"The Coin Machines Merry-Go-Round"

By Bill Gersh

SPRING '43

The first day of Spring '43 is rapidly approaching. Many look forward to this day to open the greatest Spring season in all the history of the coin machines industry. Surrounding factors have rapidly accumulated to make this greatest Spring season a surety. WMC by ordering a 48 hour work week will keep people closer to home. Gas, tire, food and other rationing all tend to keep people nearer home. (More rationing is yet to come which will also react favorably for the cointrade). The crowds now seen at neighborhood theatres, taverns, ice cream parlors, nite spots, etc. are but an indication of the public's reaction. The pleasure driving ban goes off March 22 - which will help many spots.

Farm towns thruout the nation are expected to prove extremely profitable this Spring and summer because of the fact that more workers are being rushed to the agricultural sections of the country to handle much increased farm production programs. The millions of people already at work and the fact that WMC expect to have a total of 65,000,000 Americans working very soon - all mean that the coin machines industry faces one of its greatest Spring seasons.

Some resort arcade men plan to dissolve their spots for they do not believe that these will prove profitable under present Federal taxation. They plan to spread their machines into communities everywhere because they feel that this individual method of all-year-'round operation will prove more profitable. Other coinmen thruout the country are preparing now to take advantage of this boom and are high spotting towns where they believe workers will be found in greater force this Spring and Summer.

From whatever standpoint the coinman looks at the coming Spring of '43 he can only foresee a greater season than he has ever formerly enjoyed. This is one year when there will be very little difference between seasonal play action. Those men who have the proper outlook and who are using this boom play to accumulate a reserve will be the men who will be in a position to speedily convert to whatever changes will occur to benefit themselves and the industry generally.

THE ARCADES

The arcades are the one division of the industry that have shown the most phenomenal growth. As we have reported before, arcades would have reached unheard of proportion in '43 were it possible to obtain equipment. It is also believed by a great many that the arcades are the one and only division of this industry that point the way to an entirely new method of post-war operation. Because of this fact those who gaze into the future now prefer to call them, "Theatres of Amusement". But, by their very popularity and new won prominence they have now attracted attention to themselves from revenue seekers. We now hear city, county and state rumbles of taxation in their direction, where no local taxes are in effect.

The weak spot today, is the former strong spot of yesterday, the seasonal arcades. Most of these summer arcades enjoy a very, very short profit season. Yet, they are subject to the same yearly tax as the all year around arcades. In this way, a large number of these short-season arcades are going to be pushed out of the picture, unless something is done for them in a hurry. As we reported once before, one noted arcade owner whose place is a model for seashore spots, reported that the entire gross take for the six really big moneymaking weeks his arcade enjoys wouldn't be enough to cover the Federal taxes for the machines alone. And this does not include rent, lights, general overhead, local taxes and the possibility of rain and cold busting these 6 weeks to bits. Even tho the arcade is among the oldest of all coin machine institutions it is young in energy and ideas today, because of the large number of progressive men who have entered into the picture.

The Federal yearly tax on machines will no doubt cause closing here and there of seasonal arcades. Some summer arcade spots plan to appear as "locations" featuring just enough equipment to handle the business that is desired. In short, instead of a huge arcade some of these men are planning to cut out this overhead and install machines as operators do - but attempt to keep them as much as possible in individual spots, such as hotel lobbies, etc. as "location" installations, instead of labeling them "arcade", "sports palace", "sportland", "fun palace" or anything else by which they may even be construed to be arcades. Whether this will work out or even prove necessary we shall know in very quick time.

The average resort arcade owner has great faith in his belief that the resorts will enjoy a fine season this year. Yet his plans may be entirely reversed this summer by the armed services who may believe otherwise regarding certain types of resort spots. The arcades have a unique problem. They have so many angles to work with that there is no doubt that most of the men will be able to find a solution to whatever problem proves most pressing. The finest action which has so far been taken in favor of all the nation's arcade owners has been that of the newly organized Arcade Owners Assn. which is trying very hard to create a national body to bring about complete representation of this division of the industry for better understanding of its problems from the Federal authorities so that tax adjustments can be made which will prove fair to all concerned.

