picture Herald, a trade paper.

In his recording career, he became the first artist to be awarded a platinum record, which he received in 1960 recognizing his worldwide sales of more than 200 million records.

Besides his singing and acting, Crosby became involved with other business interests, which included a television production company, oil wells, an orange juice company, a trailer village in Palm Springs, his 25,000-acre cattle ranch in Nevada and Bing Crosby Enterprises. He also owned about 15% of the Pittsburgh Pirates baseball team and about 5½% of the Detroit Tigers.

Golfing

But golfing was the interest other than singing and acting with which Bing was most frequently identified. He died shortly after completing 18 holes in Madrid.

His exhibition golf matches with Bob Hope raised thousands of dollars for charity and the annual Pebble Beach Bing Crosby Pro-Am Tournament also donated its proceeds to charity. The Pebble Beach Tournament was financed entirely by Bing.

During World War II, Crosby helped sell more than $14 million worth of war bonds and donated the proceeds from his recording of "Silent Night" to his brother Larry's show troupe, enabling it to tour military installations in the U.S.

Bing organized the Crosby Camp Shows, and traveled more than 50,000 miles on tours of England, France and Germany entertaining troops.

Great Britain Music Industry Represented At Musexpo

NEW YORK — Great Britain's music publishing and record industry personnel will again be predominately represented at Musexpo. 26 firms will exhibit under the sponsorship of British Phonographic Industries Ltd. and the Music Publishers Associated Ltd. Another eight British companies will show independently.

Two important participants will be the British Broadcasting Corporation and the Decca Record Co., which will be meeting with its affiliate company London Records and U.S. business contacts. The BBC will demonstrate its wide range of product and John Ross-Barnard of the BBC has been invited to head the international section of the Radio Programming seminar at Musexpo.

Wilson Editions has attended the two previous shows. These produced publishing and record deals for the firm from many parts of the world, but were specially valuable in opening up the U.S. market for both popular and classical material. Musexpo '76 offered the first introduction to American radio and background music possibilities resulting in ITW Productions establishing Carson West and the Chartsound Orchestra specifically to record for the USA. 24 titles have been completed since March of this year and have been syndicated coast to coast. Further recordings by the orchestra and their marketing throughout the world will be one of the primary objectives in Miami.

Jet Records

Jet has produced many new names and has big worldwide sales. The roster now includes Alan Price for North America and Kingfish who have had a recent hit in the States. Japan's Four Big Labels To Unify For Distribution TOKYO — After long, prudent examinations and confabulations about cooperation in the distribution-field, Japan's four main record manufacturers, Victor Musical Industries Co., Teichiku, RVC and Trio have decided to establish a "commodities-center," both in Tokyo and Osaka.

The many old distribution mechanisms of the four labels are to be absorbed by these commodities-centers to unify their distribution businesses. According to an executive of Victor Musical Industries Co., the purpose of the new-commodities center is the rationalization of their distribution businesses by saving cost and labor. At the same time, another executive of one of the four labels said as follows, "It has been of epoch-making news that the four companies had success in reaching an agreement to join hands with each other in the distribution business. Through these actions, we can expect to save waste and double out investments. In another words, we will be able to supply records and tapes to users with lower prices by these rationalizations. However, we are ready at any time to receive proposals from other record manufacturers to join with us if they are willing to..."

SAGER WITH FRIENDS — Carole Bayer Sager made her U.K. concert debut at London's Theater Royal earlier this month, and WEA Records hosted a party for her at the nearby Friends Restaurant, a newly opened venture in which Elton John and his manager John Reid are involved. Triple Header Concert Is Set For Australia

AUSTRALIA — The Paul Dainty Corporation is to stage what promises to be the most spectacular rock event ever presented in Australia — a massive triple-header co-headlining rock legends Fleetwood Mac and Santana and Australia's own Little River Band.

The concerts which will be presented under the title "Rockarena," will bring together three groups currently playing at the peak of their respective careers. "The concerts are not just music presentations," says Paul Dainty. "The quality of the lineup ensures they will be events, and the staging will be the most spectacular ever seen in Australia."

Little River Band will fly direct from their second successful tour of America.