30% COMMISSION

Once again we refer to our 30% commission plan to locations. Tho the industry hasn't yet felt the complete impact of the increased Federal taxes and the coming state, county and city taxes, it will feel these with a most sudden shock. The adoption of 30% commission to locations - now - is important. The average operator will agree that operating overhead has increased 20% and more in many instances. He will also agree that the majority of his locations, after he pays the new, increased taxes, will not prove profitable at 50% commission basis. And he will further agree, if he is a music man, that even those locations where he obtains a top off the take, in great majority, will not prove profitable if he continues at 50% commission. He must cut down to 30% commission now.

Of course, each and every operator (as we stated last issue) has some locations where he doesn't have to put this out into practice. But these are far in the minority. With the tax problem growing and the solution being the 30% commission basis - then the best thing to do is to get together with all operators in your territory and arrange for this cut down to 30% as soon as possible. Put into practice now the 30% basis will save the majority of coinmen a great many headaches later on. If most coinmen believe, too, that these new and higher taxes now in effect will last only until the day the war is over, they have a lot more thinking to do. It will be many, many years after the war is over before present (and even more increased) taxation comes down to anywhere near pre-war levels. The adoption of The Cash Box 30% commission plan - NOW - will mean continued, profitable operation for years to come.

SPEED

The past month's (February) issues of The Cash Box openly indicated that action speeded up considerably for all the industry. Machines appeared on the market hurriedly and just as rapidly disappeared. Interchange of machines and correspondence was tremendously speeded. The men in this business have speeded up all methods. There is very little fussing about these days. Eliminated is the long haggling over machines and prices. Those desiring equipment realize that price is now secondary to machines of quality and first make up their minds as to what they want - then obtain the best price they can - and the deal is rapidly consummated. Equipment which formerly received little attention is today speedily gobbled up. This speedier action assures better profits, better organization and more efficient business methods for the future.

HONORABLE MENTION

As most of our old subscribers know (for Honorable Mentions do not appear each issue) the only time we give any coinman this honor is when he has done something to benefit the entire industry and done so unselfishly. It has been many weeks since any subscriber received Honorable Mention. This week, we are privileged to report, we have three subscribers who are entitled to Honorable Mention and who will receive certificates in this regard in due time.

The first is Benj. Sterling, Jr. of Rocky Glen Park, Moosic, Pa., to whom we give Honorable Mention because of the fine full page ad he ran in the roto section of the Scrantonian with the headline, "Ben Sterling's Boys Have Gone To War. We not only believe that this was one of the finest gestures ever made by any business man, displaying the pictures of 15 of the firm's former employees in their uniforms surrounding the fact that Ben is prominent in his community in the music business, but it was an extremely impressive and outstanding ad in itself, benefitting the entire industry. More such action would definitely result in winning greater respect and prestige and support from the general public.

Second this issue comes "Curley" Robinson of the AOIAC, Los Angeles, Calif. We have just heard from some outstanding men in the Far West of the great amount of work and effort that "Curley" has given to many causes helping the war effort aside from what could do his organization any good. This action on the part of this dynamic and energetic and outstanding association personality in this industry was outside of his regular activities and unselfishly given and fully deserves Honorable Mention for such actions benefit the entire industry.

Third to receive Honorable Mention this issue is one of the real old timers in the coin machines industry, Al. Blendow of International Mutoscope Corp., New York because of the fine work he is doing, unselfishly, to bring about better conditions for all arcade men thruout the country. Not only that, but Al has also taken on the presidency of a new organization in addition to his own long and busy hours and is devoting himself most completely to bring about better understanding, modification of taxation and finer cooperation generally among all arcade men.

CHAPTER I

It was a bright, sunny day in the month of June, and the children were playing in the garden.

The children were playing in the garden, and the mother was sitting on the bench, watching them. She was looking at her watch, and she saw that it was half past three. She looked up at the children, and she saw that they were all very happy. She smiled at them, and she said, "You are all very good children, and you are all very happy. I am very proud of you."

The first part of the document discusses the importance of maintaining accurate records of all transactions. It emphasizes that every entry should be supported by a valid receipt or invoice. This ensures transparency and allows for easy verification of the data.

In the second section, the author outlines the various methods used to collect and analyze the data. This includes both manual and automated processes. The goal is to ensure that the information is both reliable and up-to-date.

The third part of the document provides a detailed breakdown of the results. It shows that there has been a significant increase in sales over the period covered. This is attributed to several factors, including improved marketing strategies and better customer service.

Finally, the document concludes with a series of recommendations for future actions. It suggests that the company should continue to invest in its marketing efforts and focus on building long-term relationships with its customers.

The following table provides a summary of the key findings from the analysis. It shows the total revenue generated, the number of new customers acquired, and the overall profit margin.

Category	Value
Total Revenue	$1,250,000
New Customers	15,000
Profit Margin	25%

These results indicate that the company is on a strong growth trajectory. However, there are still areas where improvement is needed. For example, the current marketing budget is not being fully utilized, and there is a need to diversify the product line.

The data also shows that customer retention is a key factor in long-term success. By focusing on providing excellent service and personalized recommendations, the company can increase its customer loyalty and reduce churn.

In conclusion, the analysis has provided valuable insights into the company's performance. It has identified both strengths and areas for improvement. By implementing the recommended strategies, the company can achieve its long-term goals and maintain its competitive edge in the market.

The author believes that these findings will be helpful in making informed decisions about the company's future. It is hoped that this document will serve as a useful reference for all stakeholders involved in the organization.

The first part of the document discusses the importance of maintaining accurate records of all transactions. It emphasizes that every entry should be supported by a valid receipt or invoice. This ensures that the financial statements are reliable and can be audited without any discrepancies.

Furthermore, it is noted that the company's financial health is directly linked to the quality of its record-keeping. By keeping detailed accounts, management can identify areas where costs are being inflated and take corrective action. This proactive approach is essential for long-term success and profitability.

In addition, the document highlights the need for regular reconciliation of accounts. This process involves comparing the company's internal records with the bank statements to ensure that all transactions have been properly recorded. Any differences should be investigated immediately to prevent errors from accumulating.

The second section of the document focuses on the role of the accounting department. It states that the accountants are responsible for not only recording transactions but also for analyzing the data to provide valuable insights into the company's performance. This includes preparing financial statements, budgets, and forecasts.

It is also mentioned that the accounting department should maintain a high level of transparency and communication with other departments. This helps in understanding the financial implications of various business decisions and ensures that everyone is working towards the same goals.

Finally, the document concludes by reiterating the importance of integrity in financial reporting. It is stressed that the company's reputation is built on trust, and this trust is only maintained if the financial information presented is accurate and honest. Any attempt to manipulate the numbers will have severe consequences for the company's future.

In summary, the document serves as a guide for the company's financial management practices. It provides clear instructions on how to handle transactions, maintain records, and ensure the accuracy of financial reports. By following these guidelines, the company can ensure its financial stability and growth.

The following table shows the results of the experiments conducted over a period of six months. The data indicates a significant increase in efficiency, particularly in the latter half of the study. The overall trend is positive, suggesting that the implemented changes have been effective.

It is concluded that the proposed modifications have led to a substantial improvement in the system's performance. Further research is recommended to explore additional optimization techniques.