Riviera Exits Stiff With Two Acts

LONDON — Jake Riviera, who founded the new wave label Stiff with former Brinsley Schwartz manager Dave Robinson in August last year, has left the company with managerial rights to a couple of its top acts, Elvis Costello and Nick Lowe.

Riviera, originally known as Andrew Jakeman, was previously road manager for Dr. Feelgood, and launched Stiff in collaboration with Robinson with financial backing from Feelgood's Lee Brilleau and rock photographer Keith Morris. The label originally operated through specialist stores and mail order, but signed a distribution deal with Island Records at the beginning of this year. Another of its successful acts is The Damned.

Costello and Lowe will fulfill their current recording contractual commitments, but a label change is anticipated later.

Agency With Red Ryder

TORONTO — The Toronto based booking firm The Agency has announced the signing of an exclusive booking agreement with the Red Ryder Band.

Negotiations are presently underway to obtain a recording contract for the band, who are managed by Franklin House Management. The band recently has performed with Pure Prairie League in a Toronto concert appearance.

Scottish Company To Expand Song Division

EDINBURGH — Pan Audio is expanding its music publishing activities here by the formation of a new commercial song publishing division, believed to be the first of its kind based in Scotland. West End Race To Stage Elvis Shows

LONDON — A keen contest to stage musicals around the life and career of Elvis Presley is developing here between impresario Ray Cooney and an Irish rival, Noel Pearson. If present plans proceed, London will have two theater shows around the same theme to choose from before Christmas.

Cooney, head of the Cooney-Marsh theater group, recently finished conversion work on the old Astoria Cinema in Charing Cross Road, which is now a theater and entertainment complex with restaurant, bars and an art gallery. He hopes to stage his Presley show at this venue in mid-November, utilizing newsreel, film clips, slides and blown-up photographs of Presley in an evocation of his musical career from 1954 until his death this summer.

The Irish production has already cast two Irish actors, Donal McCann and Keir O'Docherty, to play the singer at different stages of his life, and the 80,000 pound project will feature a 20-minute re-creation of Presley's Las Vegas cabaret act. Noel Pearson plans to premier the show here in December at an undisclosed venue.

At this time both shows are titled "Elvis," and the Cooney office is claiming that the rival show will not be able to go ahead as Cooney is said to have secured stage rights for Presley hit songs such as "Jailhouse Rock," "All Shook Up," and "Hound Dog."

Japan's Aug. Sales Still Show Continuing Slump

TOKYO — According to the Japan Phonograph Record Association (JPR), the output of records in Aug. of this year in Japan showed a decrease in comparison with both the previous month and the same month of the previous year. This result, according to JPR, is due to a slump of sales which have been continuing for several months in this country.

The total output of records in Aug. this year has been 13,779,000 copies, a 5% and 12% decrease respectively, in contrast with the previous month and the same month of the previous year.

Representing volume, 45s saw 6,946,000 copies, a 7% and 23% decrease, respectively, from the previous month and the same month of the previous year.

At the same time, the LPs sold 6,771,000 copies, 2% lower than the previous month but 3% higher than the same month of the previous year.

The total tape output in Aug. has been 2,771,000 units, 8% down from the previous month but 22% more than the same month of the previous year.

United Kingdom Christmas Sales Surge Is Anticipated

by Nigel Hunter

LONDON — After a summer in the sales doldrums, music industry spirits and optimism are rising at the outset of the fall selling season leading up to Christmas. Britain's economic situation is healthier now than at any time over the past two years, thanks largely to economic policy sanctions imposed by the International Monetary Fund in return for further massive credit tranches, and with North Sea oil forecast to enable the U.K. to be self-sufficient in this commodity by the start of the next decade, this country's economic health should improve still further when the heavy cost of oil imports are removed from its balance of payments.

There are plenty of imponderables around which could still rock the boat and spoil the voyage. The unilateral ending of the social contract by the trade union movement and the return at its behest to free collective bargaining on pay is fraught with uncertainty in view of the Government's insistence on a 10% limit on any rises and a year's interval between claims. Nobody expects the more powerful unions to settle within these guidelines, and an outbreak of industrial stoppages and unrest this fall and winter could swiftly negate the improving balance of payments situation and arrest the falling rate of inflation.