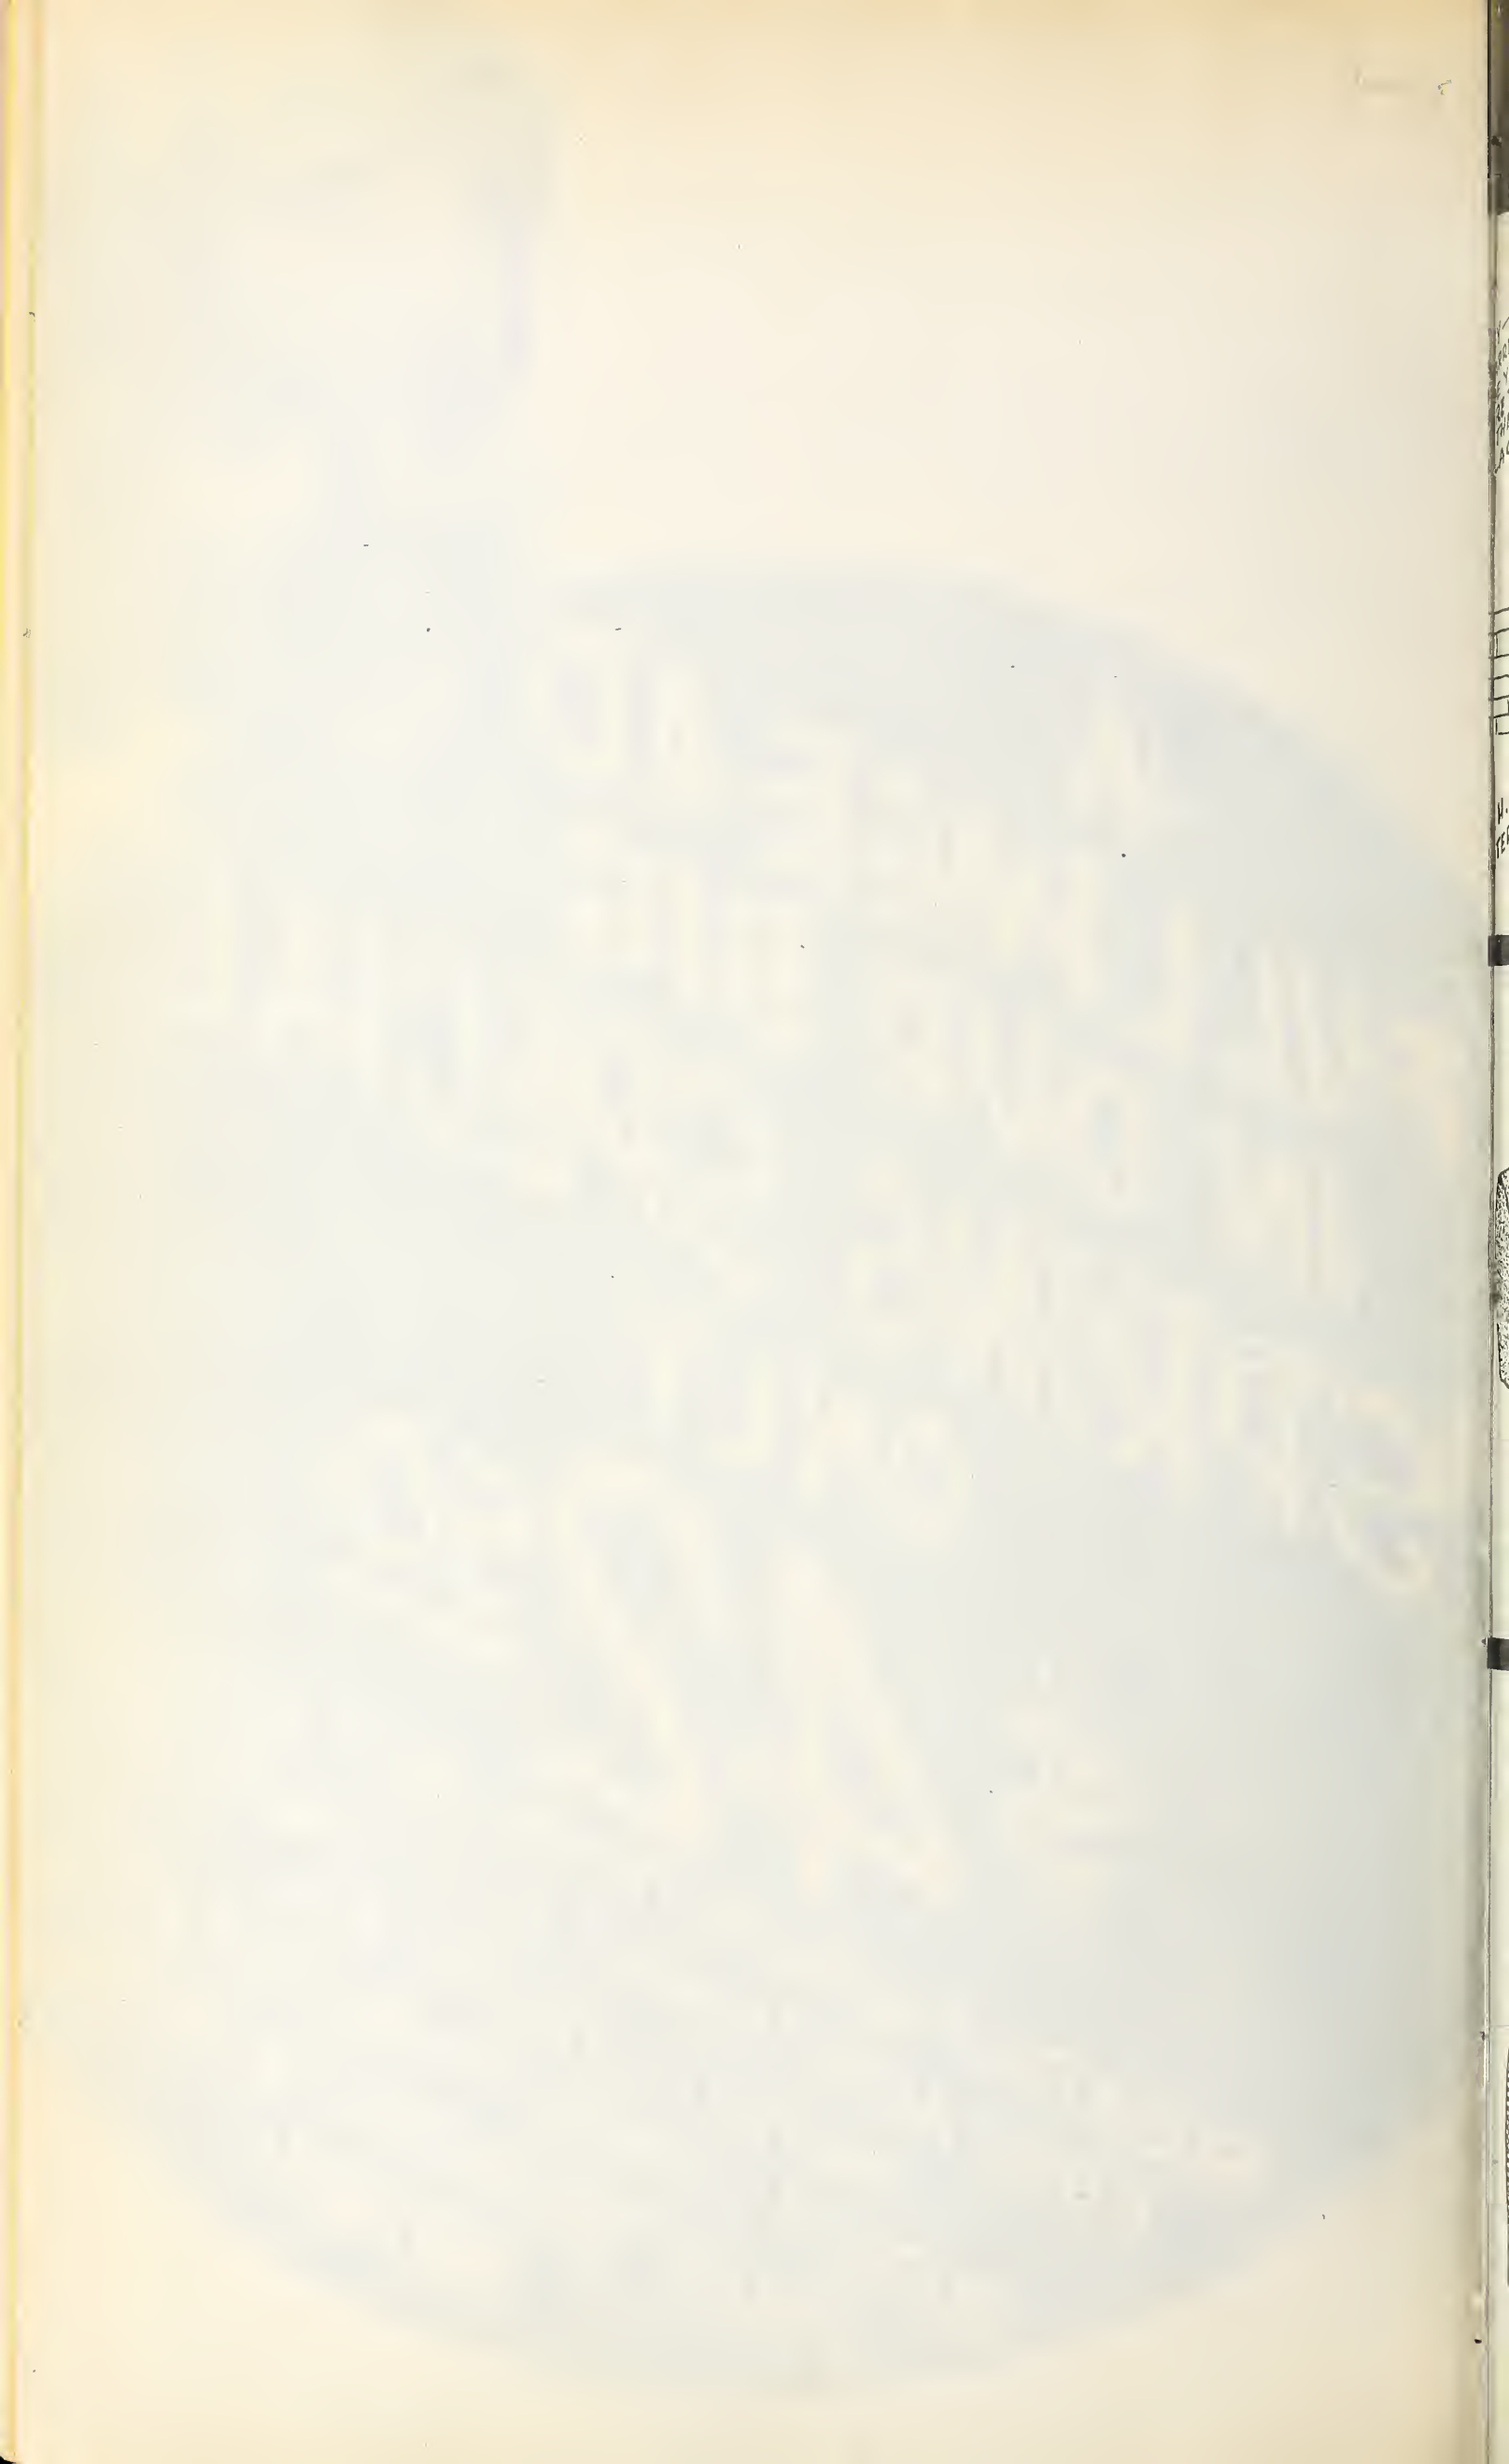

The author wishes to thank the committee for their support and the staff for their assistance during the project.