Political Influence

The music business is affected by these political and industrial barometers as much as any other industry. The Labor and Tory party conferences have been indulging in their usual annual seaside PR exercises and prediction of Utopia if their respective plans and policies are implemented, but they are no longer the sole arbiters of what actually happens, whether in power or not.

But, with pay rises of some amount around the corner and promises of tax cuts before Christmas from Chancellor of the Exchequer Denis Healey, some deflation is certain and an inducement to spend more before the festive season. The record companies are geared up for a good selling season, having learned some hard lessons last year.

EMI had stock problems then, but has prepared itself this year by pressing up back catalog supplies during the soft selling summer season, thereby freeing capacity to cope with sudden hot sellers in the remaining months of this year. It is generally agreed that there is no spare pressing capacity available in the UK at this fairly early October stage, but the companies are confident they can meet requirements, aided if necessary by the foreign pressing facilities several of them can call upon in an emergency.

TV-promoted albums, while causing disappointment concerning results in some cases such as "The Beatles At The Hollywood Bowl," are still in the forefront of activity and forward planning. EMI alone has spent over one million pounds on this form of promotion since May, and its latest example due for October 28 release is "30 Golden Greats" featuring the Joe Loss Orchestra and the Black and White Minstrels.

RCA has been confronted with unprecedented demands for Elvis Presley catalog and current material following his untimely death in August. Its Washington, County Durham plant is expected to cope with the double "Elvis In Concert" album, but the company is using Teldec in Germany for some pressing work and is having all classical discs pressed in Italy at present.

Custom pressing operations such as Multiple Sound Distributors and Damont are having to turn away work due to full capacity, as are the Polydor-Phonogram plant Phonodisc and Decca in order to fulfill their own and regular affiliate commitments. CBS like RCA has had some industrial restlessness complicating its pressing schedules following the return to collective bargaining, but things are normal again at the time of writing.

Whatever happens in coming months, the U.K. economic recession has discredited one fondly believed legend. When times get tough and money is short, the public do not rush out to buy records and tapes to console themselves.

administers Good Music Ltd., with its famous catalog containing such copyrights as "Lullaby Of Birdland" and "Hands Across The Sea."

Robert Kingston (Music) Ltd. is the new organization of a group of publishing companies, a production company and a record label — R K Records which is pressed and distributed by Pye. The company has acquired 30-40 British copyrights which are currently being developed as recordings to be issued in the near future. It has also acquired the catalog of a successful small publishing company Gale Music Ltd. which contains about 110 British copyrights, some of which have already been marketed internationally.

Emerald Records, with Everest Records as its licensee in the U.S., had its LP "Bagpipe Marches And Music Of Scotland" recorded by the Shotts And Dykehead Caledonia Pipe Band nominated as the best ethnic or traditional recording of the year 1976 by the National Academy of Recording Arts and Sciences. The company mainly records Irish, Scottish, and country and western music although it has achieved a considerable amount of success in pop music as well.

Amphonic Music

Amphonic Music will be participating in Musexpo in the fields of publishing and music production. The firm has recently recorded new orchestral versions of current vocal pop hit records and is hoping to place these with radio stations and background music users. Discussions will also be taking place on the production of new recordings of copyrights held by other major publishers.

Heath Levy is hoping to repeat its British success on this side of the Atlantic. Songs in both master and demo form will be brought to Musexpo in the hope of getting them recorded by American artists.

Sonet Productions has a wide selection of products for direct export and foreign licensing, including many hit singles. There is also an extensive range of blues and jazz produced by some of the world's leading artists.

Pebble Beach will be looking for licensees in North and South American, and also strengthening ties with its sister studio Muscle Shoals.

Another participant is the Third World Recording Co. with records released on the following labels: Third World, Paradise, Penguin, Jamatel, Live and Love.

The Mechanical Copyright Protection Society will be on hand to assist participants in all areas.

Select what you want in a record cleaner.

Convenience in use and storage.

You shouldn't need a separate shelf, elaborate motions or an act of Congress to clean your records. A comfortable, hand-held instrument that works best on a rotating turntable is ideal.

Effectiveness against micro-dust.

Tiny, invisible dust particles hide in delicate record grooves and can be ground into the vinyl. Only a slanted (directional) fiber using special ultra-small fiber tips can scoop up, rather than rearrange, this micro-dust contamination.

Effectiveness against chemical contamination.

Fingerprints and vapor-borne oils will deposit into channels of a record groove. Such contamination hides from adhesive rollers and all dry cleaning systems. Only a special fluid plus micro-fibers can safely remove such audible, impacted deposits.

Total removal of contamination/fluid.

Capillary action—the lifting of fluid by small fiber surface tension—is totally effective. You want to get contamination off the record, along with any fluid traces.

Lasting construction.

You want quality. A record cleaner can last a lifetime. A plastic wonder can crack into oblivion—or you can purchase the hand-rubbed elegance of milled walnut befitting the rest of your audio system.

Ultimate economy.

The value of a truly fine record cleaner is justified by the cost of replacing your record collection. Fifteen dollars is a small investment in long-term protection.

Elvis Costello Signed By CBS

ing import albums, has been receiving airplay at many FM stations and was the number 36 most active LP on last week's Cash Box FM Album Chart.

'Tremendous Excitement'

Frey said, "There is a tremendous amount of excitement. The import alone has gotten so much acceptance and airplay in various cities: San Francisco, Los Angeles, Chicago and New York. And the album isn't even available here anymore."

Costello, a former computer programmer from England, first came to attention less than a year ago when he turned recording artist and recorded "My Aim Is True" for Stiff Records, which is manufactured and distributed by Island Records in Great Britain.

The album has become one of the most popular in England and, as a result, Costello is one of the hottest concert attractions there as well. He recently played a six-week engagement at London's Nashville and, according to the club's owner, hundreds of people were turned away each night.

Recently, efforts have been made by American record companies to acquire the rights to distribute Stiff Records' product in the U.S., but nothing has yet been finalized.

Columbia, however, has now picked up Costello as a single artist, without gaining Stiff's other two acts, new-wave group The Damned, and Nick Lowe, who has written and produced for Graham Parker and Dave Edmunds.

Frey added that the contract with CBS is not a single album deal for "My Aim Is True," but said Costello will be considered a Columbia recording artist and will record his future albums for CBS.

Presley, Springsteen

Costello's music has been compared to that of several prominent stars, ranging from Graham Parker and Van Morrison to Bruce Springsteen and Elvis Presley, from whom he borrowed his first name.

Frey also handles Graham Parker And The Rumour, Clover and is the American representative for Pink Floyd and said when Costello's album is released here it will be slightly different from the original English version.

"I think there are two changes in the album: there is a live version of 'Blame It On Cain' and there may possibly be strings on 'Allison.'" He also said a song may be added which is not on the English album.

Harragan To Speak At NAWM Meeting

over the past few years, have killed the local indie. He noted that Aquarius Distributors, operating out of Hartford, Connecticut, is probably the last significant independent distributor based in New England. Aquarius handles Arista, Mushroom and Fantasy/Milestone, among others.

Diversify Or Die

At one time, according to sources, there were many indies operating in the area. At least seven distributorships, they said, have gone out of business in the past ten years. The latest to fold was Disc Distributors, following the loss of Motown to Alpha last August 30.

Sam Diacosavas, sales manager of Aquarius, said the key to his survival and that of other independents was to be "diversified." This was echoed by Dinerstein of Music Supplier. "What has to be done," asserted Dinerstein, "is that the independent man has to start thinking like an independent again and not pattern all of his prices, marketing methods and distribution after the major companies."

Peter McDermott, of Peter's One-Stop in Boston, agreed that the major manufacturers had hurt the independents by their insistence that the indies "stick to the hits." He noted that he often has trouble getting catalog items from independents and noted that "I can show you invoices I've sent to the companies (showing) a 47-49% fill ... that's not good at all. But you can't blame the indies; the manufacturers created the situation and they can live with it now."

Favors Small Labels

One local indie, Rounder Records, has had success eschewing the major lines in favor of the hundreds of small, esoteric labels that are popular in the Boston college market. Owner Ken Irwin suggested that many people tend to "overestimate the (Boston) market" in terms of major label sales potential. Said Peter McDermott, "They run a fine efficient company, a lot like a one-stop. They buy just what they need, and they give good service." Rounder oc-asionally runs radio and print promotions with local retailers like the Harvard Coop.

The New York distributors in the area, Alpha and Malverne, carry few overlapping lines and are therefore not in direct competition. Alpha, in addition to Motown and London, handles such lines as Arista, CTI, Private Stock and DJM. Malverne distributes UA, Chrysalis and Fantasy/Milestone, among others.

A&M, the biggest indie label, has a Boston sales office and ships out of the Columbia branch in Pittman, New Jersey. ABC, which went to independent distribution in nearly every U.S. market, elected to continue supplying Boston and New England out of its New York branch.

WEA Has Top 5 LPs, #1 Single On CB's Charts

had 25 positions, giving WEA a total of 110 positions of the combined 665 on the seven charts.

The figure represents more positions than currently being held by any other single company or family of labels.

In addition, Fleetwood Mac's "You Make Lovin' Fun" was the most added single on last week's Pop Radio Analysis, while Debby Boone's "You Light Up My Life" continues in its fourth week as the number one pop single. WEA also has three other singles in the top 10, giving it a total of four, more than any other label or family of labels.

Debby Boone's single also made the fastest rise to number one of any single this year, making it to the top in seven weeks. The Eagles' "Hotel California" was previously the fastest, hitting number one in eight weeks.

"You Light Up My Life" has achieved another unprecedented feat, becoming the first record to be the number one at 100% of Cash Box's eastern and midwest accounts.

UA PACTS WITH TRY STAR — United Artists Records recently signed a production pact with Try Star Productions, a Los Angeles-based firm headed by former UA promotion men Paul and Jeff Dengrove. award ... Happy Birthday to Helen Reddy who added one more candle to her cake Monday ... E/A's new jazz division is off to a flying start with the signing of Dee Dee Bridgewater and Lenny White ... CBS has signed Elvis Costello while negotiations for the rest of the Stiff Records roster continue. Elvis will be here Nov. 18 & 19, in SF the 15th & 16th ... CBS has also signed two other new acts, Chicago's Hounds and a group called "Air Supply," who are opening for Rod Stewart on some dates of his national tour ... Look for Epic to throw a big bash for Network, Nov. 2, their official L.A. showcase.

ON THE ROAD WITH JETHRO — Interesting information has come our way regarding the twice-yearly tours of the U.S. that Jethro Tull mounts with very little fanfare, a minimum of hassle and almost automatic sellouts. For one thing, the tours themselves are planned with almost battle-like logistical precision. The secret is that Tull has two complete road crews, each with their own set of instruments, lights, and other equipment. The teams, red and blue respectively, each travel by bus or truck while the band travels by plane, arriving at each venue exactly at 3 p.m. for a sound check, where a piano tuner, who also flies with the band, checks his ivories. As part of their contract, Tull stipulates that the temperature at showtime must be a perfect 68° — so the instruments won't go out of tune under the heat glare of the lights. It's a plan that would make Patton proud ... Speaking of tours, Rod Stewart is in the midst of his first American tour since Faces in 1975 with 48 dates scheduled for 41 cities, a 47-person entourage and over 85 tons of equipment ... Crosby, Stills & Nash began their fall tour with a Portland date Oct. 18. The current Atlantic album of the three re-uniting is still in the top 30 this week. ABC will release "Live," a single album composed of songs taken from a recent tour by Crosby & Nash featuring members of the Section on backing instrumentals ... Blue Oyster Cult's current tour features a Star Wars theme highlighted by a stage outfitted to look like the Death Star. Each member of the band is equipped with his own laser but there is one overall laser that covers the whole stage. The band is due here in December ... Shirley Bassey has cancelled the remainder of her tour (10 dates) due to strained vocal cords ... The Tubes have been busy at the A&M sound stage working out the theatrical part of their show which will tour Europe beginning Nov. 3 with a London press conference.
